Minnesota Business Partnership is calling attention to a new law that will become effective in the next legislative session. It is referred to as the "Price of Government" law and was rather quietly passed by the legislature and signed by Gov. Arne Carlson last spring.

Under the law, for the first time, the amount of money going to state and local government will be decided before anything is actually spent. It means that the government, like individuals, must figure out how much money it has to spend before is does any spending.

Most people don't have a very good idea what the price of government really is. In Minnesota, at the end of the current budget period, around 20 per cent of every Minnesota taxpayer's personal income will be eaten up by state and local government expenses. That's one dollar out of every five dollars you earn and doesn't include federal taxes.

A one per cent increase in the price of government in Minnesota is $1 billion—and that's an increase of $650 in the annual taxes and fees paid by the average family. The state could maintain the current price of government by saving 1.7 per cent of its revenue, the Minnesota Business Partnership says.

"Never before in Minnesota has there been a statutory requirement to conduct a focused public debate on how big the public sector should be," states Duane Benson, a former state legislator and executive director of the Minnesota Business Partnership. "Now there is. Should it grow? Should it shrink? Stay the same? This debate will predetermine the size of the pie."

Benson points out that legislative spending decisions will no longer be made independently of each other. "Each spending proposal must be reviewed in the context of the 'permissible price' that has already been set. Legislators will have a much better sense of how hard each expenditure will hit taxpayers' wallets. Spending restraint should follow that knowledge," he said.

Other advantages of the "Price of Government" law include the forced prioritizing of spending and restructuring of existing programs to effect efficiencies and quality of government services. Taxpayers should expect to get more value for their dollar.

"The 'Price of Government' provision is virtually unheard of in any state political campaign now being waged," Benson said. "Bring it up (when talking to legislative candidates). Make yourself heard. Because if you don't contribute your opinion now, you'll be contributing a lot more down the road."

Get More Opinions On Wetlands Use, Values

"Wetlands....Water in the Bank?" is the theme and question for the 12th annual Red River Basin Land and Water International Summit Conference of The International Coalition of Land & Water Stewardship in the Red River Basin. The conference will take place November 16-18 at the Ramada Inn in Grand Forks, ND.

Wetlands—their value and use—have been a major topic of discussion and object of controversy in this area for a number of years, and most recently since the passage of Minnesota's wetlands conservation act and the announced goal of zero wetland loss. The conference will provide additional information on the question through a variety of means.

On Thursday, November 17, a morning panel will express opposing viewpoints as to whether managed or natural wetlands are best. Two panelists will express their views, then have about half an hour to answer questions from the audience prior to a two-minute summary.

Later in the morning the debate will feature a pro-wetland speaker and a landowner who must try to operate a farm interspersed with wetlands. One will take the side that all wetlands have value and should be preserved, the other that some wetlands have to value relative to other uses that could be made of them.

In the afternoon panelist will discuss whether existing rules are good or bad and how much is enough. Issues in this debate will be definition of a wetland, swampbuster, no net loss, the Wetlands Conservation Act and other related topics. A later panel will discuss whether incentive programs work or not and whether they are good enough.

Activities begin with registration Wednesday afternoon, November 16, and a business session from 7 to 9 p.m. that evening. The "meat" of the event will be served November 17 as mentioned above, with the wrap-up Friday morning, November 18, with small group discussions, reports and conference wrap-up.

Full conference registration is $75 and includes all meals and events. Conference only registration is available for $35 and includes admittance, conference packet and coffee breaks. For registration information call 218-233-0292. If you are one who wants to know more about the wetlands question, this conference will be a good opportunity to broaden your knowledge.

Impressive Turnout At Challenger School

Turnout of visitors to Challenger elementary school Sunday afternoon for the dedication and open house was impressive, particularly on an opening weekend of the deer hunting season and at a concurrent time with a Minnesota Vikings football telecast.

Most of the comments we heard in brief conversation with visitors or overheard in passing indicated that those seeing the interior of the building for the first time were also impressed. Some commented on the open space, others on the classroom arrangements, still others on the general appearance and size of the building.

While the day was set aside for the public, people who were unable to attend need not feel they have missed their only chance to see their new school. Local schools have always been open to visits by parents and others with an interest in education and will continue to be so. The administration and staff will be pleased to have people show an interest in seeing what has been provided for education in School District 564.

LETTERS

It seems unfortunate that taxes are the topic of debate all too often. People are sick and tired of the many financial burdens and the increasing financial burdens imposed on them by government at all levels. Taxes in the form of sales taxes, income taxes, capital gains taxes, gas taxes and on and on and on.

But one tax that you hear about constantly and is very upsetting is the talk about raising, once again, the excise tax on beer. Every time Congress is looking to finance some new initiative, whether it be health care, GATT, welfare reform or something else, a beer tax is almost always suggested as being the answer to all or part of the financing scheme.

Beer drinkers and the beer industry have already been called on to pay their fair share in excise taxes. In 1991, the excise tax on beer was raised, resulting in the loss of over 31,000 American jobs. Now there's talk of raising the excise tax another 150 per cent. This will result in another 180,000 Americans losing jobs to taxes.

The jobs of over 2.7 million workers are affected by the beer industry. There are 50,000 retailers, 3,000 wholesalers and 400 breweries in this country, employing 845,000 people among them. Additionally, the success of the industry affects many other livelihoods, from the farmers who grow the hops and barley to the truck drivers who deliver the kegs and the cases.

When you take a serious look at the beer taxes and get by all the rhetoric, you can see what is being talked about. It is a regressive tax that unfairly singles out beer drinkers and beer consumers.

When the 1991 tax was passed, moderate drinkers—not chronic abusers, but moderate drinkers—reduced their beer consumption. It punished millions of hard-working Americans. These tax increases do not cut down on abusive drinking or drunk driving. The minority of drinkers who abuse alcohol are not put off by higher costs. It does make a difference to hard-working Americans who enjoy moderate drinking of beer as part of social activities, watching sporting events, or eating with their friends. And so it is counter-productive. This is the most futile thing about it all.

Sincerely,
Shawn Newland, President

Dislocated worker funds still available

Thief River Falls and Crookston offices of the Minnesota department of economic security has announced that up to $100,000 is still available to assist area applicants who have been or soon will be laid-off from a permanent job.

The funds became available from a special State Dislocated Worker fund and the Federal Economic Dislocation and Worker Adjustment Assistance program. The programs are based on the idea that such funding is actually more of an investment that an expense. The sooner dislocated workers acquire new skills and get back to work, the less it costs the state in unemployment insurance benefits, public assistance and lost taxes.

Dislocated workers who possess marketable skills may attend Job-hunting skills workshops or receive job placement assistance. Applicants who need to select a new type of job may utilize the Minnesota Career Information System. New job skills may be learned in classroom training or while earning a wage in on-the-job training.

Area employers who are interested in hiring a new employee under the dislocated worker, on-the-job training portion of the program are invited to contact their area office of this department for details.

Residents of Pennington, Roseau, Kittson and Marshall may contact Rocky Ammerman at the Thief River Falls office, (218) 681-1100. Residents of Norman, Polk and Red Lake counties may contact Loralee Taylor at the Crookston office (218) 281-3593.

VOLUNTEER OPPORTUNITY

Twenty years ago, when Hospice first came to America, volunteerism was a Hospice fundamental. Most Hospices were staffed only by volunteers. Today, the Hospice movement has joined the health care industry, but the core values instituted by those volunteers have remained intact. Pine To Prairie Hospice, Inc. is looking for committed individuals to become a part of the Hospice Team as volunteers. Volunteers help by making visits, reading to patients, running errands, meal preparation, hair care or sharing quiet moments.

Training is being offered November 15th, from 7:00 p.m. to 9:00 p.m. for four consecutive weeks at our Karlstad location. To register or need more information please call (218) 436-2273 or 1-800-494-6081.

The Grace circle convened at the home of Carole Wright on Wednesday evening with Arlene Froiland serving as Bible study leader and Lorraine Lorenson conducting the business.

Hilda Linder of rural Oklee hosted a party at her home for the 80th birthday of Inga Linder. Besides the guest of honor, ladies attending were Dorothy Wordelmen, Medelyn Stone, Gladys Kolstoe, Avis Froiland, Margaret Johnson, Alma Stenberg, Phyllis Linder and Jana Kolstoe. A delicious lunch was served by Hilda, complete with a beautiful decorated cake.

Saturday supper guests of Carl and Joyce Magers were Betty, Kevin and Brian Hamilton of Bloomington; Tom, Rebecca, Tricia and Todd Willette; Gary, Sue, Loria and Luke LaCourciere; Teckla Willett; Joe Willett and Josie Klasen; Dustin Willett of Dilworth, Wade Grinde of Spring Grove, Sarah Magers of Mayville, ND and Kim Magers.

Dan, Jen Vigstol of Cedar, Lindsey and Haley, also Wandy Bassesrud of St. Michael; Jennie and Monica Griebe of Anoka arrived on Friday at the home of Burnel and Ellie Byer and were house guests there until Sunday. Eric Griebe joined his wife and daughter on Saturday. They had come to attend the birthday party for Jan's folks, Fritz and Crystal Martell.

Youth Rally

On October 20th, a youth rally was held at the high school in Fosston with over 700 young adults in attendance. One of the speakers was John Foppe, a young man who was born with no arms. He is a successful business man, a painter and artist. Those attending were Scott Waldal, Rachel Demerais, Jason Cervantes, Patty Greenwald, Sylvia Laliar, Lori LaCourciere, Matt Lallier, Rebecca Damarais, Ryan Peterson, Catherine Rosten, Dan Gagner, Joey Riendeau, Jerry and Jan Frietga. The day ended with a dance, closing prayers and thank you's.

Elizabeth Hamilton, Kevin and Brian of Bloomington spent the weekend visiting her mother, Teckla Willett, and other relatives.

Wade Grinde of Spring Grove spent the weekend at the Carl Magers home.

Sarah Magers of Mayville spent MEA weekend at the home of her parents, Carl and Joyce Magers.

Jr. High Youth Rally

On Saturday, October 29th, a Junior High Youth Rally was held at St. Joseph's church in Brooks. The theme was "Together in Friendship" presented by Sister Mordell and eight young people from Barnesville. Those attending were Tracy Rosten, Jennie Oellant, Nick Waldal, Steve McMullen, Darren Vanek, Shaane Graanwald, Tiffany Holmes, Lindsay Hamley, Rechal Killen, Cindy Lambert, Joel Demerais, James Lallier, Daniel Konickson, Scott McMullen, Becky Brakkestrand, Anna Rusten, Jennifer Cote, Cindy Lambert, Tammy Barberich, Emily Fisher, Heather Schlalert, Brant Halvorson, Adam Stonehouse, and "Bubbles", the Mime. The day ended with a Mass with Father Pribula officiating. Adult leaders were Ray and Marilyn Fisher, Jerry and Jan Frietag. A great time was had by all.

Birthdays

A double birthday party was held on Saturday evening at the Legion Hall honoring Fritz Martell, 75, and his wife, Crystal, who turned 70. It was hosted by their children, namely: Warren Martell, a wanderer, Gary Martell and BJ of South Carolina; Joyce and Leroy Christianson of Red Lake Falls; Harry Martell, son, of Red Lake Falls; Joyce and Leroy Christianson of Red Lake Falls; Jan and Dawn Vigstol of Cedar; Bob and Debbie Martell of St. Hilaire; Ray Martell and Gale of Mandan; Douglas and Mary Martell of Thief River Falls; Theresa and Jay Aveisgaard of Crookston; Mary and Gary Hendrickson of Forest Lake; Donna Bessesrud of St. Michael. THANK YOU

Thank you to the ones who came to visit me in the nursing home and after I got home. Thanks for prayers, cards and letters and get well wishes. Special thanks to Pastor Clarence Johnson for his visit after I got home.

God Bless You All,
Leola Gunderson.

IN MEMORY OF
OUR DEAR MOTHER AND GRANDMOTHER
MILDRED RUX WHO PASSED AWAY
NOVEMBER 6, 1993
Her memory is as dear today as in the hour she passed away.
Sadly missed by her family

IN MEMORY OF
RICHARD ELIASON
PASSED AWAY OCTOBER 24, 1979
Days of sadness still come o'er us,
Secret tears do often flow;
But memory keeps you ever near us,
Though you left us 15 years ago.
Renee Fallon, Darlene Wiseth,
Charlene Wright, Tillie Eliason,
Carol, Arlene, Harvey,
Shirley, Sharon.

CARD OF THANKS

A big "Thank You" to all who came to my Birthday open house and for all the cards and gifts. Thanks also to those who sent cards by mail. A special thank you to my children and their families who hosted the party and made it such a happy occasion.

Clara Voldness.

IN MEMORY

To the beautiful memory of our dearly beloved father, grandfather, Truman Hammastvedt, who passed away five years ago November 9, 1989.
His smiling way and pleasant face are a pleasure to recall;
He had a kindly word for each
And died beloved by all.
Lovingly Remembered By, Mike, Dianne and Barb and Families.

CARD OF THANKS
THANK YOU FOR YOUR TREMENDOUS OUTPOURING OF LOVE AND ATTENDANCE AT THE CELEBRATION OF OUR FIFTIETH WEDDING AND ORDINATION ANNIVERSARIES

Legal Notices

November 9, 1994
NOTICE OF HEARING
BOARD OF ZONING APPEALS
CITY OF THIEF RIVER FALLS

Notice is hereby given, pursuant to Chapter 11 of the Thief River Falls City Code, that Jeff Brouse, d.b.a. The Shop, 703 Atlantic Avenue North, Thief River Falls, MN 56701, and Clebert Molstad, owner of the property, have applied for Variances to the Land Use Regulations (zoning), Sec. 11.79., Subd. 1. The property is legally described as follows:

Lot 6 and the south one-half (1/2) of Lot 8 in Block Two of Highland Addition to the City of Thief River Falls, Minnesota.

As indicated in a Notice of Hearing published in the Wednesday, October 12, 1994, edition of The Times and which was mailed to all property owners within 350 feet of the above property, Jeff Brouse has leased the property from Clebert Molstad and conducted an auto body repair operation in the garage. They have requested that the property be rezoned form R-2 General Residential District to C-2 General Business District to allow Brouse to construct an addition onto attached garage. At the Hearing held on October 24 this request was tabled by the Planning Commission pending receipt of an application and conduct of a Hearing concerning a Variance to the buffering requirements of the Zoning Ordinance.

Sec. 11.70 Performance Standards For Commercial and Industrial Districts, Subd. 1, Buffers, requires, among other things, that a thirty-five feet (35') wide buffer strip be provided between Commercial and Residential Uses. Jeff Brouse proposes to erect a wood, sight obscuring fence not less than six feet in height around the rear (westerly) portion of the property. He also proposes to install vegetative plantings around the outside perimeter of the proposed fence in the form of a hedge, on the southerly and westerly property lines, and with evergreen trees along the northerly property line. Because the property is only 75' in width, Brouse has applied for Variances to the 35' wide buffer strip requirement as follows: A Variance of 18' at the north property line; a Variance of 25' at the west property line (alley line); and, a Variance of 30' at the south property line. A copy of the "Proposed Buffering and Screening Plan" is available for public inspection in the Office of the Community Development Director.

Notice is further given, that the Board of Zoning Appeals will conduct a Hearing on the Variance Requests at 7:00 P.M. on Monday, November 21, 1994, in the City Council Chambers, City Auditorium, 123 Main Avenue North, Thief River Falls, MN. All persons wishing to comment on the proposed Variance Requests will have the option to be heard at this time. Persons wishing to submit written comments prior to the Hearing or who have questions should address them to the Office of the Community Development Director, City Auditorium, P.O. Box 528, Thief River Falls, MN 56701, or telephone 218-681-2500.

If you have a disability and need an accommodation in order to attend this Hearing, please contact the undersigned as soon as possible or at least two (2) days in advance of the Hearing at the above telephone number.

Dated this 4th date of November.

NOTICE OF MORTGAGE FORECLOSURE SALE

NOTICE IS hereby given that: default has occurred in the conditions of that certain mortgage dated July 6, 1999 given to secure an original principal amount of $3,200.00, along with a subsequent mortgage dated June 24, 1992, given to secure an original principal amount of 68,800.00 executed by Shelly L. Helle, A Single Person, as mortgagor, to the United States of America, acting through the Farmers Home Administration, United States Department of Agriculture, Mortgagee, and duly recorded with the County Recorder in Pennington County, Minnesota on June 25, 1992, as Document Number 137813, in Book Number 232 of Records, on Page 644.

No action or proceeding has been instituted at law or otherwise to recover the debt secured by said mortgage or any part thereof: all preforeclosure notice requirements have been complied with:

There is due and claimed to be due on the mortgage and the note secured thereby, including interest to the date of this Notice the sum of ELEVEN THOUSAND ONE HUNDRED SIXTY TWO DOLLARS AND .77/100 ($11,162.77). Pursuant to the power of sale therein contained, said mortgage will be foreclosed and the tract of land lying and being in the County of Pennington Minnesota, described as follows:

LOTS FORTY-ONE (41) AND FORTY-TWO (42) IN FAIRFAX ADDITION TO THE CITY OF THIEF RIVER FALLS, ACCORDING TO THE OFFICIAL PLAT THEREOF ON RECORD

SUBJECT TO A PRIOR MORTGAGE TO UNITED STATES OF AMERICA, ACTING THROUGH THE FARMERS HOME ADMINISTRATION, DATED JULY 6, 1990, AND RECORDED JULY 9, 1990, IN BOOK 220 OF RECORDS, PAGE 167, IN THE OFFICE OF THE COUNTY RECORDER IN AND FOR PENNINGTON COUNTY, MINNESOTA will be sold by the Sheriff of Pennington County at public auction on the 22nd day of November 1994, at 10 o'clock a.m. in the County Sheriff's office in Thief River Falls, Minnesota to pay the debt then secured by said mortgage, taxes, if any on said premises, and the costs and disbursements allowed by law, subject to redemption within Six (6) months from said date of sale.

At the time of commencement of said mortgage foreclosure proceedings said lands were not agricultural lands as defined by the Minnesota Omnibus Farm Act, Laws of 1986, Chapter 398.

NOTICE OF MORTGAGE FORECLOSURE SALE

NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN, That default has occurred in the conditions of that certain mortgage date the 9th day of December, 1985, executed by Charles H. Erickson and Bonita G. Erickson, husband and wife, as mortgagors to First National Bank of Detroit Lakes as mortgagee, filed for record in the office of the County Recorder in and for the County of Pennington, and State of Minnesota on the 27th day of December 1985, at 9:00 o'clock A.M., and recorded in Book 198 of Records, Page 33; and that thereafter the said mortgagee duly partially assigned the same to Linda P. Nelson at Red Lake Falls, Minnesota on the 26th day of April 1994; and that said assignment was duly filed for record in the office of the County Recorder in and for the County of Pennington and State of Minnesota on the 16th day of May, 1994, and recorded in Book 248 of Records, Page 496 as Instrument No. 142864.

That no action or proceeding has been instituted at law to recover the debt secured by said mortgage, or any part thereof and that the assignee has elected to declare the entire sum secured by the note and mortgage to be immediately due and payable as provided in the note and mortgage.

That the original principal amount secured by said mortgage was Two Hundred Fifty-seven Thousand Dollars ($257,000.00).

That there is due and claimed to be due upon that part of said mortgage assigned to Linda P. Nelson, including interest to date hereof, the sum of the One Hundred Twenty-five Thousand Dollars ($125,000.00) and the amount of tax paid by the mortgagee or his assignee on the lands hereinafter described in the sum of N/A Dollars.

That prior to the commencement of this mortgage foreclosure proceeding, Mortgagee complied with all notice requirements as required by statute.

And, that pursuant to the power of sale therein contained, said mortgage will be foreclosed and the tracts of land lying and being in the County of Pennington, State of Minnesota, described as follows, to-wit:

West Half of the Southwest Quarter (W1/2SW1/4), Section Seventeen (17); the East Half of the East Half of the Southeast Quarter of the Southeast Quarter (E1/2E1/2SE1/4SE1/4), Section Eighteen (18); The East Half of the Northeast Quarter of the Northeast Quarter of the Northeast Quarter (E1/2NE1/4NE1/4) and the East Half of the Southeast Quarter of the Northeast Quarter (E1/2SE1/4NE1/4) and the East Half of the West Half of the Southeast Quarter of the Northeast Quarter (E1/2W1/2SE1/4NE1/4) and the Northeast Quarter of the Southeast Quarter (NE1/4SE1/4) and the Southeast Quarter of the Southeast Quarter (SE1/4SE1/4) and the East Half of the East Half of the East Half of the Southwest Quarter of the Southeast Quarter (E1/2E1/2SW1/4SE1/4) all in Section Nineteen (19); the Northeast Quarter of the Northeast Quarter (NE1/4NE1/4) and the East Half of the East Half of the Northwest Quarter of the Northeast Quarter (E1/2E1/2NW1/4NE1/4) and the Southeast Quarter of the Northeast Quarter (SE1/4NE1/4) and the East Half of the East Half of the Southwest Quarter of the Northeast Quarter (E1/2E1/2SW1/4NE1/4) and the East Half of the West Half of the East Half of the Southwest Quarter of the Northeast Quarter (E1/2W1/2E1/2SW1/4NE1/4) all in Section Thirty (30); ALL of the above described property is located in Township One Hundred Fifty-three (153) North of Range Forty-five (45) West of the Fifth Principal Meridian in Minnesota.

Will be sold by the sheriff of said county at public auction on the 29th day of November, 1994, at 10:00 o'clock A.M., at the Law Enforcement Center, 102 West First Street in the City of Thief River Falls, in said county and state, to pay the debt then secured by said mortgage and taxes, if any, on said premises and the costs and disbursements allowed by law, subject to redemption by the mortgagors, their personal representative or assigns within twelve (12) months from date of sale.

NOTICE TO MORTGAGORS

IF PART OF THE PROPERTY TO BE SOLD CONTAINS YOUR HOUSE, YOU MAY DESIGNATE AN AREA AS A HOMESTEAD TO BE SOLD AND REDEEMED SEPARATELY.

YOU MAY DESIGNATE THE HOUSE YOU OCCUPY AND ANY AMOUNT OF THE PROPERTY AS A HOMESTEAD. THE DESIGNATED HOMESTEAD PROPERTY MUST CONFORM TO THE LOCAL ZONING ORDINANCES AND BE COMPACT SO THAT IT DOES NOT UNREASONABLY REDUCE THE VALUE OF THE REMAINING PROPERTY.

YOU MUST PROVIDE THE PERSON FORECLOSING ON THE PROPERTY, THE SHERIFF, AND THE COUNTY RECORDER WITH A COPY OF THE LEGAL DESCRIPTION OF THE HOMESTEAD YOU HAVE DESIGNATED BY TEN BUSINESS DAYS BEFORE THE DATE THE PROPERTY IS TO BE SOLD.

So Proudly, We Hail Our Veterans!

Formerly Called Armistice Day, November 11 commemorates the anniversary of peace between the Allied and Central Powers, signed in 1918 in France. The end of hostilities between these two powerful opposing forces marked the end of "The War To End All Wars" or "The Great War," as it was also called. Many observe silent memorials at the eleventh hour of this day.

Although A Result Of WWI, this special day has become a time to honor all those who so unselfishly served in our nation's Armed Forces, those who risk so much to preserve the high ideals and future hopes of a Democratic America.

To The Men And Women of the military, who give so much during war and peace, we say "Thank You" and pray for the day global cooperation reigns supreme.

Franklin bands present concert November 17

Annual fall concert by the sixth, seventh and eighth grade bands and the Morning Darkness jazz band at Franklin middle school will be presented Thursday, November 17, at 7:30 p.m. in the Franklin gymnasium. The groups are under the direction of Mike Lehrer and Bruce Felt.

This will be the first public performance for the sixth grade band which has esisted as a beginning band only since the middle of September. "With just eight weeks of instruction and rehearsal, these students have made remarkable progress and are ready for their first concert," Lehrer said.

"Our other groups have made remarkable progress as well and are looking forward to sharing an evening of music with those in attendance," he added.

Just prior to the concert, the band members will assist with a physical move into the new music rooms at the school. Concert goers are invited to stop at the new rooms following the performance and view the facilities.

Admission to the concert is $2 for adults and students in grades 9-12 ond $1 for students in kindergarten through grade eight. Preschool children are admitted free.

"Morning Darkness" will open the program with "Swing It Again, Sam," followed by "Hip To Be Square" and "Jammin' The Blues."

Recount affirms election of Carlson to county board

After the recount for the Second District Pennington county commissioner race, 16 votes still separated the two candidates. Bob Carlson has been declared the winner.

In one of the closest races ever recorded for a county commissioner seat in Pennington county, 16 votes sepsrated the candidates. Bob Carlson, former mayor of Thief River Falls, had narrowly defeated the city's sanitation department director and political newcomer, Bob Jablinske. Joblinske formally requested a recount and on Monday, when both candidates could be present, the ballots were recounted with the result that 16 votes still separated the candidates.

Bob Jablinske said Monday that he was pleased with what he accomplished. It was, however, a real eye-opening esperience.

Jablinske said he enjoyed it and learned o lot. He said it was, in his opinion, a good contest especially because there was no mud slinging.

It was a learning experience because of how much time he spent listening to people. Jablinske estimated that he put in 30 to 40 hours and two Soturdays going door to door. Looking back on that experience, he said there are some things he would do differently.

He said that he ran on pretty much the same issue that Bob Carlson addressed in his campaign — keeping tax increases to an absolute minimum. He said he also felt he hod a lot to contribute on solid waste issues.

He said he didn't have any real bad experiences, even though candidates are warned when they begin to expect a door to be slammed in their face. Joblinske said everybody was real nice.

His future, as far as running for elected office, is open at this time.

Bob Carlson said after analyzing results of his second bouse-to-house campaign on Monday before the election, he knew the outcome would be by 50 votes or less.

Carlson said as former mayor he spoke highly of the sanitation department and still does. Jablinske was in constant cootact with the public and he wasn't as an unknown as many thought.

Carlson said his strength came the seelors who voted for bim. There really weren't any issues in this election, he said. It was a clean campaign, but Carlson said, people didn't pick out any one issue. They just said represent us as you did when you were mayor of Thief River Falls.

"Back to the linas, you dirty dogs!" ahouts Grandpa (Ben Schmitz) as he confuses a police search of the Thurber home with his illusions of the Civil War. The scene is from the Lincoln drama department fall play "Jabberwock" to be stagad Friday and Saturday, November 18 and 19, at 7 p.m. Charlay Thurber (Sam Adams) aleeps through the commotion. From left on the balcony are Josh Malby, Chris Tsukichi, Nick Daley, Ban Schmitz, Maja Turenna and Jeremi Hanaon. Tha play is undar the diraction of Connia Stock.

"Jabberwock" is LHS fall play presentation

Lincoln high school drama department under the direction of Connie Stock will present the comedy "Jabberwock" as its fall play on Friday and Saturday, November 18 and 19, in the Lincoin high school auditorium. A summary of the production has been prepared by the director as follows:

by Coenie Stock
Director, LHS Fall Play

"Twas brillig, and the slithy
toves
Did gyre and gimbel in the wabe:"

So begins the poem "Jabberwocky" by Lewis Carroll. Pure nonsense? Word play? Deep hidden meanings? Eventually, the poem does make some senso—in a creative, original and almost nonsensical manner. Thus it is with the play "Jabberwock," a comedy written by Jerome Lawrence and Robert E. Lee, based on the real and imagined goings-on in the life of James Thurber. A delightful interpretation of this play can be seen at Lincoln high school auditorium this Friday and Saturday.

Set In Columbus, Ohio, just before, during and at the end of World War I, "Jabberwock" is a look into the life of the slightly off-key Thurber family. The family is seen throogh the eyes of Jamie Thurber, played by Jeremi Hanson, a teenage boy who is not sure what to do with a typical infatuation with Georgiana Littlefield, portrayed by Kiki Goddard; what to do with his not-so-typical views of life; and what to do with his definitely not-so-typical family.

His mother, Mary Agnes Thurber, played by Maja Turenne, has a zest for life and an illogical logic with which it is difficult to argue. She enjoys taking care of her family, which includes giving mice a dinner party, scaring away burglars—or ghosts—and keeping electricity from dripping all over everyone.

The Thurber sons include Roy (Chris Tsukichi), a future William Randolph Hearst, and Herman (Josh Melby), the future Ty Cobb. The boys help their mother chase burglars—or ghosts—help their father electrocute the house, and help Jamie think of that town In New Jersey whose name escapes him in the middle of the night.

This could cause enough confusion to last most families a lifetime, but the Thurbers also have Grandpa Fisher, hilariously played by Ben Schmitz, to chase away the doldrums. Grandpa is in and out of reality, and in his more lucid moments makes some very wise statements about life, even though he gets a little confused between the Civil War and World War I.

Sam Adams, the Republican in the family, offers stability to the group as the father, Charley Thurber—that is, if you can call it stability to fall asleep while police officers Kyle Rokke, Nick Daley and Andy Furuseth sesrch your home for burglars.

Other interesting characters who pass in and out of the Thurbers' lives are the maids, who come and go so quickly no one can remember their names: Dora Gedd (Kamie Twomey), Elvira Weir (Kate Ihle), Lily Loomis (Amber Peoples) and Gertie Straub (Angie Toner); the

An air bag and seat belts saved occupants of these two cars from more serious injury. Pennington county sheriff's department, Thief River Falls police department and Thief River Falls rural firefighters responded to a report of this accident. A sheriff's deputy investigating the accident said the accident happened so fast that the driver of the eastbound vehicle, which was traveling at about 57 miles per hour, didn't have time to step on the brakes. The deputy is certain that injuries from the accident could have been fatal had the drivers not been wearing seat belts.

Two injured in accident Fri. afternoon

Two people were injured when their vehicles collided Friday afternoon on County road 7. One of the drivers, Lavonne Rsdniecki of Thief River Falls, was taken to Uelted Hospital In Grand Forks with a compound fracture.

According to a sheriff's department deputy, Lavonne Radniecki was driving a car east on County road 7 when a car driven by Christina Lee Kulvik, Thief River Falls, pulled out onto the county road from an entrance to Country Estates trailer court and the vehicles collided. The deputy said the eastbound vehicle was traveling at about 57 miles per hour ond the driver didn't have time to step on the brakes before the vehicles collided. Both vehicles were considered a total loss because of the significant damage. The deputy explained that both drivers were wearing seat belts and one had an air bag that inflated when the vehicles collided.

Kulvik compiained of a cut to her face and a sore left leg ond ankle. Rsdniecki was taken to United Hospital in Grand Forks, ND, with a compound fracture to her lower right leg. She also cut her tongue.

Pennington county sheriff's department, Thief River Folls police department, and the Thief River Falls rural fire department responded to the accident report. The accident is still under investigation.

Ag Stewardship Conference to feature Plumb

Charles Plumb, who survived "six years of hell" as a prisoner of war in Vietnam, will be the capnote speaker Friday, November 18, at the Profitable Ag Stewardship Conference to be conducted at the Best Western Inn of Thief River Falls.

Plumb will speak at the 6:30 p.m. program following a full day of conferences and a buffalo steak banquet at 5:30 p.m. His topic will be "Dream Farming—Looking At Your Resources and Using Them Creatively."

According to Plumb, he used three principles in order to survive as a POW—faith in God, self-discipline and pride. Considered a hero for persevering through torture, brain-washing and punishments, Plumb believes that missions of Americans face misfortunes every year and can use the same principles to overcome their adversities.

In Vietnam he had only threadbare pants and tattered sandals to call his own, but used splinters of wood, scraps of paper, coughing and other resources available to develop a comp communication system with other prisoners through which information was distributed and closses taught without the knowledge of their captors.

Speaking to more than 150 groups around the nation each year, Plumb leaves his audiences commenting: "Wow!—If he could do that, I can do anything!"

Registration for the full doy's activities, including meals, breaks and materials, is $10 per person or $15 per farm couple. Information on registration is available from county extension offices in northwestern Minnesota.

The conference is sponsored by the Minnesota extension service, Rural Outreach Program of the Catholic/Lutheron Life Commission and the Northwest Minnesota Post CPR Management Coalition.

Dr. Don Wyse, esecutive director of the Minnesota Institute of Sustainable Agriculture, will be the

Federal transit grants available from Mn/DOT

Approximately $1 million in federal grants are available from the Minnesota Department of Transportation (Mn/DOT) to help purchase buses and vans equipped to transport elderly people and people with disabilities, the department announced.

Public agencies eligible to receive the funds include those already approved by Mn/DOT or those which certify to Mn/DOT that non-profit corporations or associations in their areas are not readily available to provide transit services for elderly and/or disabled people. Private, non-profit agencies that serve the elderly and disabled may also be eligible.

The grants provide as much as 80 per cent of the cost of vehicles. Applicants must provide the remaining funds and operating expenses.

Applications will be available from Mn/DOT on September 19, 1994. All requests for applications must be postmarked by November 1, 1994. The first application deadline is December 9. Final deadline for submittal of the completed application form and required attachments must be postmarked not later than February 10, 1995.

For more information or to receive an application packet, contact Dennis McMann, Office of Transit, MS 430, John Ireland Blvd. St. Paul, MN or call (612) 297-2067.

Former editor of Inc. will talk at summit

Milton Stewart, former editor of Inc. magazine, will be a keynote speaker for the 1994 Red River Trade Summit December 1 and 2 in Grand Forks, ND.

The summit is an annual activity sponsored by the Red River Trade Corridor, a non-profit organization whose mission is to build communications among Red River region businesses.

Stewart is currently president of the Small Business High Technology Institute in Phoenix, AZ. His address will focus on entrepreneurship and small business.

For information regarding the trade summit, contact the Red River Trade Corridor at 218-281-8459.

TRF residents should expect rate increases

Residents of Thief River Falls will soon see rate increases on their water and sanitation bills. Last Tuesday, the city council approved rate increases for water rates and for sanitation collection fees. Increases were needed to pay for improvements to the water treatment facility, and because of an increase in tipping fees at the Pennington county solid waste facility.

■ Water rate increases will appear on rate payers' January bill.

The utilities committee recommended that the city council approve a water rate increase to raise an additional $75,000 for the operation of the water department. The raise in rates will be on the gallons used, not the service fee. For the first 10,000 gallons used monthly, the rate will increase from $1.60 to $1.83 per 1,000 gallons. Over 10,000 gallons used monthly will result in an increase from $1.70 to $1.93 per 1,000 gallons.

The rate change will appear in the January 1995 utility bill.

■ Sanitation rate increase to go into effect in February.

The sanitation rate increase reflects an increase in tipping fees at SwisCorp (Future Fuel) that is expected to go into effect January 1. Rates at the solid waste resource facility are expected to increase from $45 per ton to $55 per ton.

At the public works committee meeting last week, several different proposals were considered. One proposal suggested a $1 rate increase across the board. Another proposal suggested a rate increase that begins at the low end with 25 cents and gradually increases to a $2 increase at the top end. The third proposal, which received the blessing of the committee and was approved by the city council Tuesday, begins with a 50 cent increase at the low end and gradually increases to a $1.50 increase at the top end of the scale.

There are eight rates in the sanitation rate structure. Theoretically, those rates are based on volume generated by the rate payer. Current rates and the corresponding number of rate payers, in order are: rate 1 at $5 with 146 rate payers, rate 2 at $7 with 72 rate payers, rate 3 at $10 with 159 rate payers, rate 4 at $12 with 2,662 rate payers, rate 5 at $18 with 116 rate payers, rate 6 at $24 with 47 rate payers, rate 7 at $30 with 1 rate payer, rate 8 at $36 with eight rate payers. The current rates generate about $38,532 or $458,652 per year.

Under the proposal recommended to the city council, rate one would be $5.50, rate 2 would be $7.50, rate 3 would pay $11, rate 4 would pay $13, rate 5 would pay $19, rate 6 would pay $25.50, rate 7 would pay $31.50, rate 8 would pay $37.50. The rate increase would expect to generate $497,178 instead of $458,652.

This rate change will appear on resident's February bills.

■ A formal draw down of the reservoir in Thief River Falls is possible.

Between October 29 and November 1, the Thief River Falls reservoir was drawn down. Tuesday, Arlo Rude, superintendent of utilities, presented an update on that project.

Rude said the draw down was coordinated with the Thief Lake Management area, Agassiz National Refuge and the Army Corp of Engineers. During the draw down employee were sent up the river to videotape the shorelines. After editing, a copy will be available at the library. During the draw down, records of the water level and how fast it went down were kept, and some aerial photography of the area was also taken. Rude said he was aware of employees from other organizations taking notes and collecting information about the draw down.

When the river was drawn down the old dam did show up and Rude thought it might be possible in the future to remove some rock along side of the dam to bring the water level even lower than it reached.

If the proposed draw down occurs next year, however, the city will have to rent a floating pump to supply the water treatment plant with enough water for the city.

Rude said, "it appears that a draw down is possible." (The purpose of a draw down is to consolidate some of the sediment in the river and make some repairs to the reservoir.) He added that he believes they will have sufficient information to fully address the issue sometime in January. If a draw down proposal is accepted by the city council, in all likelihood it was take place in mid August to late September.

■ Rate payers to be asked opinion on leaf burning.

Rate payers in Thief River Falls will also receive a request from the city to let them know how they feel about leaf burning within the city limits. In the next newsletter which accompanies city utility bills, residents will be asked whether the city should continue to allow leaf burning within the city limits.

Dale Wennberg explained that there had been some concerns expressed about leaf burning and he would like to see the issued addressed by the city council.

Thief River Falls is one of the few cities in the state to still allow leaf burning within city limits.

■ Should property owners be required to put house numbers on their property?

The council also approved a recommendation to investigate whether an ordinance should be passed requiring property owners to put clearly marked house numbers on their homes.

The purpose of an ordinance is to assist law enforcement and fire department personnel to respond to incidents reported to them. Apparently, the problem is especially evident in trailer parks.

■ The council and public was reminded about a change in the annual Christmas tree lighting ceremony.

Thief River Falls Mayor Robert Reeve reminded council members of changes to the annual tree lighting ceremony. The event will be held 7 a.m. November 25 in Floyd B. Olson Park this year. The event will accompany an Early Bird sale in Thief River Falls.

In other business, the council: approved formal appointment of Roger DeLap as city administrator; declared a 1982 Ford pickup as surplus property; approved a progression raise for Brian Grondahl, lineman; approved a resolution of intent for a joint agreement with MnDOT covering bituminous surfacing of the Golf Club access road and parking lot (it will be paid for entirely with club funds); approved a dance permit for the Fine Line Dancers; approved an extension of time for interest only payments by Behavior Dynamics; and approved a recommendation to advertise for applications to the Community Development Revolving Loan fund.

Transfer hotline helps students to transfer credits

Now approaching its fourth year of operation, the Minnesota Transfer Hotline continues to reach increasing numbers of college and university students transferring their credits from one campus to another.

The reason for the record-setting trend is because the news that the hotline can help cut through red tape is getting out to many of the more than 25,000 post-secondary students who transfer every year in Minnesota.

Funded by the University of Minnesota, the State Universities, the Community Colleges and the Technical Colleges, the hotline aids students in transferring from one institution to another by providing useful information.

Calls are taken by hotline staff and a statewide network of campus transfer specialists who are also available for assistance. When questions need specific answers or are unusually complicated, these experts in the field provide answers to the hotline staff or talk directly to the student with the question.

In addition to answering questions and providing information, the hotline staff is collecting information about transfer. All calls are "logged" and students' concerns about transfer are communicated to system and campus staff responsible for making transfer work well.

The hotline telephone number is 1-800-374-5000 from anywhere in Minnesota outside the Twin Cities metro area. Hours are from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. Monday through Friday, but calls outside those hours will be recorded and answered during regular hours. Callers who need TDD services can reach the hotline through the Minnesota Relay Network by calling 297-5353 and requesting the hotline number.

Tracy Knaack benefit slated at Plummer

Wild West con man Doc Marlowe (Jed Brazier); the ancient but spry mailmen, Mr. Briscoe (Nathan Anderson); General Littlefield/reporter (Barry Belcher); the dooms-crier Get-Ready Man (Nate Keller); the very frustrated Professor Welch (Jeremiah Hasnedl); the draft-bored doctors (Stefan Ronchetti and Paul Dehnert) and the ticking draftee (Nicholas Kotz).

Also adding their commentary to life in the Thurber household are a swarm of aunts who intermittently speak out of the family portrait. They include Aunt Esther (Meagan Miller), Aunt Belinda (Vicki Bitzegaio), Aunt Ida (Megan Browning), Aunt Minnie (Jami Fremstad), Aunt Charlotte (Laura Williams), Aunt Bessie (Reann Dargus) and Aunt Fanny/Aunt Sarah (Stephanie Henney).

A few other commentaries are heard from the neighbors, Mr. and Mrs. Bodwell (Lana Rodahl and Stefan Ronchetti). Completing the cast are the carpenter (Anthony Kennedy), the electrician and recruiting sergeant (Craig Huot), war bond girls (Lana Rodahl and Jenny Brunkhorst) and ROTC cadets Rob Stock, Dan Bjerkness and Paul Otto.

All of these antics take place on a set that captures the essence of the imagination and energy that underlies the theme of "Jabberwock." Many hours of work have been put in by Art Heinze, Mike Melby and Scott Bornholdt, with the help of students William Kramer, Jeremi, Jesse and Ashley Hanson, Meagan Miller, Kyle Rokke and Jed Brazier, plus others. Diane Marshall, Kiki Goddard and Jami Fremstad have coordinated costumes and Meagan Miller has coordinated props.

What exactly is a Jabberwock? It is whatever holds our imaginations and love of life captive; it is whatever makes us think everyone should be exactly like everyone else; it is whatever you decide it is when you join us for a frabjous evening of rollicking good fun on Friday, November 18 and Saturday, November 19, at 7 p.m. in the Lincoln high school auditorium.

Kimberley Nelsoo

Insisting that his family becomes the "most electrified family in town," Charley Thurber (Sam Adams) works on the chandelier in this scene from the Lincoln high school fall play "Jabberwock." Watching are family members played by Josh Melby, Chris Tsukichi, Maje Turanna and Jerami Henson. At right Grandpa (Ben Schmitz) chooses to ignore progress and play checkers while Lily Loomie (Amber Peoples) the maid stares at a wire coming out of the gas range. The play will be staged Friday and Saturday, November 18 and 19, at 7 p.m.

Beginning at 10:15 a.m., small group conferences will be held on organic marketing, aquaculture and precision farming. Afternoon small conferences will be on vegetable alternatives, buffalo as an alternative livestock enterprise, dried/cut flower production, hybrid poplar production, farm marketing and rotational grazing.

Each of the small conferences will be 40 minutes in length and repeated once to permit those attending the conference to attend two of the three sessions offered during the same time period.

Artist shows her works at Hall's Floral

Artist Kimberley Nelson of Kennedy will be at Hall's Floral in Thief River Falls Saturday, November 19, to display and sell her artistic creations including hand made stationery and note cards.

Her hand made paper includes flower paper, red and yellow onion paper, blue jean paper, flax paper and cattail paper.

Her sale items include journals, baby books, birthday books, pictures (with and without calligraphy) and photo albums. She will display her unique art form utilizing cut or torn shapes of imported rice paper mounted on heavy watercolor paper and given a wash of wheat paste.

Nelson's display will be on the final day of Hall's Floral's annual Christmas Browseroo November 17, 18 and 19.

Sunset Strings formed

Recently formed at Franklin middle school is a select string ensemble which has been named the "Sunset Strings." Members of the group were chosen on the basis of an audition during the final week of October.

A wide variety of music will be performed by the group, including fiddle classics such as "Hoe Down" and "The Devil's Trill," according to the group's director and coordinator Brian Cole.

The Sunset Strings rehearse two mornings a week from 7:15 to 8 a.m. and are preparing a special showcase of well-known carols for the holiday season. The group is available to perform at meetings, parties and other social functions. Call Cole at 681-2240 to make arrangements.

28th annual coin, antique show slated

Twenty-eighth annual Free International Coin, Antique and Baseball Card Show will take place Saturday and Sunday, November 19 and 20, from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. at the Best Western Inn of Thief River Falls.

Show chairman Pat Klemisch said that approximately 20 dealers from Minnesota and North Dakota will be on hand to buy and sell coins, currency, tokens and other items.

There is no admission charge; sale of door prize tickets provides the sponsoring Thief River Falls Coin Club with funds which it uses to provide scholarships at Northland Community College and the Thief River Falls campus of Northwest Technical College. Hourly drawings for prizes will be held.

On display will be coins, Thief River Falls currency, gold, mint errors and other unique and interesting items.

Dangerous Drugs in the Kitchen

Children do not have to go far to find ways to get high on drugs. All they have to do is look under the kitchen sink or open a few closets or cupboards in your home.

Experts have labeled more than 1,000 household products as inhalants — chemical substances which people can breathe to get a chemical high. Glues, liquid paper, nail polish remover, paints and paint thinners, propane for your barbecue, even some aerosol sprays not only can be used to get high, but are being used this way by a growing number of children and teenagers.

Experts are now calling the widespread use of dangerous inhalants a full-blown epidemic. Around 17 per cent of all American children in the eighth grade have sniffed an inhalant at least once, and about five per cent have done this at least once in the last month.

In 1975, 10.3 per cent of high school seniors had sniffed. Since then the numbers have steadily risen so that today 16.6 per cent report having used inhalants.

Keeping kids off dangerous drugs cannot be accomplished by simply cracking down ferociously on drug pushers. Nor does it work to simply tell children to "just say no" to trying a drug. This is something the Narconon Drug Prevention Program has discovered in the last decade through talking about drugs with hundreds of thousands of children in schools.

What does help, however, is effectively educating children on how drugs work and why so many people are attracted to cigarettes, alcohol and other drugs, including inhalants.

All drugs are actually just chemical substances which are poisonous to the human body. The reaction they create is the body's response to an invasion of poison. This applies not only to drugs like marijuana and cocaine, but also to inhalants.

Taken in small amounts, these poisons can act as stimulants or depressants. The system responds to them in ways designed to minimize the damage they do to the body. In large amounts these poisons produce coma and death. This too is true of any drug. One drop of pure

TRF school conference schedules and tips

Each fall Minnesota teachers send home invitations for parents to visit the classroom. This invitation is one to be taken seriously, because your child's education depends, in part, on the partnership the parent forms with the teacher.

Most Thief River Falls schools will be having parent-teacher conferences November 21 thorough 23.

Conferences at Challenger elementary school are scheduled Monday and Tuesday, November 21 and 22, from 8:30 to 11:30 p.m., 12:30 to 3:30 p.m. and 5 to 8 p.m. both days. For more information, call the school at 681-2345.

Principal Bill Hahn stated that conferences at Franklin middle school will be held Monday and Tuesday, November 21 and 22, 8 to 11 a.m., 11:30 a.m. to 4:30 p.m., and 5:30 p.m. to 9 p.m. each day. Jan Shaw will be available on Tuesday only, Dean Woodman on Tuesday evening only, and Bev Dekkers and Janeal Peterson on Monday at regular hours all day and Tuesday from 8 to 11:30 a.m. and from 3 to 9 p.m.

According to Principal Terry Soiney, conferences at Lincoln high school have been scheduled Monday and Tuesday, November 21 and 22, from 12:30 to 5 p.m. and from 5:30 to 8:30 p.m. Parents are asked to call Sue at 681-7432 for their child's schedule of classes. They should call before Friday, November 18, at 3:30 p.m.

Conferences at St. Bernard's school have been scheduled Wednesday and Thursday, November 16 and 17 after school hours. A spokesperson said all parents have been notified of the dates and times of their conferences.

Conferences at Our Saviour's Christian Academy will be held November 22 from 8 a.m. to 9 p.m. Parents have been notified of the time of their conferences, but they may call 681-7753 if they have questions.

The purpose of the parent-teacher conference is one of sharing. All children learn in different ways, they have their own personalities and their own listening and working habits. The conference gives the teacher an opportunity to learn more about the student from the people who know best, the parents.

But it is not a one-way situation. Parents also get an opportunity to learn first-hand how their child is doing. They can also see the school, classroom and other places where students spend a good share of the school day. In some districts the students themselves are part of the conference.

Don Berger, St. Cloud, himself the parent of five school-age children and a regional representative for the Minnesota Education Association (MEA) says kids are often the catalyst to an effective conference. "They can be pretty honest. Children take great pride in showing off their school work to their parents. If the work isn't up to par, they are often the first to suggest it."

Berger says national research shows that when parents get involved with their children's education (through conferences and other programs) the outcomes are generally more positive.

If you are a first time school parent, or perhaps new to the school district, here are some general guidelines on parent-teacher conferences and how they can work to your child's advantage.

- Start the conference right: Be there on time, and plan out to run over the amount of time that has been set aside.
- If you are a working parent who can't arrange a meeting during regular hours, make this clear to the teacher and try to set up a time to meet that is good for both of you. Some schools schedule conferences after class, others in the evening.
- The best conferences are those in which both teachers and parents work together for the benefit of the student: Arguing or blaming, on either side, helps no one.

Getting Ready

Most teachers will have samples of the student's work with ideas to help them do even better in school. Parents, likewise, can get ready by talking with children before the conference. Find out what they think are their best subjects and what subjects they like the least. Find out why.

Before you go to school write notes to yourself about:

— Things concerning your child's life at home, personality, problems, habits and hobbies you feel it important for the teacher to know;

— Your concerns about the school's programs or policies;

— Questions about your child's progress; and — How you and the school can work together to help your child.

If your spouse cannot attend the conference with you, ask for his or her concerns and questions.

The Conference

Some good questions to ask:

— Is my child in different groups for different subjects? Why?

— How well does my child get along with others?

— What are my child's best and worst subjects?

— Is my child working up to his or her ability?

— Does my child participate in class discussions and activities?

— Has my child missed classes other than ones I contacted the school about?

— Have you noticed sudden changes in the way my child acts? For example, have you noticed any squinting, tiredness, or moodiness that might be a sign of physical or other problems?

Ask the teacher for specific suggestions on ways to help your child do better. This is the most important part of the meeting. It will become your action plan.

After the Conference

Start immediately on the action plan you and the teacher worked out together. Discuss the plan with your child. Make sure he or she knows that you and the teacher care.

To see if the action plan is working, watch your child's behavior and check your child's classwork and homework.

Stay in touch with the teacher. Today some teachers have voice mail and some have E-mail. Some schools even have voice-mailboxes where parents can call any time to learn what is going on in class. High tech or not, communication is the key ingredient here. A note from home or a phone message requesting a return call from the teacher at a specific time helps the communication process.

Teachers would like to meet all the parents, Berger said, but unfortunately it does not happen. "It's too bad, because students whose parents are not involved generally don't do as well in school and in the future. It's not a perfect world," he added.

Lioness had November meeting at Evergreen

The Thief River Falls Noon Lioness held their monthly luncheon meeting on Wednesday, November 9, at the Evergreen Eating Emporium lower level, with 20 members and one guest present.

Co-president Idella Samuelson opened the meeting with the Pledge of Allegiance and the Lioness table prayer. Tailtwisting was done by Eunice Flynn. Dimes were won by Idella Samuelson and craft was won by Edith Etter.

A report was given on the fun night held at Hanson's Boarding Home on October 17. Bingo was played and root beer floats were enjoyed by all.

Project for November is the local food shelf. Members made monetary contributions and $50 was donated from the club treasury. Angel pins were on sale and members were reminded to host coffee parties as fundraisers in the coming month, if possible.

Cassondra Johnson, Program Coordinator for Violence Intervention Project, was guest speaker and spoke on battering.

Next regular meeting will be December 14 at the Evergreen. Members are asked to bring wrapped Christmas ornaments for exchange and children's books for the local food shelf.

Maternal grandmother is Glenna Wefald of Thief River Falls.

Schmidt and Miller are wed October 8

Sandra Schmidt and Raymond Miller III were united in marriage on October 8, 1994, at St. Anne's church with Rev. Ed Wehner officiating.

Parents of the couple are Vincent and Regina Schmidt of Bismarck, ND, Susie Miller of Thief River Falls and Ray Miller of Boise, ID.

Bridal attendants were Keri Larson of Mesa, AZ; Michelle Olson and Renae Ellingson of Grand Forks, ND; Renee Augeson of Minneapolis; and Kathy Strom of Bismarck, ND.

Flower girls were Lisa and Tammy Dowers of Thief River Falls.

Attending the groom were Chris Helle of Prior Lake; Joe Blakenfled of Troy, IL; Gary Schmidt of Santa Rosa, CA; Neil Roth of Minot, ND; and Brian Durgin of Fargo, ND.

Ringbearer was Matthew Ohlhauser of Colorado Springs, CO.

The bride is a graduate of the University of North Dakota and is attending graduate school at the University of Nebraska -Lincoln. The groom is a graduate of the University of North Dakota and is employed with Davis, Fenton, Stange and Darling of Lincoln, NE.

Wagner and Crawford wed October 8 in TRF

Lana Wagner and Scott Crawford were united in marriage on October 8, 1994, at Zion Lutheran church in Thief River Falls. Rev. Gary Johnson officiated at the 6 p.m., double ring ceremony.

Parents of the couple are Ken and Sharon Wagner of Thief River Falls, Larry and Jane Crawford of Apple Valley and Herb and Jackie Lord of Ft. Myers, FL.

Craig Swenson sang and played guitar and Phyllis Dalager presided at the organ.

Sisters of the bride from Thief River Falls served as maid and matron of honor. Lora Wagner was maid of honor and Lisa Johnson was matron of honor. Kari Dragnes of Devils Lake, ND, and Susan Grabow of Willmar, both friends of the couple, served as bridesmaids, along with the groom's sister, Cindy Westcott of Maple Grove.

Friends of the bride, Lisa Semanko and Shelly Olinger, were her personal attendants.

Serving as best men were Pat Trepanier of Savage and Steve Sorenson of Andover. Kevin Kragnes of Devils Lake, ND, and Monte Goelz of Farmington, both friends of the couple, and Mark Crawford of Eagan, brother of the groom, were the groom's attendants.

Ushers were Marty Johnson, brother-in-law of the bride, and Jeremy Sisler and Marty Semanko, both friends of the couple. All are from Thief River Falls. Also ushering was Dean Brandon of Newfolden, cousin of the bride.

Honored guests at the ceremony were Myron and Ragna Haroldson of Williams, grandparents of the bride, and Hermann and Lida Blaser, Cumberland, WI, grandparents of the groom.

Following the ceremony, a reception was held in the couple's honor. Leon and Karen Johnson and Ray and Kathy Wagner, uncles and aunts of the bride, served as hosts and hostesses. The Wagners are also the bride's godparents.

Kim Johnson, cousin of the bride, and Natasha Moen, stepsister of the groom, presided at the guest book. Cutting the cake were Janie Demarais and Sue Hjelle, both friends of the couple from Mora.

Bonnie and Sharon Wagner, aunts of the bride, served coffee, and Jack and Audrey Cain, aunt and uncle and godparents of the groom, presided at the punch bowl.

Flower hostesses were Kelli Todd and Cindi Bondy, friends of the bride. In charge of gifts were Travis and Brook Crawford, nephews of the groom.

The couple is at home in Blaine. The bride is a graduate of Lincoln high school, Northland Community College and Moorhead State University. She is employed with Forest Lake public schools. The groom is a graduate of Apple Valley high school and Mankato State University. He is employed with ITT Finance at Plymouth.

Sarah Huschle is Student Rotarian

Sarah Huschle

Sarah Huschle, daughter of Gary and Kathleen Huschle and a senior at Lincoln high school, is serving as student Rotarian for the month of November with the Thief River Falls Rotary Club.

Sarah will attend the weekly noon dinner meetings of the club each Monday and report on the activities at Lincoln high school.

At Lincoln Sarah has been active in a number of areas, including helping to form and serving as president of the Environmental Club. She has been co-captain of the varsity volleyball and softball teams, secretary of the senior class and treasurer of the National Honor Society chapter.

A member of the concert choir and Target organization, she also plays varsity basketball, is a member of the school district's environmental learning lab committee and a 4.0 scholastic student. She is a member of her church youth group and the Magnificat church youth choir.

Being outdoors, working with animals and reading are her favorite hobbies and interests. Sarah has a brother, Cody, age 15, and a sister Lacey, age 13.

Currently her plans are to attend either Concordia College in Moorhead or the University of Minnesota at Morris and obtain a degree in biology with a minor in psychology. She would then like to attend graduate school to earn a master's degree and doctor of philosophy degree in marine biology and have a career in animal behavior research in the marine biology field.

Legion Auxiliary members attend Fall Conference

Avis Odegaard, Annabelle Cuppett, Gloria Lee, Joann Reeve and Eleanore Forberg, members of American Legion Auxiliary unit 117, attended the 62nd annual Fall Conference held at the St. Cloud Civic Center Thursday through Saturday, November 3 through 5. State President Bev Otterness of North Branch was the presiding officer.

Thursday a "Meet the Candidates" forum was held at the Waite Park Legion Post. Members of the Legion and Auxiliary were able to question the candidates to get a clearer picture of their positions on issues of importance to veterans and their families.

Also, two workshops were held on Thursday evening prior to the conference: a leadership workshop with Dolores Goettl, leadership chairman, and a field service orientation course led by Jan Dykems, chairman.

After the workshops, Cal Stoll presented a session on "Motivation" for the Legion and Auxiliary at the Kelly Inn. Governor Arnie Carlson addressed the conference Thursday.

Department chairmen of the Auxiliary explained their programs for the upcoming year on Friday and Saturday. Joann Reeve, chairman of the Heart Research Foundation, gave a report on the foundation.

I don't want to be a lounge lizard!

I'm going to walk, walk, walk that weight right off. After hearing Rob Sweetgall's recent presentation on weight and walking, I'm more determined than ever not to be a lounge lizard. That's Sweetgall's aphorism for a couch potato.

Although this nationally-known walker and talker has spoken in Thief River Falls before, this was my first exposure to him. I found his information helpful and his stories fascinating. Weaved with humor and anecdotes, his message made an impact on me. Others must also be motivated because most people I know would like to drop some weight.

Sponsored by the Pennington County Health Promotion Network, Sweetgall delivered his message in five northwestern Minnesota counties, 12 schools and four communities within four days. He reached 3,556 people.

Originally from Brooklyn, New York, Sweetgall now resides in St. Louis, Missouri, where he is president of Creative Walking. His primary goal is to get America off the couch. "America is sedentary," he said. "We're sludge. We have to get moving."

Sweetgall's accomplishments include writing eight books, once run/walking the perimeter of the United States, and walking in each of the 50 states during one year.

I could have listened to his tales for hours. He logged 11,000 miles in his walk across America. His itinerary called for him to complete 31 to 40 miles per day to keep on schedule. With just a four-pound fanny pack, he traversed the country with only the clothes he wore. He said he slept in pizza parlors, on church benches, and in a jail cell. In that trip he used approximately 450 pair of socks – mailing them ahead to predetermined post offices.

During his travels, Sweetgall found Louisiana to be the friendliest state, with North Dakota, Minnesota, Wisconsin, Montana, Idaho and Washington all tying for second, third, fourth, fifth, sixth and seventh.

Calling himself a road warrior, Sweetgall walked and walked, and found creative ways to keep his mind occupied. He admitted to talking to mailboxes and looking for money on the road. In one year he collected $182.82.

But also, Sweetgall shared how we could fit exercise into our life and why it is important. I label myself as a "moderate" exerciser so I am familiar with some of the points he made. He not only recommended exercise, but also nutrition and proper eating habits. This is what I gleaned from his presentation:

- Eat breakfast.
- Lower the intake of fat and increase the consumption of carbohydrates.
- Get moving after meals. Don't be a lounge lizard.
- Make little lifestyle changes.
- Walk for distance rather than speed to walk off weight.
- You don't have to exercise every day, just the days you eat!
- Make it permanent.
- Have fun.

After listening to Sweetgall, I am now encouraged to do "something" every day. This goal will be made easier by the arena walking program. It's surely an incentive to walk indoors in the winter.

On the days I don't walk, I participate in my other favorite exercise – water aerobics. I love water.

For the last 12 years I have been devoted to water aerobics and am a firm believer in its benefits. If I had to do the same exercises on land, I'd keel over in 15 minutes.

I hate to sweat, but the water gives me a cool, comfortable atmosphere in which to exercise, and I don't actually feel the sweat dripping off me.

From doing water aerobics I feel I've increased my cardiovascular fitness, developed more muscle and strength in my arms and legs, and maintain a reasonable body weight.

The social aspect also appeals to me. It's more fun to exercise with a group of people than to sit in my basement riding a stationary bike.

This winter I'm looking forward to combining my two favorite activities to lose some of the fat Sweetgall literally showed his audiences. But more than fat and weight loss, exercise has psychological advantages for me. I walk or hit the water if I'm feeling low, feeling stressed or have a headache. Exercise, for me, is a stress-reducer and a pain reliever. I feel better mentally after I've exercised and my mood is improved. All these will prevent me from becoming a lounge lizard.

Correction

In last weeks' local news, it was stated that Gladys Hallstrom helped to celebrate Viola Dirks' birthday on October 22. Gladys Holmstrom of Thief River Falls helped Viola Dirks celebrate her birthday and not Gladys Hallstrom of rural St. Hilaire. The Times regrets the error.

. . . Exercise

I find getting a little exercise to be one of the most difficult things I have to do. It is just not one of my favorite things. I always seem to have better, more important, more interesting things to do.

Walking the dog is passable exercise, I would say, but walking the dog was so much easier last summer when the weather was nice and it was light long into the evenings.

Now walking the dog has become less and less of an enjoyment and more and more a boring chore. It is dark by the time I finish the dishes and am ready to go for a walk. It is not enjoyable to walk around the block in the dark – it is somewhat spooky, in fact.

The weather has not been especially nice, either. It is cold and sometimes it is windy. If it is windy I have to wear a silly-looking cap to keep my ears warm.

Lately it has been raining out in the evenings and then, of course, I can't possibly walk the dog. The worst thing about the rainy, stay-at-home evenings is, however, that they get to be a habit. A few evenings of staying at home, cozy and warm, and I've lost all desire for any exercise.

I bought a rowing machine a few years ago and sold it almost immediately. It didn't work right, I said. Ha – I think it was me that didn't work right. I couldn't make the darn thing slide smoothly back and forth the way it does on television. I went bump and thump and there was nothing enjoyable about the process of sitting on the basement floor looking like a fool, trying to keep my feet in the little stirrups and shove myself back and forth while moving my arms at the same time. The procedure reminded me of the doctor's examination table and was about as much fun.

I have one of those stationary bicycles in my living room now, for days when I don't get my walk. I dust it every week, so you can see how much it is getting used.

For a while I tried to ride it while I watched the weather on television just before I went to bed, but it makes so much noise I couldn't hear the television. So much for the advertisements for those bicycles we see on television where people are reading or watching television while they ride their bicycles nowhere!

Perhaps the noise had something to do with the fact that I was trying to cram several miles into a few minutes so I was pedaling away like a whirling dervish, but nonetheless, it was very irritating.

Actually though, the reason I disliked it was not so much the noise or the inconvenience, but it made me feel just like a little hamster on a wheel – pedaling like mad and going nowhere.

Speaking of going nowhere, I haven't noticed anything spectacular happening to my nearly nonexistent muscles with all this walking. I wonder if this exercise is all it is cracked up to be. Maybe I should buy one of those walking machines and both I and the dog could walk on that in the basement while we watched the weather.

On The Other Hand...
by Angie Haugen

It's amazing how people take life for granted...

I love Fridays. Friday means being with my friends and having fun. This particular Friday, three weeks ago, I was standing at my locker after school. My friends and I were discussing our evening plans. Someone tapped my shoulder, and I spun around. He smiled one of his famous smiles and blurted," So, are you going to Fourtown this weekend?"

"No, Brandon, I think I'm going to stick around town. I have to work. If I do go up I'll see ya there."

The following Saturday Brandon Poole died.

Sunday morning before I left for work I was told that there had been an accident at Fourtown. My dad had heard it on the scanner. I figured one of the boys was showing off and broke an arm, maybe a leg. I never thought it was that serious. There weren't any details yet, so I blew it off and headed for work. After work I heard the news from a friend.

Monday morning in first hour, a morbid announcement alerted everyone to Brandon's death. I turned to see through blurry eyes the empty chair he had filled just last Friday. Right there it dawned on me that I would never see his smiling face or hear his cheery voice again.

After first hour, I joined the rest of my class in the cafeteria. Red faces and puffy eyes greeted me and my big-girls-don't-cry attitude was demolished. The next two hours were spent watching home movies, passing boxes of Kleenex and remembering Brandon like we should with a smile on his face and a twinkle in his eye. At 10:30 Ryan, Brandon's brother, came to school to talk to us. He was so choked up he couldn't speak. We all gave him support. He managed to say one thing clearly "If only Brandon could see this." He was bombarded with loving friends and a hug from every direction. He looked so frail, so weak, so changed from the hearty composure I usually see him with. If I could have said one thing to him, I would have said, "Ryan, I think Brandon can see this now."

Our emotions were in an uproar. One minute we were in a frenzy of giggles, the next we'd be holding each other, crying. Over the sharp reality that he was gone forever. In a very short time we collected a pot of money and sent a few students to the flower shop. The memorial was set in the hall for all to remember him by. Rose petals surrounded the porcelain angel, and seven dozen roses spiraled from that. A single yellow rose, symbolizing friendship, lay lonely across the front.

Laura Williams said a prayer, we walked as a group to Lover's Lane. A solemn circle formed, and we held hands and bowed our heads in silent prayer. We could feel the pressure left as we gathered in small groups and told Brandon stories. It was so good to sit and talk about him. He touched so many people. The tears subsided, and we found ourselves laughing again.

The walk back to school was quiet. After a small break, we planned to meet at the beach. Walking down to the swings, I couldn't bear a thing. It was as if the voice had taken out of everyone there. The class broke into small groups and the stories began again. I felt spent; I thought I had no more tears to cry. I was wrong.

The last two hours of school were spent in the cafeteria remembering the good times and wishing they were back. One thing about that time sticks out in my mind the most. The song "Friends" was playing on the radio. I realized how much we need friends, the value of friendship, and what a waste it is to have enemies. I think that the only way any of us got through this was because we were all surrounded by people we loved, our friends.

We never know which day will be our last. I don't want to go out with any regrets. Brandon didn't have that problem. He was a friend and had no enemies. It would have been impossible to be mad at him.

In the last two weeks I learned something. First, be friendly. It never hurt anybody to smile. It could brighten someone's day. Second, live like there will be no tomorrow: Mend a broken relationship, create a new one, don't leave loose ends, and don't ever say "I'll do it tomorrow." You may not get the chance.

Energy assistance money available

Minnesota Department of Economic Security now has $51.1 million available for its energy assistance program. Last winter the program helped 111,400 low income Minnesotans pay their heating bills.

To qualify, households must have a three-month income less than $2,547 for one person, $3,366 for a two person household, $4,158 for a three person household and $4,995 for a four person household.

For information contact the community action or social service agency or Indian reservation office administering the energy assistance program in your area or call 1-800-657-3805 and ask for "fuel assistance."

Women's military items are being sought for memorial exhibit

Women of Minnesota who were in the military and still have their uniforms or other items distinctive of their service experiences are invited to donate them to the Women In Military Service For America Memorial Foundation.

State Department of Veterans Affairs commissioner Bernie Melter said he encourages Minnesota women veterans to contribute artifacts to the memorial's permanent collection in the exhibit gallery. He said there are approximately 20,000 women veterans in the state.

The memorial will open in 1997 at the gateway to Arlington National Cemetery. Melter said it will be "a tribute to military women, at the same time enabling all Americans to learn about the women who served this country, beginning with the American Revolution."

He said the foundation is looking for all appropriate items from both war and peacetime periods in U.S. history, including uniforms, medals, insignia, photographs, military issue personal items and medical equipment.

For more information about artifact the foundation can use, Melter said interested Minnesotans should call curator Kathryn Sheldon toll free at 1-800-222-2294.

Vivian McCrum, 85

Thief River Falls — Vivian McCrum, age 85, died Tuesday, November 8, at United Hospital in Grand Forks, ND.

Funeral services for Vivian McCrum were held Thursday, November 10, at 2 p.m. at Zion Lutheran church in Thief River Falls with Rev. Dennis Raymond officiating. Ida Nordvall served as organist, with Grace Hammer singing "When I Get Too Old to Dream" and "In the Garden." Congregational hymns were "Oh God, Our Help in Ages Past" and "Lift High the Cross."

Interment was at Greenwood cemetery in Thief River Falls with the Green Funeral Home in charge of arrangements. The family requests memorials to Northland Community Hospice in lieu of flowers.

Vivian Olson was born November 11, 1908, in Thief River Falls, the daughter of Ole Nels and Andrea Amundson Olson. She was raised in Thief River Falls until the age of five, when the family moved three miles east to homestead on the banks of the Red Lake River. Her father donated land for a rural school which she attended through eighth grade.

In 1927, she graduated from Crookston Agricultural high school, then lived with her cousin, Carl Jacobson, and his family in Memphis, TN, and attended Southwest University. She later attended Bemidji State University and received her teaching degree from Mayville State in Mayville, ND. She taught in rural school in Smiley township for four years, including the rural school she attended as a child.

She was united in marriage to James McCrum in 1932. He died in 1956. She and her husband were charter members of the Smiley Community club. She also directed plays for the Community club and the Smiley 4-H club, where she and her children were active members.

She helped organize the former Helperette club and the Moccasin Garden club. She wrote the Smiley news for The Times for many years during the 1940s and 50s, and wrote a personal life column in the late 1950s.

She was a lifetime member of Zion Lutheran church in Thief River Falls. Her parents were among the charter members.

Survivors include a daughter, Marilyn (husband, John) Brown, Dansville, CA; two sons, Bruce of Dallas, TX, and Robert (wife, Cathy) of St. Paul; and five grandchildren, Stacey and Stephanie Brown, and Jay, Erin and Michael McCrum.

Preceding her in death were her parents; her husband; three brothers, Juell in infancy, Orton and Marcus; and two sisters, Ruth and Clara.

ADDITION

Active casketbearers omitted from the obituary notice for Mayer Holen in the October 26 Times were Lynn Anderson, Rev. Gene Broughton, Robert Parnow, Albert Dahl, Edwin Sjulestad, Richard Bergland, Leonard Johnson and Richard Vraa.

Casketbearers were Brian and Harvey Gagner, Carl Swenson, Francis Perreault, Vern Schindler and Pat Volkerding. Interment was at St. Anthony's cemetery in Terrebonne with the Petterson Funeral Home in charge of arrangements.

Elida Olga Anne Rost was born November 1, 1938, in rural Erskine, the daughter of Jonas and Ragna Johnson Rost. She was baptized into the Catholic church at St. Sebastian church in Bessemer, MI, on June 5, 1971, and was confirmed at St. Anthony's Catholic church on November 19, 1977.

She was raised in the Erskine area and graduated from Erskine high school in 1957. She worked as a housekeeper in Minneapolis for a couple of years.

October 22, 1960, she was united in marriage to Dennis Capistran in Crookston. The couple moved to Milwaukee, WI, until 1969, when they moved to upper Michigan in 1971. They then moved to the Erskine area, and she has lived in the Terrebonne area since 1972.

She was an active member of St. Anthony's Catholic church of Terrebonne where she was a Eucharistic Minister, was active with the Teens Encounter Christ program, a board member of the Inter County Community Council, was active in 4-H, a food co-op member and was involved in the Care and Share Center in Crookston.

She loved and enjoyed her grandchildren, fishing and outdoor activities, gardening, visiting and playing cards.

Survivors include one son, Thomas (wife, Beth) of Luverne; three daughters, Sheila Capistran (husband, David Murphy), rural Ada, Denise Capistran (fiance, Patrick Volkerding), Moorhead, and Kathleen Capistran of Grand Forks, ND; two grandchildren, Laural and Mason; and her fiance, James Glinsid of rural Terrebonne.

She is also survived by one brother, John Rost of McIntosh; two sisters, Mary Oppergaard, rural Erskine, and Mabel Ecklund, Fosston; two half sisters, Mildred Johnson, Bagley, and Ilo Asp of Wyoming, MN; as well as several nieces and nephews.

Preceding her in death were her parents; a grandson, Dennis Logan; a sister, Alma Bannister; and two brothers, Elmer and Vernon.

[illegible]

October 2nd, Mr. and Mrs. Thalae Grindeland, Koy and Kim Maidment, also Mrs. Bruce Larson, Heath, John, Sarah and Cody and Mrs. John Bigelk, Rachel and Andrew brought supper in honor of Leonard Larson's birthday.

OBITUARIES

Sr. Therese Martin, O.S.B., 93

Crookston — Sr. Therese Martin, O.S.B., age 93, died Thursday, November 10, after a long illness and a lifetime devoted to religious life and the education of children.

Mass of Christian Burial for Sr. Therese Martin was celebrated Monday, November 13, at 4:30 p.m. at Mount St. Benedict Chapel in Crookston with Rev. Michael Sullivan as presider and homilist.

A prayer service was held Sunday evening at Marian Hall Chapel-Lounge at Mount St. Benedict.

Honorary casketbearers were Srs. Anne Goulet, Casimir Polansky, Louise Nicklay, Margaret Thueringer, Martina Wold and Patricia Fitzpatrick. Interment was at Mount St. Benedict cemetery in Crookston with the Stennes Funeral Home of East Grand Forks in charge of arrangements.

Marie Louise Bertha Martin was born July 21, 1901, near Plum City, WI, the youngest of 12 children of Felix and Suzanne Brunette Martin. She entered Mount St. Benedict Monastery in 1924, receiving the name of Sr. Therese, and made her final profession of vows in 1928. She attended St. Theresa's College in Winona, St. Catherine's College in St. Paul and Bemidji State University.

Beginning in 1926, she taught in parish schools in Bemidji, Moorhead, Barnesville, Thief River Falls, Detroit Lakes, Crookston and Benson, returning to live at Mount St. Benedict Monastery in 1982.

Prayer, both her own and that of the church, was very important to Sr. Therese. Although she was known for her exactness and devotion to duty, she could also appreciate a humourous situation and compiled a booklet of favorite jokes.

She treasured family ties and corresponded regularly with several of her nieces.

Survivors include members of her religious community; a nephew, Rev. Loyola O'Dougherty of Mammoth, AZ; and several nieces and grand-nieces.

Preceding her in death were her parents; two brothers; and nine sisters, including Sr. Hilary Martin of St. Scholastica Priory in Duluth, and Srs. Emmanuel and Inez Martin of Mount St. Benedict Monastery in Crookston.

Fund drive to save the Soo Line depot in Thief River Falls received a boost recently when Branch 8129 of Lutheran Brotherhood donated $1,000 to the fund. Ed Sisler, president of Branch 8129 and presenter of the check, is shown outside the depot. He said that Branch 8129 expends more than $30,000 annually to assist people who have had personal tragedies or to support community improvement projects in Pennington, Red Lake and part of Marshall counties.

Save the Depot group receives BN extension

Canadian Pacific Railroad has agreed to give the Historic Depot Preservation Committee in Thief River Falls an extension on an agreement to purchase the 80-year-old Soo Line Depot in Thief River Falls.

Under terms of the original agreement, the committee had until November 15 to raise $200,000 in public funds as part of a $400,000 renovation and development package. The extension agreed to by the railroad will give the committee until April 30, 1995, to continue fund raising for the preservation project.

Larry Rohlf, co-chairman of the preservation committee, said the initial intent was to return pledges and donations if the $200,000 goal was not reached by November 15.

"We had a very good discussion of options at our meeting last Thursday," Rohlf said. "We talked about hanging up the campaign right here, but were also very encouraged to have half the money needed to save the building.

"From the committee's perspective, the cup was either half empty or half full. We are a little worn down, but optimism prevailed. We have until April 30....that's it."

Last week public fund raising reached $100,000 with a new marker added Monday to the "Tie the Rails to the Future" sign near the depot building. Rohlf said the committee is planning weekly updates crediting contributors as well as financial status of the campaign.

One of the recent contributions was a $1,000 donation from Branch 8129 of Lutheran Brotherhood, approved by the branch's board of directors and presented by board president Ed Sisler.

"The good will, encouragement and confidence of the community are what keep us going," Rohlf said. "We have run out of buttons twice and reordered. But we're going to have to do a lot more if we are going to save the depot."

Land rent/value meeting Monday

Another growing season has come to an end and farmers and landlords will soon be renewing or negotiating rental agreements for 1995 and beyond. The Pennington county extension service will be conducting a land rent/value meeting to assist farmers and land owners with this process on Monday, November 21, at 9:30 a.m. in the Northwest Regional Library meeting room in Thief River Falls.

Topics will include a review of current area rental rates and land values with a look at future rates based on what may or may not happen with the Conservation Reserve Program (CRP) in the coming two years. Ray Thompson, Marshall county extension educator, will cover the rental and land value discussions.

Howard Ferson, Pennington county extension educator, will discuss rental rates and written agreements for custom farming, how to determine custom rates for various machinery operations and guidelines for renting bins and other farm buildings.

The meeting is open to the general public and all interested persons are invited to attend.

Bill and Laurie Ness

Musicians add to Methodist fall festival

As part of its fall festival celebration, United Methodist church in Thief River Falls will sponsor a program of bluegrass, Gospel music Sunday, November 19, with Bill and Laurie Ness of New Ulm as guest musicians.

The guests will sing and play a variety of classic old time string and bluegrass selections, featuring fiddle, banjo, guitar, dulcimer and mandolin. The concert begins at 7 p.m. in the church sanctuary and a community-wide invitation is extended for anyone to attend.

"Laurie and Bill are well known across Minnesota for their down home sound and crisp harmonies," states Rev. Bill Kerr, pastor of United Methodist. "The rural, acoustic sound of their music has the traditional flavor of classic bluegrass with Appalachian and Ozark mountain music incorporated into the program."

The program will cap an evening of fall festival activities for the congregation, including a silent auction of craft and art items, a cake-cutting celebrating the 25th anniversary of the church building and a special fall festival dinner.

Dangerous Drugs

nicotine found in cigarettes — these are also a drug — would kill a person if injected into the blood stream. In more than half of the deaths due to inhalants, users sniff the poison and their heart stops beating within minutes.

Each drug has its own particular liabilities and inflicts different kinds of physical damage. But the full extent of the harm was only recently realized.

American author and philosopher, L. Ron Hubbard, discovered that a great many drugs are not fully eliminated from the system. Poisonous drug residuals of even organic drugs like marijuana can lodge in the fatty tissue of the body and remain there for years and even decades. These residuals make a person feel bad, they affect mental abilities and clarity of thought, and they reduce intelligence and ability to learn and retain information. Drugs can even alter personality.

The chemical substances in inhalants can also remain in the body for decades. Until L. Ron Hubbard tackled the problem, there was no medical way of getting many of these substances back out of the body again. This has actually been found to be a contributing factor to continued addiction to drugs. The drug user feels so bad all the time that drugs provide the only way to feel good again for short periods of time.

The best defense you can give your children to counter any attraction to dangerous drugs is a real education on the subject. You need to talk to them about inhalants and other drugs. Drugs are not some mysterious evil waiting to snap them up if they look the wrong way or talk to the wrong people. They are just poisons that, no matter how they make them feel for a few hours, will mess them up in the long run.

By even casually using inhalants or drugs, children will be loading their systems with poisons that will eventually make them feel bad most of the time.

You don't want to make drugs some terrible bogeyman for your children. Scare tactics really don't work to keep children away from drugs. As adults we often expect our children to do what we say and not what we do. What children do is what they see, not what they hear, so what does work is being a good example as a parent and effectively educating children on what drugs are, how they affect the body and the mind, and what the long term effects are. With honest information on all drugs, children will be able to see for themselves the inherent dangers that drugs pose, especially inhalants.

If you find that your child is using inhalants or other drugs, this, too, is not the end of the world. New breakthroughs in the field of drug rehabilitation that were made by L. Ron Hubbard have resulted in the Narconon drug rehabilitation program, which works to get even hard core herion and cocaine addicts off drugs for good.

In the past, it was sometimes believed that once a drug addict, always a drug addict. But today this is no longer the case. Anyone wanting information on the Narconon drug rehabilitation program can contact Narconon at 800-468-6933.

TIMES FOR TODDLERS

ACTIVITIES

Nature Painting

Children love to paint and at this time of the year there are many natural items that children can use to explore painting and do things a little differently. Collect a large variety of natural items and experiment a little bit.

Some of these natural items to paint with may include feathers, sticks, leaves, pine cones, grasses, weeds, dead flowers or acorns. You will also need a large place to work and a large piece of paper. Paper grocery bags that are opened work very well. Other papers may include used computer paper, wrapping paper or even a cardboard box.

The children need to protect their clothes with a paint shirt which can be just any old shirt. The paint may be tempera, water colors or even water colored with food coloring. Dip the natural items into the paint and apply them to the paper.

Now the fun begins with time, imagination and discovery!

SCAVENGER HUNT

For next week's Activities feature, you will need flour, cornmeal, oil, water, cookie cutters and a rolling pin.

BOOK OF THE WEEK

The Thief River Falls public library invites you to browse through its new selection of children's books including the following:

McGeorge, Constance W. Boomer's Big Day. Boomer's all set for his morning walk, but there's definitely something unusual going on. The pictures charmingly depict Boomer's confusion and anxiety on a familiar day to all; moving day.

Lyon, George. Mama is a Miner. Find out why Amanda comes to the conclusion that wherever Mama is, there is light. The words and paintings glow with love.

VIDEO VARIETY

On Our Own. In a world tearing them apart, four children struggle to stay together after their mother dies and they are abandoned by their father.

PARENTING TIPS

Learning Good Manners

The very best place to start teaching manners is in the home. When adults are respectful to each other and to children, they are modeling good manners and setting an example much louder than words.

As important as a good model is, however, it is not enough. Children do not automatically pick up all the nuances of civilized behavior. Example must be backed up by explanation and instruction. Children need to be told exactly what is expected of them.

It is useless to expect children to act like miniature adults, but only by knowing the rules can they follow them. A fun way to learn rules is to play games.

For example, have a pretend tea party. Act out a proper greeting: Hello, Mrs. Bear. How are you? and proper table manners: Would you like some cookies? Please pass the milk. Thank you very much.

A child can "teach" her doll how a good guest acts and in the pretending, reinforce her own good habits. One instruction is not enough. Reminders are necessary, over and over again. Friendly reminders work better than hostile ones. Ask pleasantly, "What do you say?" and don't let go of the treat until the child says, "Please."

SOMETHING TO TALK ABOUT

Giving a child a reminder about manners can be non-threatening if the hint is relayed in a pleasant and friendly voice and always is specific about what behavior the parent wishes to see.

Section 8 girls high school swimming and diving results...

Giauque, Olin head to state

Theresa Giauque and Jennifer Olin are heading back to the state meet next week following qualifying efforts in the 1994 Section 8 girls high school swimming and diving championships held Friday and Saturday at Alexandria.

Giauque and Olin figured to be Thief River Falls' best bets for a state meet trip in the highly-competitive 18-team sectional field that extended the 1994 season for the top two finishers in each of the swimming events and top five divers. And they came through. Giauque, a senior, was a double-event winner with a 2:01.91 in the 200 freestyle and a 5:29.97 in the 500 freestyle. Olin, finished second in one-meter diving to Shelly Kringen of Bemidji, 365.10 points to 355.20.

"Theresa dominated both of her events," pointed out Thief River Falls coach Ryan Lokken. "Jenny dove extremely well."

Both were state meet qualifiers in the same events last fall. Giauque was also a state entry as an eighth grader and freshman.

Bemidji won team honors with 430 points. Alexandria was second at 411. Thief River Falls and Crookston shared eighth place with 127 points.

State meet spots were also obtainable by matching qualifying standards.

"We could have done a little better in a couple of spots, but we also did better than we might have anticipated in a couple of other areas," noted Lokken. "Overall, it was a good meet for us. The competition was real tough."

Top eight finishers in Friday prelims competed in Saturday's championship finals, while the 9-through-16 prelim finishers swam in the second-day consolation finals.

Other individual Thief River Falls Saturday places included Becky Mattson, who was ninth in diving, and Nicole Kopari, 12th in the 50 freestyle.

The Prowlers' relays included Kopari, Giauque, Sunny Carlson, and Becky Harger, eighth in the 200 freestyle; Giauque, Becky Harger, Mandy Johnson, and Kopari, eighth in the 400 freestyle; and Johnson, Robin Bollesen, Cami Sorenson, and Carlson, 11th in the 200 medley.

Joining Giauque as double-event winners during the meet were Sara Kohler of Detroit Lakes/Frazee in the 200 I.M. and 100 butterfly, and Jenny Power of Alexandria in the 50 and 100 freestyle.

Two area teams play in football semifinals

Two area teams – Red Lake Falls and Kittson Central – will be playing Minnesota state high school football playoff semifinal games Friday at the Hubert H. Humphrey Metrodome in Minneapolis.

The 10-1 Wolfpack will meet Littlefork-Big Falls in a 9:30 a.m. Nine-Man game, while the 11-1 Eagles take on Hawley in a 12-noon Class C contest.

With just four sections statewide in Nine-Man football, Kittson Central was idle last week after winning Section 4 honors with a 30-28 win over Argyle at the Fargodome.

Red Lake Falls reached the state Class C semifinals with a 30-29 home field win over Browerville Friday.

Lone Red Lake Falls loss this year came at the hands of Hawley 27-20 to start the season.

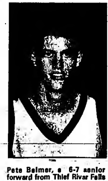
Another Friday state semifinal of local interest features unbeaten Alexandria vs. Bloomington Jefferson in a 7:30 p.m. Class AA contest. The Cardinals, who beat Thief River Falls 32-20 during the regular season, doubled Park of Cottage Grove 42-21 in Friday's quarterfinals.

Detroit Lakes, a 28-13 winner over Thief River Falls in the Section 8A finals a week earlier at the Fargodome, lost a 20-6 state playoff quarterfinal decision at Hutchinson Friday, ending the Lakers' two-year Class A state championship reign.

The only defending state champion appearing in any of the five football playoffs classes, the Lakers fell victim to a 13-for-16, 183-yard passing performance by Hutchinson quarterback Ryan Dolder. The Lakers, who turned a 14-13 score into a 21-13 halftime spread against Thief River Falls in the Section 8A finals with a touchdown pass on the final play of the first half, was on the other end of the same scenario against the Tigers when Dolder threw a 33-yard scoring strike to tailback Nate Fearson as time ran out in the first half to double a 6-0 lead.

In Thursday state semifinals at the Metrodome, Hills-Beaver Creek faces Verndale in Nine-Man play, while Minnesota Valley Lutheran of New Ulm takes on Chatfield in Class C. Those winners will take on the Friday winners in the state finals.

Prep Bowl playoff championship games will be played Friday, Nov. 25 at the Metrodome when the Nine-Man final will be played at 9:30 a.m., the Class C title game at 12-noon, the Class B championship game at 2:30 p.m., Class A trophy contest at 5 p.m.; and the Class AA finale at 7:45 p.m.



Pete Belmer, a 6-7 senior forward from Thief River Falls is one of three returning starters on the 1994-95 Concordia College men's basketball team in Moorhead. Belmer, a 1991 Lincoln High School graduate, averaged 10.3 points and 3.8 rebounds for the Cobbers a year ago when they finished 10-14 overall and 10-10 in the MIAC. They open the season at the Southern Colorado Classic Friday and Saturday. The Cobbers begin MIAC conference play Dec. 3 at Hamlin.

TRF is state Class A academic champion

■ Prowlers earn football honors

Thief River Falls has been named the academic state champion in Class A high school football for the 1994 season, it was announced over the weekend.

The Prowlers earned the award, presented by the Minnesota State Football Coaches Association through sponsoring cooperation of McDonald's Restaurants, with a 3.59 grade-point average on a 4.0 scale.

In Class A, the team grade-point average was determined by using the top 27 GPA figures among varsity players – based on last spring's final marking period.

A similar academic state championship award went to Thief River Falls' 1993 boys cross country team.

Individual certificates will go to the 27 players whose GPA counted toward the team award, and a large banner will be presented to the school to hang in the Lincoln High School gym.

The Prowlers were 7-4 on the field this year, reaching the Section 8A finals before losing to Detroit Lakes 28-13 at the Fargodome.

Pioneers named to All-Division squad

Ten members of the Northland Community College football team earned First or Second Team Minnesota Community College Conference All-Northern Division honors this fall, it was announced Monday by Pioneers head coach Gene Klinke.

Northland First Team MCCC All-Northern Division selections included Rick Anteau, a 6-1, 224-pound sophomore linebacker from Toledo, Ohio; Ray Reinhart, a 6-1, 256-pound sophomore defensive tackle from Warroad; Dan Koehmstedt, a 6-1, 208-pound center from Middle River; Dave Hofman, a 6-3, 230-pound sophomore linebacker from Miami, Florida; and Shawn Blackmon, a 6-0, 172-pound freshman defensive back from Ann Arbor, Michigan.

Pioneers named to the MCCC All-Northern Division Second Team included Dan Nelson, a 6-0, 210-pound sophomore runningback from Redwood Falls; Rick Ostby, a 5-11, 205-pound sophomore linebacker from Thief River Falls; Darin Fish, a 5-10, 208-pound defensive end from Warroad; J.P. Lammers, a 6-2, 185-pound freshman quarterback from Ann Arbor, Michigan; and Kurt Reynolds, a 5-9, 189-pound sophomore special teams player from Red Lake Falls.

TRFAHA plays host to jamboree scrimmages

Annual Minnesota Amateur Hockey Association District 16 Pee-Wee and Bantam jamborees will be held Saturday and Sunday in Thief River Falls, Red Lake Falls and Crookston.

Saturday, Pee-Wee A scrimmages will be held in the Thief River Falls Old Arena and, because of the remodeling project at the Huck Olson Memorial Civic Center, Bantam A match-ups will take place in Red Lake Falls.

Sunday, Pee-Wee B sessions will take place at the Thief River Falls Old Arena, Red Lake Falls and Crookston. If the construction project is completed, Bantam B scrimmages will be held at the Huck Olson Memorial Civic Center and Red Lake Falls. If the Thief River Falls building is not available, a revised schedule will be announced.

- Sports Briefs -

Baseball meeting

Parents of baseball players and others who are interested in the sport are reminded of an important meeting tonight (Wednesday) at 7 p.m. in the meeting room of American Legion Post 117 in Thief River Falls.

Future of the summer baseball programs for ages 13-18 remains in doubt because of the challenges in operating and funding the operations.

First step in trying to insure baseball remains an active part of the Thief River Falls summer scene will be an attempt to incorporate the various age group programs into a single organization.

Promoters of the single-operation concept hope the coordinated effort would make it easier to address the needs at each age level.

The programs, subsidized in the past through major contributions from clubs and organizations, must face the prospects of raising a greater percentage of its operating expenses as outside funding decreases because, in part, to a decline in charitable gaming funds that have been the primary source of club revenue in the past.

Without a greater individual commitment from parents and others interested in baseball, there is no guarantee the game will survive on the scale that has been offered over the years.

Your input and your help is needed to keep the sport alive locally.

DNR needs change of address for ATV and boat operators

Every year, about 25,000 Minnesota watercraft and ATV registration renewal notices get placed into recycling bins, instead of the mailboxes where they belong, according to Suellen Rau of the Department of Natural Resources License Bureau. The reason those 25,000 recreationists don't get their renewal notices is because they've moved, but haven't notified the DNR of their whereabouts.

"We'd prefer to be able to notify everyone, but we've found that attempting to track down 25,000 people each year just isn't cost effective, and it hampers our efforts to provide prompt service to the vast majority of our customers," said Rau, who is the DNR's recreational vehicle program manager.

Approximately 241,000 watercraft registrations and 17,000 ATV registrations are due to expire in December. Renewal notices for those registrations will be mailed out by the DNR on December 15. Any address changes that will guide those renewal forms to their new homes must reach the DNR by November 15.

Boaters and ATV operators who have moved during the past year should mail their change of address information to the DNR License Bureau, Registration Section, 500 Lafayette Road, St. Paul, MN 55155-4026. Included in the information should be the registrant's name, watercraft and/or ATV registration number, old address, and new address.

New device will help to solve beaver problems

It's a familiar problem – one that townships, counties and farmers are seeing with increasing frequency. Water begins creeping onto a road or crop field. Within a few days the entire area is flooded. A quick search reveals the culprits: beaver. A dam built by these animal engineers has clogged a road culvert or stream, blocking water that is supposed to drain.

Fortunately for those suffering beaver dam woes, there is a new device that keeps water flowing through culverts despite the continuing efforts of these paddle-tailed architects. Called the Clemson Leveler, the device is already being used by several counties that have found it solves many of their beaver problems.

Norm Moody, land commissioner for Cass County is an advocate. "Our first leveler saved us more than twice its cost in the first summer of operation," Moody said. The low-maintenance levelers free up Cass County crews for other projects. "The real savings are in man-hours and travel," Moody said. "Thanks to the levelers, we've been able to complete additional trail work we couldn't get to before and concentrate on other productive activities."

The Clemson leveler, developed by Clemson University in South Carolina, is basically a large drainage pipe punched through the beaver dam. Unlike old drainage systems tried over the years, the Clemson Leveler can't be plugged by silt or beavers. Its intake device is covered by a screen that keeps the water flow from being detected by the beavers.

According to Bill Berg, a Minnesota Department of Natural Resources wildlife research scientist, the Clemson Levelers already installed in Minnesota are showing great results. "in every case so far, the leveler has fooled the beavers," Berg said. "They can't figure out how to plug it up."

Mike DonCarlos, DNR furbearer and wildlife depredation specialist, says the device might be the least expensive way for a county or township to solve some of its beaver problems. The cost of a pre-built intake device and other materials needed for a typical installation runs about $350 to $400. Two people can install it in one day.

"Clemson Levelers can operate for years with little or no maintenance," DonCarlos said. "They have the potential to eliminate the repetitive costs of maintaining culverts plugged by beavers."

Although DonCarlos is optimistic that Clemson Levelers will help counties, townships and landowners solve many beaver problems, he cautions against viewing the leveler as a cure for all beaver woes. "It's not a panacea," he said. "in many situations, trapping and removal will still be the most effective way to control or reduce beaver damage."

Although the DNR does not actually install or buy the levelers, it does provide specifications and technical advice on building and installing the devices, according to Kent Solberg, DNR wildlife damage extension specialist at Brainerd. "Until now, Clemson Levelers had to be constructed from plans provided by the DNR," Solberg said. "Although a Clemson Leveler intake device can be constructed with simple tools and basic shop skills, many people experiencing beaver problems told us they would prefer to purchase a ready-made unit. # Auction of firearms nets nearly $46,000

Auctions of confiscated firearms held this fall produced nearly $46,000 for the State Game and Fish Fund, the Minnesota Department of Natural Resources reported.

Some 1,000 people attended the firearms portion of the auctions, which were held at the DNR headquarters in Grand Rapids and the State Surplus Property Center in Arden Hills.

Firearms and bows sold had been confiscated from violators of Minnesota's hunting laws. DNR officials said a total of 220 items were sold. The highest amount paid for a single item was $1,125 for a .270 Weatherby rifle. Among other items that drew high bids were a 7mm Weatherby rifle for $840 and 20 other shotguns and rifles for over $400 each.

Violators of Minnesota's hunting laws not only face fines, but possible confiscation of equipment and loss of hunting privileges.

CRP lands threatened

It's sometimes confused with CPR when what is meant is CRP. The first stands for cardiopulmonary resuscitation, the other for Conservation Reserve Program. Coincidentally, they both have to do with breathing new life into a failing system.

While both CRP and CPR are credited with doing wonderful things, there are those who would like to see CRP itself killed off when Congress rewrites the 1995 federal farm bill. Should that happen, Department of Natural Resources experts warn it is certain that many wildlife populations such as pheasants could plummet.

Literally millions of acres of erosion-prone ground have been taken out of production and allowed to mature into large blocks of life-giving CRP grasslands over the past nine years. Those grasslands have not only prevented thousands of tons of topsoil from blowing and washing away, they are also credited with providing some of the best wildlife production habitat seen in Minnesota in decades.

Al Berner, DNR group leader at the Farmland Wildlife Populations and Research station at Madelia, said the pressure is intense in some quarters to end or at least scale back dramatically the multi-year conservation program.

Agribusiness, for example, stands to make a lot of money from grain handling or from selling farm chemicals, equipment and seed if millions of acres of land are either put back into production or retired under the Acreage Conservation Reserve program – an annual set-aside program under which a cover crop must be destroyed by a certain date, usually during the nesting season of species such as the pheasant.

Berner, widely regarded for his expertise on the impacts of agricultural programs on wildlife, bristles at the notion put forth by some that CRP has been too costly. "That is simply not true," Berner said. "In fact, in addition to the tremendous environmental benefits it has provided society at large, it has also reduced commodity cropland bases by over 23 million acres, thereby reducing more costly ACR deficiency payments by an estimated $10 to 12 billion over the life of the contract period. The commodity-based ACR program is going to end up costing taxpayers about $117 billion by the year 2002. That's six times more expensive than CRP with few, if any, environmental benefits."

DNR studies have shown that pheasants have benefitted tremendously from CRP and Reinvest in Minnesota grasslands. Berner estimates that statewide, the pheasant population is at least 75 percent higher now than it would be if we did not have CRP.

As an indication of how important CRP is to nesting pheasant, Berner noted that the 1993 fall population of pheasants in Minnesota was 1.2 million (based on harvest figures). "However, studies show that without CRP we would have had only about 600,000 pheasants that fall," he said.

Although CRP has been a huge help, Mother Nature has failed to cooperate over the past seven or eight years when CRP habitat was in prime condition. "Either we had drought, or too much rain and cold in the spring, or severe winters. Each year there was something to prevent the pheasant population from really exploding," Berner noted. Despite uncooperative weather conditions, the pheasant population in Minnesota still managed to increase from 600,000 in 1986 to 2.2 million in 1991.

This spring, nesting conditions were about as ideal as one could ask for, Berner said. However, it came on the heels of a long, hard winter that took a heavy toll on pheasants in many areas.

Compare last year's harvest to the early years of CRP when the harvest ranged between 150,000 and 180,000 pheasants, and it's hard to complain. Should the CRP program end, however, or be seriously cut back, there will be plenty to complain about, Berner said.

"With the amount of CRP land we now have, I'm confident we could see a pheasant harvest of over 750,000 birds if we get a couple of years of the right weather conditions," Berner stated. "Without CRP, we're back to 150,000 – or less.

Department of Corrections, we have cooperatively created a program to manufacture and sell Clemson Leveler intake devices."

To receive a brochure describing the Clemson Leveler and including a Minnesota Department of Corrections order form, contact a DNR regional office or area wildlife office. The Department of Corrections will provide the Clemson leveler intake device for $250. Additional materials required to complete the leveler installation will cost $100 to $140, and are available through larger plumbing supply outlets.

FMS choir students attend Duluth festival

On Tuesday, October 25, four Franklin Middle school students from Marcis M. Knuttila's Eighth grade chorus were chosen to participate in the 1994 Junior High/Middle School Honor Choir Concert hosted by the University of Minnesota at Duluth, music department. Performers in the 180 voice Honor Choir were Katie Christensen, soprano, Bridgette Stock, alto, Andy Janisch, tenor, and Todd Christensen, bass.

Forty-six junior high and middle schools were represented in this select group of choral students performing in the 1994 Honor Choir Clinic. During the day they rehearsed to put a polished finish on the six choral pieces for the 4:45 p.m. Honor Choir Concert, which was performed in the Marshall Performing Arts Center.

The choral program included: "Hodie, Alleluia" by Lightfoot, "Kyrie" by Leavitt, "Rosalee (TBB)" arranged by Perry/Bacak, "Scarborough Fair (SSA)" arranged by Archibeque, "Ching-A-Ring Chaw" by Linda Spevacek, and "I Hear America Singing" by Thomas.

Ms. Elizabeth Grefsheim rehearsed and conducted the Junior High/Middle School Honor Chorus. Ms. Grefsheim is the co-founder of Son-Shine Music School located in Spring Lake Park, where she teaches musical experiences for children, voice lessons to all ages, and directs the Rainbow Kids, the school's performing choir. She is also an adjudicator and clinician for vocal contests and festivals throughout the entire United States.

TRF American Cancer Society supports Minnesota D-Day

Thief River Falls Chapter of the American Cancer Society reminds everyone that November 17 is the 20th anniversary of D-Day in Minnesota.

Twenty years ago, a small-town newspaper publisher decided it was time for action. Lynn Smith began writing a series of articles in the Monticello Times focusing on the needless deaths and suffering caused by tobacco use. Twenty years after he had quit smoking himself, Smith organized the first D-Day ("Don't Smoke Day") on January 7, 1974. Several stores in the Monticello area stopped selling cigarettes for the day, signs were placed on cigarette vending machines and restaurants put ashtrays under the counter. The first event was successful largely because of Smith's passionate articles leading up to D-Day. Smith had no idea at the time that his "Don't Smoke Day" idea was going to have a long-standing worldwide impact.

Nine months later, the American Lung Association of Minnesota and the Minnesota Division of the American Cancer Society helped to organize the first statewide D-Day. In 1975, pledge cards were produced and 15,000 Minnesotans signed a pledge that they would not smoke for at least a day. Meanwhile, the D-Day idea continued to spread, and in 1976, the California Division of the American Cancer Society promoted their own smokeout day. In 1977, the American Cancer Society's National Great American Smokeout was born, modeled after Minnesota D-Day.

But the movement wasn't about to stop. No smoking days spread to many other countries. The World Health Organization declared a world no smoking day and in 1988 presented an international award to Lynn Smith.

A lot of change has occurred since the first D-Day in 1974. The Minnesota Clean Indoor Air Act was enacted in 1975, the first of its kind in the nation. The year D-Day started, over 40 per cent of adult Minnesotans smoked. Today, less than 23 per cent are smokers.

As more and more studies show that secondhand smoke can cause disease, including lung cancer, businesses are declaring smoking off limits. Retail establishments, including national fast food chains, are implementing total no smoking policies. Smoking is no longer allowed in Minnesota public schools and in licensed day care centers. Non-smokers are speaking up when they are forced to breath toxic cigarette smoke.

This trend has not gone unnoticed by the Tobacco Industry, which is launching a series of ads down playing the effects of secondhand smoke. The industry still has not admitted that smoking causes disease.

During this time of change, the goal of Minnesota D-Day remains the same: a light-hearted attempt to encourage smokers to try to quit for at least 24 hours - and hopefully, for good. The 20th anniversary of D-Day will be observed on November 17, 1994, and the American Lung Association of Minnesota and American Cancer Society, MN Divisions, are joining Lynn Smith to help smokers everywhere to do what he did - kick the habit.

Volunteer services group will meet in TRF

Minnesota Office on Volunteer Services will hold a meeting in Thief River Falls from 6:15 to 7 p.m. November 30 in the Northland Community College Theater.

The Minnesota Office on Volunteer Services (MOVS) has scheduled meetings as a means of hearing people's stories of individual and group citizen action and accomplishment. The information gathered will contribute to an assessment of the state of volunteerism in Minnesota and provide the foundation for leadership, advocacy and support to volunteers and community leaders in local communities. MOVS is developing a State of Volunteerism Report that will: chronicle the role and impact of volunteerism in Minnesota communities; identify issues, trends, strengths and trouble sports; and document successful strategies for addressing community concerns through volunteer action.

Meeting participants are encouraged to contact the MOVS office prior to the meeting they plan to attend. Walk-ins are welcome. For additional details, a brochure and location information contact MOVS at (612) 296-4731 or 1-800-234-6687; or Cliff Larson at (218) 681-1190 in Thief River Falls.

As Gertie the maid (Angie Toner) uses her ironing board in an attempt to stop Grandpa (Ben Schmitz) when he loses control of the new electric car, the rest of the Thurber family looks on helplessly. "I drove a four-horse McCormick reaper when I was five years old, and I don't intend to be thrown by this piece of horse flesh," Grandpa vows. Others (left to right) in this scene from the Lincoln high school fall play "Jabberwock" are Jeremi Henson, Chris Tsukichi, Sam Adams, Josh Melby (foreground) and Meja Turenne. The play will be presented Friday and Saturday, November 18 and 19, at 7 p.m. in the Lincoln auditorium.

Plummer

Concert

The Fall Concert of Plummer high school was held on Monday evening in the school gym after being postponed from an earlier date. The concert, under the direction of Carol Kankel, Music teacher, featured the Jr. high chorus in a medley from the Lion King and "I Am America"; and the Senior choir presented "In These Delightful Groves", "Winter Light" from the motion picture "Secret Gardens", and "Glory of God" from the Oratorio Susanna. Both choirs had 3 part harmony and were accompanied by Dawn Halvorson. Tracy Rosten and Shelly Tvedt had solo parts. The Junior high band performed "Turkish March" and "Somewhere Out There" featuring Joe Linder and Emily Fisher on trumpets. They also did an unusual number entitled "An Oriental Potrait" with all the sounds of the Far East. Dan Linder had a solo part. The Senior Band brought us the "Deep River Suite" and "Kildonen Overture". Refreshments were served in the school cafeteria and furnished by the mothers. Thanks to Carol and all who participated to bring us an evening of good music and enjoyment.

Effie Byer entertained the Phoebe circle on Tuesday afternoon with eight members in attendance. Bunny DuChamp was Bible study leader and Amelia Eskeli was in charge of the business.

The Joy circle had its meeting in the church with Jean Mett as hostess. Hazel Olie was the study leader and Fern Eskeli in charge of the business. Seven members were in attendance.

Edna Hyde hosted the Presbyterian Ladies Aid on Wednesday afternoon. Ruth Wilkens presided over the lesson and the business.

Lee Vigstol of rural Minot arrived on Tuesday to visit at the Byer home with other relatives and friends, returning to Minot, ND on Friday.

CORRECTION

In a photo caption in the November 9 issue of The Times, a student participating in the ribbon cutting ceremony at Challenger school was incorrectly identified as Nicholas Jorstad. The student was actually Christopher Bergeron, a third grader and son of Lloyd and Lila Bergeron of St. Hilaire. The Times regrets the error and any confusion or problems it may have caused.

Law enforcement officials respond to a variety of reports

Law enforcement officials received a variety of reports during the past week, including the theft of two shotguns, a few accidents, and a criminal sexual conduct investigation concluded.

Thefts. On November 8 at 10:33 a.m. Lanny Cyr, Bemidji, reported two shotguns and a jean jacket taken from his car while parked at Franklin Middle school. The vehicle was locked. Taken was a Remington 12-gauge, Browning 12-gauge and two gun cases and an Eddie Bauer jean jacket. The total theft loss was estimated at $1,470.

On November 11 at midnight 7-11 reported a shoplifter. The subject picked up a Road Atlas and walked out the door. The value was $8.95. A 39-year-old male from Thief River Falls faces charges of theft.

On November 12 at 7:15 a.m. Joseph Nelson, Thief River Falls, reported the theft of a CD player and some CDs from his vehicle while parked on East First Street. The passenger wing window was broken out. It happened over night and the loss was estimated at $332. Damage loss was estimated at $225. On November 12 at 8:08 a.m. police received a call of subjects passed out in a car in Greendale Manor. Upon checking into the complaint they observed some youth getting out of the vehicle. It appeared that one youth attempted to cover some electronic equipment in the back seat. The youths were brought in for questioning along with their parents and the CD player and 12 CDs were recovered. Also recovered was an equalizer, a radar detector, a CD case with 16 CDs and six $1 bills. On November 12 at 10:42 a.m. police contacted Marty Reierson because an equalizer was traced to him. He reported it missing along with two fire extinguishers. Two youths have been charged with theft over $200, one age 15 and one age 13.

Driving while intoxicated. On November 9 at 1:40 a.m. police arrested Lynn Edward Stenvik, route 2, Thief River Falls, for driving while intoxicated and open bottle.

On November 14 at 11:20 p.m. police arrested Tessa Tillich, Twin Valley, 19, for driving while intoxicated. An 18-year-old passenger, Stephanie Saker, Twin Valley, was cited for consumption under age, and John Wolbaum, Richfield, was cited for open bottle.

Consumption under age. On November 11 at 1:24 a.m. police responded to a complaint of loud noise at Northland Village. Upon arrival, the following were charged with consumption under age: Jason Rantanen, route 1, Middle River, age 18; Jeri Jo-Spilde, route 1, Karlstad, age 18; Kristy Jean Johnson, route 1, Goodridge, age 18; Matthew Gustafson, Hallock, age 19; Ryan Rislov, Badger, age 20.

On November 11 at 1:53 a.m. a police officer on patrol stopped a vehicle that was speeding. The driver was found to have been drinking alcohol. A citation was issued to Bruce Donnell, route 2, Mahnomen, age 20, for consumption under age and driving after suspension. Two passengers, who had also been drinking and were under age were cited: Gorden Bergan, 19, Williams, Aaron Wardner, East Grand Forks, age 18, for consumption under age.

Accidents. On November 8 at 10:32 p.m. the sheriff's department received a report of an accident on County road 61 one and one-half mile west of Highway 32 in Rocksbury township. According to the accident report, Nathen Wayne Ptacek, Thief River Falls, was driving a 1986 Jeep Cherokee east on County road 61 when a deer ran out in front of his vehicle. He swerved to avoid hitting the deer and lost control of his vehicle. Damage to the vehicle was estimated at $4,000. Ptacek was taken by private vehicle to the hospital with pain to his abdomen and left arm. A passenger, Matt Aaron Carpenter, Thief River Falls, complained of a sore left shoulder. A third passenger was not injured.

On November 13 at 1:57 p.m. police received a report of an accident at Arnold and Backe. A car driven by Becky Jo Dicken, Thief River Falls, was going north on Arnold and a car driven by Katherine Ford, Thief River Falls, was going west on Backe, and the vehicles collided. The Dicken vehicle was considered a total loss and damage to the Ford vehicle was estimated at $3700. Becky Dicken complained of an injury to her rib. Katherine Ford complained of pain to his left shoulder and arm. She went to the hospital. Ford was cited for failure to yield.

Vandalism. On November 10 at 10:10 a.m. Stylon Chateau reported that the front window appeared to have a B-B hole in it. Cost to replace the window is estimated at $280.

On November 11 at 2:51 p.m. a Thief River Falls resident reported that her vehicle was scratched with a sharp object while parked at Lincoln high school. Damage loss was estimated at $150.

On November 14 a 2:25 p.m. Stephanie Saker, route 1, Twin Valley, reported while at Northland Community College her car was scratched while parked in the parking lot. Damage loss was estimated at $200.

Public nuisance. On November 13 at 12:06 a.m. police received a report of loud music in Riverview trailer court. A citation has been issued to Patti Sue Johnson, for creating a public nuisance.

Criminal sexual conduct. On November 14 the sheriff's department announced that Bruce Edwin Holmgren, Thief River Falls, was being charged with first and third degree criminal sexual conduct. The charges stem from an incident involving a female minor last August. Investigation into the incident began on October 7.

Escape. On Wednesday, November 9, two inmates at the Pennington county jail failed to return from Huber release. The sheriff's department later learned that Stephen Parson and Scott D. Bergdahl purchased airline tickets and flew out of Grand Forks to Minneapolis. Bergdahl was located the same day at relatives in Washington county. He was later transported to Thief River Falls. Pearson was caught Friday night in Little Falls after law enforcement received a report that he would be at a bar in Little Falls. He is being held in Little Falls pending transportation to Thief River Falls.

Assault. On November 14 at 10 a.m. Franklin Middle school reported problems with a male youth who allegedly struck another student with a closed fist leaving a red mark on the other youth's forehead. A 13-year-old boy faces charges.

New reception area at the Newfolden elementary school was created in the addition and remodeling project recently completed. Jean Anderson, receptionist, is shown at the desk in the area which is adjacent to the office of principal James Hodny. Open house for the new addition and remodeling will be held Thursday, November 17, from 9 a.m. to 8 p.m.

Carlson election victory affirmed through recount

Carlson said the county has a good county board and he's looking forward to serving on the board. He is concerned about the garbage issue and spending and taxes. He said he thinks he can make a contribution on the board.

Carlson said he's glad the election is over and cannot thank his supporters enough.

Laura Nelson, who ran for county treasurer, expressed some of the same sentiments. It was a tremendous eye-opening experience, she said.

All aspects of the political atmosphere in Pennington county are pretty positive, Nelson said. Generally, people are very supportive.

Like so many voters, Nelson said she didn't like the negative campaigning at the state and federal level, but found it confusing that the one state candidate who didn't run a negative campaign lost.

Campaigning took more time than she expected, and it was difficult to find that time when she works full time.

When asked whether she would run for office again, she said it is doubtful.

Vickie Bjorgaard, the incumbent county treasurer, said to run a successful campaign, a candidate in Pennington county has to be honest, run a clean campaign, and have good qualifications and background.

It takes experience in running a campaign as well. Bjorgaard said candidates should begin a good two months in advance. That time is needed to prepare your advertising, campaign, and go door-to-door. She added that there are a lot more homes out there than many people realize, and it's difficult to find or make the time to get everything done. Two months preparation and execution is hardly enough time to get everything done.

Bjorgaard said most people were very receptive, and there were some who were really appreciative of what the candidates in Pennington county were doing.

Ken Schmalz, who was appointed to fill a vacancy in the Pennington county recorder's office, and who was recently elected to the position, said reaction by residents to door-to-door campaigning was very good. It is time consuming, but worth it. If there was one message he ran throughout his campaign, it was experience. He didn't sense any negative campaigning locally. He did sense that the voters were getting a little tired of the politics. He added that he was very appreciative of the voters who supported him in the election.

Lemey Moe, who ran against Schmalz, said she was happy with number of people who came out to vote. It was a lot of work, she said, but fun. Door-to-door campaigning is time consuming, but she said she had a lot of help from her family and friends.

She ran for office because she was encouraged by people who thought the position might be something she was interested in. She added that it was nice to see so much interest in local politics and wanted to thank all those who supported her in the election.

Farm Credit Services forms alliance with IDS

Farm Credit Services (FCS) of Grand Forks has formed an alliance with IDS Financial Services Inc., in an effort to meet the diverse and changing financial needs of today's farmers, agribusinesses and rural homeowners. This alliance with make IDS products and services available to FCS members at FCS offices beginning October 17, 1994.

The arrangement between FCS of Grand Forks and IDS places a full-time IDS Certified Financial Planner, Rex Huss, in the Warren FCS branch office. IDS Certified Financial Planners will also be located in the Grand Forks, Grafton, and Roseau branch offices.

"We're forming an alliance with America's leading financial planning company to round out the array of financial products and services available to our customers and others living and working in rural America," says Bob Bahl, chief executive officer, FCS of Grand Forks.

Bahl says IDS is well qualified to meet the financial needs of rural America because it has worked with people in agriculture and rural areas since 1894. IDS is an American Express company.

"We know how hard today's ag producers and agri-business people work to be successful," Bahl says. "That's why we've invited IDS to offer FCS customers savings, financial planning and investment assistance that is convenient and that will help them realize their personal financial goals."

Individuals do not have to be FCS members to access the IDS financial planning services; however, FCS customes who do patronize IDS will receive a 20 per cent discount on financial planning services up to $500, adds Bahl. FCS of Grand Forks currently provides services to more than 5,000 famers and ranchers.

Customers can take advantage of strategies for saving and managing money, improving cash flow, making sound investments, growing funds for education, and achieving their personal financial and retirement goals. IDS planner, Rex Huss, will offer estate-transfer assistance, planning for small business owners and tax planning. Mutual funds, insurance and annuities will be among the more than 125 financial products and services offered by IDS.

Huss will offer confidential, no obligation consultations to help customers understand the range of opportunities available to them.

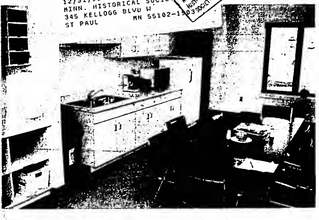
"This is a very exciting development for FCS," says Bahl. "With these IDS services, our customers can achieve real peace of mind about their personal and business finances.

FCS has served the credit needs of farmers for more than 75 years. It offers a variety of custom-tailored loans for real estate, housing, equipment, capital improvements, livestock, feed, seed, and operating and production needs. The Warren office also offers crop, hail and term credit life insurance products, as well as farm records management and income tax preparation.

FCS of Grand Forks is affiliated with AgriBank, FCB, the country's largest and most diversified agricultural lending cooperative. AgriBank is a $14 billion wholesale bank that provides funding and services to 32 FCS locations that serve more than 200,000 farmers, agribusinesses and rural residents in 11 Midwestern states.

FCS is part of the 78-year-old national Farm Credit System and is the largest single provider of agricultural credit in the United States.

IDS Financial Services Inc., headquartered in Minneapolis, provides an array of financial products and services to nearly two million people and businesses through the United States. On January 1, 1995, IDS will officially become known as American Express Financial Advisors Inc.



Staff room in the addition to the Newfolden elementary school is pictured above. The addition will be a focus of open house Thursday, November 17, from 9 a.m. to 8 p.m. as the Marshall County Central Schools observe American Education Week.

Minnesota Governor declares Winter Storm Awareness week for November 14-20

Governor Arne H. Carlson has proclaimed November 14 - 20 as "Winter Storm Awareness Week" in Minnesota.

"Each year we have to remind ourselves that while winter is a beautiful season, it's also a potentially deadly one," said Phil Stephan, natural disaster planner for the Division of Emergency Management (DEM). "We need to take time now to prepare our home, car, family and pets. Time spent today may just save your life later in the season."

In support of the Governor's proclamation; DEM, the National Weather Service and the American Red Cross offer this reminder of basic safety rules to follow when severe weather threatens:

Keep ahead of the winter storm by listening to the latest weather warnings; check battery-powered equipment before the storm arrives (this includes flashlights, radios and alternative cooking sources); check your food supply and stock up if you need to (you may not be able to get to the store for several days); check your supply of heating fuel; prevent fire hazards due to overheated coal, oil or wood burning stoves, fireplaces, heaters or furnaces; stay indoors during storms and extremely cold weather and if you go out, dress warmly and in layers; dress to fit the season by wearing loose fitting, lightweight warm clothing in layers; don't "kill" yourself shoveling snow (Shoveling snow, particularly heavy, wet snow, places a strain on your heart and is the cause of many heart attacks); point out the dangers of thin ice on streams, rivers and lakes to family members; pets need special attention during extreme weather conditions (Don't leave them outside without shelter. Consult your veterinarian if you have specific winter weather concerns about your pet.); make sure you have your car "winterized" prior to the start of winter by checking important fluid levels before any lengthy trips; be prepared for the worst and carry a winter survival kit in the car at all times; stay with your vehicle if you become stranded.

Citizens interested in obtaining more information on preparing for winter storms or how to prepare an emergency kit for their car can call the Division of Emergency Management at (612) 296-2233 or write to the Division of Emergency Management, Room B-5, State Capitol, St. Paul, MN 55155.

Conservation program abbreviations explained

by Cheryl Sistad

Last week I attempted to explain some of the agency abbreviations that are familiar to government people, but may be confusing to the general public. This week, I'm going to continue along that line, by explaining some of the programs that the Marshall-Beltrami Soil and Water Conservation District (SWCD or District) works with.

C/S or the State Cost-Share program is administered by the district to assist landowners and operators to apply conservation practices on the land. The district will pay up to 75 per cent of approved practices. The bulk of our funding goes to install erosion control strucutres to control water erosion, sedimentation, and water quality.

RIM or the Reinvest in Minnesota program tries to protect and improve water quality by having landowners retire sensitive lands from agriculture production. Eligible lands include sensitive groundwater, riparian lands, wetlands retoration areas, marginal croplands, pastured hillsides, etc.... Currently, only permanent easements are being accepted. Payments are based on assessor's township average market value for tillable land.

PWP or Permanent Wetland Preserves offers compensation to landowners willing to enroll their wetlands in a permanent easement to protect the wetland from cropping and grazing. Type 1, 2, and 3 wetlands and adjacent buffer uplands are eligible.

WCA or The Wetlands Copensation Act of 1991 is a state law designed to protect wetlands not covered by federal programs. As counties accept the WCA provisions, they designate a LGU (Local Government Unit) responsible for wetland determinations - usually Soil and Water Conservation Districts. Since neither Marhall or Beltrami county has accepted WCA, we are under a moratorium, and no work in a wetland can be given an exemption certificate, mitigated or replacement plans made.

CLWP or Comprehensive Local Water Plans have been developed by both Marshall and Beltrami counties. District supervisors and saff attend task force meetings and work to implement plan measure identified in the annual work plans.

SRF or the State Revolving Fund is a new program we are just starting to get information on, but has a lot of potential. This is under the Agriculture Best Management Practices Loan program (Ag. BMP Program) administered under the Minnesota Department of Agriculture (MDA). The SRF will provide low interest financing to farmers, agriculture supply businesses and rural landowners for prevention and mitigation of non-point source pollution. This could include construction of animal waste control facilities, abandoned well sealing, practices that reduce erosion run-off and purchase of conservation tillage equipment. Loans at one and one-half to three per cent interest and a borrower may take between five and 20 years to pay them back. We will keep you informed as more information becomes available, but we anticipate funding may be available in early 1995.

For more informatioin on any of these programs contact the Marshall-Beltrami SWCD at 294-6144.

Whole Wheat BIBLE STUDY

Enduring with patience

After you read through this Bible study, go back and look up the Scriptures and highlight them in your Bible.

What does suffering have to do with living God's holy Way of life? Isn't life a bed of roses once a person puts his hand to the plow and decides to practice God's Will in his daily life? But wait! What about the Scripture that says anyone desiring to live in a godly way will suffer persecution (2 Tim. 3:12)?

We know those who do wrong suffer (2 Peter 2:13). But is there suffering for those who are doing what is right (1 Peter 2:20-21; 3:17)? First Peter 3:17 says, "It is better, if God should will it so, that you suffer for doing what is right rather than for doing what is wrong." Yes. God allows us to go through suffering for a very distinct purpose.

God has opened our eyes to repentance by good works (Acts 26:20, New International Version). He has shown us how to live each day, letting our lights shine for Him (Matt. 5:16). We're going through the growth process. We are learning every day how to be more like our Father who created us to do good works (Eph. 2:10; 5:10).

As we learn, we go through tests and trials. Through these tests and trials, we learn all of God's Ways. The nature that we were all born with needs to die. Our hearts are desperately sick, beyond all understanding (Jer. 17:9). We see that clearly as we go through tests, just as the Apostle Paul did (Rom. 7:18).

When we learn to patiently endure suffering, our evil nature will die. God will form Christ's nature in us (Gal. 4:19). Tests and trials will decrease, and when they do come, we will know to be positive and endure, to study the Bible for encouragement and wisdom, and to pray to God and trust in Him to help us through our tests (1 Peter 5:7). We are trained through these tests and this training yields the peaceful fruit of righteousness (Heb. 12:11). Suffering makes us grow. It is not something to grumble about, for it is what actually kills the evil inside our bodies (1 Peter 4:1-2, 12-16; Rom. 16:19-20).

This is why true disciples of Jesus Christ persevered in doing good works for God. They were seeking for glory and honor and immortality (Rom. 2:7). How many who profess Jesus as their Savior are doing that today?

We must overcome the evil pulls of our flesh by keeping Jesus Christ's works, which He came to show us, and we must endure to the end, keeping these works (Rev. 2:26). By doing so, we will be fit to rule with Jesus Christ and teach the nations of this world the true way to peace—Jesus Christ's Ways (Is. 2:3).

Questions And Answers

Q How can I choose the right locksmith company when I need service?

A Most locksmiths advertise in the Yellow Pages. Look for one close to you or one who clearly indicated he offers the service that you need. Check the ad to see if it indicates membership in a locksmith association such as the Associated Locksmiths of America, Inc. (ALOA). Membership in an association is not a guarantee of satisfaction. However, only the most conscientious business person takes the trouble to join a professional trade association.

"What is Profitable Stewardship"
Dr. Don Wyse, Executive Director, Minnesota Institute of Sustainable Agriculture

The conference will open with Dr. Don Wyse, Executive Director of the Minnesota Institute of Sustainable Agriculture. The institutes promotes the concept that people involved in food production should practice sustainable agriculture. Farmers can use sustainable practices that pose minimal threats to the environment and continue to make a living from agriculture. Many different ideas exist about the way to accomplish these goals of sustainability, stewardship and profitability. Don will give us the most accepted definitions of each providing conference participants with common ground to start the day with.

10:15 a.m.–Small Group Conferences

Throughout the conference, participants will be choosing various workshops. Each workshop will be 40 minutes in length. Speakers will present their experiences with the topic and allow time for conference attendees to ask questions about how to apply it to their own farm. Three workshops will be held concurrently and repeated once, immediately afterward.

Strandquist

The Strandquist Senior Citizens met on Thursday with 10 members and 4 visitors, LaVol Thu, Alyce Anderson, Barbara Veer and Myrtle Vagle. They worked on several different projects, tied new scatter rugs, started a couple of baby quilts and finished some sofa pillows. These items are for sale and I found some lovely rugs. Woven rugs do not mat the pile of the carpeting, as rubber-backed throw rugs do. They also are nice to have to decorate linoleum rugs and give as gifts. The hostess at the Center was Iris Berggren who served a delicious dish of lutefisk and wild rice with mushrooms and lots of other goodies. Myrtle Vagle won the door prize, with which I paid for my dinner. Iris was going to give us that lutefisk recipe and I will see to it that it will be included in the recipe drive.

Peter and Pearl Thompson enjoyed potato dumpling supper at Isaac and Betsy Thompson's on Monday evening.

Frank and Judy Kleinvachter, Lois and Kristen Kleinvachter, Lowell Lafrooth, June Kasprowicz and Joan Gehrls went to St. Hilaire on Sunday to meet Kaye Turnwall and Stan Johnson's new trailer home and to celebrate Frank and Judy's 55th Anniversary. In the evening Ellen Stromberg and Frank Gronhowski visited them.

JoAnne Holmstrom and son, Douglas of Farmington, visited Elsie Lafrooth on Sunday afternoon. Douglas and friends returned home on Monday after a few successful days of pheasant and deer hunting.

Hunters who have been staying in their campers at Mary and Donna Renstrom's were David and Cindy Bistodeau and Randy and Priscilla Desheyes, all from Elk River. They arrived on Friday and returned home on Monday with three deer. That spells good hunting.

Phyllis Larson and LaVol Thun attended the bazaar at Bethlehem church in Newfolden on Saturday morning.

Nelson LaDoux had supper with Isaac and Betsy Thompson one evening this week.

Danny, Becky, Michelle and Jeremy Johnson and Mark Melby had supper with Peter and Pearl Thompson on Thursday and they all worked together to cut up a deer that Mark had shot with a bow and arrow.

Bud and Marie Steffan of Argyle visited Frank and Judy Kleinvachter Wednesday evening. Elle Stromberg visited Saturday afternoon.

Judy Gietsd and Pearl Thompson visited Elsie Lafrooth on Saturday.

Morris Anderson and grandsons, Kristopher Anderson went shopping in Grand Forks on Saturday and also visited Jim and Cindy Wetterlund there.

LaVol Thun visited Ella Thur and Anne Hansen at Valley Home in Thief River Falls on Wednesday.

David Thompson called at Peter Thompson's on Thursday.

A number of folks from here are planning to attend the funeral of Lily Strandquist this week. Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Strandquist used to be members of the Assembly of God church in Karlstad before moving to Warren. Andrew Strandquist passed away some years ago but Lily reached the age of 96 years.

LaVol Thun visited Janice Carlson on Thursday evening.

Shirley Anderson took son, Kenrick to Thief River Falls to apply for his drivers license. These young folks grow up too fast.

Elphie Adils has had a great time with her children and grandchildren this past weekend of deer hunting. Tracy and Kim Kraft and children, Kevin and Annika of Minot came on Friday and went home on Monday. Greg Meyers, Scott Wikstrom and Richard Johnson, all from Minneapolis went home this morning with their cut up venison. Mike and Betty Johnson of Warroad, Joyce Wikstrom, Norma Koland and Corey and Lori and Kyle Wikstrom visited on Sunday and had a big get together of supper Sunday evening. Say what you will, there is one thing that unites folks, related or not and that is hunting time. I really miss it from Montana as there it continued for about a month that we had company steady. I don't know why they all thought I was the best butcher and meat cutter so in the recipes I will send in one for sweet sausage.

The Times' Editorial Opinion

The Times
Thief River Falls, Minnesota

John P. Mattson, publisher
Marvin Lundin, editor
David Hill, associate editor

Editorial opinion published on this page, whether locally written or re-printed from other sources is intended to stimulate thinking and discussion among our readers. Opinions expressed by the editor are his own and not necessarily those of other staff members. Opinions expressed in items from other publications may be contradictory to the editor's own views but are offered for their general interest.

Our Future Depends On Quality Education

There has been a general acceptance nationally of the idea that employment growth in recent years has been restricted to retail and service jobs that hover around the minimum wage mark. Conversely, job loss was purported to be in industrial and career fields.

These contentions were not without some basis. A great many industrial and manufacturing jobs have been lost in the last dozen years and many people displaced from such jobs have been unable to find employment with comparable pay and benefits.

A recent Labor Department study shows an unusually high percentage of new jobs created by the nation's economy over the past five years are in the highest paid occupational categories. And while most of the nearly four million jobs added from 1988 through 1993 were in low-paying industries, most of the job growth came in the relatively high-wage job categories within those industries. From 1988 through 1993, the number of jobs in the three highest-paying occupational categories—executive, professional specialty and technical—grew by 3.29 million and had a median income from $495 to $635 per week.

"Our economy is producing more and more good jobs these days," notes Dr. Richard Lesher, president of the U.S. Chamber of Commerce, "but they demand superior education and sophisticated job skills. For those without good educations and marketable skills, the picture is bleak and getting bleaker. What has always been true is today truer than ever—our future depends on quality education."

That truth creates increasing concern in a couple of local situations. One is the failure of the special levy referendum for School District 564 at the general election Tuesday. Another is the amalgamation of post-secondary educational institutions into college casserole—a scholarly variation of Minnesota's generic hot dish.

Following several bond issues that addressed major deficiencies in buildings, School District 564 is now in the best position it has been for many years to offer its programs in up-to-date and adequate facilities. Unfortunately, it may not have the funds to provide the equipment and materials these programs need for the best job of teaching.

Since state law prohibits the district from asking for a special levy again until the next general election a year from now, the coming year promises to be an austere one for faculty and students. To be sure, the school board and administration will find a way to continue to keep the doors open and the schools running, but it will not be without some major cuts that will adversely affect programs.

On the post-high school front we are highly skeptical of the legislatively mandated merger of the state universities, community colleges and technical colleges into one central operation. It will create a bigger bureaucracy where bungles can be more easily overlooked and where equality in programs is most likely to be translated into mediocrity.

In this area we have been twice exposed to attempts at merged efforts. First came the Clearwater Community College Region which attempted to consolidate operations of campuses at Fergus Falls, Brainerd and Thief River Falls. Travel distances involved for administration and faculty attempting to conduct coordinated programs proved to be unworkable and to the benefit of no one.

Next was the technical college "Six Pack" which threw together the tech schools at Bemidji, Detroit Lakes, East Grand Forks, Moorhead, Thief River Falls and Wadena. It also is falling victim to geography as costs of travel are horrendous and an added layer of administration —rather than the elimination of one—has made it ineffective and unwieldy. Only the illusion of rescue by the state-wide consolidation in July of 1995 will hold it together until then.

General failure of these two efforts among only a few programs sharing similar goals and objectives and located in one part of the state gives little hope for the future of a mass consolidation of special interests spread throughout the entire state. Maintaining separate identities of the individual campuses, as espoused by Chancellor Jay Noren, will be a virtual impossibility under a merged system.

Administration of the merged colleges will be stacked with products of academia, layered with degrees and fluffed with philosophy. Therefore we forsee first priority going to the four-year colleges and their degree and graduate programs. Whatever is left in the way of resources will be spread among the two-year feeder system for these four-year schools. Left to pick up the crumbs will be the technical schools which have served so many so well for so long with programs leading directly to employment.

Our future depends on quality education. We are concerned that under present and projected conditions the students in our area won't have the best quality available to them.

Unemployment declines again in this region

Unemployment in the seven counties of Region 1 declined to 3.7 per cent in September from 4.5 per cent in August and 4.9 per cent in September of 1993, according to the Minnesota Department of Economic Security.

All seven counties in the region had a September drop in unemployment from September of 1993 and all but Pennington had a decline from August. In Pennington county the rate from August to September was up from 3.8 to 4.2.

Itasca county had the highest rate of unemployment in the state in September of 9.5 per cent with Wilkin county the lowest at 1.6 per cent. Clearwater county in Region 1 was second high at 8.8 per cent, followed by Koochiching county at 7.8 and Aitkin county at 7.6, both in Region 3. Marshall county and Pine county were tied for fifth at 6.6 per cent with Red Lake county seventh at 6.5.

Unemployment in individual counties of Region 1 for September was as follows, with comparable percentages for August 1994 and September 1993 listed respectively:

Kittson, 4.1, 4.7 and 4.9; Marshall, 6.6, 7.3 and 9.0; Norman, 4.3, 5.0 and 4.8; Pennington, 4.2, 3.8 and 5.8; Polk, 2.9, 4.3 and 3.2; Red Lake, 6.5, 8.9 and 9.4; and Roseau, 2.6, 2.9 and 4.6.

Employment in the region was at 48,425 for September this year, compared with 48,095 in August and 46,005 in September of 1993.

LETTERS

To The Editor:

The campaign is finally over and I am very pleased to be a Minnesota Democrat.

First, congratulations to the Republicans. You won an outstanding victory. I have been around long enough to know that "you win some and you lose some." I know the exhilaration you are feeling from winning. Enjoy it. To the many who are involved in political activity to contribute toward improvement, I know you are looking forward to the challenges and responsibilities you face in working for what you feel will help. I wish you well.

It is the stupidity of the campaign and the even more stupid mindset of the public that annoys me. I believe perhaps it was necessary to have something of the magnitude of the change we are now facing to provide the kind of shock treatment to cause a facing of reality.

We old farmers have a saying. "Write this date on the the barn wall, in case you forget—or don't want to remember."

You think you can get more and pay less....wait and see. You want your government to operate like a "business" but you hire elected officials with no experience. You want public servants who are knowledgeable, informed and committed. But you take your direction and information from the "talk show" pitchmen and the money-minded media.

You cannot afford taxes for education and social services but you can spend billions of dollars and countless hours at gambling. You want integrity and diligent effort from others, yet your only real involvement in the political process (government) amounts to throwing a temper tantrum at each election.

You've asked for it and you're gonna get it.

When your health costs skyrocket; when your local taxes reach for the moon; when you're paying for a "Space Station" but having trouble paying your bills; when you are watching the rich get richer and the poor get poorer; when you're Mad As Hell the next time....go look at the barn wall!

Sincerely,
Cy Carpenter

From The Editorial Page

"Severe electrical storms are unusual here at any time and when a house is destroyed by lightning in the month of November we know that nature is playing tricks. This has been a freakish fall. Maybe, however, we are fortunate that this week's heavy precipitation did not come in the form of snow. That much moisture piled up in drifts might have given us a more serious problem than we now have with our mud. We will take the November rain in preference to the kind of blizzard that ushered in winter several Armistice Days ago."

—With deer reported plentiful this year, venison should be a drug on the market for the next few weeks.

—Congress at last is due for a housecleaning. A retired street sweeper was elected to that body from a Missouri district last week.

—Sobering statistic: American battle casualties up to the end of October had passed the 500,000 mark.

—Those who haven't read a book recently might be reminded that this week has been designated as National Book Week.

—Remember 'way back when folks asked for a good five-cent cigar? Now they merely ask for a cigar.

—In case you don't know, Christmas is approaching. You might pay attention to the warning of the postal department that Christmas cards and parcels should be in the mails by December 1.

—When the [illegible] going back to the [illegible] the Mahnomen Pioneer, you can figure that the war is about over.

The Rivervalley Homemakers study group met last week at the LaVonne Redniecki home in rural Thief River Falls. There were 11 members and one guest present. The upcoming Christmas party plans were discussed and a lesson on sewing for the home was presented. Levonne Redniecki and Rita Lundeen were the hostesses. The market basket was won by Helen Chervestad and a Halloween dessert was served by Lavonne.

Connie and Kelly Lundeen and Bob and Emily Bernier went down to Rochester to be with Alison and Jone Bernier where their son Jacob was recuperating from corrective surgery last Friday. Our prayers go out to Jacob for a speedy and complete recovery. Jacob is a patient at St. Mary's Hospital in Rochester.

Callers at the Fred Lundeen home last week were Lori Reinbold and Oliver Holstad.

Visitors at the Fred Lundeen home last weekend were Ralph and Judy Kriel from Champlin. Ralph is busy deer hunting.

Jeanne, Jon, Emily, and Ben Lindquist were weekend guests at the Jim and Kathy Dulke home. They helped Kathy celebrate her birthday and on Sunday the Lindquists were guests at the Harold Lindquist home where they helped Adella Lindquist and Karen Wenner celebrate their birthdays.

PRAIRIE RAMBLING

Gretchen Belto

Prairie Rambling

In the last Prairie Rambling we talked of the fertile soil in the ancient lake bed and of the lakes and rivers of our region, remnants of ancient Lake Agassiz drained away, it left behind big wet remnants Lake of the Woods, Upper and Lower Red Lakes, and many rivers.

In addition to the leftover lakes and the rivers, the major relief on the flat lake bed are ridge. These ridges of sand and gravel were constructed along former shorelines of glacial Lake Agassiz. Because the ancient lake fluctuated significantly in size and depth, a series of beaches were formed.

These long, broad beach ridges, as well as offshore sand bars, were formed by wind and wave action. The prevailing westerlies caused wave action that formed huge beach ridges on the eastern shores. These ridges are apparent as one drives on the "cut across' highway between St. Hilaire and Grand Forks. On the other hand, the western Lake Agassiz ridges in North Dakota are hardly noticeable.

West of Thief River Falls, several old beach ridges of sand and gravel, today being mined for building materials, are evident. One of the ridges was the old Pembina Trail, marked today by dark brown signs. But there is one more ridge, the oldest beach, 50 miles southeast of Thief River Falls. This beach marks the highest level of the ancient lake and defines the edges of the portion of the lake in which our city is located.

This easternmost ridge follows almost a straight line north from Lake Traverse/Brown's Valley, with Moorhead and Breckenridge inside the old lake bed. But near Ada this ridge meanders northeast and continues on past Trail and Gully over to Rainy Lake. Today you can stand on this ridge near Highway 92 in eastern Polk County, look northwest, and see that the Valley extends as far as one can see, gradually sloping into a gigantic basin that stretches to the horizon. The enormous fields in the old lake bed stretch endlessly, divided by straight roads that follow section lines.

Standing on that same ridge near Trail but facing southeast, one sees a much different terrain: rolling, wooded hills with an occasional patch of oddly shaped field or meadow. This change to hilly terrain outside the old bed of Lake Agassiz is apparent along the hundred miles of the beach ridge.

This oldest ridge is mined so heavily for its fine sand and gravel that this month one sand pile rears up like diamond head as one drives south of Trail on highway 92. Geologists' name for this oldest beach is Herman Beach.

At Herman, Minnesota, the beach lies at an elevation of 328 meters. The same beach ridge is 30 meters higher at Fertile, which is 200 kilometers farther north. The main beach ridge west of Thief River Falls has a similar dramatic slope to the north. This is evidence that the earth's crust has been elevated vertically since the beaches formed. The higher ridges reflect the response of an elastic crust, bent downward under the weight of thick glaciers, that rebounded when the load was removed. The greater uplift to the north corresponds to zones of thicker glacial ice.

Geologists say that this change in elevation of the earth's crust was also the reason that the Red River flows north. In early years the tumbling waters of Lake Agassiz drained to the southeast creating a new river, the glacial River Warren. When most of the melt water had been drained away, the heavy load had been removed and the elastic earth's crust rebounded. Pressure on the earth's crust was lessened so that earth elevated at the outlet below Lake Traverse. This elevated earth blocked flowage from the lake to glacial River Warren. Lake Agassiz waters cut a new channel to the north, which is today's Red River.

Today the River Warren's remnant is called the Minnesota River. The Minnesota River is diminutive compared with its valley. In one area the Minnesota Valley is five miles wide and 250 feet deep while the miniscule Minnesota River flows quietly at the bottom of the valley. Few people realize that the wide, deep Minnesota Valley that stretches across the width of Minnesota was created by the power of icy tumbling waters from the glacial Lake Agassiz that once converted northwestern Minnesota.

All Farm index down 16 points from last year

The mid-October Index of Prices received by Minnesota farmers was 118, down two points from last month and down 16 points from a year ago, according to the Minnesota Agricultural Statistics Service. The only commodities with price gains were all hay, dry beans, and wheat for crops and all milk and turkeys for livestock.

The crops index was down three points to 105 during the month. This was 12 points below the index a year earlier. The mid-October prices and the changes from last month are: All wheat, $3.55 per bushel, up 26 cents from the September estimate; corn, $1.76 per bushel, down 7 cents; oats, $1.12 per bushel, down 2 cents; barley, $1.71 per bushel, down 7 cents; soybeans, $4.97 per bushel, down 49 cents; and potatoes averaged $4.60 per hundred weight for all grades, down 20 cents. All hay was up $7 per ton to $70 per ton; alfalfa hay at $72 per ton was up $2; and other hay at $48 per ton was up $3. All dry edible beans were up $2.20 to $24.20 per hundred weight; navy beans averaged $27.10, up $4.50 from last month; pinto beans at $15.40 were down $1; and kidney beans at $21.17 were down $1.03. The all sunflower price at $10.40 per hundred weight was down 40 cents from the September price.

The meat animal index at 125 was down 4 points from last month and down 30 points from a year ago. All hogs at $33.80 per hundred weight were down $2.50 from a month earlier; sows were $25.10 per hundred weight, down $1.90; barrows and gilts at $34.30 per hundred weight were down $2.50 from the September price. Beef cattle averaged $56.60 per hundred weight down 70 cents; calves were down $2.80 to $79.20 per hundred weight, cows were down $3.30 to $40.40 per hundred weight; steers and heifers were down 40 cents to $58.30 per hundred weight. Sheep brought $24.10 per hundred weight, down $1.60. Lambs were down $5.40 to $68 per hundred weight.

The dairy index increased two points during the month to 149. This was six points below the index last year. The preliminary milk price at $13.10 per hundred weight was up 17 cents from the September price.

The poultry and egg index at 100 was one point above last month but three points below a year ago. Turkeys were 36 cents per pound liveweight, 2 cents above a month earlier. Table market eggs brought 31 cents per dozen for all grades in mid-October and were down 5 cents from September and down 9 cents from a year earlier.

MN/DOT releases transportation program report

Minnesota Department of Transportation has released its 1995-1997 statewide transportation improvement program, which totals $1.8 billion in state, local, and federal dollars for state highway, local street, bridge and transit projects.

Officials from the MnDOT District 2 office in Bemidji who manage the state and federal transportation system in 11 counties, announced their portion of the program as $61.3 million. Some major projects included in this three year plan are T.H. 2 from Bemidji to Cass Lake. This project will be done in two phases, resulting in a four-lane highway. Other projects are a mill and overlay on T.H. 11, some bituminous work and a bridge replacement along T.H. 75; and two enhancement projects on the Heartland Trail and Paul Bunyan Trail.

The 1995-97 program reflects cost reductions within MnDOT and a higher rate gas tax revenue projections. As a result, state transportation revenues are estimated to be approximately $140 million higher than similar estimates for the 1994-96 program.

At present, the program is developed each year to meet provisions of the 1991 federal Intermodal Surface Transportation Efficiency Act (ISTEA). The program includes transportation projects that will be partially funded with federal transportation dollars and state highway projects funded solely with state dollars. It does not include transportation investments scheduled to be made by local government units though state transportation aid and local dollars. The program was developed through a process using regional Area Transportation Partnerships and consisted of members from cities, counties, transit providers, regional development commissions, metropolitan planning organizations, system users and MnDOT.

CARD OF THANKS

We express our gratitude to all relatives and friends for all the support shown to the family upon the passing of Lilly Strandquist; mother, grandmother and great grandmother.

Thanks to Rev. Paul Zinter for his visits, support and comforting words at the funeral service, to Rev. Norman Bratvold for his many visits and participation in the service, to the organist, those who ministered in song, the Good Samaritan Center for all the loving care shown to Lily throughout her stay and Quanrud DuBore Funeral Home for their kind services.

Also, thanks to the pallbearers, honorary bearers, the ladies of the Covenant Church who served the lunch, and all who sent cards, memorials, flowers and for all the prayers. It was all greatly appreciated.

May God richly bless each of you

The mid-October Index of Prices received by Minnesota farmers was 118, down two points from last month and down 16 points from a year ago, according to the Minnesota Agricultural Statistics Service. The only commodities with price gains were all hay, dry beans, and wheat for crops and all milk and turkeys for livestock.

The crops index was down three points to 105 during the month. This was 12 points below the index a year earlier. The mid-October prices and the changes from last month are: All wheat, $3.55 per bushel, up 26 cents from the September estimate; corn, $1.76 per bushel, down 7 cents; oats, $1.12 per bushel, down 2 cents; barley, $1.71 per bushel, down 7 cents; soybeans, $4.97 per bushel, down 49 cents; and potatoes averaged $4.60 per hundred weight for all grades, down 20 cents. All hay was up $7 per ton to $70 per ton; alfalfa hay at $72 per ton was up $2; and other hay at $48 per ton was up $3. All dry edible beans were up $2.20 to $24.20 per hundred weight; navy beans averaged $27.10, up $4.50 from last month; pinto beans at $15.40 were down $1; and kidney beans at $21.17 were down $1.03. The all sunflower price at $10.40 per hundred weight was down 40 cents from the September price.

The meat animal index at 125 was down 4 points from last month and down 30 points from a year ago. All hogs at $33.80 per hundred weight were down $2.50 from a month earlier; sows were $25.10 per hundred weight, down $1.90; barrows and gilts at $34.30 per hundred weight were down $2.50 from the September price. Beef cattle averaged $56.60 per hundred weight down 70 cents; calves were down $2.80 to $79.20 per hundred weight, cows were down $3.30 to $40.40 per hundred weight; steers and heifers were down 40 cents to $58.30 per hundred weight. Sheep brought $24.10 per hundred weight, down $1.60. Lambs were down $5.40 to $68 per hundred weight.

The dairy Index increased two points during the month to 149. This was six points below the index last year. The preliminary milk price at $13.10 per hundred weight was up 17 cents from the September price.

The poultry and egg index at 100 was one point above last month but three points below a year ago. Turkeys were 36 cents per pound liveweight, 2 cents above a month earlier. Table market eggs brought 31 cents per dozen for all grades in mid-October and were down 5 cents from September and down 9 cents from a year earlier.

PRAIRIE RAMBLING

Gretchen Betto

Prairie Rambling

In the last Prairie Rambling we talked of the fertile soil in the ancient lake bed and of the lakes and rivers of our region, remnants of ancient Lake Agassiz drained away, it left behind big wet remnants Lake of the Woods, Upper and Lower Red Lakes, and many rivers.

In addition to the leftover lakes and the rivers, the major relief on the flat lake bed are ridge. These ridges of sand and gravel were constructed along former shorelines of glacial Lake Agassiz. Because the ancient lake fluctuated significantly in size and depth, a series of beaches were formed.

These long, broad beach ridges, as well as offshore sand bars, were formed by wind and wave action. The prevailing westerlies caused wave action that formed huge beach ridges on the eastern shores. These ridges are apparent as one drives on the "cut across" highway between St. Hilaire and Grand Forks. On the other hand, the western Lake Agassiz ridges in North Dakota are hardly noticeable.

West of Thief River Falls, several old beach ridges of sand and gravel, today being mined for building materials, are evident. One of the ridges was the old Pembina Trail, marked today by dark brown signs. But there is one more ridge, the oldest beach, 50 miles southeast of Thief River Falls. This beach marks the highest level of the ancient lake and defines the edges of the portion of the lake in which our city is located.

This easternmost ridge follows almost a straight line north from Lake Traverse/Brown's Valley, with Moorhead and Breckenridge inside the old lake bed. But near Ada this ridge meanders northeast and continues on past Trail and Gully over to Rainy Lake. Today you can stand on this ridge near Highway 92 in eastern Polk County, look northwest, and see that the Valley extends as far as one can see, gradually sloping into a gigantic basin that stretches to the horizon. The enormous fields in the old lake bed stretch endlessly, divided by straight roads that follow section lines.

Standing on that same ridge near Trail but facing southeast, one sees a much different terrain, rolling, wooded hills with an occasional patch of oddly shaped field or meadow. This change to hilly terrain outside the old bed of Lake Agassiz is apparent along the hundred miles of the beach ridge.

This oldest ridge is mined so heavily for its fine sand and gravel that this month one sand pile rears up like diamond head as one drives south of Trail on highway 92. Geologists' name for this oldest beach is Herman Beach.

At Herman, Minnesota, the beach lies at an elevation of 328 meters. The same beach ridge is 30 meters higher at Fertile, which is 200 kilometers farther north. The main beach ridge west of Thief River Falls has a similar dramatic slope to the north. This is evidence that the earth's crust has been elevated vertically since the beaches formed. The higher ridges reflect the response of an elastic crust, bent downward under the weight of thick glaciers, that rebounded when the load was removed. The greater uplift to the north corresponds to zones of thicker glacial ice.

Geologists say that this change in elevation of the earth's crust was also the reason that the Red River flows north. In early years the tumbling waters of Lake Agassiz drained to the southeast creating a new river, the glacial River Warren. When most of the melt water had been drained away, the heavy load had been removed and the elastic earth's crust rebounded. Pressure on the earth's crust was lessened so that earth elevated at the outlet below Lake Traverse. This elevated earth blocked flowage from the lake to glacial River Warren. Lake Agassiz waters cut a new channel to the north, which is today's Red River.

Today the River Warren's remnant is called the Minnesota River. The Minnesota River is diminutive compared with its valley. In one area the Minnesota Valley is five miles wide and 250 feet deep while the miniscule Minnesota River flows quietly at the bottom of the valley. Few people realize that the wide, deep Minnesota Valley that stretches across the width of Minnesota was created by the power of icy tumbling waters from the glacial Lake Agassiz that once converted northwestern Minnesota.

MN/DOT releases transportation program report

Minnesota Department of Transportation has released its 1995-1997 statewide transportation improvement program, which totals $1.8 billion in state, local, and federal dollars for state highway, local street, bridge and transit projects.

Officials from the MnDOT District 2 office in Bemidji who manage the state and federal transportation system in 11 counties, announced their portion of the program as $61.3 million. Some major projects included in this three year plan are T.H. 2 from Bemidji to Cass Lake. This project will be done in two phases, resulting in a four-lane highway. Other projects are a mill and overlay on T.H. 11, some bituminous work and a bridge replacement along T.H. 75; and two enhancement projects on the Heartland Trail and Paul Bunyan Trail.

The 1995-97 program reflects cost reductions within MnDOT and a higher rate gas tax revenue projections. As a result, state transportation revenues are estimated to be approximately $140 million higher than similar estimates for the 1994-96 program.

At present, the program is developed each year to meet provisions of the 1991 federal Intermodal Surface Transportation Efficiency Act (ISTEA). The program includes transportation projects that will be partially funded with federal transportation dollars and state highway projects funded solely with state dollars. It does not include transportation investments scheduled to be made by local government units though state transportation aid and local dollars. The program was developed through a process using regional Area Transportation Partnerships and consisted of members from cities, counties, transit providers, regional development commissions, metropolitan planning organizations, system users and MnDOT.

Legal Notices

ORDINANCE NO. 242 2ND SERIES

AN ORDINANCE OF THE CITY OF THIEF RIVER FALLS, MINNESOTA, AMENDING CITY CODE CHAPTER 3 ENTITLED "MUNICIPAL AND PUBLIC UTILITIES-RULES AND REGULATIONS, FRANCHISES AND RATES" BY AMENDING PROVISIONS RELATING TO REFUSE COLLECTION CHARGES, AND BY ADDING REQUIREMENTS FOR COLLECTION, AND BY ADOPTING BY REFERENCE CITY CODE CHAPTER 1 AND SECTION 3.99, WHICH, AMONG OTHER THINGS, CONTAIN PENALTY PROVISIONS.

THE CITY COUNCIL OF THIEF RIVER FALLS ORDAINS:

Section 1. City Code Sec. 3.83., Subd. 1. entitled "Regular Charge" is hereby amended to read:

Subd. 1. Regular Charge. A monthly refuse collection charge based on the following schedule shall be applied to each household or housekeeping unit and shall be added to, and billed with, the charge for electrical service to said household or housekeeping unit. Where no statement is sent for electrical service, a separate statement shall be made for such refuse collection service and shall be mailed to the person or persons using such service or occupying such household or housekeeping unit.

| 1 | 75 | $11.00 |
| 2 | 100 | $13.00 |
| 3 | 150 | $19.00 |
| 4 | 200 | $25.50 |
| 5 | 250 | $31.50 |
| 6 | 300 | $37.50 |

Section 2. City Code Section 3.83., Subd. 2. entitled "Hardship Cases" is hereby amended to read:

Subd. 2. Hardship Cases. A refuse collection charge of $7.50 per month per household or housekeeping unit, which includes 50 "City of TRF" garbage bags per year, shall be added to, and billed with, the charge for electrical service for said household or housekeeping unit qualifying under this Subdivision. Where no statement is sent for electrical service, a separate statement shall be made for such refuse collection service and shall be mailed to the person or persons using such service or occupying such household or housekeeping unit. A consumer shall qualify for the rate under this Subdivision for the next regular billing and thereafter while qualifying by filing a sworn or affirmed statement on forms to be supplied by the City Clerk stating:

A. That such consumer is 65 years of age or older, or handicapped, or physically disabled, and

B. That such consumer is on a fixed income and that occupants of the household or housekeeping unit come within the following income and net worth standards:

1. Individual Occupancy. An individual with an annual income of less than $6,810.00 and total net worth not exceeding $16,650.00, excluding the value of homestead.

2. Double Occupancy. An annual income of less than $9,190.00 and total net worth not exceeding $22,200.00, excluding the value of homestead.

3. Occupancy by Three or More Persons. An annual income of less than $11,570.00 and total net worth not exceeding $25,068.00, excluding the value of homestead, and

C. That payment of the regular charge for refuse collection would be a hardship.

Section 4. City Code Section 3.83, Subd. 4. entitled "Senior Citizen Multi-Family Charge" is hereby amended to read:

Subd. 4. Senior Citizen Multi-Family Charge. A refuse collection charge of $5.50 per month per housekeeping unit shall be added to, and billed with, the charge for electrical service to said housekeeping unit in residential facilities housing 60 or more consumers 65 years of age or older in a single complex with four or less pickup points.

Section 5. City Code Chapter 1 entitled "General Provisions and Definitions Applicable to the Entire City Code Including Penalty for Violations" and Section 3.99 entitled "Violation A Misdemeanor" are hereby adopted in their entirety, by reference, as though repeated verbatim herein.

Section 6. This ordinance shall be in force and effect for the February, 1995, billings and all subsequent bills and after its passage, approval, and publication.

Passed by the City Council of Thief River Falls, Minnesota, on the 8th day of November, 1994.

Voting Aye: Burstad, Barron, Wennberg, Heinrichs, Carlson, Schmalz, Hamerlinck, and Reeve.

Voting No: None

Absent: None

NOTICE OF MORTGAGE FORECLOSURE SALE

NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN, That default has occurred in the conditions of that certain mortgage date the 9th day of December, 1985, executed by Charles N. Erickson and Bonita G. Erickson, husband and wife, as mortgagors to First National Bank of Detroit Lakes as mortgagee, filed for record in the office of the County Recorder in and for the County of Pennington, and State of Minnesota on the 27th day of December 1985, at 9:00 o'clock A.M., and recorded in Book 196 of Records, Page 33; and that thereafter the said mortgagee duly partially assigned the same to Linda P. Nelson, at Red Lake Falls, Minnesota on the 28th day of April 1994; and that said assignment was duly filed for record in the office of the County Recorder in and for the County of Pennington and State of Minnesota on the 16th day of May, 1994, and recorded in Book 248 of Records, Page 498 as Instrument No. 142864.

That no action or proceeding has been instituted at law to recover the debt secured by said mortgage, or any part thereof and that the assignee has elected to declare the entire sum secured by the note and mortgage to be immediately due and payable as provided in the note and mortgage.

That the original principal amount secured by said mortgage was Two Hundred Fifty-seven Thousand Dollars ($257,000.00).

That there is due and claimed to be due upon that part of said mortgage assigned to Linda P. Nelson, including interest to date hereof, the sum of the One Hundred Twenty-five Thousand Dollars ($125,000.00) and the amount of tax paid by the mortgagee or his assignee on the lands hereinafter described in the sum of N/A Dollars.

That prior to the commencement of this mortgage foreclosure proceeding, Mortgagee complied with all notice requirements as required by statute.

And, that pursuant to the power of sale therein contained, said mortgage will be foreclosed and the tracts of land lying and being in the County of Pennington, State of Minnesota, described as follows, to-wit:

West Half of the Southwest Quarter (W1/2SW1/4), Section Seventeen (17); the East Half of the East Half of the Southeast Quarter of the Southeast Quarter (E1/2E1/2SE1/4SE1/4), Section Eighteen (18); The East Half of the Northeast Quarter of the Northeast Quarter (E1/2NE1/4NE1/4) and the East Half of the Southeast Quarter of the Northeast Quarter (E1/2SE1/4NE1/4) and the East Half of the West Half of the Southeast Quarter of the Northeast Quarter (E1/2W1/2SE1/4NE1/4) and the Northeast Quarter of the Southeast Quarter (NE1/4SE1/4) and the Southeast Quarter of the Southeast Quarter (SE1/4SE1/4) and the East Half of the East Half of the East Half of the Southwest Quarter of the Southeast Quarter (E1/2E1/2SW1/4SE1/4) all in Section Nineteen (19); the Northeast Quarter of the Northeast Quarter (NE1/4NE1/4) and the East Half of the East Half of the Northwest Quarter of the Northeast Quarter (E1/2E1/2NW1/4NE1/4) and the Southeast Quarter of the Northeast Quarter (SE1/4NE 1/4) and the East Half of the East Half of the Southwest Quarter of the Northeast Quarter (E1/2E1/2/SW1/4NE1/4) and the East Half of the West Half of the East Half of the Southwest Quarter of the Northeast Quarter (E1/2W1/2E1/2SW1/4NE1/4) all in Section Thirty (30); ALL of the above described property is located in Township One Hundred Fifty-three (153) North of Range Forty-five (45) West of the Fifth Principal Meridian in Minnesota.

Will be sold by the sheriff of said county at public auction on the [illegible] day of November, 1994, at 10:00 o'clock A.M., at the Law Enforcement Center, 103 West First Street in the City of Thief River Falls, in said county and state, to pay the debt then secured by said mortgage and taxes, if any, on said premises and the costs and disbursements allowed by law, subject to redemption by the mortgagors, their personal representative or assigns within twelve (12) months from date of sale.

NOTICE TO MORTGAGORS

IF PART OF THE PROPERTY TO BE SOLD CONTAINS YOUR HOUSE, YOU MAY DESIGNATE AN AREA AS A HOMESTEAD TO BE SOLD AND REDEEMED SEPARATELY.

YOU MAY DESIGNATE THE HOUSE YOU OCCUPY AND ANY AMOUNT OF THE PROPERTY AS A HOMESTEAD. THE DESIGNATED HOMESTEAD PROPERTY MUST CONFORM TO THE LOCAL ZONING ORDINANCES AND BE COMPACT SO THAT IT DOES NOT UNREASONABLY REDUCE THE VALUE OF THE REMAINING PROPERTY.

YOU MUST PROVIDE THE PERSON FORECLOSING ON THE PROPERTY, THE SHERIFF, AND THE COUNTY RECORDER WITH A COPY OF THE LEGAL DESCRIPTION OF THE HOMESTEAD YOU HAVE DESIGNATED BY TEN BUSINESS DAYS BEFORE THE DATE THE PROPERTY IS TO BE SOLD.

Foss publishes his first novel

Former Grygla resident Rich Foss, son of Gordon and Thelma Foss, has published his first novel entitled "Jonas and Sally." The hard cover book is being published and marketed nationwide by Good Books, a publisher based in Pennsylvania.

Foss attended the Gryglo elementary school and graduated from Goodridge high school in 1969. He currently lives with his wife and three children on a ferm near Tiskilwa, IL.

"While the characters and incidents ere all fiction end set in Wisconsin," Foss said, "I drew on my Scandinavian heritage. I even used uff da a few times."

The novel has its setting in 1932 on a fictitious island in Lake Michigan among commercial fishermen. "Jonas, a youthful preacher, finds himself in love with Sally, a woman of the island and the novel follows their relationship as it develops amid the storms that accompany the fact that Sally was abused as a child," Foss said.

Rich Foss

North Dakota novelist Larry Woiwode, winner of the 1991 John Dos Passos Prize for Literature, calls Foss "a brave new talent. Jonas and Sally is a novel you will not forget, and Mr. Foss o writer you can trust."

In this area the book is available at the Hartz store in Grygla.

Some tribal lands may be hunted with special permit

Hunt Tribal Lands

For several years, tribal officials on the Red Lake Indian Reservation in north-central Minnesota have allowed limited numbers of non-band members to hunt on what are known as restored, eeded lands--tribal properties located outside the main Red Lake Reservation boundaries. This includes most of the interior of the Northwest Angle on Lake of the Woods.

The Red Lake tribal government offers tribal licenses for sale to non-band members, including members of other reservations, which allow the license holder to hunt on the eeded lands. Most of these licenses are issued for the deer hunting season.

Officials of the Minnesota Department of Natural Resources (DNR) have determined that these tribal licenses are not a legal substitute for a state hunting license. Sportsmen end women, other than Red Lake band members, must also carry a valid state hunting license to hunt on the eeded lands.

Non-band hunters must also comply with all applicable state laws regarding seasons, possession limits, shooting hours, transportation of wild game, and the tagging and registration of big-game animals.

Most tribal lands are posted with signs along public roads to advise people of the non-public status of reservation property. For more information about hunting or fishing on reservation property, contact the Red Lake Tribal Council offices at 218 679-3341.

Two books to celebrate Roseau Co. Centennial

In anticipation of the 1995 Centennial of Roseau county, two area organizations began work on book projects e year ago. Volunteers in both Roseau County Historical Society and Roseau Area Writers' Workshop researched, collected, selected, edited, proof-read and organized different materials at the museum-library building in Roseau for two separate books.

The official "Roseau County Centennial Book", with primary funding allocated by the Roseau County Board of Commissioners, is being published by the Roseau County Historical Society. On October 19, they delivered their first batch of pages to Quality Printing for computer type-setting. Remaining pages will be turned in soon. The historical society book will include many photographs and some humor, as well as serious factual data. The full-color cover of this book features Marv Espe's commissioned centennial painting of a stage coach. The historical society expects that their book will be ready in Decmeber. Orders may be turned in at the museum Tuesday through Saturday 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. The price is $20 (tax included) with all profits going to Roseau County Museum.

Roseau Area Writers' Workshop, which is o branch of Roseau Area Friends of the Library, is publishing "Up Home - the Land and the People", o sampling of original writing, drawings and music created by past and present residents of the county and a few others who live(d) nearby. Early in October, the "Up Home. . ." committee began delivering camera-ready pages in 32-page segments to Quality Printing. Printing of 1,000 copies of "Up Home. . ." began October 20 and was finished by October 31.

The green and ivory colored cover, designed by Frances Karlsson, will be printed ot Grafton where the books will be bound. If printing and binding stays on schedule "Up Home. . ." will be ready by November 17. A book launch program is being planned for Sunday, November 20, at 2:30 p.m. at the library meeting room. Purchasers who have already reserved about 450 copies will be able to pick up their books from 1:30 to 4 p.m. Anyone who wishes to reserve a copy before then should fill out an order form and pay $14.95 (tax included) at Roseau Public Library. This low price is possible only because of countless hours of volunteer time and partial funding from the Minnesota Legislature through Northwest Regional Development Commission. If there are any profits they will benefit the library.

Lyle Swonson hod the third place herd with 81 per cent of the 57-cow herd in milk and averaging 55 pounds of milk and 1.91 pounds of butterfat.

Other cows in the top 10 for October were as follows with number of cows in the herd, percentage in milk, average pounds of milk and average pounds of butterfat listed respectively:

Kelly and Gary Lundeen, 44 cows, 91%, 49.1 and 1.60; Bob Schindler, 47, 83%, 48.6 and 1.72; Doug and Gloria Barth, 32, 97%, 48 and 1.65; Steve Nelson, 56, 91%, 48 and 1.51; Tony and Sheila Salentine, 43, 100%, 47.5 and 1.64; Kevin Kalt, 63, 79%, 46.4 and 1.63; and Jim and Karen Pearson, 40, 93%, 46.1 and 1.74.

Herd averages are determined by dividing pounds of production by total number of cows in the herd. If there are many dry cows the averages will be low even though the cows in milk are good producers.

During September there were 26 official DHIA herds and one Owner Sampler herd on test with the association, according to Randy and Margaret Rasmussen, supervisors.

Federal grand jury issues indictments

Seven individuals have been indicted by a grand jury on federal narcotics charges.

Investigation leading to the indictments began in Pennington county obout one year ago. The investigation also included execution of several search warrants in Pennington county last fall.

Pennington county sheriff Gerald Moe said Monday that the investigation, which involves several law enforcement agencies will continue and will result in further local and state charges. He estimated possibly 20 to 30 cases locally.

U.S. Attorney John Schneider, announced that the following seven individuals had been indicted by the grand jury: Karl Heinrichs, 22, Brooklyn Park and formerly of Thief River Falls; Jon Armond Matson, 25, Thief River Falls; Leif Gunderson, 22, Virginia; Andrew Windt, Fargo; Keith Gammeringer, 21, Fargo; Neil Toppen, 22, Fargo, and Brian Olson, 24, Virginia. More federal indictments are possible.

Each individual named in the indictment is being charged with conspiracy to distribute and possession with intent to distribute methamphetamine and marijuana. If convicted each would face a minimum mandatory sentence of 10 years in prison.

The case is still under investigation by the Red River Valley Drug Task Force, the Drug Enforcement Administration, Internal Revenue Service, Cass County sheriff's office, the Clay County sheriff's office, the Fargo-Moorhead police department, the Minnesota Bureau of Criminal Apprehension, the North Dakota Bureau of Criminal Investigotion, the Paul Bunyan Drug Task Force, the Pennington County sheriff's office, the Thief River Falls police department, the Red Lake county sheriff's office, and the Marshall county sheriff's office.

Treat named president of Bemidji tech college

Vern Treat, campus vice president at the Northwest Technical College Thief River Falls campus, is being recommended for appointment as NTC campus president at Bemidji.

The NTC board will act on the recommendation at its December 8 meeting in East Grand Forks. The vacancy at Bemidji was created by the resignation of Ron Kraft.

Kraft served in a variety of positions at the Bemidji campus for 17 years prior to being named campus president. He has accepted a position with Hennepin Technical College in Brooklyn Park.

Treot is o graduate of the Littlefork-Big Falls high school and holds undergraduate and graduate degrees from Bemidji State University. He came to Thief River Falls as an elementary teacher in 1969 and taught fourth grade for 11 years at Washington elementary school.

He became a counselor at Lincoln high school for a year, then moved to the vocational-technical school as a counselor. After holding half a dozen different positions there, he has held the titles of Associote Director and later vice president far the past seven years.

Vern and his wife Kathy have two sons—Tyson, 21, a junior at Moorhead State University and Preston, 18, a freshman at Rainy River Community College. The

Myndy Olson to attend National 4-H Congress

Kratka 4-H club member is county leader's council president and state 4-H Federation secretary

Secretary of the Minnesota 4-H Federation for a two-year term in 1994-95 is Myndy Olson of Thief River Falls. She is pictured above wearing the medal she received for first place in state 4-H record judging for the fishing project and in the photo at right creating a spinner for the project. The daughter of Myles and Susan Olson, she has been selected to attend the 73rd National 4-H Congress in Orlando, FL, December 3-7.

Myndy Olson, daughter of Myles and Susan Olson of rural Thief River Falls and a junior at Lincoln high school, has been selected to attend the 73rd National 4-H Congress in Orlando, FL, December 3-7.

The 1,400 delegates from all 50 states and Puerto Rico will be joined by state advisors, national 4-H staff, trustees, donors and volunteers for the 4-H Congress, which will introduce its Workforce Preparedness Initiative.

Through the new program, delegates will receive information and skills to help them in career applications. Visits to business will be the source of further exposure to various worksites and career opportunities. Industry leaders, trustees, donors and state advisors will address and interact with delegates in a variety of other sessions.

Delegates will also learn more about living in a culturally diverse society including an international assignment to learn about the people, culture, history and economics of the 11 countries featured at Epcot Center.

An eight-year member of the Kratka 4-H club, 17-year-old Myndy is currently serving as president of the Pennington County 4-H Leaders Council and secretary of the Minnesota 4-H Federation, a two-year position to which she was elected this year.

For the past several years she has emphasized the fishing project in her 4-H club work, but it has been much more than a recreational pursuit.

She has tought more than 100 youngsters how to fish with use of just a pop can rig. The system uses o monofilament line, hook, bobber and a soft drink can around which the line is wrapped.

Myndy has olso exomined the water quality in the Thief River and Red Lake River which run through Thief River Falls. She works with younger 4-H club members to teach about fishing, ecology and conservation. Her project record won first place in state 4-H record judging after first winning on the county and district levels.

Her enthusiasm for the project, for which she ties her own spinners and other lures, is demonstrated by a paragraph in her project record:

"My favorite fish to go after is the walleye," she writes, "so this year I decided to try new strategies for catching these fish. I like to fish near our cabin where the lakes are ultra-clean. I tried fishing at 4 a.m. to 9 a.m. This worked very well. I'd fish off a sunken island during these hours. I was also successful fishing at 10 p.m. to 2 a.m. I know these are weird hours—but they worked!"

Myndy has won county and state fair grand championships in the fishing project. She has researched boat safety, fishing regulations and environmental concerns and helped plan a fishing trip for club members and children on the waiting list for

Ag lenders will concentrate on the dairy industry

"A Focus on the Dairy Industry" is the topic for the second annual ag lenders' workshop to be held Thursday, December 1, at the Best Western Inn of Thief River Falls and sponsored by the University of Minnesota extension service.

The U.S. dairy industry has had major changes in the 15 years from 1978 to 1993. There were fewer than half of the dairy herds in 1993 than there were in 1978 and more than half of the milk cows now in production in the U.S. are in herds of 100 or more.

In Minnesota, the 100-plus cow herd has more than tripled in number over the 15-year period and the trend is expected to continue.

Reliable, accessible and competitive financing is the fuel necessary to drive the growth and development of Minnesota's dairy industry, according to the extension service. The workshop is intended to help lending institutions assess the profitability of dairy farms looking at expansion and those in economic development to get information valuable to assisting retention and expansion of their community's dairy industry.

Workshop fee of $25 per person includes lunch, breaks and a packet of reference materials.

Additional information is available from Vince Crary, East Polk county, 1-800-450-2465; Rhonda Amundson, Red Lake county, 1-800-770-1244; and Sheldon Erickson, Roseau county, 1-800-450-1052.

the Little Brother/Little Sister program.

"I don't know how many hooks I baited and lines I untangled that day, but it was a great experience," she said. "Fishing works as a tie, binding all different types of people together. Through fishing I was able to work with children who were less fortunate than me. It really taught me to be thankful for what I have."

Leadership is a natural for Myndy, but she also works at it. She has won county leadership awards in both junior and senior divisions and has attended the Youth Leadership Extravaganza in Minneapolis.

And she practices her abilities and knowledge. She is a county and state 4-H ambassador, a day camp counselor, teacher at county project meetings, officer of her club (including president) and past secretary of the county leader's council.

She has also successfully carried projects in child care, foods, consumer education and health.

At Lincoln high school she has been involved with the varsity swim team, mock trial team, student senate, National Honor Society, Varsity Singers, Project Strive, Project 4 Teens and is an honor student and peer tutor. She was also a Hugh O'Brian leadership delegate.

She volunteers at the local food shelf, helps deliver meals on wheels, is part of the Adopt-a-Grandparent program and decorates doors of residents at nursing homes every month as well as working with other activities for the elderly.

At her church she is a substitute Sunday School teacher, vacation Bible school helper, vice president of the Luther League, usher and sings in the church choir.

Her positive attitude is summed up in a concluding paragraph from her project report:

"Through the last two years in the fishing project, I have gained many skills that will be valuable to me as I float along the waters of life. I'll pack a picnic lunch, my tackle box and the knowledge that I have gained in the last seven years of 4-H and set out on my journey to 'sea' the world. Without 4-H, I'd be a fish without fins. 4-H has developed me into a whole person. Let's go fishing!"

Water managers plan to attend state conference

Gerhard Ross, West Polk county; Leonard Moe, Marshall county Russell Sander, East Polk county; Verner Arveson, Pennington county; Vernon Johnson, Clearwater county; and Arlan Fore, Red Lake county; and Lowell C. Enerson plan to join more than 100 watershed district managers and administrators from throughout the state at a meeting December 2 and 3 at the Holiday Inn in Willmar. Gerhard, Leonard, Russell, Verner, Vernon, and Arlan are managers of the Red Lake Watershed District, and Lowell is the district administrator.

Watershed districts are local units of government based upon the boundaries of natural watersheds, which are areas in which all water drains to one point. The Red Lake Watershed district includes all of Red Lake county, most of Pennington county, and parts of Mahnomen, Polk, Itasca, Marshall, Clearwater, Beltrami, Roseau, and Koochiching counties. The district is responsible for water management within the watershed area.

"Conferences like these are extremely valuable", said Enerson. "It gives us the opportunity to see what has worked and what hasn't for other watershed districts and in water management in general," he said.

It is especially important for watershed districts to learn from each other's experience because the districts are in such a unique position, he said. "The jurisdiction of most watershed districts extends across political boundaries, such as city and county lines. It makes sense to manage water that way, since rivers and lakes don't stop when they enter another city or county, but it means that we have to work to get many different people to cooperate."

In addition to general business and the consideration of resolutions, the meeting will offer participants two seminars, one highlighting the successes of watershed districts and one focusing on the issues of regulating private lands.

The Minnesota Association of Watershed Districts sponsors the meeting.

Eating Just Enough

You're stuffed! The feeling of being so full seems to be part of our Thanksgiving tradition — and if this were the only day that we ate this way, it wouldn't really matter. But for many Americans this style of eating lasts year-round.

Does the need to "clean your plate" determine the amount you eat? Many people have been trained since childhood to eat all the food on their plates because in some vague way it will help the many starving children in the world.

While that approach to eating was a natural outgrowth of life during the Depression, it doesn't help you or the children who are starving. In fact, some might consider it a waste to be eating if you're not even hungry.

You can break this habit of automatically eating everything on your plate by consciously focusing on your body's hunger. Start by putting slightly smaller portions on your plate. Some people find it helps to simply leave one bite of something on their plate at each meal for a couple weeks; this helps break into the new style of eating by getting used to seeing food left on one's plate.

Once you've accustomed yourself to being able to leave food, work on eating until you feel just comfortably satisfied. You don't just go from being very hungry to stuffed in one big step; as you eat, hunger gradually disappears, satisfaction increases, and if you continue eating you then become more and more "stuffed." The feelings of satisfation and fullness sneak up quietly; so pay attention or you will miss them.

The message that you have had enough actually takes time to get from your stomach to your brain

World Home Care Week begins November 27

According to information received from Inter-County Nursing Service of Thief River Falls, World Home Care Week will be celebrated November 27 to December 3.

Home health care in the United States is a diverse and rapidly growing service.

About 15,000 providers deliver service to approximately 7 million individuals. These individuals require services because of acute illness, long term health conditions, permanent disability or terminal illness. In 1994, annual expenditures are expected to exceed $23 billion.

The history of home care began in the 1880's. The National Association for Home Care has identified a total of 15,027 home care agencies in the United States. Currently there are 7,521 Medicare certified home health agencies in the United States. The Inter-County Nursing Service is a Medicare certified agency.

Home care is a cost effective service, not only for individuals recuperating from a hospital stay but also those who, because of functional or cognitive disability, are unable to care for themselves.

Cost effectiveness is not the only rationale for home care. In fact, the best argument for home care may be that it is a humane and compassionate way to deliver health care and supportive services. Home care reinforces and supplements the care provided by family members and friends and maintains the recipient's dignity and independence, qualities that are all too often lost in even the best institutions.

How Does Home Care Work? When it comes to home health care there are a few simple points to remember:

• Homebound — Medicare requires you to be confined to your home. You must need the assistance of another person or an assistive device such as a wheel chair to travel to doctor appointments. Occasional outings, such as once a month or holiday dinners are permited.

• Doctor's Orders — Your doctor must write an order stating the reason for your care.

• Part-time or intermittent care — Medicare requires that you need the services of one or more of the following:

-Registered nurse,
-Physical therapist,
-Speech therapist.

The key is that you must need these services on a part-time or intermitent basis. By part-time

Thanksgiving

LET US THANK THE LORD FOR THE BLESSINGS WE'VE RECEIVED

For all the good times we have known
And friendships we can call our own,
Which let us know we're not alone
But cherished, come what may;
For illnesses that we've been spared,
And all the memories we've shared
With people who have shown they cared,
Whom we cannot repay;
For all the freedom in our land,
Which our forefathers wisely planned,
That all of us should understand
Far more than we can say;
For all the ways that we've been blessed,
Which make us strive to do our best,
Our gratitude should be expressed;
So thank the Lord this day.

Grace and Alve Johnson celebrated 60th anniversary

Grace and Alve Joboson of Springfield, TN, were honored on July 10 at an open house at Mt. Denson Cumberland Presbyterian church to celebrate their 60th wedding anniversary. The event was hosted by their children, Janet Pieper of Decatur, GA, Muriel Strack of Springfield, TN, and Paul Johnson of Sauk Rapids.

The couple was married June 30, 1934, in Crookston. Attendants were Kathleen Strom and Robert Peterson of Thief River Falls.

Grace is a 1930 graduate of Lincoln high school in Thief River Falls. She is the daughter of the late Albert and Josie Jahr of 213 Knight Avenue South and the sister of Palma Hanson, Lillian Peterson and the late Mildred Widing, Evelyn Efaw and Alice Vraa. Mr. Jahr operated a meat market on Main Street in Thief River Falls for several yeras.

Alve is the son of the late Anna and Otto Johnson, who resided at 624 Red Lake Boulevard, and a brother of the late Alice Mayer and Conrad Johnson. Otto Johnson had also been employed on the railroad.

The couple made their home in Warren and Sauk Centre and then in Texas and California after their retirement. He worked for the Great Northern Railroad for 52 years as track inspector, district roadmaster and district gang foreman. She was a school teacher in Sauk Centre and Grey Eagle, MN, and Hemet, CA. She organized and led the junior choir of First Lutheran church in Sauk Centre. He is past master of the Masonic Lodge and she is a past matron of the Order of Eastern Star.

The couple currently lives at 2115-B Mockingbird Lane, Springfield, TN 37172. They have three children, seven grandchildren, 12 great-grandchilden and three step-grandchildren.

December WIC schedule

The Women, Infants and Children's Supplemental Nutrition Education Program (WIC) is being held the month of December.

Infants and children up to the age of five and women who are pregnant or breast feeding may be eligible for the program. Prenatal nutrition is a vital part of producing a healthy baby and it is important to apply for WIC early in the pregnancy. No proof of pregnancy is needed.

All potential clients must write or call WIC and complete an application.

The following is the schedule for WIC clinics to be held at Redeemer Lutheran church in Thief River Falls for this month:

- Monday, December 5,
- Monday, December 12,
- Thursday, December 15, and
- Friday, December 16.

Note: Immunizations will now be given by the county nurses. Contact Inter-County Nursing Service in Thief River Falls at 681-5950 for dates and times.

For further information about the WIC program, call or write WIC/EPS, Quin County, P.O. Box 190, Red Lake Falls, MN 56750 or telephone 1-800-223-1591 or 1-218-253-2125.

The WIC program must treat everyone the same. A person cannot be treated unfairly because of race, color, national origin, age, sex or handicap. If you feel you have been treated unfairly, write Administrator, Food and Nutrition Services, U.S. Department of Agriculture, 3101 Park Center Drive, Alexandria, VA 22302.

Eating just enough is the key to a healthy holiday season

(some researchers say about 20 minutes). If you are eating quickly, you might clean your plate or go back for more before you realize that you would be happy with less.

One way of making sure that you are eating what your body needs without stuffing in too much is to take a break or "time out" part way through your meal to consciously decide whether you are truly hungry for more. Certainly it makes sense to pause in this way for a few minutes before you reach for second helpings.

When it comes to what you're eating, the American Institute for Cancer Research (AICR) dietary guidelines, emphasizing a low-fat diet with plenty of whole grains, fruits and vegetables, are the best guide. But you can have even too much of a good thing, and you are the best guide for how much to eat. Aim for being satisfied instead of stuffed.

For a free brochure of ten easy tips for healthful eating, send a stamped, self-addressed envelope to AICR, Dept. TT, Washington, DC 20069.

The holidays are almost here
With lots of calories I fear.
We don't want to end the year
With extra pounds to spoil our cheer.

We have a secret that will help you out;
Safe to take and won't leave you stout.

Misty Michalicek wed to C. Malterud in Oct.

Misty Lynn Michalicek and Christopher Jon Malterud were united in marriage at a 2 p.m. ceremony on October 22, 1994, at the Evangelical Covenant church in Thief River Falls. Rev. Mark Hovestol officiated at the double ring ceremony.

Parents of the couple are Robert and Dianne Michalicek of Thief River Falls and Kenneth and Marilyn Malterud of Bemidji.

Dale and Tami Schneider sang "Only God Could Love You More," Tami Schneider sang "If You Could See What I See" and mother and son, Evadell and Jason Tangquist, sang "There is Love." Tomi Schneider presided at the piano and Judy Jones served as organist. Other music selections were "Bridal Chorus" and "The Wedding March."

The church was decorated with ferns on white lattice stands.

The bride was attired in a white, sequin- and pearl-embossed, off-the-shoulder gown which featured a chapel length train. A cluster of fabric roses trimmed the back waist, with lace, sequins and pearls trimming the waistline and fabric swags down the back of the gown.

Her headpiece was a crown trimmed with white flowers made from the same fabric as the flowers on the gown, with a double veil with scalloped edges. She carried a bouquet of flowers matching those in the headpiece, trimmed with pearls and ivy. The bridal gown and accessories were made by the mother of the bride.

Matron of honor was Gwenn Hovestol of Bemidji, sister of the bride. Bridesmaids were Janel Hart of Bloomington, best friend of the bride, Denise J. Michalicek of Breckenridge and Denise S. Michalicek of Thief River Falls, both sisters-in-law of the bride, and Andrea Michalicek of Maple Lake, cousin of the bride.

They wore tea-length peach gowns with white embossed flowers, short sleeves, sweetheart necklines and backs that matched that of the bridal gown, and carried arm bouquets of peach roses and babies' breath trimmed with ivy.

The bride's personal attendants were her friends, Jennifer Carruthers and Vicki Gantner.

The groom was attired in black tails with white shirt with black buttons, black bow tie and cummerbund. He wore a boutonniere composed of a white rose with a peach rosebud.

Serving as his brother's best man was Kyle Malterud of Bemidji. Groomsmen were Travis Malterud, nephew of the groom, Kevin Malterud, brother of the groom, and Ted Verke, brother-in-law of the groom, all from Bemidji, and Jeff Michalicek, brother of the bride from Thief River Falls.

They wore silver streak, double breasted tuxedoes with peach ties and cummerbunds, and peach rose boutonnieres.

Ushers were Stuart Michalicek of Breckenridge, brother of the bride, Sue Verke of Bemidji, sister of the groom, Dan Hovestol of Bemidji, brother-in-law of the bride, and Brenda Thorson of Osakis, friend of the groom. They wore black dress pants, forest green silk shirts, black bow ties and suspenders and peach rosebud boutonnieres.

For her daughter's wedding, the mother of the bride chose a long, forest green gown with fitted waist and sweetheart neckline, trimmed with buttons down the front. The mother of the groom wore a richly colored, tea-length, floral patterned gown with belted waist and three-quarter sleeves. Both were presented with peach rose corsages.

Fathers of the couple wore tuxedoes that were the same as the groomsmen with peach rosebud boutonnieres.

Honored guests attending the ceremony were grandparents of the bride, Dale and Olive Lookabil from International Falls and Illa Michalicek from Blackduck, and grandmother of the groom, Florence Malterud from Bemidji.

Following the ceremony, a reception was held in honor of the couple. Highlighting the serving table was a white, three layer cake with a lighted fountain and staircases leading to a double layer cake. The cake was topped with a white heart trimmed with flowers and tulle. Gloria Michalicek, aunt of the bride, designed the cake, with the top made by Illa Michalicek, grandmother of the bride.

Host and hostess at the reception were Galen and Carol Bronson, friend of the couple. Presiding at the guest book were Clarence and Kimberly Wogner, friends of the bride.

Cutting the cake were Joyce Ferdig, aunt of the bride, and Pat Moen, aunt of the groom. Serving coffee were Jolaine Boreen, cousin of the bride, and Margaret Rearick, aunt of the groom. Chad Logan and Julie Maki, friends of the groom served punch.

Flower hostess was Sandy Malterud, sister-in-law of the groom. She also fashioned all flowers and boutonnieres.

Lacy Verke and Amber Malterud, nieces of the groom, were in charge of the gift table. Serving as waitresses were Cardie and Crystal Miller, friends of the bride, and Beth and Heather Underdahl, cousins of the bride.

Carrying seeds for the guests to scatter were Christina and Ashley Schneider, friends of the bride.

Following a wedding trip to the Black Hills of South Dakota, the couple is at home at 736 Hillcrest Manor in Bemidji. The bride is a graduate of Lincoln high school and Oak Hills Bible College. She is employed as manager of Bemidji Rental and New Party Store. The groom is a graduate of Bemidji high school and a student at Bemidji State University, majoring in education.

Seats are still available. Anyone wishing to attend should call the church office at 681-1310 or stop in at the church at Fourth and Horace.

Celebrate Home Health Care Week

Mediare usually means two hours a couple of times a week.

Medicare does not pay for round the clock care or maintenance cares.

Who else pays for care?

- Medical Assistance also pays for home health care, and sometimes the requirements are different than with Medicare.
- Some private insurance policies provide for home heath coverage, usually by a trained nurse.
- Minnesota has an Alternative Care program that provides certain home health services to people as an alternative to being in a nursing home, There is a financial requirement, but people can also pay privately for this service.
- Inter-County Nursing Service uses a sliding fee schedule if there is no other pay source for home care. There is always a way to have some service.

At Inter-County Nursing Service, we serve people no matter who pays. You do have choices.

What is a Home Health Aide?

Home health aids provide personal care services, like bathing, and work under the supervision of the registered nurse. Home health aide service is provided by the hour, usually 1-2 hours at a time.

If you need mostly housekeeping service, these arrangements can be made, but this is not done by the home health aide.

This year will be the first World Home Care Week. Formerly a national happening, this year the importance of home care is being stressed world wide.

The week of November 27 to December 3 will be set aside to pay tribute to those dedicated persons who provide high quality health care in homes around the world.

For more information about Home Health Care and what is available to you, call 218-681-5950 or 218-253-4378.

Merle Lindberg, 82

Thief River Falls — Merle Lindberg, age 82, died Friday, November 18, at Northwest Medical Center in Thief River Falls.

Funeral services for Merle Lindberg were held at 10:30 a.m. Tuesday, November 22, at Zion Lutheran church in Thief River Falls with Rev. Gary Johnson officiating. Ida Nordvall served as organist, with Dennis and Naomi Raymond singing "Borning Cry" and Van Swanson singing "On Eagles Wings." Congregational hymns were "How Great Thou Art," "O Master, Let Me Walk with You" and "Thine is the Glory."

Casketbearers were Greg and Jeff Walsh, Ron Lindberg, Russ Lane, Peter Johnson and Orin Green. Interment was at Greenwood cemetery with the Green Funeral Home in charge of arrangements.

Merle Alton Lindberg was born August 11, 1912, in Trail, the son of N.C. and Clara Medchill Lindberg. He moved to Perley with his family at a young age. They then moved to Thief River Falls where he attended school, graduating from Lincoln high school in 1930. He worked at Land O'Lakes for a time.

He was united in marriage to Agnes Haug on June 21, 1938. The couple continued to live in Thief River Falls and he was employed as clinic administrator of the Starekow Clinic from 1948 until he retired in 1978.

He was a member of Zion Lutheran church, the Lion's Club, Elks, served on the Valley Home Board and as a member of the Pennington County Board for 25 years, and was a leader in organizing the Heritage Center. He enjoyed hunting, fishing, woodworking and stained glass.

Survivors include his wife, Agnes; one daughter, Gail Walsh of Bloomington; one son, Tom (wife, Bonnie), Bellevue, WA; and three grandchildren, Greg (wife, Shireen) Walsh, Julie Walsh and Jeff Walsh, all of Bloomington.

He was preceded in death by his parents; an infant daughter; two brothers, Kenneth and Marvin; and one sister, Adeline Miller.

Frieda Bredeson, 91

Plummer — Frieda B. Bredeson, age 91, of Plummer, died Sunday, November 20 at the Good Samaritan Nursing Home in Bloomington.

A private funeral service will be held for Frieda Bredeson at a later date. Interment will be in Emardville cemetery, rural Plummer, with the Petterson Funeral Home of Red Lake Falls and the O.E. Larson-Osborne Mortuary of Minneapolis in charge of arrangements.

Frieda Borghild Bredeson was born July 19, 1903, in Emardville township, Red Lake county, the daughter of Brede and Sara Jenson Bredeson. She attended school in Plummer and then enrolled in Bemidji State College, majoring in elementary education with a concentration in music.

She began her teaching career in rural schools in northern Minnesota, and also taught in Trail, Ponemah, Eagle Bend and Eldred. For the five years preceding her retirement in 1974, she taught at Shaw Island, WA. She never married.

She is survived by one sister, Julie (husband, Matt) Jaeger, of Burnsville, formerly of Plummer, and five nieces, Eunice Nelson of Burnsville, Audrey Nielsen, Bloomington, Judy Nelson of Oslo, Maxine Husvik of Petersburg, AK, and Lou Ann Cunningham of West Sacramento, CA.

Her parents, two brothers and one niece preceded her in death.

Dear Readers,
Autumn is a beautiful season. It is the twilight of the year, with its fallen leaves, quiet nights, and cooler air. The grain has been gathered in and a soft harvest moon brightens the sky. With autumn comes Thanksgiving, a time for family unity, a special day set aside to give thanks for our many blessings. May yours be a warm and happy holiday surrounded by those you love.
Sincerely,
Belmont Funeral Home
Larry Belmont

Funeral services for Burton Emanuel were held at 11 a.m. Monday, November 14, at Woodland Hills Funeral Chapel with Rev. William Meyers officiating. Interment was at Woodland Hills Memorial Park.

Burton Emil Emanuel was born July 22, 1915, in Berthold, ND, the son of Emil and Katherine Whitman Emanuel. He graduated from Minot high school in 1934. He attended Minot State College for one year and then moved with his family to Grand Forks, ND. In 1937, he and his family moved to Thief River Falls where they founded the Paint and Glass Supply Company.

He was united in marriage to June L. Rolland on September 3, 1939, in Thief River Falls. He remained a partner in Paint and Glass until 1956 when he and his family moved to Mankato. He and his wife owned and operated Minneopa Drive-In Liquor from 1956 until 1975. From 1975 to 1989, they lived at Lake Francis.

He was a member of Calvary Lutheran church of Rapidan and the Mankato Jaycees. He was a life member of Mankato BPOE Elks 225, where he served as Exalted Ruler in 1968 and as chaplain for several years. He was also a member of the Elks National Foundation and Loyal Order of Moose 1414, a social member of American Legion Post 11. He enjoyed gardening, hunting and fishing and served as a gun safety instructor for many years.

Survivors include his wife; one son, Burton R. (wife, Colleen) and one daughter, Gail Malvin,, all of Mankato; eight grandchildren; two great-grandchildren; three sisters-in-law; one nephew; three nieces; and many cousins.

He was preceded in death by his brother and sister, a son-in-law and two grandchildren.

Raymond "R.C." Skoe, 71

Bloomington — Raymond Clifford Skoe, age 71, of Bloomington, died at his home on Monday, November 14, due to respiratory failure as the result of ALS.

Memorial services for Raymond Skoe were held Thursday, November 17, at 3 p.m. at Peace Evangelical Lutheran church in Bloomington and in Good Shepherd in Clearbrook at 2 p.m. Saturday, November 19. A dinner and party after services celebrating Raymond's life and death were held in both Bloomington and Clearbrook as Ray's thank you to his many friends and relatives who cared.

Raymond Clifford Skoe was born March 15, 1923, near Northome in Ardenhurst township, Itasca county, the son of Ener and Glena Skoe. He attended Bergville school and graduated from Grand Rapids high school in 1941.

He served in the United States Army Signal Corps as a technical sergeant in China, Burma and India. He attended Dunwoody Institute and graduated in 1942. He graduated from the University of Minnesota in December of 1949, with a degree in electrical engineering, and was elected to Eta Kappa Nu fraternity. Prior to 1960, he worked for Transistor Electronics, Univac and IBM. From 1960 to 1966, he was sales manager for the Peripheral Equipment Division of Control Data in Europe and Scandinavia.

He was president of Clearwater Rice, which he co-founded along with his older brother, Stanton, of Kelliher, and his brother-in-law, Don Barron, of Thief River Falls. He was instrumental in forming United Wild Rice Cooperative and Gourmet House.

May 20, 1970, he was united in marriage to Giseta Schuback of Frankfurt, Germany, in Liverpool, England. He loved skiing, sailing, hunting and fishing. He was an avid reader, loved poetry, and during his illness he wrote and published his book "My Life."

Survivors include his friend, Nina Seery, and her family; his former wife, Giseta, and her daughter, Katrin; three brothers, Earl (wife, Vera), Northome, Stanley of Leona Valley, CA, and Will "Gordon" of Santa Barbara; and four sisters, Bena (husband, Stan) Petzet, Minneapolis, Marie (husband, Tony) Rozycki, St. Cloud, Emilie Karkela, Grand Rapids, and Gladys (husband, Don) Barron, Thief River Falls.

Preceding him in death were his parents, Ener and Glena Skoe; one infant sister, Viola; and two brothers, Stanton of Kelliher and Russel of Park Rapids.

Memorials are preferred to ALS or the R.C. Skoe Foundation, % Mary Gberle, 11822 Bren Road, Minnetonka, MN 55343.

... Happy Thanksgiving

Holidays and children just naturally go together. Thanksgiving is the time for feasting and children have their own ideas about how that feast gets from the farm or the grocery store to the table on Thanksgiving day.

Mrs. Brickson's first grade class at St. Bernard's school decided to create a cookbook for Thanksgiving this year. Here are their own recipes for that Thanksgiving feast:

Turkey
by Aaron Rouland

Catch a live five pound turkey and burn it in a fire for 20 hours. Then eat. (Serves 10.)

Stuffing
by Elizabeth Judd

100 little teeny peppers
500 pieces of bread
100 teensy, teensy, TEENSY pimentos
Put it on the stove at five degrees for one hour. Then take it out and eat. (Serves 5.)

Mashed Potatoes
by Michael Mattison

Take 10 potatoes. Mash with a spoon then cook in the oven (medium hot – 100 degrees) for an hour. Put gravy on it. (Serves 10.)

Gravy
by Alyssa Novak

One jug milk
One pinch sugar
One drop brown food coloring
Cook on the stove at medium hot (11 degrees) for three and a half minuets. (Serves 6.)

Corn
by Ryan Kruse

You go to the store and look for the little round yellow things. Get two of them. Open them. Put milk in it. Put sugar in it and butter. Cook it on the stove at 11 degrees for two hours. (Serves 10.)

Sweet Potatoes
by Ashley Ramos

Take seven sweet potatoes. Peel. Boil in water at medium hot (11 degrees) for one hour. Then eat. (Serves 5.)

Salad
by Alex Burda

8 tomatoes
10 pieces of lettuce
5 pieces of broccoli
8 pieces of corn
Put dressing on it (the white kind). (Serves 9.)

Lefse
by Kjelsy Loeffler

Mix together five scoops of sugar, six scoops of butter, and two scoops of flour. Bake it at medium hot (two degrees) for one minuet. Then put five spreads of butter and two spoons of sugar on it. (Serves 4.)

Pumpkin Pie
by Valerie Meyers

Crust: Mix two little drops flour and two little drops water. Cover and roll it out. Smash it. Put it in the pan.

Pie: Take two scoops of pumpkin and cut it up. Put it in the pan. Put the dough on top. Cook it in the oven for five minuets in a medium hot oven (about four degrees). (Makes 4 pies.)

Parents of the future cooks are Tony Burda and Audry Burda, George and Sue Judd, Guy and Michelle Kruse, Tim and Kristine Loeffler, Jim and Teresa Mattison, John Meyers and Lucy Meyers, Gerard and Kim Novak, Rodney and Teresa Lund, and John and Faye Rouland.

Happy Thanksgiving and may you enjoy your live five pound turkey and all the trimmings this year. Don't forget the brown food coloring in your gravy.

Local man sentence to serve prison term

Dennis Dei Knutson of Thief River Falls was sentenced Monday to 48 months in prison on charges of burglary, assault and violation of a protection order.

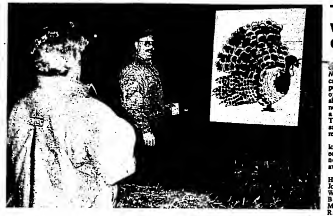
The charges against Knutson, age 37, stem from an incident reported to police on August 28. According to court documents, a local woman reported that she had been assaulted by Knutson in that he had entered the residence in violation of a protection order, threatened her with a deer rifle and held her against her will and sexually assaulted her for a number of hours. He also threatened to kill himself.

He was originally charged with burglary in the first degree, assault in the second degree, criminal sexual conduct in the first degree and violation of a protection order. In court Monday, the charge of criminal sexual conduct in the first degree was dismissed.

Assistant County Attorney Al Rogalla argued for confiscation of the rifle, and a jail sentence of 48 months despite a pre-sentence investigation that recommended 68 months. Assistant Public Defender Don Aandal asked the court not to consider the first two points in his record as the incidents took place 16 years ago and he has been a law-abiding citizen since then.

Statements were also given in court by Knutson and a sister.

Judge Larry Jorgenson accepted a recommendation to sentence him to 48 months in prison, which is a downward departure from state sentencing guidelines. He ordered Knutson to serve 32 months, one-third on supervised release. He was given credit for time already served and the firearm was ordered returned to the family. Knutson was ordered not to have any firearm for 10 years.



Turkey shoot sponsored by The Times and Northern Watch was conducted last Thursday evening under the canopy at Northern State Bank. Winners of drawings from participating stores were able to "turkey shoot" by tossing a dart at a turkey target with an opportunity to win cash prizes. Advertising representative Bruce Mattson of the Times staff is shown assisting one of the winners with a turkey shoot attempt.

Turkey Shoot winners get cash, turkeys

Winners in the Turkey Shoot contest sponsored by The Times and Northern Watch received either cash or certificates worth $8 in the purchase of a turkey. Cash winners opted to toss a dart in a "turkey shoot" among individual store winners last Thursday evening, having a chance to win from $10 to $100. Those whose dart did not hit a cash scoring area on the turkey target received the $8 turkey certificates.

Store winners included the following with cash amount won listed for each (if no cash amount is noted, a turkey certificate was awarded):

HATS OFF TO 4-H

Happy Acres 4-H Club

Happy Acres 4-H club held its monthly meeting Monday, November 14, at Valhall. Prior to the meeting, demonstrations were given by Kelly Clark on Health and Allyson Terstveit and Anthony Weld on Pudding Cones.

Co-president Cami Serenson called the meeting to order and secretary's report by Danielle Orandbois was approved as written. Roll call was taken with the response of the Best Turkey Walk. Sunny Carlson gave the treasurer's report.

Congratulations were given to Danielle Orandbois for participating in the state 4-H horse show. A thank-you was given to all who worked at the 4-H carnival.

Family night was scheduled for November 18 at Valhall. Members were invited to bring a potluck snack and a couple of friends.

A 4-H ski trip has been planned for Sunday, December 4, at Buena Vista near Bemidji. A minimum of 30 people is needed to go on the bus. Members are to sign up and bring their money to the extension office by November 23.

Holiday Fair craft show was scheduled for November 19. Happy Acres club has volunteered to run the children's center in the basement of the city auditorium. Members were encouraged to sign up to help.

State fair premiums were distributed to those club members who participated. Members were also reminded to turn in their enrollment cards.

Members discussed the possibility of having incentives for demonstrating during the club meeting but action was tabled until the next meeting.

The Christmas party will be planned by the club officers. A date and time will be decided. Each 4-Her is to bring a gift to exchange ($2-$3 value).

Following adjournment recreation was conducted by the junior leaders as they initiated the new members—Ellen Haymond, Alicia Peterson, Josh Steele, Gabrielle Carlson and Ryan Broden.

Classes taught by Deone Cerny and Susan Olson have conferences from 8 to 11:30 a.m. Classes taught by Suzanne Steidl will have conferences from 8 to 11:30 a.m. and 1 to 2:30 p.m.

These three teachers and Char Schwartz also had conferences Monday morning, afternoon and evening and on Tuesday.

ASK YOUR LOCKSMITH
Questions And Answers

I would like to have some locks installed, but I don't know if the door is in good enough shape to have this work done.

Should I find a carpenter to fix the door before I put new locks on it?

No. Your professional locksmith usually can repair most problems with ordinary doors by adding new hardware, hinges, closers, locks, and/or strike plates. He also can solve the problem of sagging doors and ill-fitting strike plates so that the door will fit smoothly and lock and the strike plate will function properly.

Salvation Army to begin Kettle Drive

Local clubs and organizations will soon be approached and asked for volunteers to participate in the Salvation Army's Kettle Drive.

Thief River Falls chapter of the Salvation Army held a meeting last Tuesday and among the many items discussed during the meeting was the annual Kettle Drive. Cliff Larson has prepared a sign-up sheet and these sheets will be presented to various clubs and organizations in the community.

Money collected during the Kettle Drive is spent in the community. A specific goal has not been established.

Salvation Army plays a vital role in helping individuals and families in need. Its mission is to preach the gospel of Jesus Christ and to meet human needs in His name without discrimination. Seventh-day Adventist church plays a major supportive role by operating a clothing distribution site through its Community Services program.

Assistance provided during the year is reported to Salvation Army board members regularly. In a two-week period recently, the Seventh-day Adventist Community Services Center distributed 1,826 pieces of clothing and served 298 people, which includes eight new families. The Community Services Center is open Monday afternoons and evenings only; although, it can be opened at other times in case of emergencies.

The Community Services Center hasn't had difficulty keeping up with the demand for clothing. However, with the cold weather setting in, they are in need of blankets, quilts, comforters, good used sheets, towels, pillows and wash cloths. It is also in need of pots and pans, cookware and utensils and toys.

Clothing and other items donated to the Community Services Center can be dropped off inside the front door of the site, which is located next to the Seventh-day Adventist church at 1024 South Tindolph. Individuals who donate their time to support the clothing distribution site welcome all donations, but ask that they be cleaned before donated. All items distributed at the clothing distribution site are done so free of charge.

The Salvation Army is among a growing list of community organizations supporting local Angel Trees. Angel Trees provide local residents an opportunity to purchase a toy or gift for a local youth who would not otherwise receive a toy or gift for Christmas. The Community Angel Tree will be located at Pamida. Other Angel Trees supporting other organizations will also have Angel Trees set up in the community.

Norwest again to award three scholarships

Three $500 scholarships will be awarded by the Thief River Falls office of Norwest Bank through the Norwest Community Scholarship Fund, according to Roger Renter, local bank president.

Renter said the program is part of Norwest's ongoing efforts "to make higher education a reality and to help students reach for their dreams."

Applications are open through Jan. 15, 1995. Students will be selected on the basis of their academic record, leadership and an essay on the subject of what dream they would make come true for their community or state.

Popular entertainers at the All Nations Cultural Festival in St. Hilaire, the Fialka Ukrainian Dance Ensemble has been scheduled for a return performance at the third annual event in 1995, according to Ed Leeper of Thief River Falls, festival organizer. The Times' photos above were taken during the Fialka group's appearance at the second annual festival last July. All other entertainment at the third annual festival will be new and includes Caribbean, Irish, French Canadian and Cajun.

Plans made for third All Nations Cultural Festival

Entertainment line-up for the third annual All Nations Cultural Festival in St. Hilaire is nearing completion, according to organizer Ed Leeper of L.G. Promotions in Thief River Falls.

"One dance group the public has responded to with overwhelming enthusiasm has been the Fialka Ukrainian Dance Ensemble from the Winnipeg, Manitoba area," Leeper said. "We have arranged for this popular group of energetic young people to perform again, but they will be the only repeat performers from last year."

In keeping with the goals of the event, the festival will present a wide variety of ethnic performers from around the region and around the world, the organizer added.

Final negotiations are being made to have performers from the Caribbean and Ireland with French Canadian and Cajun groups also added to the line-up of entertainment for 1995. Performers from Norway and Germany have been contacted and will be in attendance.

Native American dancers and fur trade encampments will be part of the festivities in 1995.

"The festival had an hour of down time due to rain last year and some arts and crafts exhibitors had a little difficulty with mud in an isolated area," Leeper noted. "The City of St. Hilaire is dealing with the mud problem by planting extra grass and we are making arrangements to provide for a guaranteed non-stop performance regardless of weather conditions."

Host families will once again be needed for the large group to attend from Germany and the group from Norway. Leeper said last year's community response to the need for host housing was fantastic and that he believed the host families as well as the visitors benefited from the experience.

For more information call Jill at the city clerk's office in St. Hilaire (964-5257) or Ed Leeper at 681-1973 in Thief River Falls.

Gas prices have dropped

Thanksgiving travelers will find gas prices lower than they were over the Memorial Day weekend, according to Minnesota AAA. Average price of a gallon of self-serve unleaded gasoline is now $1.152, compared with $1.274 on Memorial Day.

High gas prices this fall were attributed to refinery shutdowns in Texas as a result of flooding. Retail gas prices have now fallen as supply concerns have dissipated. A year ago the comparable average price was $1.168.

Average prices by area for unleaded self-service gas per gallon include $1.146 in the metro area, $1.165 in central Minnesota, 1.204 in northern Minnesota and $1.130 in southern Minnesota.

ON THE OTHER HAND

Tina Krogstad
Lincoln High School

With Thanksgiving rolling around, I'm looking forward to another family gathering at my aunt and uncle's house in Drayton, ND. Yes, you heard me correctly-I'm looking forward to it. Most people my age would think I'm crazy for actually enjoying family events, but in reality, I see it as a release from problems at work, school, home or just life in general.

Every other year, the relatives on my mother's side of the family unite for Thanksgiving. I guess you could say we are a pretty close family. Thanksgiving time is always a festive occasion. Seeing cousins, aunts, uncles and all kinds of relatives who I haven't seen in ages usually tends to set me in high spirits.

The food is always delicious. My mother, my grandma, and all of my aunts bring different kinds of food. They spend all day cooking the turkey and setting up the table with the traditional pistachio salad, easy beans, my aunt's homemade buns, and grandma's fruit salad. When the turkey is done, we all crowd into the kitchen to sing our table grace, "Be Present At Our Table, Lord." Then we all get in line and dish up piles of food onto our plates.

The guys usually go into the den downstairs to watch the football games while the women stay upstairs and chat. The kids generally scatter in all directions. The youngest sometimes sit on the floor and play Nintendo. My cousin, Maria, and I often end in her room, listening to music and discussing the latest developments in our lives.

Even in non-holiday times, I like to visit my family. Going up to my grandpa's farm in Kennedy, Minnesota, for a weekend gives me a chance to relax and get away from the rest of the world. There's something strangely calming and peaceful about being completely isolated on a farm in the middle of nowhere. It tends to give me time to think and contemplate life.

I always sleep in the upstairs bedroom where it's always freezing because the heating system doesn't distribute the heat evenly. I simply wrap up in a blanket, fling myself onto the chilled bed, and read a book all day. Otherwise, in the summer, my sister and I go outside and play softball or volleyball in the large farmyard.

Once I decided to journey into part of the woods, and I nearly ran straight into a moose. The moose and I stood there frozen for a few minutes, and then I took off running back to the house. And there's the time that I was driving my grandpa's brand-new snowmobile and accidently hit the accelerator instead of the brake and crashed it right into a light pole. Okay, so maybe I actually caused more problems than I resolve there, but at least I have fun.

Since my other grandparents also live in Kennedy, we visit them just as often. I remember when I was younger, we would always walk over to the neighbors' house to "visit" them. They were an elderly couple, and they absolutely loved company--especially us kids. Our secret purpose, however, was to receive all the candy that they so readily handed out to us every time we came over.

Another adventure was when a few of my cousins and I went on a walk down by the coulee and into a small woodsy area. We wandered around there for awhile since none of us had any clue to where we were. We ended up on the highway just outside of town and had to walk back into town.

Later it became our famous trail that we'd take whenever we wanted to go on a walk.

It's funny how simply spending some quality time with family can brighten my day. They're really a great bunch of people who have always been and always will be there for me when I need comfort, support, or just a lot of laughs. For them I am most thankful on this Thanksgiving Day.

Convenience stores raise nearly $400

The top four promoters in the Thief River Falls and St. Hilaire Save the Depot Convenience Store Challenge are Pennington Square, which raised $200, the Holiday Station, which raised $100, the Kruse Inn, which raised $45, and the Petro Pumper, which raised $23.65.

Organizer Mike Barry says seven ares conveneinece stores were involved in the challenge to save the historic Soo Line Depot in Thief River Falls. Each business offered courtesy coffee for the week and collected donations for the Depot in a counter coffee jar.

Although the group fell far short of their $1,000 goal, Barry says it was a fun effort, and leaves the challenge wide open for another business or group of businesses.

"Our total was $396.60. The challenge is to launch a fund-raiser to match or beat that total," Barry said.

HATS OFF TO 4-H

Leader's Council

Pennington county 4-H leader's council met November 7 at 8 p.m. in the courthouse meeting room. The meeting was called to order by president Myndy Olson. Flag pledges were said, roll call taken and secretary and treasurer reports approved as read.

Correspondence included thank-you notes from Save the Depot committee, 4-H Leader's Forum, Delores Andol for our contribution to Minnesota Room and Marv Lundin for the Friend of 4-H award.

Old business consisted of discussion on the carnival and awards night. Reports were given on Save the Depot breakfast and Leader's Night Out. Barb Natvik gave a report on Leader's Forum and leaders were encouraged to sign up for various committees.

Ag Activities Day is December 2 at the University of Minnesota—Crookston. Sunday, December 4, is designated as 4-H Ski Sunday at Buena Vista and registrations are due by November 23. Holiday Craft Fair is scheduled for November 19. State fair premium money needs to be picked up by December 31 or funds will be deposited in the 4-H treasury.

Red Lake Electric Cooperative awarded a grant of $400 to the Shooting Sports program and rental of the grill was discussed with the decision made to leave the no charge policy in effect. If or when the grill needs to be replaced the ruling may change.

The Hot Dog Award was presented to Beattie Mickelson for her 10 years of service as a leader.

Club leaders were reminded to pick up the club banners that were used in the library display and members' records from record judging.

Dates for the Pennington County Fair were announced as July 12-16, 1995.

Tree pruning guide in 1995 calendar

The 1995 edition of the award-winning "Minnesota Gardening" calendar features an illustrated tree pruning guide, something which nearly every homeowner with trees on his or her property can use, according to Deb Zak, Pennington county extension director.

"Each year the calendar gets better," Zak said, adding that it is for sale at a cost of $5 from county extension offices.

"As in former years, for each month there is a beautiful, full-page, color photo; timely tips by extension horticulturists for yard, garden and houseplant care; and a list of helpful publications," Zak said.

"Among the calendar's other useful features are maps that depict USDA plant hardiness zones and average last frost dates in Minnesota; a directory of county extension offices; a page for gardening notes; and information about horticultural education programs, services, facilities and organizations."

Proceeds from sales of the calendar, which is produced by the University of Minnesota's extension service and agricultural experiment station, help finance local Master Gardener activities and the development of educational materials.

ON MY MIND

Kim Chadwick-Quade

Thanksgiving Thanks

This time of year it's common to reflect about that for which we are thankful. Either aloud or privately, I believe we all take some time to value what is good in our lives. I'm most thankful for my family – for without family, I feel alone.

I appreciate my parents who helped us through some tough times, including a recent move. Who else but my father could squeeze a whole household into a 10 x 10 storage unit? I acknowledge my mother whose phone bills must be astonishing. She seems to call just when I'm feeling lonely. She's more than my mom; she's my friend.

I'm grateful for my husband and son who keep life interesting and meaningful. I'm thankful for my sisters. For Kelly who watches our son when we ask, and for Kara who has a generous streak and a soft spot for her nephews. My aunt deserves some thanks because she made Zachary's Halloween costume this year.

I'm thankful, also, for my fifth grade religious education class at St. Bernard's. They helped me write this column. The following students took some time to tell about their Thanksgiving traditions, memories and what they appreciate.

Ashley Hanson

I am thankful for my family because they love me. I am also thankful for my friends that help me when I am in need of help and they're kind to others and help me. I am very thankful for God that he gave me life.

Andrea Hagen

My name is Andrea E. Hagen. I am thankful for my relatives; my parents, Steve and Sandy Hagen; and my sister, Sarah. My grandmothers are very nice. My grandma Hagen is special because she always has a hug to give me. And my Grandma Ginter has the best chicken and pie; she gave me a rosary. She taught me prayers and she always is cozy. I am also thankful for my dog. His name is Bug. He is a terrier like Toto in the "Wizard of Oz." My church is special. Lots of things are nice, like food, clothing, shelter, education, teachers.

Jessica Stoltman

I am thankful for a lot of things. One is that I have a home to live in. I have clothes to wear. I am in school and getting an education. I am mostly thankful that I have a family. A family to turn to. A family to talk to when I am sad or in a bad mood. I have some things that I'm not thankful for that I should be. Sometimes I'm in a bad mood and I hate everything I do, but I don't. I really like it. I just don't show it.

Nicole Ryan

My name is Nicole Ryan. I live in Thief River Falls and I am 10 years old. I am thankful for my family. I have four other people in my family besides me. I have a brother named Anthony, a sister named Lisa, my mom's name is Janice and my dad's name is Don.

Almost every year at Thanksgiving my sister comes up and we all eat turkey. But of course, my dad and brother Anthony have to watch football while my mom, my sister and I fix dinner.

Before we eat we always say a prayer. After we're done everybody is usually too stuffed to move so we just sit around and talk. And after we all have got our stomachs settled we have pumpkin pie. And that's what it's like at Thanksgiving time at my house.

Devon Passa

I am thankful for my family because they encourage me. They help me when I need it. They're always there for me. They trust me. They care about me, and most of all they love me.

ASC elections are postponed to fall

Scheduled to have been held in December, election for positions on the Fennington County Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation (ASC) committee has been rescheduled for next fall to accommodate changes in reorganization of the U.S. Department of Agriculture.

According to Orian Stolaas of Deer Park township, chairman of the Fennington committee, the change in election schedule is nationwide and authorized under regulations issued by USDA. Current members of the committee will continue in their posts until the new election.

The law which reorganized USDA created a new agency called the Farm Service Agency, which encompasses all of the commodity support and basic conservation programs for the former ASCS, all of the risk management programs of the Federal Crop Insurance Corporation and the farm lending activities of the Farmers Home Administration.

Stolaas said the new committee system, when fully implemented, will exercise increased responsibilities in its [illegible] role.

"Rescheduling these elections on a nationwide basis avoids confusion which could occur from hastily drawn rules and regulations," Stolaas said, "and will create efficiencies by using funds which would have been spent on this year's election process to be used in training committees in performing their added duties."

Other members of the committee are Keith Christensen of Silverton township and Lenord Swanson of Sanders township.

Jared is the son of Bruce and Evelyn Erickson of Thief River Falls and a 1989 graduate of Lincoln high school.

SAVE NORTHROP SCHOOL FOR OUR COMMUNITY

Would you like to see a Community Center located at the Northrop School property?

Architects have determined that the building is structurally sound with minor correctable deficiencies. Northrop School has a large gymnasium with a stage. It has kitchen facilities and many various-sized rooms which can be used for activities for all ages.

There is a possibility that a swimming pool could be added, using some of the existing heating plants and public utilities. This proposed preliminary plan represents some of the possible uses for the existing facility.

The School Board will be making a final decision for the disposal of this building on December 12, 1994. We need your help to preserve Northrop! Please let your elected officials – City, County, and School Board Members know your feelings.

Holiday Craft Fair is scheduled for November 19. State fair premium money needs to be picked up by December 31 or funds will be deposited in the 4-H treasury.

Red Lake Electric Cooperative awarded a grant of $400 to the Shooting Sports program and rental of the grill was discussed with the decision made to leave the no charge policy in effect. If or when the grill needs to be replaced the ruling may change.

The Hot Dog Award was presented to Beattie Mickelson for her 10 years of service as a leader.

Club leaders were reminded to pick up the club banners that were used in the library display and members' records from record judging.

Dates for the Pennington County Fair were announced as July 12-16, 1995.

Tree pruning guide in 1995 calendar

The 1995 edition of the award-winning "Minnesota Gardening" calendar features an illustrated tree pruning guide, something which nearly every homeowner with trees on his or her property can use, according to Deb Zak, Pennington county extension director.

"Each year the calendar gets better," Zak said, adding that it is for sale at a cost of $5 from county extension offices.

"As in former years, for each month there is a beautiful, full-page, color photo; timely tips by extension horticulturists for yard, garden and houseplant care; and a list of helpful publications," Zak said.

"Among the calendar's other useful features are maps that depict USDA plant hardiness zones and average last frost dates in Minnesota; a directory of county extension offices; a page for gardening notes; and information about horticultural education programs, services, facilities and organizations."

Proceeds from sales of the calendar, which is produced by the University of Minnesota's extension service and agricultural experiment station, help finance local Master Gardener activities and the development of educational materials.

SAVE NORTHROP SCHOOL FOR OUR COMMUNITY

Would you like to see a Community Center located at the Northrop School property?

Architects have determined that the building is structurally sound with minor correctable deficiencies. Northrop School has a large gymnasium with a stage. It has kitchen facilities and many various-sized rooms which can be used for activities for all ages.

There is a possibility that a swimming pool could be added, using some of the existing heating plants and public utilities. This proposed preliminary plan represents some of the possible uses for the existing facility.

The School Board will be making a final decision for the disposal of this building on December 12, 1994. We need your help to preserve Northrop! Please let your elected officials – City, County, and School Board Members know your feelings.

Prowlers make debut under new coach Pat Cullen...

TRF hosts hockey jamboree

A new head coach will be standing in the box Saturday when Pat Cullen puts Thief River Falls on the ice against East Grand Forks in the final session of the annual preseason Section 8A high school hockey jamboree at the Huck Olson Memorial Civic Center.

Cullen was named the Prowlers' hockey coach last summer, succeeding Glenn Chiodo, who stepped down at the end of the 1993-94 season. It will be the first head coaching experience for Cullen, an International Falls native and NCAA Division II All-America hockey player at Bemidji State University, who served as an assistant coach for the Rochester Mustangs Junior A team last winter. He is a physical education instructor at Challenger Elementary School.

Recently-completed work at the Huck Olson Memorial Civic Center included installation of new boards and glass; moving the penalty boxes and scoring bench to the opposite side of the rink; and adjustments to the player benches so both doors open into the neutral ice area.

A revised jamboree schedule was switched from five scrimmages to four two-period match-ups when Red Lake Falls and Kittson Central extended their 1994 high school football seasons into Prep Bowl playoff finals Friday at the Metrodome.

Jamboree schedule will feature Indus vs. Bagley at 4:50 p.m.; Crookston vs. Lake of the Woods at 6; Warroad vs. Roseau at 7:10; and Thief River Falls vs. East Grand Forks at 8:20.

Cullen has 11 lettermen on hand from last year's 9-15 team that lost a 5-1 Section 8A semifinal decision to eventual Class A state champion Warroad. The group includes senior forwards Tim Barry and Jared Lee; senior defenseman Brian Hown; junior forwards Aaron Ehrenstrom, Jason Breiland, Nick Chiodo, Keith Anderson, Chad Hanson, and Steve Rambeck; along with junior defensemen Andy Furuseth and Paul Gonsorowski.

Other forwards on the roster include juniors Kyle Cedergren, Jeremy Swanson and Adam Fulton; sophomores Chris Bruggeman, Nathan Ptacek, Bryan Cleven, Adam Swanson, Greg Wik, Chad Nordhagen, Nathan LaRoque, and Curt Edwards; plus freshmen Tony Fletcher and Trevor Lee.

Goalies vying for playing time include juniors Chance Keefe and Brad Inglis, sophomore Brian Barry, and freshman Seth Martell.

Joining Cullen on the coaching staff are Bill Stock and Scott Bergland, along with Todd Jones, who will be working with the goalies at both the high school level and in the Thief River Falls Amateur Hockey Association.

The Prowlers open their 1994-95 regular season schedule Thursday, Dec. 1, at Bemidji, and will play Saturday, Dec. 3, at Grand Forks Central before taking on Warroad in a Tuesday, Dec. 6, home opener.

NCC will have deep bench

■ Pioneers open basketball season Tuesday

Balance and a deep bench will be the Pioneers' biggest assets when the Northland Community College men's basketball team opens its 1994-95 season Tuesday, Nov. 29, with a 7:30 p.m. game against UND-Lake Region in Devils Lake, ND.

"We're 14 deep, and every one of them is a good basketball player," pointed out Northland coach Mark Dannhoff. "They can all step on the floor and play."

The five starting spots will likely come from a group of eight returning sophomores, but the half-dozen freshmen on hand are more than holding their own in practice. "The sophomores have stepped it up, and the freshmen are pushing hard for positions," explained Dannhoff.

"We've got all of last year's freshman back from a team that tied for second in the division, and they're all better than they were a year ago," said Dannhoff. "And the freshmen are better than we thought they might be."

The sophomores include guards Demond Watson, Chad Kujava and Ryan Rislov; forwards Tim Olson, Rob Burley, Ivan Hirst, and Gary Carey; along with center Anthony Kallod.

Freshmen joining that crew are guards Jake Rantanen, Matt Gustafson and James McNeil; forwards Jeremy Anderson and Mike Whitlock; plus center John Brown.

"This team has a little different personality than last year's team," noted Dannhoff. "I think the chemistry is better. I think we'll be solid both inside and outside, and our defense is better. We have some people who can go out and play some defense, and they understand they have to play defense to be successful at this level."

Dannhoff is beginning his third year as Northland coach, but his late-summer appointment didn't give him much of a shot at recruiting that first time out. He's excited about putting together his first full back-to-back recruiting seasons and is anxious to see the results.

There is size (Kallod and Brown are both 6-8) and there is a Minnesota Community College Conference All-Northern Division player in the backcourt in Watson. There is also experience, and there is depth. Now Dannhoff has to instill confidence in the program that has been shaken by back-to-back losing seasons following a state championship campaign under Chet Engelman.

"We have to learn how to win, especially how to win the close games," acknowledged Dannhoff.

A tough non-conference schedule won't make it easy to collect wins, but Dannhoff said he is willing to take a few losses if playing strong competition will help prepare the Pioneers for the 1994-95 MCCC schedule that begins in January. The Northern Division run will include home-and-home series against Mesabi, Vermilion, Hibbing, Rainy River, Brainerd, and Fergus Falls.

Northland's home opener will be Thursday, Dec. 1, vs. the Concordia College junior varsity.

Northland Community College football...

Pioneers' success continues

Surprising no longer precedes success when describing the fortunes of the Northland Community College football team.

Under head coach Gene Klinke, the Pioneers have firmly established themselves as a legitimate contender in Minnesota Community College Conference football. A 5-4 finish this fall marked the school's third straight winning season and resulted in back-to-back MCCC state playoff appearances.

"It was a satisfying season," said Klinke. "Hopefully we've put Northland football on the map. I think we've earned some respect. It's not a fluke when we win. Between the college (Northland) and the high school (Lincoln), we've got people talking football in Thief River Falls."

Winning helps recruiting, but it also increases expectations to match or exceed whatever success has already been achieved, acknowledged Klinke. "I think it's harder to stay where we're at than it is to get there," he said. "We put additional pressure on ourselves."

The Pioneers opened the 1994 season with a 1-2 nonconference start before winning four of their final five games to gain a playoff berth with a second place finish in the Northern Division. It ended with a 43-8 loss to eventual state champion Normandale in the MCCC semifinals.

Klinke wasn't surprised by the success. "With all the talent we had, we expected to be a .500 team," he said. "We thought we would be able to slug it out for second place in the division. And we did. It took us a while to click, but we played some very good football down the stretch."

Difference between Northland and Normandale, or Northern Division champion Vermilion, was in the area of experience, pointed out Klinke. "We needed more sophomores, more experience," he explained. "Normandale and Vermilion had more sophomores than we did. We had some fantastic freshmen, and we had some quality sophomores, but we didn't have quantity."

That situation could be rectified in 1995. "We should be sitting in a dandy position next year," said Klinke. "If they make the commitment in the classroom, we'll have a ton of good people coming back."

And with the on-field success, the Pioneers are an easier sell to high school seniors looking for a place to continue their athletic careers.

Football banquet is scheduled Tuesday

Annual Lincoln High School football banquet for grades 10-12 will be held Tuesday, Nov. 29, at 6:30 p.m. in the school cafeteria.

TRF boys part of jamboree

Thief River Falls boys high school basketball team will be part of the 7-Star Conference Jay Sorenson Jamboree Saturday, Nov. 26, at Warren.

Scrimmage match-ups feature Goodridge vs. Tri-County at 5:30 p.m., Kittson Central vs. Crookston at 6:15, East Grand Forks vs. Argyle at 7, Marshall County Central vs. Climax/Fisher at 7:45, Thief River Falls vs. Badger/Greenbush-Middle River at 8:30, and Stephen vs. Warren-Alvarado-Oslo at 9:15.

Admission is $3 for adults and $2 for students.

Boys basketball and wrestling practices began statewide Monday.

Prowlers to rely on defense, rebounds

■ TRF girls basketball preview

New offense, new defense and new faces. It adds up to a rebuilding year for the 1994-95 Thief River Falls girls high school basketball team.

The Prowlers, who will open their regular season schedule Tuesday at home against Warren-Alvarado-Oslo, have four letter winners on hand, but none of them averaged more than 4.8 points per game last year.

"It will be interesting to see who will step up and be a consistent scorer for us this year," said Thief River Falls coach Sally Wiltse.

The Prowlers won just three of 22 games last winter, due largely to 29 percent shooting and 22.8 turnovers per game. Top scorers Lori DeLap (10.8 points per game), Toni Chiodo (8.7) and Lisa Ulrich (7.0) all graduated.

Improved shooting and ball handling would be reflected in the win column. "The ball has been going through the net in practice," noted Wiltse. "That's encouraging."

Letter winners on hand include seniors Kelly Skeim, Carrie Lawrence and Sarah Huschle, along with junior Lisa Swanson.

Rest of the roster features senior Jenny Wilde; juniors Cami Sorenson, Laura Williams and Lydia Balmer; sophomores Jocelyn Helgeland, Alicia Bakken and Kim Stenseth, Kelly Hanson, Natalie McFarland, Erica Owen, Kate Ihle, Kim Hook, Kim Morris, and Jennifer Vad; freshmen Holly Bjorgaard, Kelly Almquist, Sunny Carlson, Beth Goddard, Becky Hoven, Jamie Kalsnes, Amber Klinker, Stephanie Leach, Becky Mooney, Kim Nelson, Abby Northup, Kristen Odegaard, Beth Olson, Jami Philipp, Sara Rasmussen, Kristen Saustad, Leslie Swanson, Heather Torstveit, Jenna Tunkichi, and Lorie Zblewski; along with eighth grader Nicole Kopari.

While the offense remains a question mark, the Prowlers look fairly solid on defense and on the boards. They have enough speed to cover the floor with a full court press and enough height (Huschle is 6-1, Lawrence and Wilde are both 5-11) to battle for rebounds.

"I'm anxious to see how we'll do rebounding," said Wiltse. "We've got some size. We have the potential to be a good rebounding team. We've added some new wrinkles offensively and defensively. I think they'll work, but it might take a little time."

The Prowlers, who were at the Northern Galaxy Jamboree in Warren Tuesday, will host a set of scrimmages Saturday before facing the Ponies in the opener.

Saturday's schedule in the two Lincoln High School gyms, featuring Thief River Falls, Kittson Central, Roseau, Red Lake Falls, Cass Lake-Bena, and Badger/Greenbush-Middle River, calls for half-court offensive/defensive match-ups from 9:30 to 10:20 a.m. Full-court, 20-minute running-time scrimmages begin at 10:30 a.m. Admission will be $1.

Saturday Half-Court Scrimmages

Sports Briefs

Recognition for Sanden

Recent publication of the Minnesota Basketball News lists Thief River Falls junior Kyle Sanden on the 1994-95 preseason boys high school All-State Third Team.

Sanden averaged 18 points, 9.1 rebounds and 3.5 blocked shots per game as a 6-10 sophomore to catch the attention of the first-year publication that covers the sport on a statewide basis.

Minnesota Basketball News named three preseason all-state teams, along with a list of the state's top 100 players and top 20 teams in both Class AA and Class A in a November issue dealing with boys basketball. The publication made its debut with an October issue that previewed girls basketball. Pacesetter Basketball director Jeff McCarron began publishing Minnesota Basketball News after the Full-Court Press ceased publication in May.

Dan Fischer of Bagley joins Sanden on the Third Team list.

Krissi Super, a 5-11 junior from Badger/Greenbush-Middle River who has already accumulated 1,564 career points, earned similar preseason Third Team All-State honors in the October girls issue.

Minnesota Basketball News is published monthly from October to May.

Nieland earns honor

Thief River Falls' Lee Nieland was named Special Teams Player of the Week by University of North Dakota football coach Roger Thomas following the 18-6 UND win over Northeast Missouri State Saturday in the first round of the NCAA Division II playoffs.

Nieland is a sophomore long snapper for the UND team that will host rival North Dakota State University Saturday in the playoff quarterfinals at Memorial Stadium in Grand Forks.

Sports Boosters to have holiday break

Due to the Thanksgiving holiday, there will not be a Thief River Falls Sports Boosters Club meeting this week.

Next Thursday noon luncheon meeting for the group will be held December 1 at the Elks when Lincoln High School hockey coach Pat Cullen and Lincoln wrestling coach John Anderson will be the guest speakers.

Star of the North to have Winter Games at Iron Range sites

Registration materials for the 1995 Star of the North Winter Games are now available for individuals and teams that wish to participate in Minnesota's largest winter multi-sport festival.

For the third time in six years the Iron Range communities of Aurora, Biwabik, Chisholm, Eveleth, Gilbert, Hoyt Lakes, Hibbing, Nashwauk, and Virginia will host the Winter Games, scheduled to be held over two weekends, January 14-22.

The sixth annual Winter Games will feature 12 sports, including alpine skiing, badminton, bowling, cross country skiing, fencing, freestyle skiing, ice hockey, ice ringette, karate, snowboarding, table tennis, and adult volleyball.

To obtain registration materials, or for additional information on the activities, contact the Star of the North State Games office by calling 1-800-786-STAR, or 612-785-5678.

Radio Shack Store has football ballots

Fan ballots for National Football League Pro Bowl voting are available at Radio Shack in Thief River Falls.

Player, coaches and fan ballots each will count one-third in determining the final Pro Bowl squads.

Radio Shack is a corporate sponsor in the fan voting. Those completing the ballots are eligible for a drawing that will award a trip to Hawaii and tickets for the Feb. 5 Pro Bowl.

Outdoor News

Deer Car Crashes

Deer-motor vehicle crashes increase in the fall and early winter. At this time of the year, deer are on the move because of the dramatic changes in the landscape which affect their food sources and cover. In addition, fall is mating season and young deer are dispersed to new home ranges. All of these factors lead to an increased probability of deer-vehicle crashes.

What can you do to avoid death or serious injury in a deer-vehicle crash? The Minnesota Passenger Protection Program, a project of the Department of Public Safety and the Minnesota Institute of Public Health; and the Department of Natural Resources recommend the following:

1. Be especially alert in wooded areas or if you see deer crossing signs. Your probability of encountering a deer crossing the road is increased in these locations. Stay at or below the speed limit. Watch for deer as you drive. Scan the shoulders of the road ahead of you for the reflection of your headlights off the eyes of a deer. If you see a deer and the traffic is not heavy, honk the horn. If a deer crosses the road, there will be other deer in the area. Decrease your speed to allow for more reaction time.

2. Always wear your seat belt. You are more capable of controlling your vehicle in a deer-vehicle incident if you retain consciousness throughout the incident. Seat belts will protect you in side, rear and frontal collisions. Driving in rural Minnesota is dangerous: 72 percent of motor vehicle fatalities in Minnesota occur in rural areas. Buckling up will increase your odds for survival and will reduce or prevent injuries.

3. If a deer-vehicle collision is unavoidable, do your best to maintain your directional control while decreasing your speed. Do not swerve sharply into the opposite lane. You risk hitting another vehicle or losing control of your car or truck and could roll into the ditch. The best advice is to maintain control and to stay calm. After the collision, stop your vehicle and put on your hazard lights to alert other motorists. Do not move a live deer it can injure you. An injured deer may not be shot at the roadside by a civilian. Immediately contact law enforcement or the DNR to report the incident and to gain assistance in moving the carcass off the road. You must report damage to your vehicle to law enforcement if you plan to file a claim with your insurance company.

Deer Damage

Minnesota Department of Natural Resources encourages growers who have put up hay to protect stored hay from deer damage this winter.

"Each winter, the DNR receives calls about deer damage to baled hay," said Kent Solberg, DNR wildlife damage-extension specialist in Brainerd. "Typically these problems occur on scattered bales near wooded areas," Solberg said. "A few deer wintering in nearby woods have the potential to do substantial damage to heavy bales.

"We encourage growers to think about preventing deer damage as they make plans for storing hay this winter," Solberg added.

According to Bob Welsh, DNR wildlife damage extension specialist in New Ulm, "Preventing deer damage to hay bales becomes more difficult once the snow begins to accumulate. Consolidating bales near a farm yard or storing hay in a hay shed greatly improves a grower's ability to protect hay from deer damage."

Welsh said that there are several cost-effective methods available to growers to prevent deer damage to stored hay, if bales are consolidated in one place. However, he emphasized that the best results are usually seen when protection measures are taken before the damage begins.

The DNR can provide technical assistance on how to protect stored hay from deer damage. Contact the local DNR Area Wildlife Office for more details.

DNR Gift Certificates

A practical gift that is also unique? That describes the Minnesota Department of Natural Resources' gift certificate.

The DNR gift certificate provides a way for shoppers to give hunting and fishing licenses, cross country ski passes, state park vehicle permits, collectible wildlife stamps, and recreational vehicle registrations to those hard-to-buy-for outdoor people on their holiday shopping lists, according to Dawn Thell of the DNR License Bureau.

DNR gift certificates may be obtained and redeemed in person or by mail only at the DNR License Bureau, 500 Lafayette Road, St. Paul, MN 55155-4026. For mail application contact the DNR License Bureau by calling toll-free in Minnesota 1-800-766-6000.

Prowlers make debut under new coach Pat Cullen...

TRF hosts hockey jamboree

A new head coach will be standing in the box Saturday when Pat Cullen puts Thief River Falls on the ice against East Grand Forks in the final session of the annual preseason Section 8A high school hockey jamboree at the Huck Olson Memorial Civic Center.

Cullen was named the Prowlers' hockey coach last summer, succeeding Glenn Chiodo, who stepped down at the end of the 1993-94 season. It will be the first head coaching experience for Cullen, an International Falls native and NCAA Division II All-America hockey player at Bemidji State University, who served as an assistant coach for the Rochester Mustangs Junior A team last winter. He is a physical education instructor at Challenger Elementary School.

Recently-completed work at the Huck Olson Memorial Civic Center included installation of new boards and glass; moving the penalty boxes and scoring bench to the opposite side of the rink; and adjustments to the player benches so both doors open into the neutral ice area.

A revised jamboree schedule was switched from five scrimmages to four two-period match-ups when Red Lake Falls and Kittson Central extended their 1994 high school football seasons into Prep Bowl playoff finals Friday at the Metrodome.

Jamboree schedule will feature Indus vs. Bagley at 4:50 p.m.; Crookston vs. Lake of the Woods at 6; Warroad vs. Roseau at 7:10; and Thief River Falls vs. East Grand Forks at 8:20.

Cullen has 11 lettermen on hand from last year's 9-15 team that lost a 5-1 Section 8A semifinal decision to eventual Class A state champion Warroad. The group includes senior forwards Tim Barry and Jared Lee; senior defenseman Brian Howe; junior forwards Aaron Ehrenstrom, Jason Breiland, Nick Chiodo, Keith Anderson, Chad Hanson, and Steve Rambeck; along with junior defensemen Andy Furuseth and Paul Gonsorowski.

Other forwards on the roster include juniors Kyle Cedergren, Jeremy Swanson and Adam Pulton; sophomores Chris Bruggeman, Nathan Ptacek, Bryan Cleven, Adam Swanson, Greg Wik, Chad Nordhagen, Nathan LaRoque, and Curt Edwards; plus freshmen Tony Fletcher and Trevor Lee.

Goalies vying for playing time include juniors Chanc Keefe and Brad Inglis, sophomore Brian Barry, and freshman Seth Martell.

Joining Cullen on the coaching staff are Bill Stock and Scott Bergland, along with Todd Jones, who will be working with the goalies at both the high school level and in the Thief River Falls Amateur Hockey Association.

The Prowlers open their 1994-95 regular season schedule Thursday, Dec. 1, at Bemidji, and will play Saturday, Dec. 3, at Grand Forks Central before taking on Warroad in a Tuesday, Dec. 6, home opener.

NCC will have deep bench

■ Pioneers open basketball season Tuesday

Balance and a deep bench will be the Pioneers' biggest assets when the Northland Community College men's basketball team opens its 1994-95 season Tuesday, Nov. 29, with a 7:30 p.m. game against UND-Lake Region in Devils Lake, ND.

"We're 14 deep, and every one of them is a good basketball player," pointed out Northland coach Mark Dannhoff. "They can all step on the floor and play."

The five starting spots will likely come from a group of eight returning sophomores, but the half-dozen freshmen on hand are more than holding their own in practice. "The sophomores have stepped it up, and the freshmen are pushing hard for positions," explained Dannhoff.

"We've got all of last year's freshman back from a team that tied for second in the division, and they're all better than they were a year ago," said Dannhoff. "And the freshmen are better than we thought they might be."

The sophomores include guards Demond Watson, Chad Kujava and Ryan Rislov; forwards Tim Olson, Rob Burley, Ivan Hirst, and Gary Carey; along with center Anthony Kallod.

Freshmen joining that crew are guards Jake Rantanen, Matt Gustafson and James McNeil; forwards Jeremy Anderson and Mike Whitlock; plus center John Brown.

"This team has a little different personality than last year's team," noted Dannhoff. "I think the chemistry is better. I think we'll be solid both inside and outside, and our defense is better. We have some people who can go out and play some defense, and they understand they have to play defense to be successful at this level."

Dannhoff is beginning his third year as Northland coach, but his late-summer appointment didn't give him much of a shot at recruiting that first time out. He's excited about putting together his first full back-to-back recruiting seasons and is anxious to see the results.

There is size (Kallod and Brown are both 6-8) and there is a Minnesota Community College Conference All-Northern Division player in the backcourt in Watson. There is also experience, and there is depth. Now Dannhoff has to instill confidence in the program that has been shaken by back-to-back losing seasons following a state championship campaign under Chet Bagelman.

"We have to learn how to win, especially how to win the close games," acknowledged Dannhoff.

A tough non-conference schedule won't make it easy to collect wins, but Dannhoff said he is willing to take a few losses if playing strong competition will help prepare the Pioneers for the 1994-95 MCCC schedule that begins in January. The Northern Division run will include home-and-home series against Mesabi, Vermilion, Hibbing, Rainy River, Brainerd, and Fergus Falls.

Northland's home opener will be Thursday, Dec. 1, vs. the Concordia College junior varsity.

Northland Community College football...

Pioneers' success continues

Surprising no longer precedes success when describing the fortunes of the Northland Community College football team.

Under head coach Gene Klinke, the Pioneers have firmly established themselves as a legitimate contender in Minnesota Community College Conference football. A 5-4 finish this fall marked the school's third straight winning season and resulted in back-to-back MCCC state playoff appearances.

"It was a satisfying season," said Klinke. "Hopefully we've put Northland football on the map. I think we've earned some respect. It's not a fluke when we win. Between the college (Northland) and the high school (Lincoln), we've got people talking football in Thief River Falls."

Winning helps recruiting, but it also increases expectations to match or exceed whatever success has already been achieved, acknowledged Klinke. "I think it's harder to stay where we're at than it is to get there," he said. "We put additional pressure on ourselves."

The Pioneers opened the 1994 season with a 1-2 nonconference start before winning four of their final five games to gain a playoff berth with a second place finish in the Northern Division. It ended with a 43-8 loss to eventual state champion Normandale in the MCCC semifinals.

Klinke wasn't surprised by the success. "With all the talent we had, we expected to be a .500 team," he said. "We thought we would be able to slug it out for second place in the division. And we did. It took us a while to click, but we played some very good football down the stretch."

Difference between Northland and Normandale, or Northern Division champion Vermilion, was in the area of experience, pointed out Klinke. "We needed more sophomores, more experience," he explained. "Normandale and Vermilion had more sophomores than we did. We had some fantastic freshmen, and we had some quality sophomores, but we didn't have quantity."

That situation could be rectified in 1995. "We should be sitting in a dandy position next year," said Klinke. "If they make the commitment in the classroom, we'll have a ton of good people coming back."

And with the on-field success, the Pioneers are an easier sell to high school seniors looking for a place to continue their athletic careers.

Prowlers to rely on defense, rebounds

■ TRF girls basketball preview

New offense, new defense and new faces. It adds up to a rebuilding year for the 1994-95 Thief River Falls girls high school basketball team.

The Prowlers, who will open their regular season schedule Tuesday at home against Warren-Alvarado-Oslo, have four letter winners on hand, but none of them averaged more than 4.8 points per game last year.

"It will be interesting to see who will step up and be a consistent scorer for us this year," said Thief River Falls coach Sally Wiltse.

The Prowlers won just three of 22 games last winter, due largely to 29 percent shooting and 22.8 turnovers per game. Top scorers Lori DeLap (10.8 points per game), Toni Chiodo (8.7) and Lisa Ulrich (7.0) all graduated.

"Improved shooting and ball handling would be reflected in the win column. "The ball has been going through the net in practice," noted Wiltse. "That's encouraging."

Letter winners on hand include seniors Kelly Skolm, Carrie Lawrence and Sarah Huschle, along with junior Lisa Swanson.

Rest of the roster features senior Jenny Wilde; juniors Cami Sorenson, Laura Williams and Lydia Balmer; sophomores Jocelyn Helgeland, Alicia Bakken and Kim [illegible], Kelly Hanson, Natalie McFarland, Erica Owen, Kate Ihle, Kim Hook, Kim Morris, and Jennifer Vad; freshmen Holly Bjorgaard, Kelly Almquist, Sunny Carlson, Beth Goddard, Becky Hoven, Jamie Kalsnes, Amber [illegible], Stephanie Leach, Becky [illegible], Kim Nelson, Abby [illegible], Kristen Odegaard, Beth [illegible], Jami Philipp, Sara [illegible], Kristen Sandall, Leslie Swanson, Heather Torstveit, Jenna [illegible], and Lexie Zblewski; along with [illegible] grader Nicole Koperl.

While the offense remains a question mark, the Prowlers look fairly solid on defense and on the boards. They have enough speed to cover the floor with a full-court press and enough [illegible] (Huschle is 6-1, Lawrence and Wilde are both 5-11) to [illegible] rebounds.

"I'm anxious to see how we'll do rebounding," said Wiltse. "We've got some size. We have the potential to be a good rebounding team. We've added some new wrinkles offensively and defensively. I think they'll work, but it might take a little time."

The Prowlers, who were at the Northern Galaxy Jamboree in Warren Tuesday, will host a set of scrimmages Saturday before facing the Ponies in the opener.

Saturday's schedule in the two Lincoln High School gyms, featuring Thief River Falls, Kittson Central, Roseau, Red Lake Falls, Cass Lake-Bena, and Badger/Greenbush-Middle River, calls for half-court offensive/defensive match-ups from 9:30 to 10:20 a.m. Full-court, 20-minute running-time scrimmages begin at 10:30 a.m. Admission will be $1.

Sports Briefs

Recognition for Sanden

Recent publication of the Minnesota Basketball News lists Thief River Falls junior Kyle Sanden on the 1994-95 preseason boys high school All-State Third Team.

Sanden averaged 18 points, 9.1 rebounds and 3.5 blocked shots per game as a 6-10 sophomore to catch the attention of the first-year publication that covers the sport on a statewide basis.

Minnesota Basketball News named three preseason all-state teams, along with a list of the state's top 100 players and top 20 teams in both Class AA and Class A in a November issue dealing with boys basketball. The publication made its debut with an October issue that previewed girls basketball. Pacesetter Basketball director Jeff McCarron began publishing Minnesota Basketball News after the Full-Court Press ceased publication in May.

Dan Fischer of Bagley joins Sanden on the Third Team list.

Krissi Super, a 5-11 junior from Badger/Greenbush-Middle River who has already accumulated 1,564 career points, earned similar preseason Third Team All-State honors in the October girls issue.

Minnesota Basketball News is published monthly from October to May.

Nieland earns honor

Thief River Falls' Lee Nieland was named Special Teams Player of the Week by University of North Dakota football coach Roger Thomas following the 18-6 UND win over Northeast Missouri State Saturday in the first round of the NCAA Division II playoffs.

Nieland is a sophomore long snapper for the UND team that will host rival North Dakota State University Saturday in the playoff quarterfinals at Memorial Stadium in Grand Forks.

Next Thursday noon luncheon meeting for the group will be held December 1 at the Elks when Lincoln High School hockey coach Pat Cullen and Lincoln wrestling coach John Anderson will be the guest speakers.

Star of the North to have Winter Games at Iron Range sites

Registration materials for the 1995 Star of the North Winter Games are now available for individuals and teams that wish to participate in Minnesota's largest winter multi-sport festival.

For the third time in six years the Iron Range communities of Aurora, Biwabik, Chisholm, Eveleth, Gilbert, Hoyt Lakes, Hibbing, Nashwauk, and Virginia will host the Winter Games, scheduled to be held over two weekends, January 14-22.

The sixth annual Winter Games will feature 12 sports, including alpine skiing, badminton, bowling, cross country skiing, fencing, freestyle skiing, ice hockey, ice ringette, karate, snowboarding, table tennis, and adult volleyball.

To obtain registration materials, or for additional information on the activities, contact the Star of the North State Games office by calling 1-800-786-STAR, or 612-785-5678.

Radio Shack Store has football ballots

Fan ballots for National Football League Pro Bowl voting are available at Radio Shack in Thief River Falls.

Player, coaches and fan ballots each will count one-third in determining the final Pro Bowl squads.

Radio Shack is a corporate sponsor in the fan voting. Those completing the ballots are eligible for a drawing that will award a trip to Hawaii and tickets for the Feb. 5 Pro Bowl.

Outdoor News

Deer Car Crashes

Deer-motor vehicle crashes increase in the fall and early winter. At this time of the year, deer are on the move because of the dramatic changes in the landscape which affect their food sources and cover. In addition, fall is mating season and young deer are dispersed to new home ranges. All of these factors lead to an increased probability of deer-vehicle crashes.

What can you do to avoid death or serious injury in a deer-vehicle crash? The Minnesota Passenger Protection Program, a project of the Department of Public Safety and the Minnesota Institute of Public Health; and the Department of Natural Resources recommend the following:

1. Be especially alert in wooded areas or if you see deer crossing signs. Your probability of encountering a deer crossing the road is increased in these locations. Stay at or below the speed limit. Watch for deer as you drive. Scan the shoulders of the road ahead of you for the reflection of your headlights off the eyes of a deer. If you see a deer and the traffic is not heavy, honk the horn. If a deer crosses the road, there will be other deer in the area. Decrease your speed to allow for more reaction time.

2. Always wear your seat belt. You are more capable of controlling your vehicle in a deer-vehicle incident if you retain consciousness throughout the incident. Seat belts will protect you in side, rear and frontal collisions. Driving in rural Minnesota is dangerous: 72 percent of motor vehicle fatalities in Minnesota occur in rural areas. Buckling up will increase your odds for survival and will reduce or prevent injuries.

3. If a deer-vehicle collision is unavoidable, do your best to maintain your directional control while decreasing your speed. Do not swerve sharply into the opposite lane. You risk hitting another vehicle or losing control of your car or truck and could roll into the ditch. The best advice is to maintain control and to stay calm. After the collision, stop your vehicle and put on your hazard lights to alert other motorists. Do not move a live deer it can injure you. An injured deer may not be shot at the roadside by a civilian. Immediately contact law enforcement or the DNR to report the incident and to gain assistance in moving the carcass off the road. You must report damage to your vehicle to law enforcement if you plan to file a claim with your insurance company.

Deer Damage

Minnesota Department of Natural Resources encourages growers who have put up hay to protect stored hay from deer damage this winter.

"Each winter, the DNR receives calls about deer damage to baled hay," said Kent Solberg, DNR wildlife damage extension specialist in Brainerd. "Typically these problems occur on scattered bales near wooded areas," Solberg said. "A few deer wintering in nearby woods have the potential to do substantial damage to heavy bales.

"We encourage growers to think about preventing deer damage as they make plans for storing hay this winter," Solberg added.

According to Bob Welsh, DNR wildlife damage extension specialist in New Ulm, "Preventing deer damage to hay bales becomes more difficult once the snow begins to accumulate. Consolidating bales near a farm yard or storing hay in a hay shed greatly improves a grower's ability to protect hay from deer damage."

Welsh said that there are several cost-effective methods available to growers to prevent deer damage to stored hay, if bales are consolidated in one place. However, he emphasized that the best results are usually seen when protection measures are taken before the damage begins.

The DNR can provide technical assistance on how to protect stored hay from deer damage. Contact the local DNR Area Wildlife Office for more details.

DNR Gift Certificates

A practical gift that is also unique? That describes the Minnesota Department of Natural Resources' gift certificate.

The DNR gift certificate provides a way for shoppers to give hunting and fishing licenses, cross country ski passes, state park vehicle permits, collectible wildlife stamps, and recreational vehicle registrations to those hard-to-buy-for outdoor people on their holiday shopping lists, according to Dawn Thell of the DNR License Bureau.

DNR gift certificates may be obtained and redeemed in person or by mail only at the DNR License Bureau, 500 Lafayette Road, St. Paul, MN 55155-4026. For mail application contact the DNR License Bureau by calling toll-free in Minnesota 1-800-766-6000.

Accidents and thefts listed in local LEC news

Law enforcement officials in Pennington county responded to several incident reports involving accidents and thefts during the past week.

Thefts. On November 13 at 8:52 a.m. John Lee reported tools taken from a garage. The theft loss was estimated at about $750. Police learned that the tools and toolbox had been pawned. A 17-year-old male from Thief River Falls has been charged with felony theft of the tools. On November 14 at 2:40 p.m. Donald Ray of Thief River Falls located some items that belonged to him at a local pawn shop, including a saw, skates, compressor, and an air chisel. The items were valued at $100. The incident is under investigation.

On November 15 at 4:06 p.m. a local citizen reported a stolen check that came from Social Services. The amount of the check was $58.

In September the police department received a report of a theft at Tradehome Shoes. It was learned through investigation that it was an internal theft. Peter Haire, Thief River Falls, age 22, has been charged with theft. Restitution is being made.

On November 17 at 11:10 a.m. Gary Aulik, Edina, reported that he stopped at a gas station in Thief River Falls. Upon returning to his vehicle, he discovered that his shotgun, a 12-gauge Browning in a tan case, was taken. The theft loss was estimated at $1,500.

In October police found young people asleep in a car with stolen merchandise. During the ensuing investigation, police learned that two of the boys had taken a remote airplane and equipment. Police learned that another individual allowed the stolen items to be stored in a garage. Charges are being filed against Billy Yonke, 20, Thief River Falls, for possession of stolen property. A 15-year-old boy is being charged with theft over $500 and burglary. The theft loss was estimated at $1,000.

On November 18 at 5 p.m. Northland Community College reported a theft from a uniform room. Four jersey tops were taken. The theft loss was estimated at $200.

On November 21 at 3:47 p.m. Lona Trochmann, Thief River Falls, reported that they had a Nintendo Game Boy stolen from their car last summer. The Oame Boy was located among items found in the possession of two boys, who currently face other charges of theft.

Critic of merger heads college system

Greg Braxton-Brown, president of Arrowhead Community College and a frequent critic of planning for the 1995 all college merger, has been selected to head the statewide Minnesota Community College System for the next eight months.

James Haviland, president of Northland Community College in Thief River Falls, was among the six final candidates for the position.

He will succeed Geraldine Evans who served for two years and has accepted a post as executive director of the Illinois Community College Board.

Braxton-Brown came to the seven-campus Arrowhead Community College in 1993 from Spokane, WA. He told the state Community College Board he plans to create "a collegial team of faculty, students and presidents to agree on an agenda and to build a better merger."

He said his aim is to preserve the mission of community colleges and assure learner access to community colleges once the merger occurs. There are 21 community college campuses in Minnesota, serving about 56,000 students each quarter.

Al Sollom appointed delegate to White House Conference on Aging

Sen. Paul Wellstone of Minnesota recently appointed two Minnesotans as delegates to the White House Conference on Aging to be held May 1-5, 1995. Al Sollom of Thief River Falls was appointed a delegate and Anstice Jurkovich of Aurora an alternate delegate.

"The voices of seniors must be heard in a national discussion about health care reform and the future of Social Security, Medicare and services for seniors," Wellstone said. "I am confident that Al Sollom and Anstice Jurkovich will provide the leadership we need to break new ground in aging policy in the coming years."

The White House conference on Aging will focus national attention on the needs of our aging population and will help to set the agenda for aging policy for coming years. The first White House Conference on Aging, held over 30 years ago, was instrumental in the development of the Medicare program.

Al Sollom, a resident of Thief River Falls, currently is state-wide president of the Minnesota Senior Federation. Sollom received a bachelor of arts and a masters from Bemidji State University. He served in the U.S. Marine Corps during World War II and the Korean War, leaving the service as a Lt.Colonel. In his post service career he has been a social studies teacher, an area representative for the Minnesota Education Association and a community organizer in the northwest region for the Minnesota Senior Federation.

Anstice Jurkovich, a resident of Aurora, currently serves as the president of the Minnesota Senior Federation in the Iron Range region. A lifelong Iron Range resident, she attended Lawrence College and the University of Minnesota at Duluth. Jurkovich has worked as a legal assistant for a municipal attorney in Biwabik and an administrative assistant for Union Carbide, Jet Piercing office, in Aurora. In addition, she has volunteered at the Senior Insurance Advocacy program, Assisted Living, Board and Care and Preserve Social Security.

MN Office on Volunteer Services to visit TRF

Minnesota Office on Volunteer Services will hold a meeting in Thief River Falls on Wednesday, November 30, at Northland Community Colleges. Refreshments will be served from 6:15 to 7 p.m. and the meeting begins at 7 p.m.

The Minnesota Office on Volunteer Services will hear people's stories of individual and group citizen action and accomplishment. The information gathered will contribute to an assessment of the state of volunteerism in Minnesota and provide the foundation for leadership, advocacy and support to volunteers and community leaders in local communities. It is developing a State of Volunteerism Report that will: chronicle the role and impact of volunteerism in Minnesota communities; identify issues, trends, strengths and trouble spots; and document successful strategies for addressing community concerns through volunteer action.

The meeting in Thief River Falls is one of many that have been scheduled throughout Minnesota.

Meeting participants are encouraged to contact the Minnesota Office on Volunteer Services prior to the meeting they plan to attend. Walk-ins are welcome. For additional details, a brochure and location information contact the Minnesota Office on Volunteer Services at 612-296-4731 or 1-800-234-6687 or contact Cliff Larson in Thief River Falls at 681-1190.

BIBLE STUDY

Happiness is...

After you read through this Bible study, go back and look up the Scriptures and highlight them in your Bible.

Just as there is only one truth, there also is only one happiness. True happiness comes from a warm relationship with God. Abraham, Noah, Daniel and a host of other people have had this true happiness in the past.

What is true happiness? Happiness is:

•finding the true purpose for your existence (Eph. 2:10).

•knowing God's Will and then performing it daily in your life (Matt. 6:10; 7:21; Luke 8:21; 1 John 2:17; 1 Peter 2:15; 4:2, 6; Col. 1:10).

•having the attitude of a servant toward others at all times as Jesus Christ, our Savior and example, did (Rom. 15:2-3; 1 Cor. 10:24; Matt. 20:26-28; 23:11).

•having the knowledge of the truth—God's word—and being set free from all religious deception, with its satanic tentacles that grip the earth (John 8:32; Rev. 12:9).

•being set free from all pagan religious traditions of men that make the worship of Jesus Christ in vain (Mark 7:7).

•receiving answered prayer because you are constantly doing God's Will and are pleasing in His sight (1 John 3:22; John 9:31).

•hating what is evil and loving what is good (Psalm 45:7; 97:10).

•hating worldliness and the things that war against the Spirit, such as dirty movies and magazines, swearing, lying, stealing, lusting, drunkenness, etc., for these things are not pleasing to God.

•always being patient toward others.

•always forgiving others and not holding any bitterness toward them.

•always living to please God within your marriage and having happy and obedient children.

•always having peace and not letting those who have no peace take yours (Rom. 14:19; Psalm 34:14).

•always having faith in Christ Jesus that He will supply all your needs after you have done God's Will, and knowing that all will go right for the righteous (Is. 3:10).

•going to God and His word for the truth, instead of to books written by men, which are a great source of religious confusion.

•keeping life simple by keeping it pure.

•having the trusting attitude of a child toward the Lord at all times (Matt. 18:3).

•learning who Jesus Christ really is by studying God's word, instead of believing what man says He is.

•studying God's word for the answers to all of life's problems and questions (2 Tim. 2:15; 3:16-17).

•wearing out your Bible for God by reading it every day and highlighting the Scriptures (Acts 17:11).

In conclusion, true happiness is knowing God's Ways and putting them into action in your daily life. This is the only way to be a friend of God. Remember always, Jesus Christ is God and we must keep only His words in order to be truly happy and never see death (John 8:51).

WHEN THE DUST SETTLES, IT WON'T BE IN OUR SAW

In a constant shower of sawdust, we tested our Husky saw against a leading competitor's. Afterwards, theirs was packed with dust and losing power. Ours was clean with power at 100%. It's all because of our new Air Injection System. A system that keeps the intake air so clean, you can saw up to 20 times longer before cleaning the filter. And when you can do that... you can save time and money. You'll find this system in our 254 XP, 257 XP 262 XP, and the 394 XP... not to mention our consumer saws, the 36 and 41.

ASK FOR A DEMONSTRATION OF HUSKY'S AIR INJECTION AND SMART START SYSTEMS.

River Valley

Kathy Dulke
796-5454

Ethel Wiseth of Goodridge and Helen Chervestad and Robert Falten of Oklee spent a week sightseeing and visiting friends along the Mississippi River and parts of Wisconsin.

They were all overnight guests at Peggy and Larry Stevens home in Mahtomedi where they are both Attorneys at a Law Firm in St. Paul. They also visited with Stacy Myrum while there. On Friday Peggy Stevens, daughter of Evalyn Myrum, treated them to dinner at an ethnic restaurant in scenic Stillwater located along the Mississippi.

From there they drove to Coon Valley, WI to visit relatives. They spent the weekend at the home of Elmer and Nancy Ofte and family, who are tobacco farmers. Sunday they were invited for dinner at Elmer's sister and husband's families home.

On Monday night they were overnight guests of Patty and Greg Nelson at Hager Wisconsin. Patty is a pilot instructor and recently moved to their new home in Red Wing and flies her own plane. On Tuesday, she took all of them on a flight in her Sesna plane and they had a beautiful air view of the colorful autumn country side near Red wing and Hager City, WI.

After Red Wing they were overnight guests of Dawayne and Dorothy Hesse, who live in St. Louis Park. Dorothy is the daughter of the late Gunnie and Alice Gundarson. They then enjoyed a tour of the Hesse home, which had very unique antiques, crafts and is the oldest home in the area. They were treated to homemade goodies and a tasty supper and also a shopping spree at a nearby mall.

On their way home they stopped at Princeton and shopped at an old restored farm filled with antiques, arts and crafts. They stopped for lunch at the Mille Lacs Grand Casino near Mill Lacs Lake.

Audray Bergerson of Thief River Falls and Helen Chervestad of Oklee attended Elsie Gunderson granddaughters wedding and were weekend guests at her home in Hamm Lake. They also enjoyed sightseeing, Audray's old home and her parents, Birdie and Ole Gunderson's apartment and business place. They were employed there in the late 1970's.

Some of the visitors at the Helen Chervestad home recently were Wylma Radniecki, Mary Ann Lambert, Lyle and Muriel Mandt, Shirley and Fred Lundeen, Judy (Prigge) Kriel, Mable and Olvier Holstad, Ethel Wiseth, Pastor Faugstad and Connie Lundeen.

Helen Chervestad visited at the Julian and Donna Gunderson's, Ole Austad's, Ethel Wiseth's, Oliver Hofstad's, Evelyn Myrum's of Thief River Falls. Helen was also a visitor at the Jim and Kathy Dulke's on Sunday evening.

A Big Step For State's Environmental Learning Centers

GUEST EDITORIAL
by Elmer L. Anderson, Publisher
Anoka County Union

It all started several years ago at a late night session of a legislative conference committee ironing out differences in a state bonding bill.

Several residential environmental learning centers (RELCs) had come in for individual grants, and all seemed to be doing fine work reaching school-age children. Shouldn't there be a statewide coordinated program, someone asked. A planning study was assigned to the Department of Education. It did a thorough job and produced a report called GreenPrint.

GreenPrint caught the eye of Paul Olson, executive director of the Blandin Foundation in Grand Rapids. The Blandin Board authorized a challenge grant of $7.5 million to go toward a $25 million program contingent upon $7.5 million coming from the state and $10 million from individual, corporate and foundation grants. Gov. Arne Carlson embraced the program and included it in his 1994 bonding bill, which became law. It is now identified as Project EarthSense.

Now friends and supporters of the vision are beginning efforts to raise the necessary additional $10 million. The five present RELCs will divide the funds. The goal is to expand facilities at each location so instead of reaching about half the school children of the state each year, there will be room for all. Long range three additional centers may be needed to cover all the ecologically significant areas of the state.

The five RELCs in the program are: Audubon Center of the North Woods at Sandstone, Deep Portage Conservation Reserve at Hackensack, Forest Resource Center at Lanesboro, Long Lake Conservation Center at Palisade and Wolf Ridge Environmental Learning Center at Finland. All are supported by highly qualified boards and top professional staffs. A typical student stay is one week with emphasis on field experience.

Minnesota was already a national leader in the field, but this will put our state far in the lead. It reaches children with an in-depth learning experience that will enable them better to enjoy the world about them and equip them with knowledge, understanding and appreciation to deal with environmental problems of the future.

(Editor's Note: Elmer L. Anderson is a former Governor of Minnesota. Thief River Falls elementary school children have had an exposure to the environmental learning center through annual participation at the Deep Portage Conservation Reserve. Students and school officials alike consider it to be an exceptional learning experience.)

Most Americans Still Believe In America

Another view of the "half empty or half full" opinion has been presented by Philip C. Clarke in his Behind The Headlines column. He refers to a study by social scientist Dr. Frank Luntz called "The State of the American Dream." Luntz says that "just 22 per cent of Americans" believe they have already achieved their vision of the American Dream and nearly half (49%) are closing in on it. He adds that "an alarming one-quarter of the nation are either 'very far away' or believe they will never achieve their American Dream."

That sounds rather pessimistic, doesn't it? Use of terms as "just 22%" and "alarming" tend to be depressing. Clarke looks at the result from a more positive viewpoint.

"Consider what the same statistics sound like with a positive view of America," he writes. "More than 70 per cent of the public say they have achieved or are close to achieving the American dream. Another 20 per cent say it's achievable, but it's still far away. Only six per cent say they never expect to achieve the American Dream. Sounds a little different, doesn't it?"

Dr. Luntz interpreted responses regarding confidence in the country's institutions as being "only a little or no" confidence.

"Actually," Clarke comments, "only eight per cent said they have little or no confidence in the military. Only 25 per cent don't have confidence in religious institutions and, even with their problems, our public schools still enjoy the confidence of 60 per cent of Americans.

"Where citizens have a problem is with government and the news media. A full 60 per cent said they have little or no confidence in government, and for the media, that figure was 64 per cent. To Dr. Luntz, this 'distrust of government and the lack of faith in most other institutions not only is driving public pessimism and cynicism but is also undermining the American dream.'"

Clarke submits that the military enjoys public confidence because it stresses honor, discipline and love of country while religious institutions promote love of God and one another. Both tend to be conservative by nature and emphasize the importance of the individual.

Government and the news media, on the other hand, tend to undermine the individual by promoting collective or socialized values. Taxes must be paid and regulations must be followed for the good of society, but taxes and regulations can stifle the initiative of the individual. And the government spending programs, which the mainstream media tend to support, also stifle initiative and productivity, encouraging instead dependency on the government. And these institutions—at least until the last general election—have been in the liberal camp.

"Rather than revealing cynicism on the part of Americans," Clarke says, "these numbers show a healthy skepticism of liberal institutions and a belief in conservative ones. And as the label implies, conserving the values described by the country's Founding Fathers still is a workable and popular goal."

LETTERS

To The Editor:

We need a new farm bill.

The sellout of American agriculture must stop. We have the acres needed to produce all wheat and small grains needed in the country.

We need a program like sugar that will protect producers of wheat and other small grains at no cost to the taxpayers.

On the wheat program:

(1) The target price should be $6 per bushel;

(2) The loan support price set at $5.50 per bushel;

(3) We would recommend same program for barley, oats and flax;

(4) Target price for barley at $4 per bushel and $3.50 for price support loan;

(5) Oats target $3 per bushel, loan support of $2.50 per bushel;

(6) Loan price on flax of $8 per bushel;

(7) The tariff charged on all imported grains would be $1 above loan support price.

We would use history of producer acres at local ASCS offices to control supply.

Sincerely,
Jorgen Knutson, Plummer

Strandquist News

F. Myrtle Vagle

The Strandquist Senior Citizens met at the Center on Thursday, 11 busy members and one busy guest, Alyce Anderson of Karlstad now and two visiting guests, Wally Rud and Myrtle Vagle. They were finishing a couple of quilts and tying the ends of woven rugs. They collect various materials and send them to get woven into different lengths and when they get them back they tie the ends and sell the beautiful rugs. Ida Bruce was the hostess and served a delicious lunch. Elsie Kimbrough won the door prize. Next Thursday they are meeting at Irene's Cafe at 11:00 to have their Thanksgiving dinner together.

With snow on the ground this morning reminds us that they will soon be closing Center for their meetings. Santa Claus Day at Strandquist will be on December 3rd before the Center closes.

We got our first snowfall last night, about 1/2 inch in the backyard but with the sun coming up soon, it looks like it won't stay on even in the shade. I missed the skiff of snow that came down here in September but they say that went the way of all first snow, it melted before anyone got a picture of it.

Richard and Carol Thompson of Red Lake Falls and Robert Thompson were breakfast guests of Isaac and Betsy Thompson on Saturday.

Karl Kasprowicz visited at Frank and Judy Kleinvachter's Saturday afternoon. On Sunday Julius and Tony Kleinvachter, Bud and Marie Steffen of Argyle, Karl Kasprowicz and Claudia and Jessie visited them.

Supper guests at Elsie Lefrooth's on Tuesday were Rick and Karen Zimmerman and Lee, Sara, and Jimmie.

Mature driving course planned at Goodridge

Planning is underway for a 55 Alive mature driving class to be conducted for drivers 50 years of age and older by the Goodridge community education department in the Goodridge senior center.

Those interested in the course should call the Goodridge school at 378-4133. Dates and time will be established after demand for the class has been determined. The course will consist of two four-hour sessions on different days and cost will be $8.

The 55 Alive program can sharpen driving skills, prevent accidents and keep older drivers on the road longer and more safely.

It can even save them money, since Minnesota law requires all auto insurance carriers to offer a discount on premiums to graduates 55 and over of courses such as 55 Alive.

Tim Nelson recently opened The Pawn Shop next to Twice But Nice on Highway 59 South in Thief River Falls. Tim will accept just about anything that has value. He does take items on consignment. As a result, The Pawn Shop, carries a little bit of everything, including musical instruments, fishing and hunting equipment, radios, skates and household items. The store is open from 9 a.m. to 5:30 p.m. Monday though Friday, from 9 a.m. to 9 p.m. on Thursdays, and from 9 a.m. to noon on Saturdays. Thief River Falls Chamber of Commerce Ambassadors recently presented Tim with a First Dollar award. Pictured from left are Norm Wassink, chamber ambassador, Tim Nelson, and Karen Kirkeby, chamber ambassador.

Petro Pumper, owned by Pat and Nancy Gerszewski, recently opened on the west side of Thief River Falls at the intersection of Highway 1 and 59. The Petro Pumper is a gas station and convenience store. It also has video rentals, and a deli with tables to relax and finish meals from the deli. The Petro Pumper is also home to Altra Power Battery and carries an extended line of auto parts. It has eight gas pumps and four diesel pumps, ethanol blend gas and regular and unleaded gas. It is open from 5 a.m. to midnight seven days a week and employs about 13 people. Because it also caters to semi truck drivers, it also has a public shower and parking for semis. Thief River Falls Chamber of Commerce Ambassadors recently paid a visit to the Petro Pumper to present the owners with a First Dollar award. Pictured from left are: Norm Wassink, chamber ambassador, Pauletta Holthusen, manager, Pat and Nancy Gerszewski, and Karen Kirkeby, chamber ambassador.

Senior Citizens Meet

The November meeting of the Senior Citizens Club met on Wednesday with the noon meal served by members M-Z. Birthdays announced for the month were Laura Smith, Jean Matt, Molly Ydstie, Ernie Pederson and Eddy Eskeli. During the meal dinner music was from a Smoky Mountain Video. The business meeting was called to order by Vice President, Edna Hyde and the flag pledge was given. Following the regular reports, which included the sale of craft items for $119, Rick Lorenson of PHS spoke on behalf of the newly opened Recreation Center in Plummer. It is expected that the Center will be self-supported eventually, and a grant is expected. He fully explained the operation of the Center and hopes that Senior Citizens will be among the volunteers. An appreciation dinner is to be served on Thursday the 17th for all those who have helped in any way. For new business the Christmas potluck was discussed and members are to bring items for the Food Shelf, also a friend or two. Names M-Z will be in charge of setting up the meal and A-L will do the cleanup. A Senior Site manager is needed for the meals program as Clara Hesse, present manager, will be spending some time in New Mexico with her daughter, Janice Glascock. Feel free to volunteer for this, too. During the afternoon readings were given by Frances Schiefert, Inga Linder, Bunny DuChamp and Ruth Wilkens. Door prizes went to Dorothy Myhre and Nadine Johnson. Blood pressures had been taken earlier.

Teacher Tea

The American Legion Auxiliary sponsored their annual "Teacher's Tea" on Wednesday afternoon with a good crowd attending. Rick Lorenson presided and presented of the faculty members. A number of prizes were awarded to the teachers.

Trail News

Clara Peterson's name was drawn. She was not present so next month drawing will be $3.00.

Two silver trays were given at our Veterans Day supper. One to Lorena Brekke for all her work and time given in serving and cope projects. One to Helga Lambert who is hospital chairperson now and has also sewn and made many things for the veterans. Hostesses were Parry Lolland and Carolyn Person.

Public Notices

CARD OF THANKS

The family of Inga Melo would like to thank all who sent cards, memorials, flowers and words of sympathy at the time of her hospitalization and death. Thanks to the doctors and nurses at the Karlstad and United hospitals and also to the pallbearers. Special thanks to pastors Merton Roley, and Clifford Kalmoe for their words of comfort. To organist and vocalist Inez Gjovik, and also the Bethlehem Church Ladies Aid for the nice lunch, and to everyone else that helped in so many ways.

May God Bless You All,
The Family Of Inga Melo.

LONG'S BRIDGE

A special meeting of the Pennington County Commission has been scheduled for 2:00 P.M., November 28, 1994, in the commissioners Room of the Pennington County Courthouse. Purpose of the meeting is to discuss alternate routes for replacement of Long's Bridge located to the Northeast of Thief River Falls. The bridge is scheduled to be replaced during the 1995 construction season. Parties interested are encouraged to attend.

CARD OF THANKS

We would like to express our thanks to all the friends of our uncle, Sidney Engstrom, for the cards and memorials, to Pastor Irvin Schmitke, Grace Hemmer for her songs and a special thank you to his neighbors the Dewey Green and Tom Fillmore families for all that they did for him. Thank you also to the Ringbo Ladies Aid for the lovely lunch they served after the funeral and to Green Funeral Home for their service.

It was all very much appreciated.
Elmer Engstrom,
David Engstrom,
Sonia Engstrom.

D.A.D.

With the end of November in sight; many who bow their heads in thanks, do so with heavy heart.

For Thanksgiving weekend marks the tragic loss of a special man.

To many he was a classmate, friend, companion and an inspiring youth hockey coach.

To the guys he was the instigator and creator of the best of times.

To his family he was a constant provider, model son, big brother, loving father and devoted husband.

In his absence, the warmth of his presence may fade, but his memory will never be forgotten.

Dean Allan Doldin.
Signed,
One From "81".

Pennington Co. board meeting

(October 25, 1994)

■ Representatives of the fair board requested an appropriation for 1995.

■ The board settled a tax disagreement with Arctco.

■ The board discussed alternatives to bringing the county courthouse into ADA compliance.

■ The county board went on record of supporting the continuation of the Conservation Reserve Program.

November 23, 1994
OFFICIAL PROCEEDINGS
BOARD OF COMMISSIONERS
PENNINGTON COUNTY
October 25, 1994 5:00 p.m.

Pursuant to adjournment the Pennington County Board of Commissioners met in the Commissioners' Room in the courthouse in Thief River Falls, on Tuesday, October 25th, 1994 at 5:00 p.m. Members present: Swanson, Naplin, Jensen, Comstock at 5:20 and Murphy at 6:10.

In the absence of Chairman Murphy, Vice-chairman Naplin called the meeting to order.

Leon Heath, Administrator of the Northwest Regional Development Commission, reviewed an application to the Minnesota Board of Government Innovation and Cooperation for Seven County Environmental Planning Grant. Funds being requested for Environmental Planning totaled $46,400. After further discussion Commissioner Swanson moved, seconded by Commissioner Jensen to approve the Application for a Seven County Environmental Planning Grant and to authorize the Chairman to sign the application in behalf of Pennington County. Motion unanimously carried.

Commissioner Jensen moved, seconded by Commissioner Comstock to set the next County Board meeting for Thursday, November 10th, 1994 at 10:00 a.m. Motion carried.

Commissioner Comstock moved, seconded by Commissioner Swanson to approve the minutes of October 11th, 1994, as written. Motion carried.

Moved by Commissioner Jensen, seconded by Commissioner Swanson to authorize the payment of $2,655.62 to Pennington County Soil & Water Conservation District from the Shoreland Grant funds. Motion unanimously carried.

Commissioner Swanson moved, seconded by Commissioner Comstock to approve the Application from Cancellation of Forfeiture to the Department of Revenue on the property described as Lot 12, Block 14, Oakland Addition to the City of Thief River Falls. Motion unanimously carried.

Ray Safranski and Floyd Erickson representing the Pennington County Fair Board met with the County Board to request an appropriation of $13,000 for 1995. The financial condition of the Fair Association was reviewed. No action was taken on this request and it was referred to the 1995 budget.

The County Board then discussed with the County Attorney the letter received from the Attorney General's Office stating that the county must return the Wetland Grant Funds due to the fact that the county has not adopted by resolution the Permanent Wetland Rules. The County Board requested that the County Attorney write a letter to the Minnesota Attorney General's Office asking for an opinion regarding transferring a portion of the Wetland Grant funds to the City of Thief River Falls as they have approved the Wetland Rules.

Rick Nordhagen gave a progress report on the new processing facility and the Solid Waste Permit.

At this time Chairman Murphy assumed the chair.

County Attorney Dave Olin then reviewed the proposed settlement with Arctco on the value of the Arctco property.

County Assessor Adeline Olson was also in attendance. Commissioner Comstock moved, seconded by Commissioner Naplin to have the County Attorney complete the settlement and to sign the agreement in behalf of Pennington County and to have the Assessor and Arctco agree on a square footage of the building. Upon call for roll call vote the following votes were cast: Jensen-Aye, Comstock-Aye, Naplin-Aye, Murphy-Aye, Swanson-Nay. Motion carried.

Commissioner Swanson stated that we got the best deal possibly to settle this tax appeal but he wasn't pleased that this had to come to this point. The County Board thanked the County Assessor and the County Attorney for the way they handled this matter. County Sheriff, Gerald Moe made a request that the County Board authorize the employment of Robert Cardinal as the part-time Sentence to Serve Crew Leader. Commissioner Naplin moved, seconded by Commissioner Comstock to approve the employment of Robert Cardinal as the assistant Sentence to Serve Crew Leader on a 30 hour per week basis. Motion unanimously carried.

Commissioner Swanson moved, seconded by Commissioner Comstock to authorize the County Sheriff to advertise for a part-time dispatcher. Motion unanimously carried.

County Engineer, Delton Schulz along with Bill Cowman and Joe Davies of Foss & Associates met with the County Board to discuss the alternative Foss Associates had developed which would address construction requirements needed to remodel the Pennington County Courthouse to bring it into compliance with the American Disabilities Act. Three alternatives with associated costs and sketches were reviewed. The Commissioner stated they needed to discuss the alternatives before a decision could be made.

The following resolution was made by Commissioner Naplin, seconded by Commissioner Comstock and upon vote was unanimously carried.

WHEREAS, Contract No. 94008 has in all things been completed, and the County Board being fully advised in the premises,

NOW THEN BE IT RESOLVED; That we do hereby accept said completed project for and in behalf of the County of Pennington and authorize final payment as specified herein.

Commissioner Comstock moved, seconded by Commissioner Naplin to authorize the County Auditor to pay the final payment to Stary Construction Co., Inc. on Contract #94008 by Auditor's warrant. Motion carried.

The following resolution was introduced by Commissioner Comstock, seconded by Commissioner Jensen and upon vote was unanimously carried.

WHEREAS; Contract #94009 has in all things been completed, and the County Board being fully advised in the premises,

NOW THEN BE IT RESOLVED; That we do hereby accept said completed project for and in behalf of the County of Pennington and authorize final payment as specified herein.

WHEREAS; Contract #CP 57-93-20 has in all things been completed and the County Board being fully advised in the premises,

NOW THEN BE IT RESOLVED; That we do hereby accept said completed project for and in behalf of the County of Pennington and authorize final payment as specified herein.

The County Engineer then reviewed the accounts receivable and made a request to write off four old accounts receivables. Commissioner Comstock moved, seconded by Commissioner Naplin to write off the following three bad debts and that no further work be done for these individuals.

|---|---|
| Steve Panek | $20.00 |
| Neil Peterson | $32.50 |
| Rita Vaughn | $20.00 |

Motion carried.

Discussion was held on the meeting Commissioner Swanson, Commissioner Naplin and the County Engineer had attended regarding the cleaning of the ditch along County Road #58 from C.S.A.H. #17 westerly to the Red Lake River. Ten of the landowners along this ditch were also in attendance and one of the landowners presented a listing of signatures of landowners who favored having the ditch cleaned which included 18 names. The County Engineer informed those in attendance that if everyone agreed to the cleaning it would cost them in the area of $25.00 to $40.00 per landowner. This would need to be an agreement of the group as this is not a legal ditch and does not have a legal benefitted area. Commissioner Swanson moved, seconded by Commissioner Naplin to proceed with having County Road #58 ditch cleaned from C.S.A.H. #17 west to the Red Lake River with costs to be absorbed by the landowners. Motion unanimously carried.

Chuck Tuthill representing the Thief River Falls Golf Club met with the County Board to request Class V aggregate and the service of a Motor Grader and operator for improvements to the entry roadway to the Golf Course and parking lot. Commissioner Jensen moved, seconded by Commissioner Comstock to direct the County Engineer to provide Class V aggregate along with a Motor Grader and operator to make improvements to the entry road and parking lot at the Golf Course. Motion unanimously carried.

The County Engineer informed the County Board that EVCO Petroleum Products, Inc. had requested an adjustment to their bid price for oil products because of price increases. Commissioner Jensen moved, seconded by Commissioner Naplin that EVCO Petroleum Products, Inc. be advised that they will be expected to deliver the petroleum products requested at the original bid price. Motion unanimously carried.

The County Board then reviewed the situation with Lyle Jennings regarding installing a Bridge across County Ditch #68 in the NE1/4 Section 35 Sanders Township. No formal action was taken.

The County Engineer then informed the County Board that a sample toy of work had been received from Excel for a Township plat which was not found to be acceptable. The County Highway Department will do the mapping in house.

The following resolution was moved by Commissioner Jensen, seconded by Commissioner Naplin and upon vote was unanimously carried.

WHEREAS, the success of agriculture is integrally linked to the future of Pennington County, and;

WHEREAS, the Board of Commissioners of Pennington County believes that the continuation of the Conservation Reserve Program, CRP, of the United States Dept. of Agriculture has been of clear and substantial benefit to the farming community of Pennington County;

NOW THEREFOR, the Board of Commissioners of Pennington County do, hereby, ask that the congress and President of the United States of America continue this Conservation Reserve Program through its inclusion in the next federal, "Farm Bill", at no less a level of funding assistance that it currently receives, and

HOW, THEREFORE, this resolution shall be sent to the Association of Minnesota Counties, the two senators and the congressman who represent Pennington County.

Commissioner Naplin moved, seconded by Commissioner Comstock to approve the transfer of $57,864.35 from Ditch Maintenance to Road & Bridge for work done by the Highway Department. Motion unanimously carried.

Moved by Commissioner Naplin, seconded by Commissioner Comstock to approve paying the filing and recording fees for Roseanne Nelson to become a Notary Public in the Motor Vehicle License Office. Motion unanimously carried.

Moved by Commissioner Naplin, seconded by Commissioner Comstock to adjourn to 10:00 a.m., November 10th, 1994. Motion unanimously carried.

ATTEST:
Kenneth Olson, Auditor
Pennington County
Kenneth D. Murphy, Chairman
Board of Commissioners.

NOTICE OF MORTGAGE
FORECLOSURE SALE

NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN, That default has occurred in the conditions of that certain mortgage date the 9th day of December, 1985, executed by Charles H. Erickson and Bonita O. Erickson, husband and wife, as mortgagors to First National Bank of Detroit Lakes as mortgagee, filed for record in the office of the County Recorder in and for the County of Pennington, and State of Minnesota on the 27th day of December 1985, at 9:00 o'clock A.M., and recorded in Book 196 of Records, Page 33; and that thereafter the said mortgagee duly partially assigned the same to Linda P. Nelson at Red Lake Falls, Minnesota on the 28th day of April 1994; and that said assignment was duly filed for record in the office of the County Recorder in and for the County of Pennington and State of Minnesota on the 16th day of May, 1994, and recorded in Book 248 of Records, Page 498 as Instrument No. 142864.

That no action or proceeding has been instituted at law to recover the debt secured by said mortgage; or any part thereof and that the assignee has elected to declare the entire sum secured by the note and mortgage to be immediately due and payable as provided in the note and mortgage.

That the original principal amount secured by said mortgage was Two Hundred Fifty-seven Thousand Dollars ($257,000.00).

That there is due and claimed to be due upon that part of said mortgage assigned to Linda P. Nelson, including interest to date hereof, the sum of the One Hundred Twenty-five Thousand Dollars ($125,000.00) and the amount of tax paid by the mortgagee or his assignee on the lands hereinafter described in the sum of N/A Dollars.

That prior to the commencement of this mortgage foreclosure proceeding, Mortgagee complied with all notice requirements as required by statute.

And, that pursuant to the power of sale therein contained, said mortgage will be foreclosed and the tracts of land lying and being in the County of Pennington, State of Minnesota, described as follows, to-wit:

West Half of the Southwest Quarter (W1/2SW1/4), Section Seventeen (17); the East Half of the East Half of the Southeast Quarter of the Southeast Quarter (E1/2E1/2SE1/4SE1/4), Section Eighteen (18); The East Half of the Northeast Quarter of the Northeast Quarter (E1/2NE1/4NE1/4) and the East Half of the Southeast Quarter of the Northeast Quarter (E1/2SE1/4NE1/4) and the East Half of the West Half of the Southeast Quarter of the Northeast Quarter (E1/2W1/2SE1/4NE1/4) and the Northeast Quarter of the Southeast Quarter (NE1/4SE1/4) and the Southeast Quarter of the Southeast Quarter (SE1/4SE1/4) and the East Half of the East Half of the East Half of the Southwest Quarter of the Southeast Quarter (E1/2E1/2SW1/4SE1/4) all in Section Nineteen (19); the Northeast Quarter of the Northeast Quarter (NE1/4NE1/4) and the East Half of the East Half of the Northwest Quarter of the Northeast Quarter (E1/2E1/2NW1/4NE1/4) and the Southeast Quarter of the Northeast Quarter (SE1/4NE1/4) and the East Half of the East Half of the Southwest Quarter of the Northeast Quarter (E1/2E1/2/SW1/4NE1/4) and the East Half of the West Half of the East Half of the Southwest Quarter of the Northeast Quarter (E1/2W1/2E1/2SW1/4NE1/4) all in Section Thirty (30); ALL of the above described property is located in Township One Hundred Fifty-three (153) North of Range Forty-five (45) West of the Fifth Principal Meridian in Minnesota.

Will be sold by the sheriff of said county at public auction on the 29th day of November, 1994, at 10:00 o'clock A.M., at the Law Enforcement Center, 102 West First Street in the City of Thief River Falls, in said county and state, to pay the debt then secured by said mortgage and taxes, if any, on said premises and the costs and disbursements allowed by law, subject to redemption by the mortgagors, their personal representative or assigns within twelve (12) months from date of sale.

NOTICE TO MORTGAGORS

IF PART OF THE PROPERTY TO BE SOLD CONTAINS YOUR HOUSE, YOU MAY DESIGNATE AN AREA AS A HOMESTEAD TO BE SOLD AND REDEEMED SEPARATELY.

YOU MAY DESIGNATE THE HOUSE YOU OCCUPY AND ANY AMOUNT OF THE PROPERTY AS A HOMESTEAD. THE DESIGNATED HOMESTEAD PROPERTY MUST CONFORM TO THE LOCAL ZONING ORDINANCES AND BE COMPACT SO THAT IT DOES NOT UNREASONABLY REDUCE THE VALUE OF THE REMAINING PROPERTY.

YOU MUST PROVIDE THE PERSON FORECLOSING ON THE PROPERTY, THE SHERIFF, AND THE COUNTY RECORDER WITH A COPY OF THE LEGAL DESCRIPTION OF THE HOMESTEAD YOU HAVE DESIGNATED BY TEN BUSINESS DAYS BEFORE THE DATE THE PROPERTY IS TO BE SOLD.

County board hears comments on Long's Bridge proposals

Long's Bridge is in tough shape. In fact, according to the County Engineer Delton Schulz, it has the third worst sufficiency rating in the state of Minnesota and the other two bridges are under construction.

Replacement of the bridge has been in the planning stages for many years, but was moved to the front burner of a needs list because of the rapid deterioration of the bridge.

Monday afternoon, a special county board hearing was held to specifically address Long's Bridge and give property owners near the bridge an opportunity to provide some input into the issue.

Schulz outlined four options to replacing the bridge. Option 1 involves replacing the bridge at its current site. It would mean purchasing additional right of way, and raising the bridge six feet to meet state requirements. Schulz said the bridge, which crosses the Thief River, is over what the Minnesota department of natural resources considers a "navigable waterway". Bridges crossing navigable waterways must meet specific requirements. An estimate from a firm hired to provide the county with some options, put the cost of such a bridge at roughly $450,000.

Option 2 involved moving the current site of the bridge roughly 350 feet upstream. The road to the bridge would run in roughly a straight path along the old electric train grade.

Option 3 was the same as option 2, except that access and egress at the north end of the project would be slightly different.

The cost estimate for both options was put at roughly $390,000.

A fourth option was provided, but no cost estimate was provided. This option provided for construction of a bridge from Dewey at about what is known as the "Gazebo" in line with County road 63.

Schulz said this option was impractical for a number of reasons. Discussion following the presentation of options, added that a bridge at that site would have to cross a larger segment of wetlands, require additional piers to support the bridge, would result in isolating homes in the current site of the bridge, cut through a home, cost roughly four times as much. Schulz said it would be very unlikely that the county could receive any state funds for the project.

Success of the bridge replacement project hinges on receiving state aid. Schulz said there are $500,000 available in state funds for the bridge replacement. If the county decided to move the bridge to the County road 63, the county would have to reapply for funding.

Under options two and three, the county would receive $500,000 in state aid and property owners would have to absorb an estimated $170,000 for grading.

The county does not own any right of way along the proposed path option 2 and 3 would take. Two of the property owners affected by these options expressed some concerns. One stated that he would loose half of his river frontage and he bought the place because of the river frontage. Another said she had envisioned constructing a home directly in the path of the road.

Another resident suggested that the board was presented with a golden opportunity to examine a bypass north of Thief River Falls.

Commissioner Donald Jensen said county representatives had flown over the area and had considered a route north of 13th Street in Thief River Falls, but crossing the railroad posed a problem.

While one individual estimated such a route would be open 75 per cent of the time, others disagreed.

Another option suggested by an individual at the meeting was to leave a one-lane bridge at the site. Schulz said it was not possible because of safety requirements, and state funding would not be available if the project did not meet spe-

Peterson acting vice president at tech college

Roger Peterson, long-time electronics instructor at Northwest Technical College in Thief River Falls, has been selected by a committee of faculty and staff as acting vice president.

Peterson succeeds Vern Treat, who has been named president at the college's Bemidji campus. He was selected from among seven local applicants who were interviewed and his appointment runs from Dec. 1, 1994 to June 30, 1995, when the merger of state colleges and universities takes place.

He will be on leave of absence from his instructional position where a replacement will be hired.

Citizen input received on wetlands questions

Minnesota Wetlands Conservation Planning small group session was held in Thief River Falls Tuesday

It was getting late in a lengthy afternoon of wetlands discussion last Tuesday at the courthouse in Thief River Falls and participants were becoming a little weary. Elizabeth Carlson, project coordinator for Minnesota Wetlands Conservation Planning, knelt to write a couple of last lines on the bottom of her comment sheet. In the background are Raymond Olson of the Pennington County Soil and Water Conservation District (left) and Don Barron, member of the Thief River Falls city council.

Although a state wetlands preservation law has been passed and a number of agencies are involved in the regulation of wetlands on public and private lands, ~~there is no state wetlands conser-~~vation plan in existence. Confusion and confrontation have been the result and the situation has been deteriorating rather than improving.

As part of a statewide, two-year project to develop a plan or strategy for Minnesota, a small group discussion meeting was held Tuesday, November 22, at the Pennington county courthouse meeting room in Thief River Falls.

Presiding at the meeting was Elizabeth Carlson, project coordinator for Minnesota Wetlands Conservation Planning—an effort funded by the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency and Minnesota Department of Transportation. She works out of the ecological services office in the Minnesota Department of Natural Resources.

"The project is beholden to no single agency or interest group, nor is there any legal or regulatory mandate to do this project," Carlson explained. "It was initiated through the combined interest of agencies that have responsibilities for wetlands in Minnesota and recognized a need to do better."

The need to do better has been evidenced in complaints by private landowners of regulatory authority assumed by a number of governmental agencies that adversely affect their ability to utilize their land to their best advantage. The maze of regulations, including the classifications of wetlands and often conflicting interpretation of those classifications, have added to landowner frustrations.

"The objective is to improve decision making and responsiveness through a common plan or strategy that is useful for everyday, on-the-ground decision making and encourages cooperation," Carlson said. "It's an opportunity to improve how we protect and manage wetlands through information, policies and practices that affect individuals in consequential ways."

But Carlson also pointed out that the effort to develop a conservation plan for wetlands "is not a retreat from existing public policy favoring wetlands protection."

Tuesday's session was the 15th of 20 small group discussions to be held throughout the state. It involved county commissioners, city council members, state legislators, representatives of county, district, state and federal agencies, higher education and groups interested in wetlands conservation.

Ken Murphy of Thief River Falls, chairman of the Pennington county board of commissioners, keyed on the contention that "one law fits all doesn't work in Minnesota." He said that the diversity of the state's geography, geology and soils make individual areas of the state substantially different from other areas. Therefore, he said, the application of specific regulations from border to border is impractical and basically unworkable.

Lowell Enerson, executive director of the Red Lake Watershed District, said that a major problem in administration of wetlands laws and regulations has been that there are "too many experts." He said that regulations too often do not take into consideration the changes in technology.

He pointed out the difficulty a farmer faces in attempting to operate large machinery around small areas of defined wetlands. "With the equipment operated in northwestern Minnesota today, you can hardly turn around on 20 acres," he said.

Regarding the value of wetlands for water retention for use by people, Dave Zavoral of Grygla, representing the Minnesota Property Owners Rights Association, said that "I can't save a glass of water for anyone in Minneapolis. All the water in this part of the state flows north."

Fred Koilman of the Soil Conservation Service in Thief River Falls said that artificial wetlands don't have the advantages of natural wetlands, referring to the mitigation portion of the Minnesota wetlands act which requires creation of wetlands to replace wetlands converted to other use.

Some of the difficulties with the system now in place for protection, restoration and management of wetlands previously identified by Carlson and others were reinforced at the meeting. They include:

- Wetlands vary considerably in characteristics and condition, yet their is no commonly accepted assessment method that would simplify management decisions.
- Development pressures are different in urban and rural areas, and wetland losses vary across the state; a wetlands strategy could address such differences in the context of overall objectives.
- The various laws and programs were enacted at different times to address different problems; they were not always designed to work well together and the result sometimes can be inefficiency, inconsistency or conflict.

"While attempts to improve the regulatory situation are already underway, there is a need to take a comprehensive look at all wetland programs with the goal of making them work better," Carlson said.

She added that there is no point in putting together a plan that no one will use because it isn't realistic, relevant or responsive to their situation, or because they didn't have an input into the plan. The small group meetings are intended to provide that input and allow private citizens, private sector interests and public employees to play a role in discussing, developing and acting on a wetlands conservation plan.

"Wetlands are subject to shared responsibility," Carlson said, "and so the shared power and collective efforts of those who are responsible—government and citizens—will lead to a shared outcome with shared accountability for the results. This may be a new approach to planning for many participants, but it reflects the reality of the situation. The true value of the plan will be the actions that flow from it, not the document itself."

Carlson and co-facilitator Deb Zak, Pennington county extension director, made notes on the comments presented at the session and posted them on the meeting room wall. Carlson also collected individual comment cards from participants at the close of the session.

As a result of creating a state wetlands strategy, Carlson said the people of Minnesota "should see improved resource management, better delivery of services in both the public and private sectors, a fair and reasonable regulatory process and improved quality of existing and restored wetlands. There is some good news for everyone in these opportunities."

Scheduled to participate in the small group meeting (not all were

HEB asks $120 million more for merged system

To operate the "home town" higher education system used by most students in Minnesota, the Minnesota Higher Education Board (HEB) has asked Governor Arne Carlson and the state legislature for an additional $120 million for the state's new merged higher education system.

Largest single cost of the merger will be $26 million or more for technical college employees which are now employed by local boards and must be slotted into state pay classifications. Whether the jump from local to state pay scales will occur all at once or over several years will be decided in collective bargaining.

Chancellor Jay Noren of the system which will merge July 1, 1995 and is given the name of Minnesota State Colleges and Universities (MnSCU), said some immediate savings, such as having one central office instead of three, will be plowed back immediately into programs that help campuses. He said the central office for MnSCU will be 20 per cent smaller than the sum of the three existing central offices.

Other savings will come from the consolidation of adjacent community and technical colleges into single institutions—expected to happen first at Thief River Falls, Brainerd and Duluth, Chancellor Noren said.

The chancellor said 76 per cent of the requested funds would come from the legislature, 10 per cent from internal savings and reallocation and 14 per cent from tuition.

He said the merger will coincide with the start of a boom in high school graduation rates in Minnesota. Projections are for a 35 per cent rise in high school graduates statewide over the next 10 years with a jump of more than 50 per cent in the Twin Cities metropolitan area. Along with new entering students, there will be a growing trend for workers to return to higher education throughout their working lives, he said.

He said the high school graduation and worker retraining trends will run headlong into a budget cap written into state law two years ago and a downward slide in the share of the state's budget.

In 1993 a ceiling of two billion, 40 million dollars ($2,040,000,000) was written into state law for all of public higher education in the 1995-97 biennium. "If this is not modified," Noren said, "that amount will have to cover the new MnSCU system, the University of Minnesota and the state financial aid program.

Noren said the requested $120 million increase would provide a one per cent increase for new programs, five per cent to cover inflation, two per cent for enrollment increases, three per cent for costs of the merger and two per cent to restore funding lost because of legislative "caps" imposed on the entire higher education structure two years ago.

The vast majority of the request—$108 million—covers continuation of current programs, the chancellor said. The one per cent for new programs equals $12 million.

"We are the home town higher education system in every corner of Minnesota," Chancellor Noren said. "It is these colleges and universities which will provide the bread-and-butter training, two-year degrees, four-year degrees and master's programs needed by most Minnesota families."

Archie D. Chelseth, who chairs the HEB, said the board wants to reshape higher education so students can transfer credits and have access to a wide menu of educational choices, regardless of where they are enrolled. He cited three budget goals:

(1) Preserving affordable tuition for students, with increases held to four per cent or less each year for the next two years, if the state provides adequate base funding.

(2) Effectively implementing the merger, including continuation of effective current programs and services.

(3) Achieving educational benefits made possible by the merger. To do that, MnSCU will reallocate $16.3 million in current resources as a dollar-for-dollar match with $11.7 million in new state funds and $4.6 million in student tuition. Improved responses to student needs would include:

- Collaboration among 62 campuses to allow student participation in programs and courses on more than one campus;
- Better transfer of student credits; and
- Improved preparation for productive employment.

Chancellor Noren said the share of the state budget allocated for higher education has shrunk by 20 per cent from 1987 to this year while a larger share has been poured into prisons, welfare and health care.

"Spending on jails and prisons, while necessary, reflects on mistakes of the past while higher education is an investment in the future," he said. "Public policy makers ought to debate a proper balance between higher education and other priorities. Education is not a luxury. It is a public good that is absolutely essential to Minnesota's future."

The reorganized system will have campuses in 46 different communities throughout the state. Students in MnSCU institutions make up 77 per cent (head count) of students in public higher education in Minnesota and 82 per cent of the total public undergraduate and technical enrollment.

"It's time to reverse the downward trend in funding before real damage is done to higher education and set our sights on the future," Noren said.

Elks Lodge to aid Christmas tree projects

Elks Lodge 1308 in Thief River Falls will share a portion of its Saturday cheeseburger and French fries sales for the next three weeks with disadvantaged youngsters.

The lodge will set aside 20 per cent of the proceeds from the sales on December 3, 10 and 17 to support the Christmas gift trees at Pamida, Kmart and Lori's Hallmark stores.

cific requirements, including raising the bridge six feet.

Another option, which quickly met opposition by other property owners at the meeting was to not have any bridge at all, but a road connecting the area to Highway 1.

Representatives of Sjoberg's and Northern Minnesota Utilities were also present at the meeting. They requested that the bridge design incorporate a capability to handle utility lines underneath it.

Schulz noted that he had also talked with a representative of the city of Thief River Falls utilities department and the bridge will also meet their utility needs. Also incorporated into the design would be a sidewalk similar to one found on bridges on First and Third streets in Thief River Falls.

Of primary concern of property owners at the meeting was just where the bridge and road to the bridge be located. The county agreed to place stakes down the center line of the route and 75-feet on either side, which would be the right-of-way required. Another meeting with nearby property owners would be held after they had an opportunity to see where the road and bridge would be placed.

Construction on the bridge and road is expected to begin in 1995.

Wheat Growers manual aimed at water pollution

With the publication of its "Best Management Practices Manual for Wheat Production," the National Association of Wheat Growers has launched an aggressive pollution prevention initiative.

The manual will be used to help the association's farmer members adopt practices to prevent or reduce the entry of sediment, nutrients and pesticides into surface and ground water.

"This is a major effort initiated by wheat growers themselves to address water quality concerns," states Judy Olson, president of the NAWG. "These selected best management practices demonstrate how to produce wheat profitably and, at the same, time, in an environmentally sound manner."

Olson said that while most farmers have long been exceptional stewards of the natural resources entrusted to their care and have already implemented many of the recommended practices, the manual will help them make further improvements in their farming system.

She said the project relies on three essential principles of successful water quality programs involving farm operations—working partnerships between private landowners and government agencies, voluntary participation and site-specific planning.

The NAWG and cooperative extension system wheat specialists will introduce the manual to producers at training sites around the country over the next two years. The training will also encourage producers to participate in watershed planning strategies in their areas.

Training workshops will begin in the spring of 1995 in both NAWG-affiliated states and in other wheat growing regions.

According to NAWG Foundation director Ellen Ferguson, the best management practices contained in the manual are aimed at solving national problems. "Our trainers will take the manual's national scope as a starting point to focus on regional, site-specific solutions," she said.

Olson said the manual describes general principles as well as specific conservation and management practices.

MN State Patrol investigates two accidents Sunday

Two semi-trucks were involved in separate accidents last weekend near Grygla. Both accidents happened on Highway 89.

At 6:04 p.m. November 27, the Minnesota state patrol received a report of an accident 10 miles east of Grygla on Highway 89. A semi driven by Terry Lynn Beito, Middle River, was traveling east on Highway 89 when Beito lost control of the rig and it rolled on the highway blocking traffic. Beito was wearing a seat belt and complained of a bump to his elbow. There was severe damage to the semi.

Also on Sunday, but at 7:23 a.m., the state patrol received a report of an accident five miles east of Grygla on Highway 89. A semi driven by Scott Michael Goblirsch of South St. Paul, went off the road when Goblirsch allegedly fell asleep. Goblirsch was west bound at the time. There was severe damage to the semi and Goblirsch faces a charge of inattentive driving.

Farm equipment refrigerant topic of MPCA meet

Minnesota Pollution Control Agency (MPCA) has scheduled a meeting for December 5 at 1 p.m. in the Becker county courthouse in Detroit Lakes regarding a proposed state rule to prevent the release of refrigerants used for air conditioning farm equipment.

The state rule will incorporate federal regulations that now require anyone who services air conditioners on farm equipment to use proper equipment to recover the refrigerant and to be certified to use the equipment.

A similar meeting has been scheduled for December 8 in Mankato.

NWMIF accepts applications for leader training programs

Northwest Minnesota Initiative Fund is accepting applications for participation in the January 23-27 and March 20-24 leadership training programs. Application deadline is December 19 for the January session and February 13 for the March session.

The four and one-half day seminars are conducted three times a year at the Vacationaire Resort near Park Rapids and offered to residents of northwest Minnesota.

Recently completing the program were Karen Andol of Badger, Lavonne Matson of Newfolden, JoAnn Peters of Viking, James Loken of Wannaska and Dan Evans and Pat Williams of Warren.

For more information or application materials call Diane Backer at 218-759-2057 or 1-800-659-7859. All tuition, food and lodging costs are paid by the Initiative Fund.

Leon Heath, director of the Northwest Regional Development Commission, reported on comments from his small discussion group during the Minnesota Wetlands Conservation Planning session held at the courthouse meeting room in Thief River Falls last Tuesday, November 22.

Beaucage receives scholarship

Chris Beaucage of Thief River Falls, a senior in the aerospace program at the University of North Dakota in Grand Forks, received the Daniel J. Gish Memorial Scholarship at the annual UND aerospace scholarship banquet recently.

Beaucage is majoring in aeronautical studies with a minor in criminal justice. He is a resident manager for UND student housing, where he resides with his wife. During the summer he completed an in depth feasibility study for a local company regarding commercial versus corporate flight operations.

The scholarship is sponsored in memory of a UND aviation student who died of a bacterial infection in August of 1991 prior to returning to UND for his final academic year. At the banquet UND awarded 80 scholarships worth $160,000.

FAMILY HEALTH

Sherry LaCoursiere

Stress and Your Health

Back when humans dwelled in caves, our reaction to stress was helpful. The hormonal rush known as "fight or flight" gove us the strength to overpower our enemies.

Unfortunately, in today's world we carry threatening situations around in our minds all the time, as we ponder deadlines, taxes, relatives' visits, or job reviews. Too much of this and we are left defenseless against illnesses as trifling as the common cold.

The holiday season is an especially stressful time. Just the stress of doing our Christmas shopping is enough to send us into a tailspin, not to mention the decorating, baking, cooking and entertaining to be done, holiday parties that must be attended, and numerous other chores that must be attended to for the family to have a merry Christmas.

Women especially are thought to be prone to stress-related illnesses as a result of taking on new challenges. We've all heard of the plight of the superwoman who's juggling her personal life, her family and her career.

In fact, studies now suggest this balancing act is not necessarily harmful. Women who manage multiple roles (work, marriage, family or other pursuits) are better off, emotionally and physically, than women who feel trapped in one role, be it in a job or at home.

The secret to staying content, even when we are busy, seems to lie in having a sense of commitment and control over our life.

There are bound to be times, however, when stress feels overwhelming. Don't ignore it, because one of the first steps in managing stress is to recognize when it is there.

In the short term, we may need to take some time out for exercise, a long bath, a good night's sleep, or another form of relaxation. Also, we should not lock up what we are feeling inside. Venting to friends and family is known to help.

Over the long term, we may have to reassess our priorities and set realistic goals. Then we can better organize our time.

If we find we are dealing with stress in inappropriate ways, for example by drinking or smoking too

Ninth annual Christmas Lighting Ceremony will be held in Goodridge

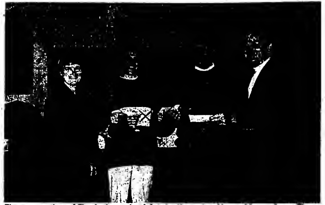
The Goodridge Area Historical Society will present its ninth annual Christmas Lighting Ceremony on Saturday, December 3, in conjunction of the annual meeting of the society. The lighting ceremony will be held first, with a short Christmas program to follow.

The annual Christmas Lighting Ceremony goes back to 1986, when the society decorated a spruce tree in the Lions Park. In 1990, the society restored the Tvedt Park and moved the event there. Each year an additional display is added. Present decorations and lights include a white gazebo and trellis, various trees and a six-foot Charles Dickens couple, purchased with the help of the Goodridge Area Development Corporation. This year, with the financial help of the Goodridge Lions club, several more spotlighted figures will be added. Dawn Hanson and Jean Halvorson are in charge of the Christmas lighting program.

Charles Josephson of Thief River Falls, former resident of Goodridge, will be guest speaker at the ceremony. He will speak on the Minnesota Northwestern Electric train, "The Potato Bug," which ran from Thief River Falls to Goodridge.

The business meeting of the society will include reports, election of four board members, and the presentation of a plaque to a Goodridge couple who have contributed to the history of the city and the community.

Both the ceremony and the meeting are open to the public and everyone is invited to attend.



The congregations of Zion Lutheran church in Viking and Oak Ridge Lutheran church, rural Thief River Falls, along with Aid Association for Lutherans Branch 6245, presented Stacy Anderson of Viking with funds to assist her in her missionary work in Madagascar. She will be teaching English in Madagascar for three months through the ELCA's Commission on Global Missions. Stacy was commissioned at the November 20 worship service at Zion church and the money raised was presented to her at that time. Pictured above, left to right, are Diana Waterworth, congregational AAL representative; Stacy Anderson, member of Zion church; Wade Harbott, treasurer of Zion church; and Rev. Paul Chell, pastor of Zion and Oak Ridge Lutheran churches.

Nicki Amundson, winner of the bicycle for bringing in the greatest amount of pledges for St. Bernard's schools marathon for nonpublic education, is pictured with Rev. Joe DeCrans and second place winner Kjelsy Loeffler.

Rev. Tim Bushy, pastoral associate at St. Bernard's Catholic parish in Thief River Falls, was welcomed to St. Bernard's school by a group of third grade students. He will assist Rev. Joe DeCrans at St. Bernard's.

Special training to deal with needs of children

Minnesota Department of Health (MDH) is launching a new training program designed to help out-of-hospital emergency medical personnel to meet the special care needs of children, according to Mary Jo O'Brien, commissioner.

Approximately 192 medical personnel throughout the state are being trained as instructors for the program. They will then train emergency medical technicians (EMTs) and first responders to handle medical emergencies involving children.

About six training classes for out-of-hospital emergency care providers will be held in each of the state's eight emergency medical services regions during the coming

Beth Oscarson and Kurt Wagner wed

Beth Oscarson and Kurt Wagner were united in marriage on October 28, 1994, at Zion Lutheran church in Thief River Falls with Rev. Raymond officiating at the 6:30 p.m. ceremony.

Parents of the couple are Tom and Pam Oscarson of Red Lake Falls and Ray and Kathleen Wagner of Thief River Falls.

Dr. Tom Mickelson and Diane Johnson, friends of the couple, sang "On Eagle's Wings," "I Swear" and "Unchained Melody." Phyllis Daloger, friend of the bride, was organist.

Candelabra trimmed with greenery and Lilies of the Valley decorated the altar for the candlelight ceremony. Wedding colors were purple with teal and fuschia accents, and roses accented with Lilies of the Valley were the flowers chosen by the bride.

Serving as her sister's maid of honor was Amy Oscarson of Jamestown, ND. Bridesmaids were Janet Moser of Brooklyn Park, sister of the bride, and Janie Knott of St. Cloud and Sandy Saum of Ft. Jennings, OH, both friends of the couple. They wore purple jacquard, tea length gowns made by Janet Moser and Pam Oscarson, and carried decorated votive candles.

Lindsay Johnson of Thief River Falls, niece of the groom, was the flower girl. The bride's personal attendants were Jennifer Oscarson, sister of the bride, and Loree Johnson, sister of the groom.

Mike Kloety of Thief River Falls, friend of the groom, was best man. Groomsmen were Kent Wagner of Thief River Falls, brother of the groom, Sean Oscarson of Red Lake Falls, brother of the bride, and Dean Brandon of Newfolden, cousin of the groom.

Serving as ring bearer was Nick Jorstad of Thief River Falls, nephew of the groom.

Ushers were Scott Severinson, Jeff Kezar, friends of the couple, and Dale Barth, uncle of the bride, all of Thief River Falls, and Darrel Miller, a friend of the couple from Hillsboro, ND.

Honored guests at the ceremony were grandparents of the bride, Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Barth of Thief River Falls and Gertrude Oscarson of Breckenridge, and the grandmother of the groom, Elevera Ring of Thief River Falls.

Following the ceremony, a reception was held in honor of the couple. Hosts and hostesses were Cliff and Krista Barth, aunt and uncle of the bride, and Lloyd and Sharon Wagner, aunt and uncle and godparents of the groom.

Jennifer Oscarson, sister of the bride, and Geri Barbot, friend of the bride, presided at the guest book.

Cutting the cake were Bonnie Wagner and Dianne Pollock, aunts of the groom, and serving coffee were Annette Barth, aunt of the bride, and Sharon Wagner, aunt of the groom. Jana and Diane Wagner, cousins of the groom, served punch to the guests.

Shirley Moser made the flower arrangements, bouquets, corsages, boutonnieres and flower baskets. Nichole Oscarson, sister-in-law of the bride, and Kristy Wagner, sister-in-law of the groom, were flower hostesses. Amber Oscarson, sister of the bride, carried roses. Amber Oscarson, sister of the bride, and Carly Buse, friend of the bride, were in charge of the gift table.

Following a honeymoon cruise to Key West, Cancun and Cozumel, the couple is at home in Thief River Falls. The bride is employed as a registered nurse at Hillcrest Nursing Home in Red Lake Falls and the groom is employed in the watercraft engineering department at Arctco, Inc.

Squarenaders will dance Friday

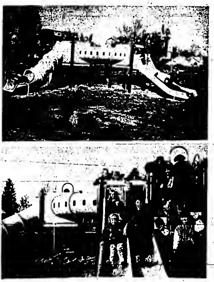
The Crookston Squarenaders will dance Friday, December 2, at 8 p.m. at the Lincoln school gym in Crookston. Jim Jirak will call the tips and Doris Muir will cue the rounds. All area dancers are welcome.



Students who brought in over $50 in pledges for the marathon for nonpublic education at St. Bernard's school in Thief River Falls earned a half our of playtime on the new playground equipment at the school. The marathon brought in over $7,150 in operating funds for the school. In the bottom photo Carrie Thayer and Dr. Dixie Klein, principal, enjoy a ride down the double slide.

The event will be held from 2 to 5 p.m. at the Senior Site in Oklee. No gifts are requested.

Disabled American Veterans will have Christmas party

The Crookston chapter of the Disabled American Veterans and Auxiliary invite all members and guests to the annual Christmas party on Sunday, December 4, at the Crookston American Legion Hall, 102 South Ash Street.

Social hour will be from 3:30 to 4:30 p.m., followed by a steak dinner. Special guests will be state commander Elphege Mrozek of Little Falls, first junior vice commander John Freetly and his wife, Margie, who is state adjutant of the Auxiliary from Park Rapids, and Bernie Lieder, state representative, and his wife, Shirley.

Musical entertainment will be provided by the University of Minnesota, Crookston, music department. Poinsettia plants will be door prizes and "paid up" auxiliary members will receive a special gift at the party.

Heritage Center dinner Monday

The Heritage Center in Thief River Falls will have a baked chicken dinner on Monday, December 5, at 5:30 p.m. Entertainment will be provided by Friends of the Orchestra immediately after the meal.

Training for special needs of children

year. Eventually, about 2,200 emergency care providers statewide will be trained.

"This training effort will help fill an important gap in our ability to meet the emergency care needs of Minnesota's children," O'Brien said. "Every year, about 30,000 Minnesota children receive out-of-hospital emergency medical services, which comprises approximately 11 per cent of all ambulance runs in our state. This training program is in direct response to emergency personnel seeking additional training to meet the needs of younger patients."

Younger emergency medical patients—especially very young children—can present unique problems for the emergency care responder, according to O'Brien. Emergency personnel need child-sized equipment—like airway tubes, oxygen masks, blood pressure cuffs and cervical collars—and prepackaged medications in children's dosages.

"Vital signs like blood pressure, heart rate and respiration need to be interpreted differently in a child than they would be in an adult," states Michael Wilcox, M.D., chair of the Emergency Medical Services for Children steering committee. "Providers also need to be aware of which hospitals and emergency care facilities are best prepared to receive and treat younger patients."

Eagles Auxiliary Christmas party is December 5

The Thief River Falls Eagles Auxiliary will have their annual Christmas party Monday, December 5, beginning with a potluck at 6:30 p.m.

Donations will be accepted for Violence Intervention Project children's Christmas gifts. There will be also be food and bingo and a short meeting at 8 p.m.

— Jeff and Sally Mumm of Thief River Falls are the parents of a baby daughter, Kaitlyn Elizabeth, born November 23.

— On November 23, a baby girl was born to Scott and Tammy Kuznia of Strandquist. She has been named Sophia Lynn.

— A baby daughter was born to William and Wendy Klopp of Thief River Falls on November 25. She has been named Samantha Morgan.

Senior dance to be held Thursday at Heritage

There will be a senior citizen dance Thursday, December 1, from 7 to 10 p.m. at the Heritage Center in Thief River Falls. Music will be by Pony Express. All senior citizens are welcome.

Marshall County Nursing to give immunizations

The Marshall County Nursing Service will have immunization clinics at the following dates, times and locations:

- Tuesday, December 6, at the Newfolden Community Center from 9 to 11 a.m.;
- Wednesday, December 7 at the Middle River Community Center from 9 to 11 a.m.;
- Thursday, December 8, at the Grygla Civic building from 9 to 11 a.m.;
- Monday, December 19, at the Evangelical Covenant church in Warren from 9 to 11 a.m.; and
- Tuesday, December 27, from 4:30 to 6:30 p.m. at the Marshall County Nursing Service Office.

The vaccine used is provided free of charge by the Minnesota Department of Health for use in community-based clinics. There will be a $4 fee for administering the vaccine, but no one will be refused because of inability to pay.

It is requested that infants be taken to their family physician for the initial DTP and oral polio immunizations or parents bring a signed referral from the physician indicating that immunization is to be given by the public clinic.

Immunization services at the public clinic should not be substituted for the child's usual well-child visits with a physician. Parents should bring the child's immunization record each time the child is brought for a shot. Immunizations will not be given unless the immunization record is presented, unless it is the first shot.

For more information, contact Nancy Maorstad, RN, at the Marshall County Nursing Service at 218-745-5154.

Foot care clinic in Newfolden

The Marshall County Nursing Service will have a foot care clinic for Newfolden area residents at 11:30 a.m. on Tuesday, December 6, at the Senior Citizen building in Newfolden.

Appointments are now necessary for foot care. Call Marilyn Donarski at 874-6900 for an appointment. Nurses from the nursing service will soak feet and trim nails. There is a $6 charge per person.

In A Food Frenzy

Warning: Do not read this column on an empty stomach. It's all about food. Please go to the refrigerator and grab a carrot or celery stick. Then you can sit and read the paper.

I once read an article that said every family uses only five to seven recipes in the planning of evening meals. Those recipes are then restructured and recycled to fit the family's needs.

I, too, have my standbys and am always looking for different versions of chicken, pork chops, hamburger and chuck steak.

One of our specialties is Italian food. With a full-blooded Italian grandmother and mother, I grew up eating pasta. My favorite is homemade ravioli – a dough shell stuffed with seasoned ricotta cheese.

If you're invited to our house for supper it's likely we'll serve our authentic Italian meatballs and spaghetti and fresh garlic bread. (I'm not sure what I would feed you the second time.)

Although there are many things I don't like to do around the house, I do like to cook and try new recipes. I'm the kind of person who reads magazines and rips out recipes I might like to attempt. They have to be dishes I know I can make – and for which I have the ingredients.

My husband is the guinea pig for my experiments. He is usually too kind to admit if the food is really bad, but complains that I rarely prepare the same test recipe twice.

I remember one trial menu that flopped. It was a cod dish cooked with green and red peppers. We checked it in the oven the first time and decided to add some water. The second time we looked, we determined it should cook longer. When we thought it was "finished," the cod was floating in a foot of water, and we could barely cut it with a hacksaw. We ordered pizza that night.

If I ever become ambitious with my passion for food, I could write several cookbooks comprised of my collected recipes.

Several years ago we ate a lot of hamburger because it was cheap. My cookbook would be titled "101 Recipes From Hamburger." Some of the selections would include: grilled hamburgers on a bun, chili, hamburger pizza, hamburger steak with onions and mushrooms, Italian meatballs, hamburger stroganoff, pizza burgers, tacos, meatloaf, sloppy joes, hamburger chow mein, hotdish, nachos, manicotti, lasagna and burritos.

Sunday nights are soup nights at our house so I could write another book called "Soup Sundays." Some soup recipes to include would be: wild rice, ham and cheese; creamy wild rice; split pea; bean with ham; hamburger lentil; chicken noodle (or barley); beer cheese; French onion; and black bean.

Our other favorite food to make is hors d'oeuvres. With another couple, we took turns hosting pinochle games. We tried to outdo each other in the appetizer category by making something new and better each evening. In two years my friend, Karen, and I amassed quite a collection. The appetizer cookbook could be titled "Pinochle Party Pleasers."

This is a sampling of what you might find in our book: crab dip, pepperoni bread twists, chips and homemade salsa, tortilla rollups, macho nachos, shrimp dip, cheese crisps, sausage stars, skewered chicken, stuffed mushrooms, miniature rye bread pizzas, chicken wings (two varieties), sandwich surprise, fruit dip, veggie pizza, lavosh, chili cheese dip, pickle rollups, cheese fondue, cheese and crackers, chips and dip, cheese ball, cocktail wieners, meatballs, crab cheese dip and steak bites. (The cheese companies make a nice profit when we cook hors d'oeuvres.)

Some concoctions were a bit while other recipes will never see the outside of the recipe box again – like the sandwiches made with horseradish sauce.

During those pinochle parties we ate so much food we had to buy a new deck of cards about once a month.

I doubt I'll ever get around to compiling any kind of recipe book, but I enjoy trading recipes and making new things. I just hope we don't have to order pizza again.

For those who appreciated my column on housecleaning, my mother presented me with another magnet: Just Say "No" To Housework.

Zion Leisure Fellowship plans December 7 meeting

Zion Lutheran Leisure fellowship will meet Wednesday, December 7, at 2 p.m. at Zion Lutheran church in Thief River Falls.

Program will be Scandinavian songs, readings and music by the Heritage Choir.

Holt Keenagers plan Christmas potluck on December 9

The Holt Keenagers will meet Friday, December 9, for a noon Christmas potluck dinner at the Holt Community Center. Those attending should bring vegetables, salads and desserts. Meat and potatoes will be provided.

There will also be a Christmas gift exchange and celebration of December birthdays.

Betty Heden weds K. Grathwohl Sept. 3

Betty Lou Heden and Kurt William Albert Grathwohl were united in marriage on September 3 at Immanuel Lutheran church in Plummer. Rev. Clarence Johnson and Rev. Duane Pribula officiated at the 4 p.m. ceremony.

Parents of the couple are Ramona and Gust Heden of Plummer and David and Ursula Grathwohl of Belmont, CA.

Wedding music was provided by Linda Olson at the organ and Steph Koralewski as soloist. Both are friends of the bride.

Laurie Wagner served as her sister's matron of honor. Bridesmaids were Karen Bakken, Janelle Nelson, Kelly Waswick, Tami Geddes, Sherri Crespin and Mary Jo Rohrer, all friends of the bride.

Flower girls were nieces of the bride, Megan Wagner and Hilary Heden.

Serving as his friend's best man was Rob Santoriello. Groomsmen were James Thompson, Ted Clark, Bart Bruns, Colin Kingston and Eric Shuping, all friends of the groom.

Honored guest at the ceremony was Eloise Halvorson, godparent of the bride, and Mark Grathwohl, uncle of the groom, who was also the reader at the ceremony.

Steph Koralewski served as the bride's personal attendant. Penny Grove and Melissa Asselin, cousins of the bride, presided at the guest book, and Joyce Hardecopf, aunt of the bride, served as flower hostess.

A reception in honor of the couple followed at the Thief River Falls Golf Club. Host couples were Gary and Virginia Heden, brother and sister-in-law of the bride.

After their honeymoon in Jamaica, the couple is at home in Lacey, WA. The bride is a registered nurse at Assured Home Health in Olympia and the groom is a captain in the United States Army and a physician at Madigan Army Medical Center in Tacoma, WA.

Conference for child care providers in Bloomington

Pamper the Provider conference will be held January 27 and 28 at the Blooming Marriott Hotel in Bloomington. All family child care providers are invited to attend the sixth annual conference, banquet and food show.

Featured speaker Bruce Christopher, will explain "Why Women are so Strange and Men so Weird," or how to communicate effectively with the opposite sex.

Join Family Care Foods and Choice Foods Plus for a day of workshops, pampering, food tasting, fun and prizes. Register before December 16 and enter the drawing for a weekend stay and entertainment at Best Western Kelly Inn and Playhouse in Plymouth.

Boy Scout troop 57 will have a French toast and ham breakfast from 8 a.m. to 1 p.m. on Sunday, December 4, at the Heritage Center in Thief River Falls. Everyone is welcome

. . . Oh Christmas Trees

Some people already have them. They always put them up the weekend after Thanksgiving because they love them so much that they want to be able to sit around and admire them for a long time before Christmas. They never get tired of them.

Other people wait to get them until Christmas is closer because they know they will get sick and tired of them if they are around too long before the big day. Many of these people have very small living rooms.

Some people who have small children and adventurous animals wait until the night before Christmas to put theirs up because they know little fingers and paws will play havoc with them.

What am I talking about? Christmas trees, of course.

I usually like to put my tree up fairly early, but not the weekend after Thanksgiving. Maybe next weekend will be just right to put up the tree.

Last year I put my tree up before the first of December and I decided that was too early. I was really very tired of it by the time Christmas came. The first few days I turned the lights on every night after work and admired it while I worked on my Christmas gifts, or cards, or baking, or whatever.

However, it didn't take long before it became a bit of a nuisance and I quit turning the lights on. In fact, I was so tired of it sitting there blinking at me that I figured if I left the lights off for a few weeks I would be able to appreciate them again by the time Christmas came. I vowed I would not put my tree up so early next year (which is now this year).

So my tree is outside and I am not bringing it in at least until next weekend.

I am, you see, one of those people with a small living room, so putting up the Christmas tree means a complete rearranging of the furniture to make room for it.

Last year my tree was so fat that it took up the space that is normally occupied by two chairs, so the seating capacity of my living room was drastically reduced during the entire Christmas season, a time when I really need that extra seating because I have people over. The tree was so fat that it covered the larger of the two windows in the living room, so I had to use lights all through December, even during the day.

I guess it isn't any wonder that I got sick and tired of sitting in a dark cavern with blinking lights. There is such a thing as too much Christmas spirit.

Yes, people have to be really careful when they choose their Christmas trees, and think about where the tree will go and what type of space it will occupy.

It also pays to check the tree trunk. If the trunk is crooked, it is nearly impossible to cram it into the tree stand and, even then, it hardly ever stands up straight.

One year we had the most horribly crooked trunk I ever saw. One side of the tree had branches that were about six inches long, and the other side had branches two or three feet long.

Lucky thing the tree was not too tall, because we had to trim the bottom and jam it into the tree stand and hope it would not tip over. There was just nothing else to do with it except use it the way it was. It didn't tip over – I had to trim it very carefully and not push against it at all or it would fall into the window – but, it didn't tip over.

The tree was very thick, so people hardly noticed that the trunk was crooked – unless someone happened to look at the bottom where the trunk was sitting way off center. I covered the trunk up with a tree skirt and hoped the light from the living room window wouldn't shine through the branches.

Come to think of it, I can remember many strange trees over the years. For many years we had those very short needle trees that would shed all of their needles before Christmas and there would be bare branches sitting there with balls and lights on them. We always had to wait until the last minute to put up those trees.

One year I got a tree with very long needles and found that my poor little vacuum cleaner would not pick them up. That year I had to crawl around the floor picking up the long needles by hand – and that tree shed its needles like mad. That was the year the stores sold out of the big bags that can be wrapped around the tree for transporting it and I didn't have one. Every so often I still find one of those long needles in the corner of the carpet.

I don't know what this year's tree looks like. The boys picked it out last weekend. I see it is nice and green and all I ask is that it has a straight trunk and at least a few branches in the back. Come to think of it, maybe I should wait another week before putting it up.

ON THE OTHER HAND

Angeline Gunstad
Lincoln High School

Winter is finally here! There are many things that I look forward to on snow days, but on November 18th, it was a different story. The Literary Arts class had entered poems in the College of St. Catherine's poetry contest. Everyone in my Literary Arts class placed in this contest. The reception to honor contestant winners was to be held on November 18th in St. Paul. The class was going to drive in a school district van to attend this banquet.

Friday morning I woke up to the wind howling outside my bedroom window. I walked to the window with my fingers crossed hoping for the best, but snow covered the ground and beat against my window. After finally arriving in town, I found out that a transformer was out due to the storm, and the bus garage doors could not be opened. All the buses as well as our van, were trapped in the bus garage until 9:30.

With the reception at 4 p.m. and the icy snow covered roads to Detroit Lakes, it would have been impossible to get there. We would not have made it out of town before 10 o'clock. For once I wasn't excited to hear that school would be starting two hours late. But when I was a little kid in elementary school, that was different.

At the age of seven, I was always looking for ways to miss a day of school. On stormy mornings my brother, John and I would race down the stairs to sit by the radio to hear the news. When the radio announcement would say, "School is cancelled in Thief River Falls today!" John and I would jump up and down in excitement. Plans for the day were made over bowls of Lucky Charms.

After getting dressed, we would layer on scarves, mittens, hats and boots. Even so, my pink snowpants never kept the wind from making my legs cold. Taking a running leap off the front steps, I would land in the snow and begin to decorate the yard with snow angels. Sometimes John and I would take out the riding lawn mower and pull a sled behind it. The hardest part was trying to hold on tightly enough around the curves.

With pink cheeks and wet mittens, we would go back inside to change into dry clothes. Mom would always have hot chocolate waiting to warm us up.

The games of "Battleship" and "Racko" would come out from the upstairs cupboard, and we would sit for hours challenging each other to "one more" game....

After a lunch of macaroni and cheese, the childhood favorite, we would get ready to go outside again. This time we would put plastic bags over our socks to keep our feet dry.

There was always one special thing John and I did to entertain ourselves. One time we dug holes in the snow straight down. We would lay down in the hole with our feet sticking out. We did this to make it look like we had fallen and got stuck upside down. The snow forts that we would build would be our hiding place during snowball fights. After a short time we were cold again.

Snow days aren't exciting now compared to when I was younger. I've come to realize that missing school because of the weather isn't as great as I once thought. I've also realized that missing a poetry contest because of the weather isn't any fun at all.

TIMES FOR TODDLERS

ACTIVITIES

Turkey Apples

This is a great snack and a lot of fun to make during the Thanksgiving season. You will need apples, raisins, small marshmallows and toothpicks.

The tall feathers are made by pushing raisins and miniature marshmallows onto the toothpicks. The toothpicks are arranged around the end of the apple near the stem. Another toothpick with a single marshmallow is put in at the other end of the apple to represent the head. Now you will have a turkey sitting on the ground and it will taste just as good as it looks!

SCAVENGER HUNT

For next week's Activities feature, you will need an assortment of nuts, a nutcracker and several containers.

BOOK OF THE WEEK

The Thief River Falls public library invites you to browse through its new selection of children's books including the following:

London, Jonathan. Liplap's Wish. The ground is covered with the first snow of the year and Liplap is sad to realize that Grandmother will not be around this year to help build snowbunnies. It isn't until Liplap's mother tells him the ancient bunny legend about the stars in the sky that he realizes Grandmother will always be with him.

Keller, Holly. Geraldine's Baby Brother. Geraldine has a new baby brother and even wearing earmuffs doesn't keep her from hearing him cry! One night Geraldine marches into the nursery to set little Willie straight and discovers a pleasant surprise.

VIDEO VARIETY

Yertle the Turtle. Follow the antics of an ambitious turtle as he climbs to the highest heights on the backs of his turtle subjects in order to expand his kingdom.

Don't forget to attend Storytime every Wednesday at 11:15 a.m.

PARENTING TIPS

Check Out Safety Caps For All Prescriptions: Yours and Grandparents

A routine check of medication containers in households with young children is a must. All medicines should be out of the reach of children and prescription medicines must be stored in child-proof containers.

This caution is also a good idea for households where children visit frequently, including grandparents, friends, neighbors and other relatives. Kids will be kids and those little bottles sometimes look so inviting.

So, although grandparents may have to struggle to open the child-proof caps on their medications, the effort may save their grandchild's life.

SOMETHING TO TALK ABOUT

Talk to your child about medicine. Tell him/her that one should take medicine only if you or a doctor has said that one needs it and that you will give out the medicine when it is needed. Never call medicine "candy."

Selma J. Anderson, 88

Thief River Falls — Selma J. Anderson, age 88, of Thief River Falls, died Sunday, November 27, at the CNC Unit of Northwest Medical Center.

Funeral services for Selma Anderson will be held Thursday, December 1, at 2 p.m. at the Assembly of God church in Thief River Falls with Rev. Sandy Stevenson officiating. Sandy Selstad will serve as organist, with Jeff Liden singing "In the Garden" and "Softly and Tenderly." Congregational hymns will be "Sweet Hour of Prayer" and "The Old Rugged Cross."

Visitation will be for one hour prior to the services at the church.

Casketbearers will be Del Ray and John Flom, Don Nygaard, Al Zak, Steve Nordhagen and LeRoy Lund. Interment will be at Greenwood cemetery with the Green Funeral Home in charge of arrangements.

Selma J. Hanson was born September 11, 1906, in Erie, the daughter of John and Alma Stephenson Hanson. She grew up in the Goodridge area and attended school there.

She was united in marriage to Guy McEnelly on November 14, 1926, in Goodridge, and the couple lived there. He died in 1942.

She was united in marriage to Emil Anderson on December 2, 1952, and they lived in Thief River Falls. He died in 1965.

She worked at Mercy hospital and Valley Home in Thief River Falls for many years. She enjoyed crocheting, cooking and entertaining family and friends. She was a long time member of the Assembly of God church.

Survivors include a daughter, Betty Wold, of Thief River Falls; a daughter-in-law, Janice Iverson, of Hatton, ND; two stepchildren, Evelyn Willet of Clearwater, FL, and Mae Anderson of Northville, MI; and a stepdaughter-in-law, Ruth Anderson of Adrian, MI.

She is also survived by six grandchildren, Sheila (husband, George) Duvall, Renae (husband, Richard) Coddington, Dave (wife, Tracey) Wold, Denise (husband, Steve) Nordhagen, Craig (wife, Robin) McEnelly, Deanne (husband, Wayne, Gifford; eight great-grandchildren; and two brothers and two sisters, Eddie of McIntosh, Julian of Tucson, AZ, Inga Coan, Goodridge, and Lillian Nordvold, Zumbrota.

She was preceded in death by a son, Raymond; one sister, Esther; a stepson, Morris Anderson; and a son-in-law, Ralph Wold.

A. Leander Anderson, 101

Stephen — A. Leander Anderson, age 101, died Sunday, November 27, at the Kittson Nursing Home in Hallock.

Funeral services for A. Leander Anderson will be held at 2 p.m. Wednesday, November 30, at Salem Lutheran church, rural Stephen.

Visitation was scheduled from 6:30 to 8 p.m. Tuesday, November 29, at the Quanrud-DuBore Funeral Home in Warren and for one hour prior to the services at the church on Wednesday. Interment will be in Salem Lutheran cemetery.

A. Leander Anderson was born September 20, 1893, in Augsburg township, rural Stephen, the son of John and Rita Anderson. He spent his early years in the rural Stephen area.

In 1918, he joined the United States Army. After his discharge in 1919, he worked as a farm laborer in the Beach, ND, area. He returned to Stephen in 1928 and worked as a fuel truck driver and farm laborer, and drove school bus for the Stephen schools for several years.

He was a 70 year member of the Stephen American Legion and a life long member of Salem Lutheran church of rural Stephen.

He is survived by a sister, Esther Troska of Warren; two brothers, Ivar, Thief River Falls, and Charles of Warren; and several nieces and nephews.

Preceding him in death were his parents and three sisters and three brothers, Giga, Freda and Ellen and Axel, Albin and Theodore.

Dear Readers,
Certain reactions to the death of a loved one are quite common. If the death was unexpected you may even find yourself denying at first that the person has died. Another reaction to a death is anger. You may even feel anger towards the person who died. Guilt is another reaction; guilt because you are angry, you had a quarrel, or simply for being alive when someone else is dead. It is important to remember as time goes on you will work through those feelings.
Sincerely,
Belmont Funeral Home
Larry Belmont

The Gieseke Funeral Chapel was in charge of arrangments.

Kermit B. Trangsrud was born April 28, 1920, in Pohlitz township, Roseau county, rural Badger, the son of Jacob and Sarah Tryhus Trangsrud. He grew up on a farm at Duxby and attended school there. He attended Northwest School of Agriculture at Crookston for four years.

He enlisted in the United States Air Force in January of 1942 and served four years in Africa during World War II. After his discharge, he worked at Borgen Implement in Badger for eight years.

He was united in marriage on December 4, 1949, to Ilene Reed in Badger. The couple lived at Badger until 1954, when he was employed by the Greenbush State Bank in Greenbush. He served on many civic, veteran and church organizations. He was the charter treasurer of the Greenbush Lions club, a member of the Greenbush American Legion and the Badger VFW. He was an active member of Bethel Lutheran church and served 12 years on the Greenbush school board.

He was president of Greenbush State Bank, retiring in 1985. He was currently a member of the Greenbush Insurance Agency. He was an avid sports fan and especially enjoyed football.

Survivors include his wife, Ilene, Greenbush; three sons, Warren, Scottsdale, AZ, Les of Prior Lake, and Gary of Greenbush; and six grandchildren.

Preceding him in death were his parents and four brothers, Justin, Melford, John and Clifford.

James E. Cutt, 93

Hallock — James E. Cutt, age 93, of Hallock, died Wednesday, November 23, at Northwest Medical Center in Thief River Falls.

Funeral services for James B. Cutt were held Monday, November 28, at 1:30 p.m. at First Presbyterian church in Hallock with Rev. David Endriss officiating. Music was provided by Gloria Swanson at the organ and Larry Younggren as soloist.

Casketbearers were Virgil, Amos and Donald Cutt and Fred, Marvin and Leo Anderson. Interment was at Greenwood cemetery in Hallock with the Hughes Funeral Home of Hallock in charge of arrangements.

James E. Cutt was born June 26, 1901, at Halma, the son of Oliver and Hannah Anderson Cutt. He grew up and attended school in the Hallock area.

November 4, 1930, he was united in marriage to Margaret Gaetz at Emerson, Manitoba, Canada. The couple farmed in the Hallock area except during World War II, when they lived and worked in California. They returned to Minnesota after the war and he was employed as a carpenter in Thief River Falls and Hallock until his retirement.

He is survived by his wife, Margaret, Hallock; one daughter, Mona (husband, Sherman) Johnson, Thief River Falls; a granddaughter, Debra Erickson; two great-grandsons, Aaron and Andrew; one brother, William, Moose Jaw, Saskatchewan, Canada; one sister, Mayme Jicha, Coleman, WI; and several nieces and nephews.

Preceding him in death were his parents; a sister, Lillian; and three brothers, John, Fred and Robert.

Peder A. Pederson, 96

Halma — Peder A. Pederson, age 96, died Wednesday afternoon, November 23, at the Karlstad Memorial Hospital.

Funeral services for Peder Pederson were held at 2 p.m. Saturday, November 26, at Eidsvold Lutheran church in Halma with Rev. Gary Halverson officiating. Farrah Anderson presided at the organ, with Ruth Halverson singing "Snart Randas En Dag," "The Lord is my Shepherd" and "In the Garden." Congregational hymns were "How Great Thou Art," "I Know of a Sleep in Jesus' Name" and "Lift High the Cross."

Casketbearers were grandsons of the deceased, Darin Pederson; Glendon Jr.; Dean and Peder Spilde; Kevin Rockwell; and Don and Brad Peterson. Interment was at Oslo cemetery in Halma with the Collins Funeral Home in charge of arrangements.

Peder Angel Pederson was born February 6, 1898, at Trondheim, Norway, the son of Martin G. and Maren Svendsen Pederson. At the age of three he came to the United States with his parents, settling in Springbrook township, Kittson county, near Halma. He was baptized and confirmed in the Lutheran faith, attended school and grew to manhood there. He attended business college in Crookston.

July 20, 1923, he was united in marriage to Caroline "Lena" Satterlund at Hallock. The couple made their home at Halma, where they farmed and owned and operated the elevator until it was destroyed by fire in 1943. They operated an implement business and the Halma Oil and Supply.

He served on the Halma city council for several years and was a long time member of the Eidsvold Lutheran church of Halma, as well as the Halma Senior Citizen group. After they retired, the couple wintered in Texas. Lena Pederson died July 30, 1985. Peder Pederson had been a resident of the Karlstad Memorial Nursing Home since February of 1990.

Strandquist

The Strandquist Senior Citizens went each their separate ways on Thursday to celebrate Thanksgiving Day with relatives and friends and most had a good time. They plan to have a potluck dinner this week end and have a gift exchange between members. That will be the last meeting until Spring but I will try to keep in contact with them so all the folks who keep in touch with Strandquist people through the News will be able to do so.

Morris and Marcelyn Lindstrom spent last week at Dr. Paul and Diane Ditmanson's in Bemidji with the boys while Paul and Diane and Baby KatyJo were in Minneapolis.

Guests for Thanksgiving Day dinner at Isaac and Betsy Thompson's were Richard, Carol, Nicole and Kari Thompson of Red Lake Falls, Elmer Holmstrom, Nelson LaDoux of Thief River Falls, Robert, Cathy, Andrew and Lisa Thompson. Larry Fossell visited them in the afternoon.

Morris and Hazel Anderson accompanied by Joshua, Jarad and Allison Britten had Thanksgiving dinner with Jim, Cindy and Christy Wetterlund in Grand Forks and after dinner they toured the new Wetterlund home which is almost ready to move into.

Mary and Donna Renstrom, Lois Carrico and Lavonne Johnson enjoyed potato dumplings at Peter and Pearl Thompson's on Monday evening.

Thanksgiving dinner guests at Frank and Judy Kleinvachter's were Ben, Brenda Kasprowicz, Shalane and Jeremy, Claudia Berggren, Jessie and Kali, Kari Kasprowicz, Wayne Martineon, Brian Nelson and Lowell Lefrooth.

LaVol Thun visited at Ed Carlson's Friday evening with Lori and Todd Jansen, who were home for Thanksgiving.

Walter Thompson had Thanksgiving dinner with Elsie Lafrooth and in the evening they enjoyed supper at Rick and Karen Zimmerman's.

Morris and Marcelyn Lindstrom, Dr. Paul and Diane Ditmanson, Denny, Brad and KatyJo of Bemidji and Tyler and Kathy Lindstrom were Thanksgiving Day guests of Ted and Lori Johnson of Hallock.

LaVoi Thun was a Thanksgiving Day dinner guest at Delores Bruggeman's in Mahnomen together with Scott Thun, Mike and Jim Bruggeman, families of Moorhead and Mark Bruggeman family of Crookston.

Debbie, Mike, Ryan and Eric Evans of Lino Lakes arrived at Peter Thompson's early Thursday morning to spend Thanksgiving weekend with them and other relatives. Thanksgiving dinner guests at Peter and Pearl's were the Evans family, LeVonne Johnson, David, Phasie and Brent Thompson, Danny, Michelle and Jeremy Johnson and Mark Melby. Becky Johnson came by after work. The Evans family left for home Saturday afternoon.

Brian Nelson, Brittany, Matthew and Shalane, Kari Kasprowicz and Claudia Berggren visited Frank and Judy Kleinvachter on Sunday.

LaVol Thun and Florence Myhrer visited Anne Hanson and Ella Thun at Valley Home Monday morning and with Kore Myhrer at the hospital in Thief River Falls.

Dean Holmstrom had lunch with Elsie Lefrooth on Monday. Bud and Merle Steffen visited Frank Kleinvachter on Friday and Claudia Berggren and Brian Nelson was there on Saturday.

The following Thompsons visited Elsie Lefrooth on Sunday, Pearl, Betsy, Isaac and Walter.

Scrap dealers need permits

Scrap dealers who recycle major appliances will need to be certified by Jan. 1, 1995, to recycle refrigerants. The law affects anyone who recycles appliances for reuse of the metals (including mercury), to remove the refrigerant or to remove capacitors and ballasts containing PCBs.

Minnesota Pollution Control Agency said that a list of organizations approved by the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency for such certification is available. To obtain the list, those interested may write to Troy Johnson, MPCA Air Quality Division, 520 Lafayette Road, St. Paul, MN 55155 or call him at 1-800-657-3864 or 612-297-7153.

Minnesota appliance recyclers have been required since July of 1991 to capture chlorofluorocarbon and hydrochlorofluorocarbon refrigerants from scrapped appliances. People who repair appliances and air conditioners currently must be certified to recycle the refrigerant, but until now no law called for technician certification for people who accepted appliances for scrap.

According to the MPCA, these refrigerants are long-lived chemicals that eventually rise high above the earth after being released into the air. In the upper stratosphere they destroy the layer of ozone that protects the earth from the sun's dangerous ultraviolet rays. Under an international phase-out agreement, production of new CFCs has been sharply reduced and will end after 1995. HCFCs are also being phased out of production. Recycled refrigerants will still be allowed for recharging air conditioners and appliances that require them.

U.S. farms fewest since 1850 census

Number drops below 2 million for first time in 144 years

For the first time since the 1850 census, the number of farms in the United States numbers fewer than two million, according to figures provided by the Bureau of the Census, U.S. Department of Commerce.

The 1992 census of agriculture counted 1,925,300 farms in the United States—less than a third the record high number of farms recorded in 1935 at 6.8 million. The value of U.S. agricultural products sold in 1992 reached $163 billion.

Even though the number of farms continued to decline, overall farm production increased, thus continuing the trend toward more efficient agricultural productivity. The 333,865 farms with sales of $100,000 or more accounted for only 17 per cent of all farms but 83 per cent of total sales. There were 46,914 farms with sales of $500,000 or more in 1992, compared to 32,023 farms with that volume of sales in 1987.

Increase in value of sales was largely due to increased crop production in 1992. Although total land in farms dropped from 965 million acres to 946 million acres in the five years between 1987 and 1992, harvested cropland rose from 282 million to 296 million acres and crop sales rose by 28 per cent in the same period.

Farmer participation in federal annual commodity programs has declined since 1987. Acres idled by those programs fell from 43 million acres in 1987 to only seven million acres in 1992.

Notable regional shifts in milk cows and hogs have been taking place in recent censuses and accelerated between 1987 and 1992. Since 1987 milk cow inventories decreased in 39 of the 50 states and the five Great Lakes states of Wisconsin, Minnesota, New York, Ohio and Pennsylvania had large declines. Collectively, they lost 514,948 head, or 12 per cent of their combined 1987 inventories.

Five western and southwestern states—California, Texas, Washington, Idaho and New Mexico—added 314,595 head. California and New Mexico accounted for 73 per cent of that increase. Despite a nationwide decrease in the number of milk cows, the value of dairy products sold registered an 11 per cent gain between 1987 and 1992 to a value of $18 billion.

There has also been a shift in hog production. It has remained strong in traditional midwestern states such as Iowa, Illinois, Minnesota, Indiana and Nebraska. However, North Carolina registered a 108 per cent growth in number of hogs sold in 1992 compared with 1987, becoming the second ranked state in number of hogs sold in 1992—up from sixth place in 1987.

Sales of poultry and poultry products continued an upward trend, registering a 21 per cent increase between 1987 and 1992. Poultry and poultry products sales were $15.4 billion in 1992, up $2.7 billion from 1987. Alabama, Arkansas, California, Georgia and North Carolina accounted for 46 per cent of all poultry and poultry products sold. The number of broilers sold was 5.4 billion.

Average age of operators rose to 53.3 years of age in 1992 from 52.0 years of age in 1987. There were 145,156 female operators in 1992, which represents 7.5 per cent of the total U.S. farm operators and an increase of about 11 per cent in female farm operators from 1987. The average age of female operators was 57.6 years in 1992 compared to 52.9 years for male operators.

Between 1987 and 1992, average farm size increased from 462 to 491 acres. Nearly a third of U.S. farms (30.3 per cent) were from 50 to 179 acres in size. There were 28.8 per cent from one to 49 acres, 22.2 per cent from 180 to 499 acres, 9.7 per cent from 500 to 999 acres, 5.3 per cent from 1,000 to 1,999 acres and only 3.7 per cent of 2,000 acres or more.

Average sales of farm products increased from $65,165 to $84,459 and average expenses per farm from $51,797 to $67,928. For the 1992 Census of Agriculture, a farm was considered to be any place which sold or normally would have sold $1,000 or more of agricultural products during the census year.

From 1850 to 1920 the farm census was taken only every 10 years. Since 1920 the farm census is taken at five-year intervals. Number of farms increased each 10 years from 1.4 million in 1850 to 2.0 in 1860, 2.7 in 1870, 4.0 in 1880, 4.6 in 1890, 5.7 in 1900, 6.4 in 1910 and 6.5 million in 1920.

Number of farms then declined to 6.4 million in 1925 and 6.3 million in 1930 before setting a record number of 6.8 million in 1935.

Since 1935 the number of farms has declined or failed to increase in every census with 6.1 million farms counted in 1940, 5.9 in 1945, 5.4 in 1950, 4.8 in 1954, 3.7 in 1959, 3.2 in 1964, 2.7 in 1969, 2.3 in 1974, 2.3 in 1978, 2.2 in 1982, 2.1 in 1987 and 1.9 million in 1992.

Names of agencies change as USDA changes

Some familiar U.S. Department of Agriculture agencies have new names under the department's reorganization, including the Farmers Home Administration.

FmHA is called Rural Economic and Community Development (RECD) under the reorganization which is intended to provide better service to the public while reducing the number of agencies required.

"Over the next five years, savings to taxpayers will total $3.6 billion through elimination of 14 separate USDA agencies and staff reductions of up to 11,000 nationwide," states Janice Daley, acting RECD state director.

Daley said the FmHA and Rural Development Administration (RDA) are being abolished and most of their loan and grant programs are being taken over under the RECD title.

The farm lending, rural housing, water and waste disposal, community facility and business and industry programs formerly administered by FmHA or RDA will still be available at the newly named RECD offices. The farm loan programs will become part of a new Farm Service Agency created under reorganization.

"For the time being," notes Pennington county FmHA supervisor Charles J. Phillips, "people wanting those services should go to the local office that probably will still have a Farmers Home Administration sign out front. As additional changes are made we will be letting the community know about them."

1994 crop is now eligible for grain reserve

Producers can now place the 1994 crop of corn, barley and oats into the Farmer-Owned Reserve (FOR), according to Orlan Stolaas, chairman of the Pennington County Farm Service Agency (FSA) Committee (formerly the Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service).

Producers can earn advance storage payments of 26.5 cents per bushel for corn and barley and 20 cents for oats.

Producers must file intentions to place the grain in the reserve no later than April 20, 1995, at the local offices of the FSA. Although filing the intention does not obligate the producer to place the grain in the reserve, a nine-month Commodity Credit Corporation (CCC) price support agreement must be executed before the intention is filed.

"Producers may not obtain the reserve loan until after the expiration of the nine-month price support loan," Stolaas continued. "For further information, producers should contact their local FSA office."

The Rivervalley Homemakers Study group met at the Theresa Radniecki home last Thursday. A very interesting lesson on Home Health was presented by Therese and several very clever craft projects were demonstrated by Darlene Elsbraner. The Christmas party was discussed and Annabelle Chervestad gave the Home Council Report. The Market Basket was won by Helen Chervestad. Members present were Lena Nelson, Gloria Rustan, Galene Lundaan, Barb Chervestad, Darlene Elsbrenar, Helen Chervestad. Guests were Vi Radniecki and Clara Radniecki. Lunch was served by Therese and Darlene.

Tuesday evening the Lost River Ramblers met at the Community Hall in Oklee. Members discussed the upcoming Christmas party and elected officers for the next year. The programs were set up and members assigned to give project talks and demonstrations. Cindy Lambert and Jenny Tougas led the games and lunch was served by Jimmy Dulka.

The Community extends its sympathies to the Elois Smsky and Ruth Olson families on their loss.

Therese and Virgil Radniecki spent the weekend with Gen and Mitch Hayle in St. Louis Park, and on Friday evening they were dinner guests at the Chad and Laurie Perreault home in Champlin. Other guests that were there were Deb and Richard Perreault of Waseka and Penny, Dick and Gary Kalar and Myah Hayle.

On Saturday the family went to the airport to see Harriet Perreault off to Arizona where she will spend the winter at Appache Junction.

Sunday the family gathered at the Kalar home to watch the Vikings football game. On Monday, Therese and Virgil enjoyed lunch at the Gayle and Steve Grossman home in Staples.

On Sunday, dinner guests at the Therese and Virgil Radniecki home were Geri and Errol Rustan and family. Marc Parenteau is spending a few days with his grandparents while his parents are visiting New York City.

NCC women will take on Cobbers in '94-95 opener

A strong inside attack and an athletic backcourt will make up the starting line-up Thursday when the Northland Community College women's basketball team opens its 1994-95 season at home with a 5:30 p.m. game against the Concordia College junior varsity.

Second half of the doubleheader will be a Northland-Concordia men's game at 7:30 p.m. The Northland men opened their season Tuesday against UND-Lake Region in Devils Lake.

Northland women's coach Rick Nikunen will start 6-0 sophomore Kelli Kronschnabel (Fertile) and 5-10 freshman Angel Mickelson (Oklee) on the inside, while a three-guard set includes 5-6 sophomore Denise Johnson (Middle River), 5-6 freshman Gina Salverson (Fosston) and 5-5 freshman Alana Splide (Karlstad).

"With Kelly and Angel, we have good inside people," noted Nikunen, "and the perimeter people are all good basketball players."

The Pioneers went 10-12 during the regular season last year, earned a Minnesota Community College Conference state tournament berth, and wound up 10-14 overall.

"I see the potential to be a better team than we were last year," said Nikunen. "We have better overall quickness and speed. Being young, it might take a little longer to show what they're capable of doing, but I'm optimistic. I like what I see."

Hockey tickets on sale

Thief River Falls Sports Boosters Club is currently selling 1994-95 Lincoln High School hockey season tickets.

A single season ticket for the Prowlers' 10 home games at the Huck Olson Memorial Civic Center is priced at $30 – a $10 savings over the cost of purchasing an individual game ticket for each contest. You can purchase two season tickets for $55 – a $25 savings; three season tickets for $85 – a $35 savings; or four season tickets for $110 – a $50 savings.

Season tickets assures you of the same seat location for every home game, except for the Christmas Tournament.

To order tickets, send checks to the Thief River Falls Sports Boosters, P.O. Box 184, Thief River Falls, MN 56701.

Season tickets can also be purchased at the home opener Dec. 6 vs. Warroad.

For additional information, contact Kathy Treat at 681-1930.

Skeim named volleyball MVP

Kelly Skeim was selected the most valuable player on the 1994 Lincoln High School volleyball team at the Prowlers' annual awards banquet Monday.

Skeim was also named the top defensive player, while Sarah Huschle was voted the top offensive player.

Other special awards went to Maren Thorson and Huschle, hardest workers; Jenny Drury and Carrie Rud, most improved; Huschle, Coaches Award; Michelle Mathson, Rookie of the Year; and Kendra Dimich, team spirit.

Dimich, Thorson and Heather Holthusen were named captains of the 1995 Prowlers, a role filled by Skeim and Huschle this fall.

Athletic letters went to Drury, Huschle and Skeim (seniors); Dimich, Rude, Holthusen, Thorson, Sarah Koland, and Lisa Odegaard (juniors); Mathson, Kim Hook and Erica Owen (sophomores); along with student manager Stacy Narlock.

The Prowlers went 14-13 this year, losing to eventual Class AA state runner-up Alexandria in the North Sub-Section 8AA semifinals.

Huschle set school records with 52 blocks and 220 kills, while Dimich set a school mark with 297 assists.

Kuznia will lead B/G-MR boys

Matt Kuznia and the Badger/Greenbush-Middle River boys high school basketball team received some off-season help this year when Richard Klein, a 6-7 foreign exchange student from Slovakia showed up.

Klein will help take some of the inside load off Kuznia, a 6-5 senior who averaged a team-leading 18.7 points and 7.1 rebounds per game for the 14-9 Gators last winter. He already is a member of the 1,000-Point Club with 1,035 career points.

"We will build around Matt," acknowledged Badger/Greenbush-Middle River coach Eldon Sparby. Klein, said Sparby, "will be a real help."

Russell Larson, a 6-0 senior, averaged 7 points per game as a guard/forward last year, while 5-8 seniors Sheldon Ruud and Vance Harren split time at a guard.

They form a group that Sparby figures could be a North Border Conference and Section 8A Sub-Section 4 contender. "We think we'll be in the running in the conference," he said, "and I think we have a shot in the sub-section. It should be a very competitive conference. I don't think anybody will be unbeaten. I think the sub-section will be pretty balanced, too."

With Klein and Kuznia, the Gators have a size edge over most opponents. "Because we'll be bigger than most teams, people will press us," explained Sparby. "We'll have to show that we have the guards who can handle it. We will run if we have the opportunity, but if we can make it into a half-court game, it will be to our advantage."

The Gators open the season Saturday against Lake of the Woods. It will be the 22nd opener for Sparby as either head coach of the Gators or Middle River before the B/G-MR combination was formed.

Huskies have strong backcourt

Goodridge is stocked with guards, but the Huskies are looking for help up front heading into the 1994-95 boys high school basketball season.

Seniors Brady Wiseth and Mitch Smsky formed the Goodridge backcourt last year when Wiseth (11.5 points per game) was an all-conference pick in the Polar Conference and Smsky (9.5) was an all-conference selection in the North Tri-County Conference.

They will receive help from a healthy Ryan Kriel, who was slowed throughout his junior season by back problems.

Also returning is 6-3 senior center Martin Dahlen, who scored 5.5 points per game and led the Huskies in rebounding last year.

They have to find replacements for forwards Eldon Quam and Travis Kotrba, who were named all-conference in both the Polar and North Tri-County.

"We've got good guards," pointed out Goodridge coach John Rahn, "and I think Martin Dahlen will come around in the middle. Our big question mark will be at the two forward positions."

Early candidates for those spots are 6-0 senior Bryce Marquis, 6-2 junior John Gallagher and 6-2 sophomore Jason Schroeder.

The Huskies, who were 15-7 last year, open the season Tuesday, Dec. 6, vs. Climax/Fisher in Climax.

Rahn is in his ninth year as Goodridge head coach. Start No. 2 for the Huskies will be a Friday, Dec. 9, match-up against Warren-Alvarado-Oslo on a neutral court – Northland Community College. They will also be in Thief River Falls for the annual Northland Community College Invitational boys high school basketball tournament Dec. 15-17.

1994-95 Goodridge Boys

Tuesday, Dec. 6 - Climax/Fisher (at Climax); Friday, Dec. 9 - Warren-Alvarado-Oslo (at Northland Community College); Saturday, Dec. 10 - at Roseau; Thursday/Saturday, Dec. 15/17 - Northland Community College Invitational; Tuesday, Jan. 3 - Red Lake County Central; Friday, Jan. 6 - Clearbrook-Gonvick-Trail; Monday, Jan. 9 - Kittson County North (at Lancaster); Tuesday, Jan. 10 - Badger/Greenbush-Middle River; Friday, Jan. 20 - at Red Lake Falls; Saturday, Jan. 21 - Kittson County North; Monday, Jan. 23 - at Crookston; Tuesday, Jan. 31 - East Grand Forks Sacred Heart; Friday, Feb. 3 - Climax/Fisher; Saturday, Feb. 4 - Northome/Kelliher; Tuesday, Feb. 7 - Red Lake County Central (at Plummer); Friday, Feb. 10 - at East Grand Forks Sacred Heart; Tuesday, Feb. 14 - Red Lake Falls; Tuesday, Feb. 21 - Argyle; Friday, Feb. 24 - Clearbrook-Gonvick-Trail (at Clearbrook); Tuesday, Feb. 28 - at East Grand Forks.

MCC short on size, but not talent

■ Marshall County Central boys basketball

There isn't a lot of size on the Marshall County Central boys high school basketball roster this year, but that doesn't mean you should sell the Nordics short when looking around for a North Border Conference or Section 8A Sub-Section 4 favorite.

"We don't have a true post player, but we've got good depth, pretty good quickness and good shooters," pointed out Ron Ueland, who is starting his 30th year as Nordics head coach.

Marshall County Central went 16-9 a year ago, reaching the Section 8A Sub-Section 4 finals before losing a 43-41 decision to Kittson Central.

Graduation took three seniors, but that is a "normal turnover" in the Marshall County Central personnel department, noted Ueland.

Seniors Brandon Borg (13.5 points per game) and Kent Rokke (8.2) are returning starters, while junior Trever Magner was a part-time starter. Senior Craig Ranum,

TRF to start hockey season on the road

Thief River Falls will open its 1994-95 high school hockey schedule on the road this week, playing Thursday at Bemidji and Saturday at Grand Forks Central.

The Prowlers' home opener will be Tuesday, Dec. 6, vs. Warroad.

First-year head coach Pat Cullen watched his team skate against Warroad, Roseau and East Grand Forks in a series of scrimmages Saturday, and admitted the Prowlers have a ways to go before they reach the level of the preseason Section 8A favorites.

"They're better than we are right now," said Cullen. "We've got a lot of work ahead of us, but I think we found out we can play with the upper-level type teams. We just saw how much harder and how much better we have to play if we want to beat them."

The scrimmages afforded an opportunity to give the entire roster ice time, pointed out Cullen. "We played a lot of kids," he said. "Six-seven of them had never played high school hockey before. It was a learning experience. We needed to see who could play."

Likely first game line combinations will include senior Tim Barry and juniors Nick Chiodo and Keith Anderson; juniors Jason Breiland, Steve Rambeck and Aaron Ehrenstrom; senior Jared Lee, junior Chad Hanson and sophomore Chad Nordhagen; junior Adam Fulton and sophomores Bryan Cleven and Curt Edwards.

On defense the pairs will be senior Brian Howe and junior Andy Furuseth; juniors Paul Gonsorowski and David Halsa; senior Matt LeMoine and sophomore Ben Furuseth.

Junior Chanc Keefe will start in goal.

Giauque, Olin do well vs. state competition

Thief River Falls entries in the 1994 Minnesota girls state high school swim meet turned in strong performances, according to Prowlers coach Ryan Lokken, but outstanding competition kept Theresa Giauque and Jennifer Olin off the leader board.

Giauque, a senior making her fourth state meet appearance, set two school records during the Tuesday/Wednesday state meet competition at the University of Minnesota Aquatic Center in Minneapolis with a 1:59.67 in the 200 freestyle and a 5:25.93 in the 500 freestyle. She did not make the finals in either event (top 8), but did place 15th in the consolation finals (places 9-through-16) in the 200.

Olin, a junior making her second state meet trip, was 21st in the one-meter diving competition, where the top 20 make the cut.

"Theresa swam extremely well, and Jennifer dove extremely well," said Lokken. "The competition was unreal. It was the strongest and fastest state meet Minnesota has ever seen."

Jenny Hennen of Anoka won the 200 in 1:50.57, and Katie Carlson of Shakopee took the 500 in 5:00.67. The diving title went to Thea Hoeg of Prior Lake with 420.85 points.

Apple Valley won team honors by a 20-point margin over runner-up Woodbury, 197-177.

Grygla-Gatzke boys rebuilding this year

Grygla-Gatzke faces a rebuilding job heading into the 1994-95 boys high school basketball season.

Graduation took four of the five starters that helped carry the 11-15 Eagles into the Section 8A Sub-Section 4 tournament semifinals for the first time last spring.

Senior Jeromy Verbout, who averaged 7.8 points per game, is the only starter back. Juniors Jamie Lunsetter and Scott Hoganson were top reserves a year ago when Lunsetter supplied 10.5 points per game off the bench.

Other seniors on hand are Kevin Warne, Denny Warne and Tony Mosher.

"We're starting all over again," acknowledged Grygla-Gatzke coach Vern Johnson.

The Eagles, who will not have a varsity regular over 6-1, will try to compensate for the lack of size with some quickness. "We're really short," noted Johnson, "but we've got some fairly good speed. We're going to try to out-run everybody."

It may take a while to get all the pieces in place, but Johnson is hoping the 1994-95 Eagles can put themselves in position to make a tournament run much like last year's squad did. They open the season Tuesday, Dec. 6, at Warroad – the first of eight straight Grygla-Gatzke road games. The home opener will not arrive until Jan. 10.

1994-95 Grygla-Gatzke Boys

Tuesday, Dec. 6 - at Warroad; Friday, Dec. 9 - at Stephen; Thursday/Saturday, Dec. 15/17 - Northland Community College Invitational; Tuesday, Jan. 3 - Tri-County (at Karlstad); Friday, Jan. 6 - Badger/Greenbush-Middle River (at Greenbush); Saturday, Jan. 7 - Kittson Central (at Kennedy); Tuesday, Jan. 10 - Marshall County Central; Friday, Jan. 13 - Lake of the Woods; Saturday, Jan. 14 - Red Lake Falls; Tuesday, Jan. 17 - Warroad; Saturday, Jan. 21 - Argyle; Tuesday, Jan. 24 - Kittson County North; Friday, Jan. 27 - at Roseau; Friday, Feb. 3 - at Marshall County Central; Monday, Feb. 6 - at Red Lake Falls; Tuesday, Feb. 7 - at Lake of the Woods; Friday, Feb. 10 - Badger/Greenbush-Middle River; Tuesday, Feb. 14 - Red Lake County Central (at Oklee); Tuesday, Feb. 21 - East Grand Forks Sacred Heart; Friday, Feb. 24 - Roseau.

RLCC boys basketball...

Mustangs looking for strong season

Red Lake County Central boys high school basketball coach Todd Fore isn't hiding the fact that he expects the Mustangs to be title contender this winter.

Reason for optimism is the return of four starters from a 15-8 ball club, a group that includes seniors Aaron Rosten and Scott Lorenson, and juniors Aaron Chaput and Bryce Huotari. Add to that line-up senior Dan Gagner, who saw plenty of playing time off the bench last winter.

The 6-2 Chaput scored 19.4 points per game as a sophomore, while the 6-4 Rosten averaged 11.1 and 6-0 Huotari scored at a 10.2 clip.

"I don't see why not," said Fore when asked if the Mustangs should be considered a Section 8A Sub-Section 3 contender this year. "We've got experience and we've got size. We should be better than we were last year, and I thought we had a pretty good club last year."

If there is a concern, said Fore, it's a lack of proven depth, and the Mustangs' history of inconsistent play on defense. "We have lots of kids," he said. "We just need to have them step forward and get the job done."

Red Lake County Central will open the season Friday vs. Marshall County Central in Newfolden.

1994-95 RLCC Boys

Friday, Dec. 2 - at Marshall County Central; Tuesday, Dec. 6 - Fertile-Beltrami (at Plummer); Friday, Dec. 9 - Win-E-Mac (at Oklee); Tuesday, Dec. 13 - at Red Lake Falls; Thursday/Saturday, Dec. 15/17 - Northland Community College Invitational; Tuesday, Dec. 20 - East Grand Forks (at Plummer); Tuesday, Jan. 3 - at Goodridge; Friday, Jan. 6 - Climax/Fisher (at Climax); Tuesday, Jan. 10 - at Mahnomen; Friday, Jan. 20 - Clearbrook-Gonvick-Trail (at Oklee); Tuesday, Jan. 24 - East Grand Forks Sacred Heart (at Plummer); Friday, Jan. 27 - at Win-E-Mac; Tuesday, Jan. 31 - Red Lake Falls (at Oklee); Friday, Feb. 3 - at Warren-Alvarado-Oslo; Tuesday, Feb. 7 - Goodridge (at Plummer); Friday, Feb. 10 - Clearbrook-Gonvick-Trail (at Clearbrook); Tuesday, Feb. 14 - Grygla-Gatzke (at Oklee); Tuesday, Feb. 21 - at Fosston; Friday, Feb. 24 - Norman County East (at Oklee); Tuesday, Feb. 28 - Crookston (at Plummer).

Cullen, Anderson address Boosters

Lincoln High School hockey coach Pat Cullen and wrestling coach John Anderson will be the guest speakers Thursday at the 12-noon Thief River Falls Sports Boosters Club meeting at the Elks.

Nine-Man title won by Kittson Central

Prep Bowl Results

Deer Hunters group will meet Thursday

Election of officers for 1995 and committee reports will be received Thursday when the Thief River Falls Chapter of the Minnesota Deer Hunters Association meets at 7 p.m. at the Eagles.

A guest speaker will also be on hand to discuss wildlife food plots for small woodlot applications.

The meeting is open all members and any other interested deer hunters.

DNR catalog features a variety of gift ideas

Gifts of Minnesota's great outdoors are available from the Department of Natural Resources. And the givers will be helping out Minnesota's natural resources and environmental education.

The Minnesota State Parks Nature Store catalog features gifts that reflect the natural beauty and wonder of the great outdoors. Gifts range in price from a $6.50 coffee mug to a $99.95 oak-framed nature print. In addition, this year's catalog includes information and dates for a whole variety of naturalist-led programs to be held this winter and throughout next year in state parks.

According to Kate Brady, supervisor of public affairs and marketing for Minnesota state parks, including information on environmental education programs is a "natural" for this catalog since 20 percent of every sale goes back into conservation and projects in state parks. In fiscal year 1994, more than $115,000 was allocated for projects, including the management of exotic species such as European buckthorn, and the updating of state parks interpretive displays.

"The catalog not only spans the seasons with great gift ideas," said Brady, "it also offers suggestions for individual and family activities during different seasons of the year, like learning how to snowshoe this winter at Mille Lacs Kathio State Park or making maple syrup next spring at Wild River or Myre-Big Island state parks.

"The products we've selected are affordable gifts, many made by local artists," said Brady. "Folks can choose from an array of jewelry, books, lady-slipper soap, hiking sticks, field guides, dolls and puzzles. Our T-shirts and sweatshirts offer colorful images of wildflowers, lady-slippers, brook trout or a reproduction of an oil painting of the St. Croix River Valley," said Brady. The St. Croix scene also graces the state park annual permit for 1995. It's also available on the limited edition mug and as a framed or unframed print.

"One of the more popular items is the Minnesota state park calendar, which not only features beautiful photographs of state park scenes, but is also packed with information about park activities, history and things to see in state parks," said Brady.

Brady also suggested giving a gift to take the edge of winter's chill: a warm, north country cotton throw woven with either a bear and moose design, or a bluebird on a background of apple blossoms. One of the more unusual items in the catalog is a squirrel-proof birdfeeder that confounds the squirrels.

The Minnesota state park calendar for 1995 and annual vehicle permit are also available through the catalog at a special price of $24.95. Another discounted combination is the annual permit and coffee mug, priced at $23.50. An individual gift of the annual permit is $18. Permits, calendars and the permit mug can also be purchased at most state parks.

To obtain a catalog, stop by any Minnesota state park or DNR regional office, or call the DNR Information Center toll free in Minnesota at 1-800-766-6000.

State Parks Calendar

While out and about in Minnesota state parks, remember to carry a camera. Enter 35mm color slides in the State Parks Calendar Photo Contest and those transparencies could bring more than good memories. Photographers whose work is chosen to be included in the 1996 State Parks Calendar will win $25 in cash and five complimentary calendars.

To enter, submit up to 20 original slides taken in Minnesota state parks of scenery, wildlife, flora, historic sites, or people enjoying outdoor recreation. The slides should be horizontal in format. Black and white prints are not acceptable.

Each slide should be labeled with the photographer's name, the name of the park in which the photo was taken, and the subject matter. Also note the film speed, shutter speed, f-stop setting, and special filters used, if any. Slides should be submitted in a clear plastic 35mm slide sheet accompanied by a self-addressed, stamped return envelope.

The deadline for entries is Jan. 16, 1995. Entry forms can be obtained from the DNR Information Center by calling (612) 296-6157 in the Twin Cities metro area, or by calling toll free in Minnesota 1-800-766-6000.

The 1995 calendar is now on sale for $7.95 plus tax. It is available in state parks or through the Nature Store Gift Catalog, which can be ordered by calling the DNR Information Center.

TIP reports help to protect Minnesota natural resources

Minnesota's hunters and anglers have a tradition of ethical behavior championed by their own conservation organizations. These sportsmen and sportswomen have helped finance and support a dramatic comeback of many wildlife species in the state. So if they observe someone abusing the natural resources, they take action.

That's evidenced by the number of calls to the 24-hour Turn In Poachers hotline. TIP had resulted in 132 arrests this year alone as of mid-October.

Those with information can call 1-800-652-9093 to report violations. They can remain anonymous and are eligible for rewards, noted Nancy Huonder, a law information officers for the Department of Natural Resources.

"TIP has been an important way for law-abiding citizens to help protect the resources they cherish," said Huonder.

"The number one violation reported to TIP is deer poaching," she noted, "but we get important calls on a wide variety of violations."

Huonder cautioned that the TIP line is for reporting violations only. No general hunting or fishing information is available from TIP.

Marshall Co. Central boys basketball will start on Friday night

along with juniors Micah Ranum, Terry Olson and Kyle Halvorson are also returning lettermen, and 6-5 senior Matt Augustine has been a pleasant surprise in early season drills.

"We'll be underdogs against the big teams, but I think we'll have a good, competitive team," said Ueland. "With our size, we'll have to try to use the entire floor both offensively and defensively."

The Nordics open the season at home Friday vs. Red Lake county Central.

State Park Permit

A peaceful scene on the St. Croix River from the late 19th century graces the new Minnesota state parks annual permit for 1995. The permit features Interstate State Park at Taylor Falls, depicted in a reproduction of an original 1880 painting from the permanent collection of the Minnesota Historical Society. The park will celebrate its 100th anniversary next year.

The 1995 state parks annual permit is on sale now. The $18 cost allows an unlimited number of visits to all state parks through Dec. 31, 1995. For those owning more than one car, second permits are available for $12 each. Special permits for Minnesota residents with disabilities and Minnesota senior citizens are also available for $12 each.

Although painted more than 100 years ago, the painting depicts a river setting that appears nearly the same today as it did when Minnesota artist Elijah E. Edwards painted it, according to Interstate Park Manager Stephen Anderson. "Thankfully, wise thinking prevailed 100 years ago when the beauty and grandeur of the area was recognized and a state park was established for future generations to enjoy."

The Minnesota Legislature created Interstate State Park in 1895. Wisconsin followed suit in 1900, and the nation's first interstate park was created. Today, visitors enjoy the natural beauty of a riverway protected by two states and designated as a National Scenic Riverway. Modern boats have replaced the rowboat shown in the painting, but otherwise the St. Croix has retained its natural and scenic appeal.

"The park is often referred to as a masterpiece in rock and water," said Anderson. "It's an area full of marvels and surprises. In less than 300 acres, you can encounter every kind of terrain from prairie remnants to river flood plain, from big woods to pine forests. Eagles, ospreys and hawks glide among the cliffs and feed from the water."

Interstate's appeal is evidenced by the 400,000 visitors drawn to the area each year, which ranks it among the top four most visited state parks in Minnesota.

The "River Dream" painting reproduced on this year's annual permit is also available on T-shirts, sweatshirts and mugs.

Arrest. On November 27 William Patrick Hughes, Jr., 20, Fargo, ND, was taken into custody. He was wanted on warrants for the following: theft, driving while intoxicated, no insurance, driving after revocation (two counts), tampering with a motor vehicle, consumption under age, gross misdemeanor furnishing and receiving stolen property.

Hospice holds Light Up A Life ceremony

Northland Community Hospice held its annual Light Up A Life Tree ceremony Monday night at Northwest Medical Center. This year about 75 people were honored.

The ceremony allows area residents to remember or honor special family members who received or are receiving some assistance from Northland Community Service. The organizations provides assistance to individuals and families with a family member who is dying.

The ceremony held Monday night included a candle lighting ceremony, tree lighting ceremony, special music and an invocation. Joey Hogberg sang a solo, and Joey, Jenny, Jordan, Ben, Abby and Megan Waterworth, and Phil and Marinell Waterworth sang in a group. The invocation was delivered by Pastor Carroll Erickson. Daryl Myers read the names for which a tree was lit.

Martha Wissmann, executive director of Northland Community Hospice, announced Monday night that Hospice will start a book this year. The book called the Hospice Book of Memory, will contain the names of all of the individuals who have been honored in the Light Up A Life Tree program since its inception. The book will be displayed in the lobby of Northwest Medical Center during the holiday season.

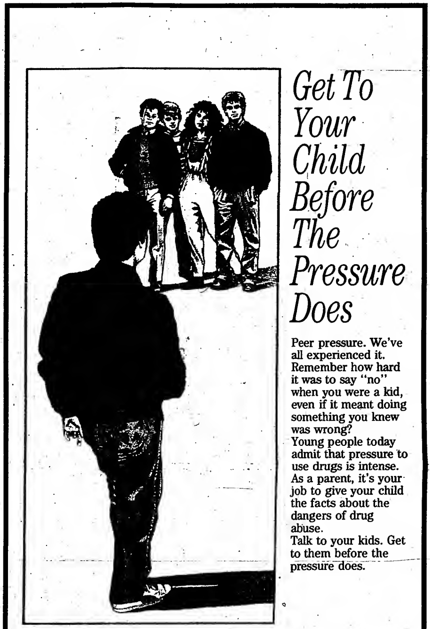
Wissmann said later that Hospice is currently on track in its effort to secure Medicare certification. She added that while Hospice is always in need of volunteers, the next training period begins in the spring.

Hospice can be reached by dialing 681-6189.

Ryan Browning receives 'U' M scholarship

Ryan Browning, son of Dr. Duane and Suzanne Browning of Thief River Falls, has been awarded the Presidential Scholarship at the University of Minnesota—Twin Cities for 1994-95.

The scholarship, which amounts to $1,000 for two years, honors incoming students who have demonstrated exceptional academic performance and leadership. A 1994 Lincoln graduate, Ryan is enrolled at the university in Minneapolis this fall, majoring in biology.



Get To Your Child Before The Pressure Does

Peer pressure. We've all experienced it. Remember how hard it was to say "no" when you were a kid, even if it meant doing something you knew was wrong?
Young people today admit that pressure to use drugs is intense.
As a parent, it's your job to give your child the facts about the dangers of drug abuse.
Talk to your kids. Get to them before the pressure does.

Daniel Olson makes adjustments to a Panasonic camera held by Derek Kalsnes. The equipment for the Kids Witness News class at Franklin Middle School in Thief River Falls was donated to the school district by Panasonic as a result of a cooperative effort with Digi-Key, a local business.

Kids Witness News program a hit at Franklin Middle school

by David Hill
Associate Editor

Students at Franklin Middle school are witness to changes in technology that adults often cannot understand. Reading, writing and arithmetic are still being taught, but often with the help of computer technology. At Franklin Middle school students are learning by working with computer systems, and video equipment to witness events that are taking place around them.

One of the benefits of the relatively new emphasis on public and private sector cooperation in education has been the Panasonic Kids Witness News program. The program began about three and one-half years ago and was the result of working with a local business — Digi-Key.

Mary Almquist, program director, said when she first heard about an opportunity to get a grant she admits she only thought about more funds for the school. When they received the grant funds she learned just what kind of commitment it would take and was quite surprised. In fact, she went back to school.

When Mary went back to school to learn more about the equipment, she quickly realized that the equipment they had at Franklin Middle school was better than the equipment at Bemidji State University.

The program began as a technology class, but matured into a technology and language arts computer class. Almquist said they don't have any difficulty in finding students who want to take the elective course. About 150 students are reached through the program each year.

Mary explained that the program expansion was assisted by a gift from Panasonic, and that gift was a direct result of Digi-Key's presence in the community.

When top leaders in the Panasonic corporation visited Digi-Key a year ago, they were given a tour of Franklin Middle school and were apparently impressed with the program. They asked if they needed anything, and well, the result was a gift of five camcorders and an editing deck.

Students spend the first two weeks learning about the equipment and how to care for it. They don't have any hang ups when it comes to computers, and it is a challenge to slow them down. They want to immediately start punching buttons and trying out new programs. Mary said she also learned from experience to make sure that the students put the equipment straps over their shoulders before they operate equipment.

Kids Witness News is a unique course. In all of Minnesota there are only four or five schools with the program. The program in Thief River Falls is the only program outside of the Twin Cities metro area. Nationwide, there are only about 200 schools with the program.

Basically, the course involves students filming other students, teachers or administrators to collect news stories. Students, however, learn more than just how to use the equipment, they learn by discussing with other students, teachers and administrators, the issues that are important to them.

Sometimes, students need a little direction. Mary said she creates a list of possible stories and the students can choose a story from that list. Recent stories include one on the Save the Depot effort in Thief River Falls, and a story about conduct at lyceums.

Volunteers share views at meeting

Almost 40 people attended a meeting sponsored by the Minnesota Office on Volunteer Services (MOVS) Wednesday night at Northland Community College. MOVS is developing a State of Volunteerism Report that will: chronicle the role and impact of volunteerism in Minnesota communities; identify issues, trends, strengths and trouble spots; and document successful strategies for addressing community concerns through volunteer action.

MOVS representatives have held five other community meetings across the state, and plan to have one more after the meeting in Thief River Falls.

MOVS is probably one of the smallest governmental departments, in terms of budget and staff, but commands understanding by a very large group of individuals — the volunteer.

The volunteer is one of Minnesota's success stories. Dave Cummings, chairperson of the advisory committee to MOVS said that 62 per cent of Minnesotans volunteer. Cummings added that he thought that was a rather conservative estimate. If a value was placed on their time, it would add up to about $4.7 billion.

One of the advisory committee members who has made a difference is Cliff Larson of Thief River Falls. In a surprise announcement, Cummings presented Larson with a certificate of commendation from Governor Arne Carlson. The certificate recognizes Larson's outstanding service as an advisory committee member, and exceptional commitment and generous spirit of volunteerism in community and state.

At the meetings held across the state, MOVS representatives Cummings and Lauren Weck, director of MOVS, have heard many compelling stories.

Wednesday night in Thief River Falls they heard from "Grandma Annie", a volunteer with the Foster Grandparent program in Bemidji. Instead of living alone and complaining about it, she became a volunteer in the program. She said her involvement has helped her realize

Santa to visit youngsters at TRF Santaland

Santa Claus will visit youngsters at Santaland in Thief River Falls several days during the Christmas shopping season through arrangements made by retail merchants who are members of the Thief River Falls Chamber of Commerce.

Santaland is located next to the Olin law office on LaBree avenue between Second and Third streets and Santa will make his first visit there from 2 to 4 p.m. on Saturday, December 10, with treats for young children.

Santa will also make return visits to Santaland—which has been specially decorated for his appearances—on Sunday, December 11, from noon to 4 p.m.; Tuesdays and Thursdays, December 13, 15, 20 and 22 from 5 to 8 p.m.; Saturday and Sunday, December 17 and 18, from noon to 4 p.m.

Jim Blix Photography will be on hand during all of Santa's visits to take photos of children whose parents want pictures taken. Blix has photo ornaments which can be used for mounting the pictures.

For shoppers in Thief River Falls Saturday, December 10, free movies will be shown at the Galaxy Twin Theatre beginning at noon for children 13 years of age and younger. "The Lion King" and "Star Trek, The Next Generation" will be shown under sponsorship of KTRF radio, Hartz Foods, Amoco 24, Erl's Market, Arnold Avenue Store, Pennington Square and Petro Pumper.

Lincoln high school hockey cheerleaders will conduct a gift wrapping service as a fund-raiser in the Falls Mall December 10 and 17 from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m., December 19 through 23 from 5 to 8 p.m. and December 24 from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m. Gift items to be wrapped should be brought to the mall boxed for wrapping.

Groundbreaking set Saturday for recycling facility

Groundbreaking ceremonies will be conducted Saturday, December 10, at 11 a.m. for Swiss-Pennington Regional Recycling Facility west of the Future Fuel plant south of Thief River Falls on highway 32.

A brief groundbreaking program will be held, followed by a reception at the Best Western Inn. The public is invited to attend both the groundbreaking and reception.

Construction of a new 100x300 building made of pre-cast concrete and steel siding is expected to begin next week on the site which was prepared for it earlier this year.

The Red Lake Nation is a limited partner in the facility and will be using its services, according to Rick Nordhagen of Future Fuel.

The new processing facility will have equipment utilizing the most recently developed technology for more complete and efficient separation of waste for recycling and further reducing the dependence on landfills, Nordhagen said.

The plant is expected to begin operation this spring and will have sufficient capacity to serve the needs of present Future Fuel users and others.

Christmas lights on the old Soo engine in downtown Thief River Falls were either repaired or replaced. The lights were put up last week by representatives of the City of Thief River Falls, Park and Recreation department, and Soo Line Depot Committee. It was financed by the Soo Line Depot Committee. Pictured from left are: Kern Larson, Curt Howe, John Johnson, Myles Olson, Don Stewart, Mayor Robert Reeve, Dave Strong, and Yvonne Pederson.

Four elementary school proposals received by board

Proposals received for potential future use of Knox and Northrop elementary schools were reviewed by business manager Harry Nelson when the School District 564 board met November 28.

Three proposals have been received for the Northrop school property and one for the Knox property.

The Knox proposal is a combined offer by the Northwest Minnesota Multi-County Housing and Redevelopment Authority and Dunbar Development Corporation of Minneapolis. It offers $5,000 for the building and site.

The same combination offer is made by Dunbar and HRA for the Northrop building and site. Also expressing interest at Northrop in letters to the school district are the local swimming pool committee and the Occupational Development Center. The swimming pool group makes no specific proposal. The ODC would use the building for non-manufacturing purposes such as offices, recruiting, meeting rooms, program specialists, training and education. It made no offer of payment.

School board chairman Dennis Kiesow appointed a committee to review the proposals and make a recommendation to the board. The committee includes the school district's finance committee (Larry Belmont, Hank Hallstrom and new appointee Cheryl Lee), Supt. Bob Duncan, business manager Harry Nelson, chamber of commerce executive Bob Bergan and realtor Bob Flynn.

Nelson reported to the board that the school district's auction had netted $15,662 and that many of the purchasers were local residents who bought items they would be able to use. He also reviewed the lease with Inter-County Community Council for use of space at the new Challenger elementary and pre-

Ironman 250 snowmobile race scheduled Jan. 14-15

Voted by ISOC snowmobile racers as their favorite event of the 1993-94 season, the Commercial Sewing Ironman 250 snowmobile race has been scheduled for January 14-15, 1995, in Thief River Falls. Announcement was made by the Thief River Falls Sno-Drifters Snowmobile Club, which hosts the annual event.

The Commercial Sewing Ironman 250 is an International Series of Champions (ISOC) sanctioned two-day, four event, cross-country and oval racing program, featuring some of the top snowmobile racers in the world competing in the Pro-500 class for a total purse expected to exceed $50,000 in cash and contingencies.

The event combines 250 miles of true cross-country racing with two days of ice oval competition. Time and points are accumulated in each of the four events to determine an overall Ironman champion. The cross country portion of the race this year is expected to be a revealing preview of the new Chevy/Grand 500, descendant of the Winnipeg 500, which returns to northwestern Minnesota this season.

Among the world's top racers expected to participate in the Ironman 250 in 1995 are Kirk Hibbert and Brian Sturgeon of Team Arctic, Toni Haikonen and Guy Useldinger of Ski-Doo and Jack Struthers and Steve Houle of Polaris, along with defending Ironman champion Corey Davidson who earned more than $13,000 in cash and contingencies for his win in 1994.

Repeated in the 1995 race will be the Pabst Dash for Cash, which has a total purse of $4,500. This race matches the top 24 qualifying drivers in the oval racing on both race days in semi-finals leading to two nine-man finals.

Team Arctic's Brian Sturgeon is the defending Dash for Cash winner, earning a $2,250 bonus for winning the 1994 final.

Listed as major sponsors of the Commercial Sewing Ironman 250 to date are Sam Massarelli of Commercial Sewing, manufacturer of snowmobile, motorcycle, ATV and watercraft covers; Jodd McKinnon of McKinnon, Inc., distributor of Pabst Blue Ribbon beer in northwest Minnesota; and Paul Rogers of Dayco, Inc., manufacturer of drive belts for snowmobiles and accessory belts for autos.

Plan snowmobile safety course in Thief River Falls

Snowmobile Safety course will be held from 3 to 5:30 p.m. December 12, 13 and 15 at Franklin Middle school. The registration fee is $5 and registration will take place on the first night. Participants must be at least 12 by March 1.

This course is sponsored by the Thief River Falls SnoDrifters and the Thief River Falls police department. Youth ages 12 to 14 can only operate a snowmobile if they have a safety certificate and operate the snowmobile under adult supervision. Other restrictions also apply.

Community Meeting on the State of Volunteerism
Minnesota Office on Volunteer Services

Mayor Robert Reeve of Thief River Falls addressed a group of representatives from local and area volunteer organizations at a Community Meeting on the State of Volunteerism, which was sponsored by the Minnesota Office on Volunteer Services. The meeting was held Wednesday evening at Northland Community College in Thief River Falls.

Minnesota Office on Volunteer Services

Cindy Arit of Red Lake Falls was one of the speakers to provide information on the state of volunteerism in Minnesota to representatives of the Minnesota Office on Volunteer Services. The representatives were collecting information to support a report that will chronicle the role and impact of volunteerism in Minnesota communities; identify issues, trends, strengths and trouble spots; and document successful strategies for addressing community concerns through volunteer action.

how much she has. When she comes home at night after working with 12 to 13 children, she doesn't complain about being alone but is thankful for peace and quiet.

Sarah Erickson of the Seventh Day Adventist Community Services program in Thief River Falls told about how fulfilling it was to find a pair of rubber boots for a man who came into the center on a winter day just wearing socks and boot liners. Later, they gave that man who had next to nothing, a new quilt and pillow. When the man asked why, they just said, "We want you to stay warm."

Gretchen Beito talked about the kind of shared vision that helped build the Riverwalk. Art Heinze talked about Scouting and how without volunteers, there would be no Scouting program. Margaret Saetre talked about the art adventure program conducted by the General Federated Women's club, and the children they have helped.

Carol Ihle of School District 564's volunteer program told the group that volunteers in the program donated 10,000 hours of service last year.

In all, eighteen individuals shared their success stories and problems with the representatives of the Minnesota Office of Volunteer Services.

This information will be added to the report and hopefully improve the valuable service provided by volunteers across the state.

CORRECTION:

A story in the last edition of The Times incorrectly stated that Amy Erickson, who received a scholarship from the University of Minnesota at Morris, was a freshman. She is a senior. The Times regrets the error.

Office of Volunteer Services meets here to help organizations

Minnesota Office of Volunteer Services (MOVS) representatives are attempting to get in touch with the very people who make the volunteer such a successful story in Minnesota. By listening to what they have to say at seven meetings across the state, they are looking for trends and discovering new ways to assist organizations that survive only because of the volunteer.

In 1987 when the Minnesota Office of Volunteer Services collected anecdotal and empirical information on volunteers in Minnesota, they learned roughly 50 per cent of all Minnesotans performed volunteer work. David Cummings, chairperson of the Advisory Committee to the Minnesota Office on Volunteer Services, said the national average finally caught up to Minnesota, but he now conservatively estimates that 62 per cent of Minnesotans volunteer some of their time.

If a dollar amount could be put on that time, it would be valued at $4.7 billion, Cummings said.

Representatives of the Minnesota Office of Volunteer Services intend to collect anecdotal information or stories about why people became volunteers, how they perform their job, their success stories and the difficulties they face in providing volunteer services. It will chronicle the role and impact of volunteerism in Minnesota communities.

"We've heard some very compelling stories," Cummings said.

Some of the trends they have noticed are the very different concerns between volunteer organizations serving rural and urban centers. He noted that in one county a volunteer said that they drive 80 miles one way to pick up food for the meals on wheels program.

More young people are becoming involved in volunteer programs. Cummings said many schools and extra-curricular programs require students to volunteer time for various programs. He believes this helps youth develop good habits and teaches personal responsibility. More and more students are including volunteer service on their resumes.

Representatives have also noticed that more people are willing to become involved in short term, group projects which have a definite goal. Organizations that require long-term commitments with fewer goal-oriented awards have higher turnover rates. Nevertheless, he said he has also noticed that volunteer leaders are becoming more professional, which is a positive sign for the future.

Cummings said they have heard, however, that there is a need for additional training for coordinators of volunteer service providers.

Another solution may be to change laws that allow volunteers to be reimbursed for their expenses.

More than ever, volunteer programs are in need of support. Volunteer programs generally have some connection to government programs. If the themes from the last election are carried out, Cummings noted, there will be less money for these programs, because voters want less government involvement in their lives. If that happens on the resource side, he said, needs will increase.

Another trend, which is much broader in its affect, involves changes in family structure. In the past, one member of a family worked and another became involved in various community organizations. In many families today, both parents work, and it is much more difficult for them to volunteer their time.

By listening to the volunteer and examining the trends, MOVS intends to find a new way of engaging volunteers.

Set crop update seminars in area

Crop producers and other interested persons are encouraged to attend one of several "1995 Crop Update" seminars scheduled to be held throughout northwestern Minnesota December 12-15 under sponsorship of the Northern Lites Cluster of the University of Minnesota extension service.

Dr. Roger Jones, extension plant pathologist with the University of Minnesota and one of the nation's leading specialists on scab disease management, will highlight the programs.

The meeting for the general Thief River Falls area will take place Thursday, December 15, at the St. Hilaire Cooperative Elevator Association's meeting room in St. Hilaire at 9:30 a.m.

Other seminar dates and locations include the following:

December 12—Middle River community center at 1:30 p.m.;

December 13—Roosevelt, 9:30 a.m. and Roseau, 1:30 p.m.;

December 14—Hallock courthouse, 9:30 a.m.; First American Bank in Warren, 1:30 p.m.;

December 15—Brooks, 1:30 p.m.

Also on the program will be Cluster Crops Specialized Educators Curtis Nyegaard of Kittson county and Ray Thompson of Marshall county. Topics to be reviewed include crop varieties, tillage considerations, new changes in weed and insect control, soil fertility and other research findings.

USDA seeks public input at area forum

A public forum to gather citizens' ideas about services, organization, policies and partnerships of the U.S. Department of Agriculture's Natural Resources Conservation Service (NRCS), formerly the Soil Conservation Service, will be held at the Radisson Hotel South and Plaza Tower, 7800 Normandale Blvd., in Minneapolis, on December 10. The forum, open to the public, begins at 9 a.m. and will end at 1 p.m.

Gary Nordstrom, state conservationist of the NRCS in Minnesota, said, "Our forum is part of a nationwide effort aimed at giving our conservation partners and customers an opportunity to make suggestions on the future direction of the NRCS."

Nordstrom added that "We also want ideas from the public on what existing and or new programs, services or activities NRCS should provide. We also want public input on what new skills or specialities they would like to see added to NRCS's workforce.

What people or groups should NRCS involve in policy development and how should they be involved? And, what can NRCS do to strengthen its existing partnerships with Soil and Water Conservation Districts and State Conservation agencies?"

Although those are several major questions NRCS is seeking answers to, NRCS officials also hope citizens will tell them what they would do to make the NRCS the best and most efficient government agency.

During the public forum, citizens will also have an opportunity to complete a survey titled "Is There A Better Way?" That survey asks 29 questions related to the forum's purposes. Completed surveys will be mailed to an analysis facility in New Mexico. Any citizen who wants an advance copy of the survey can call the NRCS state office in St. Paul at (612) 290-3677.

Nordstrom added that NRCS is conducting this public forum in conjunction with, and preceding, the annual meeting of the Minnesota Association of Soil and Water Conservation Districts — one of their key conservation partners. That meeting, December 11-13, will also be held at the Radisson Hotel.

Teleconference at NCC December 8

Can state and local governments do more to match up people who need jobs with the areas that are producing jobs? Or, should that be left to individuals and market forces?

Issues of jobs and housing will be the focus in the second of a series of "community conversations" sponsored by Minnesota's community colleges. The second teleconference, scheduled at 7 p.m. on Thursday, December 8, in room D62 at Northland Community College, will feature commentary by State Representatives Myron Orfield (DFL-Minneapolis) and Tim Pawlenty (IR-Eagan).

Orfield has argued in favor of a metropolitan agenda that will provide low-income housing in the job-growth areas of the suburbs, along with other measures to spread both the costs and the benefits of metropolitan growth. Pawlenty argues against government intervention on those issues.

Joining Representatives Orfield and Pawlenty will be Professor John Adams of the University of Minnesota Geography department. The discussion will be led by Lyle Wray, executive director of the Twin Cities-based Citizens League, a public policy organization.

The series of five televised discussions is called "Two Minnesotas." Programs are designed to foster discussions of the immense changes affecting both urban and rural areas in Minnesota. Each forum includes a one-hour teleconference from St. Paul, featuring notable writers and commentators, followed by a one-hour local discussion.

The teleconferences are being shown at most community colleges and are available on request at technical college campuses, state universities and University of Minnesota Extension sites. The forums are free of charge and open to anyone.

The first "Two Minnesotas" sessions, entitled "The Challenges of Growth and Decline," was held November 17. The December 8 session is called "Trouble at the Core: A Threat to Everyone." Others are scheduled January 12, "The Decline of Rural Minnesota?" February 9, "A New Agenda for Minnesota"; and March 16, "Higher Education in the Next Century".

Choose Foods Wisely at Holiday Buffets

The holiday season is probably the worst time to try to lose weight — but even if you are trying to just hold the line on fat and calories, a holiday buffet can ruin the best of intentions. Many buffets offer so many different foods that it is easy to overdo it before you get to your favorites.

Wise eating at holiday buffets is not only a matter of what you choose at the buffet. If you put some thought into when, where and how you eat those buffet treats, you might find you have more control over the buffet than it has over you.

Some tips:

- If you are very hungry before going to a party, eat something low-fat to take the edge off your hunger, such as a bagel, a piece of fruit, and a glass of skim milk, or even half a sandwich. That way, you are more likely to eat party foods only in moderation.
- Do not arrive at the beginning of the party or be the first in line at a buffet for two reasons — the food always looks the most tempting when it is just presented — and it is a good idea to socialize for a while first instead of just heading for the food.
- When you do decide to eat, survey the whole buffet, starting from the end — usually the desserts — to the beginning, in order to decide which foods you want to try. Otherwise, more ordinary items, such as tuna salad, might take up the space on your plate before you get to that Lobster Newburg you truly adore. Of course, it is good to eat some healthier, low-calorie vegetables, but make sure you savor and enjoy your favorite items.
- Eat small amounts of your favorite rich foods slowly. For example, when you get to the chocolate torte, remember it will be rich, so take a small piece and eat it slowly to get the most of its taste and texture. (Also, some things look a lot better than they taste: in

Challenger will have five traditional Christmas programs

Christmas trees in the commons and office, holiday decorations that deck the halls and classrooms are all a part of the Christmas cheer and programs at the new Challenger elementary school in Thief River Falls.

Christmas at Challenger elementary school in Thief River Falls is a new experience for students and staff in 1994. This year, four Thief River Falls elementary schools joined forces in one, new facility. With traditional holiday programs beginning next week, Principal Glenn Espe says, "We're all together in a new place. It's going to be exciting, different."

Holiday programs, directed by elementary music instructors Pat Beauchane and David Morken, are scheduled by grade level, beginning with fifth grade at 1:30 p.m. Tuesday, December 13. Espe says that grade level programs "are more unique to individual student and will help us deal with audience numbers."

Espe says the elementary school is working with the district's building and grounds department to create extended parking off the south side visitor parking lot for each of the programs. Visitors are asked to use the County road 61 entrance, and for the safety of students and to keep the school bus loading area clear, not to use the north school bus lot off of Evergreen.

Espe says a holiday coffee and cookie reception will be served in the commons area following each program. Espe invites everyone to celebrate with the children this Christmas.

The program schedule is as follows:

Grade 5 — 1:30 p.m. Tuesday, December 13;

Grade 4 — 1:30 p.m. Thursday, December 15;

Grade 3 — 1:30 p.m. Friday, December 16;

Morning Kindergarten and grade 2 — 9:30 a.m. Wednesday, December 21;

Afternoon Kindergarten and grade 1 — 1:30 p.m. Wednesday, December 21.

How to enjoy the holiday season

When the weather starts to turn colder, there is no better place to turn than the warmth of our families. And what better reason than the holidays to get the whole family having fun together?

Too often, in the rush of preparation for the big days, we forget to set aside some time to spend together. Well, this year there is a month and a day from Thanksgiving to Hanukkah to Christmas, and that is more than enough time to get your shopping done and have some fun, too. Here are a few activities that your family can enjoy during this long holiday season.

Holidays Are For the Birds, Too

Not all birds go south for the winter, and for the ones that stay, food can be hard to find. Make it a family project this year to hang and maintain a bird feeder in the back yard. Easy Gardener manufactures the inexpensive, pre-filled Easy Feeder that makes this activity easy for busy or younger family members to take part. Just make sure to hang the feeder in a location that is safe from squirrels and cats.

Make the most of your bird feeder and attract more birds by changing the location once or twice a season or spacing two or three Easy Feeders around the yard. You also may want to buy a bird watching guide. The more you put into bird feeding, the more you get out, but even if you don't have much time to invest, a bird feeder will quickly bring life and song to your winter yard.

Make Your Own Wreath

If you have a little more time to

Stephanie Olson wed to Robert Finstad

Stephanie Olson and Robert Finstad were united in marriage at a 4 p.m. ceremony on September 10, 1994, at United Methodist church in Thief River Falls. Rev. William Kerr officiated at the double ring ceremony.

Parents of the couple are Ginny Olson, Gene Olson and Mr. and Mrs. Kermit Finstad, all of Thief River Falls.

Wedding music was provided by Diane Kolden, friend of the bride, Van Swanson, friend of the groom, and organist Vi Barr.

Becky Jenson from Thief River Falls, was maid of honor. Bridesmaids were Teresa Tischer, Sara Olson and Cari Farbo, all from Thief River Falls, and Jenny Miramontes of St. Paul. All are friends of the bride.

The groom's niece, Kalie Danielson of Minnetonka, was flower girl. Serving the bride as personal attendant was her friend, Marie Skibicki.

Tony Stoffel, nephew of the groom from East Grand Forks, carried the rings.

Troy Carlson of Thief River Falls, friend of the groom, was best man. Groomsmen were Paul Johnson of Moorhead, Jim Klemmetsen from Holt, Glen Fenwick of Sioux Falls, SD, and Jason Pilcher of Thief River Falls. All are friends of the groom.

Ushers were Devon Grandbois of St. Hilaire and Kelly Swanson of Thief River Falls, friends of the couple.

Greeters were Mr. and Mrs. Cyril Stensrud, friends of the bride, and Mr. and Mrs. Glen Iverson, cousins of the groom.

Cutting the wedding cake were Kethy Carlson and Barb Sorenson, cousins of the groom. Kathy Grandbois, friend of the bride, served coffee, and Amber Peoples, friend of the bride, presided at the punch bowl.

Becky Stoffel, niece of the groom, and Josiah Danielson, nephew of the groom, were in charge of the gifts. Waitresses were Jill Stoffel and Danika Klyve, nieces of the groom.

Jeff Thune, uncle of the bride, and John Stoffel, brother-in-law of the groom, were videographers.

Following a wedding trip to Duluth, the couple is at home in Thief River Falls, where the bride is employed at Hardee's and the groom is employed at Klemmetsen Construction. Both the bride and groom are graduates of Lincoln high school in Thief River Falls, and the groom is a graduate of East Grand Forks Technical College.

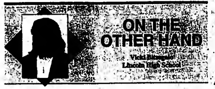
Ralph and Mary Matter are parents of a son born Nov. 27

Ralph and Mary Matter announce the birth of their new son, Samuel Adam, born November 27 at United Hospital in Grand Forks, ND. He weighed six pounds, 12 1/2 ounces and was welcomed by a brother, Christopher, and a sister, Sarah.

Grandparents are Bill and Joyce Bulger of Thief River Falls and Ralph and Joyce Matter of Lake Park.



Do you remember the joy with which you looked forward to Christmas every year as a five year old? Christmas to me is always a beautiful, magical time where anything is possible and dreams can come true. It is a chance for the old to grow young and rosy, and for everyone to become little eager five-years-old again.

Looking back, our preparations and planning for Christmas are always the same. The day after Thanksgiving is spent pulling out decorations, baking melt-in-your-mouth cookies, and singing Christmas carols. It is a day spent together as a family, where work, school, and worries were put on a shelf to celebrate the opening of the Christmas season. The decorating of the tree is always the crowning glory of the day, as we all hang ornaments and tell the stories attached to each special piece of glass or wood, such as our proudly presented first-grade-jas-lid ornaments for Mom and Dad. Finally, we all hold our breath as Dad flips the switch, and the tree comes alive with its dancing lights and winking icicles.

The next weeks always pass so quickly-a rush of songs, whispers, and chats with friends. And were busy planning our annual trip "home" to Indiana. We get to spend one glorious week visiting family and celebrating the birth of Jesus with a lot of joy. Of course, the car rides and plane trips can get pretty long but nothing can spoil that week.

It also seems as though our house itself is wrapped with endless piles and rolls of Christmas paper and shiny bows. It's also wrapped in secrets. We are never allowed to look in closets or under beds, and it is unheard of to enter a close-doored room without first knocking. The gifts inside are very special and range from store bought books and music to heart-formed, hand-made drawings and handy-dandy stuff. Not even all of the things in the Wish Book can be as special as the gifts that come from the hearts and hands. And it's funny, but every year I think my presents are the best ever. I must say, however, that nothing can top the present I will get this year (yes, I already found out about it)-I don't have to leave Thief River. Dad is a teacher at the Technical College, and last spring his program was closed down. The last few months have been spent in uncertainty as to whether or not we would have to move away. Just a few days ago, we found out that we could stay, as Dad got another teaching job at the college. So this year I get the very best present anyone could possibly give me-not books, or toys, or clothes, but a chance to stay here and graduate with my classmates in a place I love..

With all of the gift-giving and family things that come with the holidays, there is one thing that worries me. I think we've gotten away from what Christmas really means. Christmas is a celebration, yes, but what we're celebrating seems to get lost sometimes in all the glitter and gold. Christmas is the celebration of a baby's birth-the birth of the Baby Jesus. Commercialism has detracted a lot from that meaning. I think it was said best by Alfred in Miracle on 34th Street: "There's a lot of bad-ism's floating around, but commercialism is one of the worst." We need to get back to the real root of Christmas. Family activities and holiday gifts and fun are very important, but we have a lot more to celebrate.

Happy Birthday, Jesus!!!

that case, don't force yourself to eat high calorie foods that aren't worth it.)

- After you have filled your plate, eat with your back turned to the buffet. It can be all too tempting to think about refilling your plate with some new item they just brought out without concentrating on enjoying what you have.
- Discard your plate after your first helping to avoid going back for seconds. It usually takes at least 15 minutes after eating for the brain to register that the stomach is full, so pace your eating and take a break. You may find you don't even want seconds.

Star Homemakers plan Dec. 12 Christmas Party with potluck

The Star Homemakers' Christmas Party will be held Monday, December 12, at 11:30 a.m. A potluck dinner will be served at noon.

There will be a gift exchange and members are asked to bring one item for a game prize. They should also bring items for the Violence Intervention Project. Call 378-4467 or 378-4178 for more information.

Alpha Phi group will meet

The Alpha Phi Chapter of Delta Kappa Gamma Society will meet Thursday, December 8, at 5 p.m. at the Evergreen Eating Emporium. Guest speaker will be Marie Hvidsten, who will speak on "True Colors," an inventory on knowing ourselves.

What is feared more than death?

The interviewer shoots questions fast and furious. Whether or not you're offered the job depends on your insightful answers.

A special guest is visiting the church and you're asked to introduce the speaker to the congregation.

It's the social at the company Christmas party and your superior asks your opinion on GATT. How can you answer the question knowledgeably and succinctly? (Especially if you're not versed in the finer parts of the agreement.)

You're president of the local Parent Teacher Association, and the meetings seem to run too long and the agenda isn't followed. What can you do to keep the meetings on track?

The project you've been working on for more than a year is a huge success. Your boss asks you to give a presentation to the board of directors.

All of the above scenarios can strike fear. You're called upon to do something with which you may not be comfortable – public speaking. I've heard a statistic claiming that people fear public speaking more than death! But there is an organization that can help you overcome this anxiety. It's called Toastmasters.

For those who aren't familiar with Toastmasters, it's an international organization devoted to helping people improve their communication skills, both impromptu and prepared. I've been a member of Toastmasters for more than 10 years and have found the training and practice helpful in preparing me to face some of the situations listed at the beginning of the column.

My dad fueled my interest in the organization. As a salesman, he saw a need to improve his presentations, get his point across and close the sale. He became so involved that he participated in speech contests – and won. Dad brought my two sisters and me to watch him compete. We were impressed and proud.

After I joined Toastmasters in my last year of college, my dad took a hiatus. Then when he decided to rejoin, many asked if his daughter introduced him to the group! Now we both enjoy the benefits of the organization.

The meeting format features many educational opportunities. Meetings are divided into three parts: table topics, prepared speeches and evaluations.

During table topics, participants have two minutes to answer an impromptu question. This skill is useful for job interviews and casual conversations. You never know what you're going to be asked, so you have to compose something in your head – and quickly. A thought-provoking table topic question I heard was, "If you didn't know how old you were, how old would you be?" The questions aren't all this difficult and some are even fun.

During the prepared speeches, members work from manuals, building skills as they progress. For instance, some of the speech objectives focus on organization, vocal variety, gestures, working with words, and more. All the projects are timed so you don't get a chance to ramble on and on...

The third phase is evaluation. Speakers receive immediate feedback on things they've done well and one or two points to improve for the next speech. One member also listens for grammatical errors and the use of "ahs," "ums" and "OKs."

What I like best about Toastmasters is the opportunity to practice at every meeting. And all the evaluations are given in a spirit of helpfulness; we're all there to learn.

Toastmasters also offers leadership training. Members have the opportunity to hold club offices and are also encouraged to retain a position outside the club. This gives members the chance to really hone their skills and visit different clubs.

If you're interested in competition, there are two speech contests each year. The winners of the various levels eventually compete on the international level.

Toastmasters lets you determine your goals and work at your own pace toward them. My greatest accomplishments were being named Area Governor of the Year and competing in a humorous speech contest. Although I didn't come close to winning that contest, I was a winner anyway.

But in the meantime, by practicing, I prepared myself for those unexpected speaking duties.

...A Necessary Evil

I really like giving Christmas gifts, but I hate Christmas shopping.

I know what I should do is get all of my gifts by mail order, but I am always too late. I'm just not in the mood for shopping until closer to Christmas, and by that time all of the good gifts in the catalogs are already gone and, heaven forbid, I get a notice of something called a "back order."

Last night I tried to order a few gifts for a couple of my sons by telephone. I must have been on the phone for a good half hour ordering four items. First of all I had to go through the rigmarole of "If you are calling from the upper midwest, press 8 – if you want to place an order, press 5 – If you want to use your credit card, press 2 – If you are sitting in your living room, press 2" and so on and on and on.

After pressing all of the correct (I hoped) buttons, a discombobulated voice told me that all of the lines were busy and there would be a waiting period before I could speak to a human. While I waited did I want to listen to music by pressing number 7 on my touch tone phone? I didn't, so instead I got several other voices telling me about the specials the store was running for its telephone customers, none of which I wanted. I should have listened to the music – it might have made me less grumpy.

At long last I actually heard a human voice that wasn't recorded. After providing the person with several numbers, we finally got around to the nitty gritty of placing an order. This particular store had a computer, so I could find out if I could get my items right away. I was very happy about that because I didn't want the dreaded "back order."

Since the things I was ordering came in colors and I wanted them to match, I had to go through several different colors before I found the correct size and style and color to go with the other sizes and styles and colors I ordered.

By that time I was thoroughly confused. But at least the items were immediately locked into the computer and they are mine and there will be no "back orders." I will get what I ordered in seven to 10 days and I certainly hope whatever I ordered matches, because now I can't even remember what I ordered.

But shopping in the stores is worse – trying to push that little cart through multitudes of people – searching up and down the aisles for whatever it is I saw on sale in the circular and wondering if it is sold out already – finding the items in the correct color but the wrong size or finding the right size and none left but the ugly colors – seeing the last one left of the perfect item in the right size and color in the next aisle over and racing around the corner only to find that someone got there ahead of me and grabbed what I wanted.

Waiting in line is another thing I hate. I know what those stores are doing – they put all of those interesting little things along the path of the people waiting so that the people will buy more things – things they probably don't even need, and things that are never on sale – which they buy anyway just because they see them while standing there bored to tears watching the people in front of them unload overflowing carts and not being able to find their cash, checkbooks or credit cards.

By the time I get home from racing around the stores at Christmas I have no energy left. All of my brains are gone and I can't even remember what I bought. Usually I have a raging headache, too. All I want to do is sit down and rest my poor empty head, tired body and aching feet.

The best part of all the misery of Christmas shopping, however, happens on Christmas night when we open our gifts. When everything is the perfect size and the perfect color and just the right style and "ooh-ed" and "ah-ed" over because it was a big surprise to whoever received it – then it is all worth it – the raging head, the tired body and the aching feet are forgotten and – finally – the real spirit of Christmas comes once again. Thank heaven! I can hardly wait!

ACTIVITIES

Going Nuts!

Now that nuts are plentiful in the stores, it is fun to do things with the nuts. First buy an assortment of all kinds of nuts. Put them in a low container and have your young children "classify" the nuts. Find all the nuts that look alike and put them into separate containers.

After your child has played this frequently, try to identify each nut by name.

Now it is time to eat the nuts. They should have a nut cracker and try to crack the nut and eat the nut. This may be harder for a young child then we think, so be sure to offer help when needed. Cracking the nuts is a great coordination activity.

BOOK OF THE WEEK

Snuggle up with a teddy bear and warm cup of cocoa as you read these wintery selections from the Thief River Falls public library:

Harshman, Marc. Snow Company. It's the worst snow storm of the year! Spend the blustery day with Teddy and his younger borther, Ronnie, as they discover the meaning of neighborliness and helping out in time of need.

Neville, Mary. The Christmas Tree Ride. Discover the magic of Christmas as you take an exciting ride to the Pennyman's Tree Farm and help the children select that "perfect" tree.

SOMETHING TO TALK ABOUT

When you are spending time with your child, talk about what your child wants to talk about.

VIDEO VARIETY

The Snowman. This delightful animation weaves a spell of magic as a young boy's snowman comes to life and escorts him on a dream visit to the North Pole.

Don't forget to attend Storytime every Wednesday at 11:15 a.m.

Holiday family activities

spend, start a new tradition this year. Get the family together for the first annual family wreath-making day. All you need is a bundle of evergreen sprigs, a sturdy wire frame, some number 22 or 24 wire, an anti-transpirant spray, such as Shrub Saver, and some florist's thread. If you can spare some red ribbon from your holiday wrapping supply, be sure to set it aside, too.

Have the young ones collect sprigs about four to six inches long for a medium sized wreath. Strip the needles from the bottom inch of the sprigs. Then spray the sprigs generously with Shrub Saver to ensure that the needles will hold on longer and the wreath will stay fragrant.

Now you are ready to build your wreath. Secure one end of the wire to the frame. Use the florist's thread to bind the sprigs together in small bundles and start to wire the sprigs to the frame. Each time be sure to bind the bottom inch of the sprigs to the frame with five or six turns of the wire, and cover the bottom of the last bundle of sprigs with the top of the next so that none of the wiring or bare stems are visible. When you have covered the frame, tie the wire securely so that it won't unwind and loosen the wreath.

Finish it with a bow made by looping your ribbon back and forth and tying the loops in the middle with a small scrap of the same colored ribbon. Hang the wreath on the front door and every day your family will be reminded of what it accomplished together.

Tree Decorating Day

Another fun family activity is to make a mini-holiday out of decorating the tree. Make sure that everyone has the day free and start early. If you prefer to use a live tree, head out to the nursery or church yard early to beat the rush and have the whole family in on the tree-picking.

When you get home, leave one or two people in charge of untangling the lights and two or three in charge of putting up the tree, then have one person spray the tree with an anti-transpirant, such as Christmas Tree Saver, and have everyone else bring in the decorations. Reward your workers with a hearty lunch and relax for an hour or two before hanging the decorations. First hang the lights and then exchange new ornaments like presents and hang each one as it is opened. Lastly, hang the rest of the decorations around the new ones.

Sometimes it can be hard to get the whole family together during this busy season, but the more time your family invests in fun activities, the more everyone will get out of the holidays.

Kim Novak is recipient of Women of Today award

Kim Novak of the Thief River Falls Women of Today was honored with a presidential pin from Jean Fast, president of the Minnesota Women of Today, at the fall state convention held recently in Nisswa.

Novak was nominated for the award by her local chapter. The presidential pin is designed to show a member's commitment to her local chapter and to her local membership. It exemplifies dedication and belief in the Women of Today Creed, service to the local chapter, and enhances the Women of Today image. All recipients of the award are selected by the state president.

The Women of Today is a community service, leadership training organization.

Eloise Solsten, 77

Thief River Falls — Eloise Solsten died Tuesday, November 29, at Northwest Medical Center in Thief River Falls at the age of 77.

Funeral services for Eloise Solsten were held Saturday, December 3, at 11 a.m. at St. Bernard's Catholic church with Rev. Tim Bushy officiating. Music was provided by St. Bernard's Resurrection Choir, accompanied by Kristi LaSalle on the organ. Shelly Burkel was Cantor.

A wake service was held Friday evening at the Belmont Funeral Home.

Casketbearers were Frank Womack, Corey Solsten, Donald and Rick Engelstad, Roger Amundson and Steve Kelly. John Michael Anderson was an honorary bearer. Interment was at St. Bernard's cemetery, with the Belmont Funeral Home in charge of arrangements.

Eloise Rose Horner was born May 24, 1917, in Brainerd, the daughter of George and Anna Steichen Horner. She moved to Fargo, ND, as a child and grew up there. After high school, she attended North Dakota State University where she earned her bachelor's degree in 1940. She worked as an accounting clerk at deLendrecie's Department Store and as credit manager at Buttrey's, both in Fargo, ND.

November 13, 1942, she was united in marriage to James Solsten in Carroll, IA. The couple lived in Fargo until 1954, when they moved to Villard. They moved to Thief River Falls in 1956, and she managed Tischart's Fabrics until her retirement in 1986.

She was a member of the American Legion Auxiliary, a former of the Thief River Falls Ladies Golf Club and St. Bernard's Women's Circle.

Survivors include her husband, James; two sons, John (wife, DeAnna) Brainerd, and Mike, Thief River Falls; one daughter, Cathy (husband, Paul) Haggerty, St. Paul, six grandchildren, Mitchen, Jeff, Katie, Jennifer, Todd and Corey; and two great-grandchildren, Hope and Logan. She is also survived by a brother, Gordon "Jack" Horner, of Apple Valley; a sister, Mrs. Mary Madsen, of Fargo; and 11 nieces and nephews.

Preceding her in death were her parents.

Agnes M. Anderson, 87

Corvallis, OR — Agnes M. Anderson died Sunday, November 27, at Good Samaritan Hospital in Corvallis, OR, at the age of 87.

Funeral services for Agnes Anderson were held at 10 a.m. Saturday, December 3, at the Quanrud-DuBore Funeral Home in Warren. Interment was at Salem Lutheran cemetery, rural Stephen, with the Quanrud-Dubore Funeral Home in charge of arrangements.

Agnes Koglin was born July 16, 1907, in Thief River Falls. She attended Moorhead State College where she received her teacher's certificate. She taught country school in rural Stephen.

She was united in marriage to Axel Anderson on June 24, 1936, in Stephen. The couple lived in rural Warren for a few years, then she moved to Crookston where she was a third grade teacher for 20 years.

In 1973, she moved to Corvallis, OR, where she volunteered as a teacher's aid in the Corvallis school district for over 15 years. She received high accolades for her volunteer efforts from the Corvallis Chamber of Commerce and the State of Oregon. She was a member of the Corvallis Retired Senior Volunteers.

Survivors include two daughters, Adele Neukomm of Corvallis, OR, and Donna Turner of Independence, MO, and two grandchildren.

Star News

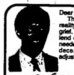
JoAnn Naeseth of St. Cloud called and visited by phone and wished her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Merle Naeseth and brother, Jason a Happy Thanksgiving.



Dear Readers,

The funeral service helps the survivors face the reality of death; this is the first step in overcoming grief. It brings close friends and relatives together to lend each other support and consolation when it is needed most. Seeing how much others cared for the deceased can be a tremendous help to a family adjusting to their loss.

Sincerely,

Belmont Funeral Home

Larry Belmont

John Wollenzien will officiate, with Dorothy Larson as organist and LeRoy Aasland singing "In the Garden" and "The Old Rugged Cross." Congregational hyme will be "Abide With Me."

Visitation was scheduled Tuesday from 5 to 8 p.m. at the Green Funeral Home in Thief River Falls. There will also be visitation for one hour prior to the service at the church on Wednesday.

Casketbearers will be David, Steven, Tom, Murrey, Mark and Wayne Borsheim; Barbara Reedy; and Marsha Edwards. Interment will be at Greenwood cemetery in Thief River Falls with the Green Funeral Home in charge of arrangements.

Dagney Leonora Schuster was born September 24, 1900, in Garfield, the tenth of fourteen children born to Olans and Mina Hansen Johnson. The family moved to Thief River Falls in the early 1900's where she attended Central high school until eighth grade. She moved to Barnesville when she was a young woman where she was employed and stayed with an older brother and his wife.

April 28, 1925, she was united in marriage to Arthur Borsheim, whom she met in Barnesville. Four children were born of this union. He died in 1936: She returned to Thief River Falls in 1942 to care for her invalid mother.

On August 3, 1945, she was united in marriage to Harry Schuster, a well-known local printer. He died in 1961.

Friends will remember her as the local "lefse lady." She developed her lefse expertise into a thriving business, "Schuster Lefse Bakery," selling lefse throughout the world. She sold her business and recipe to the late Don Liden and the business today is known as "Liden's Lefse."

Born of the Lutheran faith, she taught Sunday and parochial schools, traveling once to Montana with her children to teach for an entire summer while living in the church basement.

She moved to Skylite Apartments and then moved to the Good Samaritan Home in Clearbrook in June of 1994.

She was a member of Trinity Lutheran church and the American Legion Auxiliary.

She had spent Thanksgiving this year with her friends and family in Thief River Falls, in good health and spirits.

Survivors include one brother, Lloyd Johnson, 85, of Bremerton, WA; four children, Vivian (husband, Bruce) Biddick, Uvalde, TX, Kenneth (wife, Helen) Borsheim, Eau Claire, WI, and Loreo and Milan Borsheim of Thief River Falls; 11 grandchildren; 16 great-grandchildren; and several nieces and nephews.

Christmas for Pennington Co. gains support

Several groups have joined the community Christmas project called Christmas for Pennington County, which is an effort to provide Christmas presents and food for individuals and families that would not otherwise receive gifts or have enough food this Christmas.

At a meeting Monday, organizers learned that the response by the public to the angel tree at Pamida has been outstanding. They learned, however, that there are 105 children in the community, with more names coming, who might not otherwise receive gifts.

While many of the angels have been taken from the angel tree, officials still have to be concerned at this time until presents purchased by residents are returned. Additional names are also being added to the tree all of the time.

It was noted at the meeting that Santa Claus will hand out gifts to the children on this list if parents or guardians choose that option.

Officials have received some cash donations and pledges for assistance, but since this is the first year to involve so many groups, individuals and organizations in the community, they really are not certain how much they will need.

Anyone interested in making a donation of toys or cash, or of volunteering their time, can contact Wendy at 681-6161. Names of families and children submitted to the angel tree are held in the strictest of confidence.

Emmanuel Has Come performed at SDA December 9, 10 and 11

"Emmanuel Has Come", a musical pageant on the life of Christ, will be presented by choir, orchestra and actors Friday, Saturday and Sunday, December 9, 10 and 11 at 7 p.m. in the Seventh-day Adventist Church, 1024 Tindolph Avenue South, Thief River Falls.

A 1994 publication created by Karla Worley, "Emmanuel Has Come" features arrangements by such well known musicians as Ronn Huff, Camp Kirland, Dave Williamson and others. "It may be a brand new musical", observes conductor Ben Sayler, "but it tells the old, old story of the greatest event in human history: God Himself came to bring us His redemptive love, in the person of His only Son, Jesus Christ."

Musically, several of the songs are familiar like All is Well, O Little Town of Bethlehem, He is Born the Divine Christ Child and Sweet Little Jesus Boy. But there is some less familiar music as well, beautifully appropriate for this time of year when we reflect on the birth of our Saviour.

"We have looked long and hard to find a cantata that would not leave the listener at the manger," confesses Sayler. "Emmanuel Has Come does just that. Worley uses song and the spoken word to move the viewer beyond Christ's birth through His life as well."

Based on Biblical text, this diverse two-act work takes us from the joyous story of Christmas to the anticipation of His glorious second coming. We experience Israel as it longs for a Messiah. We are shown glimpses of the ministry of Jesus — how He was loved by some and despised by others. We see and hear the miraculous testimones of how Jesus touched the lives of rich and poor alike. Worley has done an excellent job of combining the talents of singers, musicians and actors in an attempt to proclaim, "Emmanuel Has Come".

Performance time for the two-act pageant will be about one and one-half hours. There will be an intermission, but there will be no prelude.

The pageant will be performed by singers, actors and musicians who come from near and far. Choir members include: Russ Bantin, Rochester; Cynthia Efta, Eddie and Vi Hanson, Greenbush; Chuck and Jolayne Simpson, Plummer; Helen Juhl, Corie Erickson, Amy and Lisa Pervis, Middle River; Darcy and Penny Nordvick, Grygla; Candy Kroll, Argyle; John and Gloria Umber, Viking; Jennifer Simpson, Detroit Lakes; Dr. Jim Grindley, Margie Stevenson, Sarah Erickson, April Nygaard, Solveig Swenson, Kathy Smith, Annie and Mall Forbes, Arlene and Carl Walseth, Debbie and Diane Meekma, Karen and Gary York, Lois Bray, Bonnie Davidson, Dr. Tim Rittenour, Benji, Danny and Marilyne Sayler, Joanna Swantek, Alyssa Holmaas, Thief River Falls.

Soloists will be Shirley Hayek, Jennifer Simpson, Carl Walseth, Cynthia Efta, Jim Grindley, Gary York, Tim Rittenour, Corie Erickson, and Margie Stevenson. The director is Dr. Ben Sayler. The accompanist is Mrs. Sylvia Grindley.

Orchestra members include; Kari Lindemoen, Warren, concert mistress, Jim Solsten and Bonnie Swantek, Thief River Falls, and Marjie Shafer, Red Lake Falls on violin; Brian Cole, Thief River Falls, on viola; Dawn Klopp on cello, Jan Klopp on bassoon, Collin Browning on bass, Marie Hvidsten on flute, all of Thief River Falls; Lisa Erickson of Badger on flute; Jodi Dahl of Grygla on clarinet; Lina Ronchetti on bass clarinet, Angie Little on saxophone, and Paula Cole on piccolo and flute, all of whom are from Thief River Falls. The conductor is Dr. Ben Sayler.

Cast members include: Bob Forbes of Karlstad as Matthew, Shirley Hayek of Karlstad as Mary, Jim Hoks as Joseph, Key Teeters-Asp as Rachel, Sylvia Rondorf as Leah, Melva Campbell as Rebecca, Leonard Rondorf as Caleb, Eugene Meyer as Jesse, Stan Frame as Joshua, Cody Frame as Aaron, Dave Stevenson as Herod, Alvin Olson of Angus as a scribe, Jim Strandlie as Magi One, Alvin and Luke Nordvick of Grygla as Magi two and three, Dr. Jerome Bray as Simeon, Glenn Meekma of Newfolden as Pharisee One, Jim Strandley as Pharisee two, Larry Milliken of Maple Grove as Nicodemus, Alan Rogalla as John, Jennfer Simpson of Detroit Lakes as Mary Magdalene, Patrick Simpson of Plummer as Peter, Russ Holmaas as Thomas, Ben Buccholz of Fosston as Andrew, Phillip Hoks as a beggar, Barb Holt, Elsie Dailey and Violet Olson as members of the crowd, Russ Holmaas and Alan Rogalla as Roman soldiers, and Leonard and Sylvia Rondorf and Stan Frame as additional pharisees. The stage director is Joyce Meekma.

The set design is by Helen Juhl, costumes by Barbara Holt, Deb Meekma, Judy Pervis, Helen Juhl and Jolayne Simpson, the sound system provided by Ron Meekma, and lighting by Rod Glass.

There will be no admission charge for the performance, but a free-will offering will be accepted. A time of fellowship and refreshments will follow the program in the adjacent Seventh-day Adventist school auditorium. Public attendance is invited.

Several complete fall course on Minnesota firearm safety

Thirty-nine participants successfully completed the fall Minnesota firearm safety course, sponsored by the Thief River Falls Firearm Safety instructors group and the Minnesota Department of Natural Resources. The program was presented by Jim Counter and Dallas Russ Jr., certified instructors, with classes held at Franklin Middle school.

The program presented, reflected long overdue changes of teaching technique. The old label of gun training or youth firearm safety has been changed to Minnesota firearm safety.

Adults were encouraged to attend including parents who don't hunt or use firearms, with a son or daughter showing interest in hunting or shooting sports.

Parents night, covered chapters of study from the concept of hunting, ethics and responsibilities of hunting; to care, cleaning and storage of firearms - the reality facing one after the hunt. The cleaning and processing of game bagged, was also covered.

The lecture has been supplemented with student involvement, role playing and demonstration.

Research has shown varied approaches in the delivery of the message has a definite effect on the amount of information retained: 20 per cent of what we hear (lecture), 30 per cent of what we see (visual aids), 50 per cent of what we hear and see (video), 70 per cent of what we see, hear, say and do (hands on activities).

Classes were limited to 30 students, and these were separated into two groups of 15 using two classrooms. Six classes were offered throughout the year, four by the Minnesota firearm instructors group, and two by the long-time sponsor, Pennington county sportsmans club. A total of 102 students successfully completed the course in 1994.

September graduates included: Joseph Appel, Joshua Ball, Melroy Ball, Darin Bjerknes, Reid Breitenfeldt, Becky Cain, Lance Butler, Nathan Carlson, Adam Dallmann, Michael Hagen, Daniel Hanson, Dayna Holland, Tim Hruby, Oary Klemetson Jr., Reya Lamm, Aaron Lendobeja, Kevin Lerol, Robert Molskness, Radovan Panovic, Jason Peterson, Jay Rislov, Adam Seed, Brian Walseth, Mary Waseth, Jayme Wilson, and Jeremy Wilson.

October graduates included: Kristofer Hageman, Nicholas Helt, Jerry Larson, Joshua Mattison, Brenda McCarty, Kyle McCarty, Jeremy McClendon, Dustin Miller, Kyle Ness, Kayla Ness, Jessica Schmaltz, Jordan Schmaltz, and Kyle Swanson.

The program coordinators Jim and Dallas, expressed their thanks to all who helped and those who supported the program including: Powder Horn Gunsmith for cleaning and repairing the 22 calibre firearms used for the field test; Thief River Falls Trap and Pennington County Sportsman clubs for their assistance and use of the clubs; KKAQ, KTRF, The Times, Sjoberg's Cable TV and the sponsors of the public service announcement spots; Minnesota Deer Hunter for obtaining safety glasses for use on the firing range, Clifton Johnson for preparing teaching aids; Thief River Falls School District 564 for the use of the classrooms, and Hardware Hank of Thief River Falls for the shells.

First influenza cases remind of need for shots

First laboratory-confirmed cases of influenza have been reported this fall in Minnesota and health officials are reminding certain groups of Minnesotans that they still need to get their influenza shots before the season gets fully underway.

The initial influenza cases were reported in two children treated at Hennepin County Medical Center. Both had the Type A Shangdong strain of influenza.

Minnesota Department of Health (MDH) is recommending influenza shots for people over 65 and people with heart disease, lung disease, diabetes or immune system problems.

Shots are also recommended for some health care workers and for children and teenagers with diseases like arthritis, which are commonly treated with aspirin. In children, aspirin can increase the risk of developing a serious complication of influenza called Reye's syndrome.

"Along with pneumonia, influenza is one of the leading health problems faced by adults in our state," says Christine Rice, assistant commissioner of health. "The impact of these diseases is especially significant among our older citizens. The influenza vaccine is very safe, and we recommend its use by anyone who might benefit from it."

Persons needing influenza shots should contact their physician or local health department, according to MDH officials. They also need to act quickly. Many local health departments offer free immunization clinics for influenza, but many of those clinics will only be in operation for a few more days.

The appearance of the A/Shangdong virus in Minnesota suggests that this may be a relatively mild influenza season, according to health officials.

"Influenza strains similar to A/Shangdong have been around for a couple of years, so many people already have some immunity to them," Commissioner Rice said.

People should still go ahead and get their influenza shots, she emphasized, because immunity from last year's shots will not carry over to this year.

Conservation planning may be done in winter

"With harvest done and winter in the air, it's a good time for farmers to consider calling their soil and water conservation district office to discuss plans for next year," states Cheryl Sistad, manager of the Marshall-Beltrami SWCD office in Grygla.

"During harvest, people often notice things about their farms that they don't pay much attention to most of the year," Sistad said. "Maybe there's an area that keeps gullying or a windbreak that needs some maintenance. It's easier to take care of these things before they get too big."

By visiting the SWCD office now, she pointed out, farmers can determine how to alleviate problems next spring and also find out if cost-share or technical assistance is available.

In addition, some land owners may want to discuss different tillage options for next year. Using lower till options can help protect the soil from both wind and water erosion and lighten a farmer's workload by requiring fewer passes over a field. The SWCD can possibly put farmers in touch with other farmers in the area who have tried different tillage methods and gain the benefit of their experiences.

"It's also a good time of the year to do soil testing to determine the soil's needs," Sistad added. "Fertilizer can be an important component of a farm when it's used correctly, but too much or using it inappropriately places unnecessary stress on the environment and on the farmer's wallet."

For more information, contact the Soil and Water Conservation district in the county where you farm.

Kids Witness News is a hit at Franklin Middle School

The kind of equipment they have allows them to film stories at different locations. With the completion of renovations at Franklin Middle school they now have their own studio in which to present news stories and store equipment.

The stories are shown on television monitors during home room period, an eighteen minute period before classes begin for the day, at least once a week.

One of the requirements for participation in the program is to send in videos of stories to Panasonic. One story has to be entered in a national contest.

This year students at Franklin Middle school will send in a news story they prepared on what happens to youth involved with alcohol. The tape includes a staged accident in which local emergency response teams participated, comments from Juvenile Officer Jim Haugen, and a tour of the jail at the Pennington county law enforcement center in Thief River Falls.

Each student is involved in every aspect of making a news story. Almquist said she requires students to trade places on the equipment so that everyone has an opportunity to use the equipment.

But students are learning more than just how to handle equipment, the program gives them an opportunity to learn more about what's happening around them, and whether they realize it or not, they witness news in the making.

Matthew Winjum focuses in on students presenting Kids Witness News at Franklin Middle school. The equipment for the program was provided as a result of a cooperative effort between the school district and private enterprise.

school for Head Start classes.

Recognition was given by the board for a number of donations to the school district. Included were $3,700 from the VFW Club for a flag pole, base and plaque at Challenger elementary and preschool and $250 to the Fine Line Dance program; $104 from Domino's Pizza for the elementary drug education program; $100 from the Lions Club for the Fine Line Dance program and $75 for the Little Brother/Little Sister program.

Amity scholars Sigurd Eyrich of Burlin, Germany and Amparo Baterlich of Barcelona, Spain, reported to the board on their countries and their involvement in the local school district.

District technology committee members Jim Kotz of Lincoln high school, Mary Almquist of Franklin middle school and Dick Tyler of Challenger elementary reported on the computer technology programs at their respective schools.

Board member Carl Clark reported that negotiations are underway with educational assistants, cooks and mechanics.

Extra-curricular assignments approved for the 1994-95 school year were Ryan Lokken, high school head boys swimming coach; Dann Holm, high school assistant boys swimming coach; and Bill Stock, high school assistant hockey coach.

Approval was given to the recommendation of the PER committee to submit a Title II block grant application for $12,500 for elementary science, $2,510 for high school science, $4,500 for library/media center and $600 for high school media arts.

Lincoln high school weight room policy was presented for review and discussion and will be brought up for approval at the next meeting.

A special meeting was set for Thursday, December 8, at 5:30 p.m. to view a videotape presenting the pros and cons of holding school board elections on odd or even-numbered years.

Next regular meeting of the board will be December 12 at 7 p.m. in the school district service center. A special meeting was scheduled for Monday, December 19, at 5 p.m. to review the technology facilities at Lincoln high school.

I hope you all had a Happy Thanksgiving!

Lillie Halvorson accompanied Delano and Lee Halvorson to Thief River Falls on Thanksgiving and they were guests of Sandy Gustafson and family.

Howard and Margaret Greenwald, Rick, Chancey and Nora Greenwald of Blacy and Lorena Westerlund were dinner and supper guests of Mike and Sandy Greenwald and girls.

Roger and Janel Welter and family were guests of the Duane Welter family in Minot for Thanksgiving. The storm kept them there longer than they had planned but they arrived home safely.

Floyd and Fern Hesse were Thanksgiving visitors at the home of John and Clara Helley. Later John and Clara called at the Don Hesse home.

Herb and Esther Walter were Thanksgiving guests of Roy and Reinette Walter of rural Thief River Falls, along with Vicki and Mitch Olson of Las Vegas, NV; Renee and Dan Lindgren of Climax and children, Brian and Jennie Welter of Crookston and members of the Novak family.

Burnel and Effie Byer left on Wednesday to spend Thanksgiving in Minot with Lee and Jean Vigstol. Joining them for the big dinner were Connie and David Lowe and daughter, Allison of Pleasanton, CA; Darlene Lowe, Dave's mother of Danville, CA; grandmother, Bertha Dean of Coeur d' Alene, ID; Karen Vigstol and Brian Murphy of Clifton, VA; Lisa and Jim Melet of Bloomfield, IN; Jean's sister, Connie and Roger Baldus of Minot, ND; with their grown children and grandchildren and other relatives. On Friday the Byers and Lee's family attended the baptism of Allison Patricia Lowe at Our Redeemer's Lutheran church in Minot. Her sponsors were Karen Vigstol and Brian Murphy. All were guests for an evening meal at the home of Hallie Walker. Having heard the storm warning, the Byers returned to Plummer that night.

Wayne and Barbara Leining of Austin spent Thanksgiving and Friday with Carole and Jim Wright and Charlotte Leining.

Kathy and Ron Juneau were happy to have daughters, Sherry Baertlein and daughter, Stephanie, Kelly and Dave Krueger of Jackson, WI spend Thanksgiving with them.

Art and Alma Hanson called on Thursday afternoon at the Ron Juneau home.

AmeriCorps members join refuge cleanup

AmeriCorps members in northwest Minnesota will work jointly with Agassiz National Wildlife Refuge Friday, December 16, on a treelot cleanup project.

AmeriCorps is a national service initiative to achieve direct results in addressing the nation's critical education, human service, public safety and environmental needs at the community level.

Agassiz refuge personnel and AmeriCorps members will be cleaning out selected treelots along the refuge's trails. The cleaning consists of thinning selected areas to promote spring growth of vegetation and provide winter habitat for small animals such as rabbits.

AmeriCorps is looking for people who would like to help participate with the project. Coffee and hot cocoa will be provided but workers are to bring their own lunches.

For additional information, contact Graeme Belcher or Joy Swenson at the Natural Resources Conservation Service (formerly Soil Conservation Service) at 218-681-6600.

TRF orchestra students plan holiday concert

Over 100 strings students in the Thief River Falls school district will be presenting a concert in the Lincoln high school auditorium on Monday, December 12 at 7 p.m. The concert will feature orchestra students from the fourth through 12th grade.

The beginning string students will be performing five selections that they have learned since starting six weeks ago. "O Come Little Children" and "Skip to My Lou" will be two of the selections that the fifth grade orchestra will be playing.

The orchestra students from Franklin Middle School will be performing selections from a variety of periods. Music from Tschaikovsky's Nutcracker and the theme from Charlie Brown.

For the first time in several years the Lincoln high school Chamber Orchestra will be accompanied by members of the Lincoln high school wind ensemble. The combined orchestra will perform the first movement of Beethoven's First Symphony and the Waltz of the Flowers from the Nutcracker.

The concert is free and open to the public. Any questions can be directed to Brian Cole at 681-2240.

Girl pulled from Red Lake river

An 11-year-old girl was pulled out of the Red Lake river Sunday by Jesus Lara of Thief River Falls.

According to a sheriff's department spokesperson, an 11-year-old girl and boy and a two-year-old child were playing on the ice near Basswood trailer court when the two 11-year-olds fell through the ice. Jesus Lara, 26, Thief River Falls, was looking out a window when he saw the youngsters fall through the ice. He ran from his house to the ice where the girl had completely submerged under the surface of the icy water. The boy had already pulled himself out of the river. Lara pulled the girl out of the water. She was taken to her home and did not suffer any injuries as a result of the ordeal.

Law enforcement officials are continuing to warn residents that ice on the river is not safe.

Thief River Falls boys host Prowler Relays...

Swimmers start year Saturday

Saturday's annual Prowler Relays will kick off the 1994-95 Thief River Falls boys high school swimming schedule.

The meet will start at 1 p.m. in the Franklin Middle School pool.

Although they're still young, 11 returning lettermen provide Thief River Falls coach Ryan Lokken with a line-up full of experienced swimmers this winter. There were just two seniors on last year's squad.

"We have some really good depth," noted Lokken. "We should be solid. We should be stronger than last year because our kids are a year older."

The lettermen include senior Steve Lyman; juniors Chris Efta and Sam Adams; and sophomores Mickey McEnelly, Aaron Sjaaheim, Chris Fribula, Jason Curfman, Jarohmia Efta, Charley Follett, Josh Engevik and Matt Gustafson.

Rest of the squad members are freshmen Josh Curfman, Nate Keller, William Packard, and Nick Tveitbakk; eighth grader Colin Browning; seventh graders Anders Brown, Zacb Olsoo, and Rory Hoven; along with sixth graders Chad Borneman, Ryan Peoples and Daniel Hanson.

Saturday, Dec. 10 - Prowler Relays, 1 p.m.; Thursday, Dec. 15 - at Crookston, 5 p.m.; Saturday, Dec. 17 - Fergus Falls Invitational, 11 a.m.; Tuesday, Dec. 20 - Fosston, 5 p.m.; Saturday, Jan. 7 - Bemidji Invitational; Thursday, Jan. 12 - Detroit Lakes, 5 p.m.; Saturday, Jan. 14 - Fosston Invitational, 12-noon; Friday, Jan. 20 - Crookston Invitational, 5:30 p.m.; Tuesday, Jan. 24 - Thief River Falls Triangular, 5 p.m.; Saturday, Jan. 28 - Moorhead Triangular, 1 p.m.; Tuesday, Feb. 2 - Moorhead, 5 p.m.; Saturday, Feb. 4 - Park Rapids Invitational, 11 a.m.; Tuesday, Feb. 7 - Crookston Six-Team Smash, 5 p.m.; Tuesday, Feb. 14 - Thief River Falls Triangular, 5 p.m.

TRF boys looking for good season

A year ago the Thief River Falls boys high school basketball program went 12-11 – finishing above .500 for the first time since 1990-91 – because of success against area Class A teams. The Prowlers were 2-8 against North Sub-Section 8AA competition.

Head coach Scott Brekke is expecting better this winter. "Last year we beat the Class A teams," he explained. "This year, we want to lift our game another level and beat the Class AA teams too."

Brekke says the Prowlers have a starting five to accomplish that goal. The group expected to be on the floor for the tip-off in Friday's 1994-95 season opener at Crookston will include 6-10 junior Kyle Sanden at center; 6-0 senior Eric Bjorgaard and 6-4 sophomore Jared Brandt at the forwards; along with 6-2 seniors Nathan Anderson and Josh Hedin at the guards.

Sanden, Bjorgaard and Anderson were starters a year ago when Sanden averaged 18 points and 9.1 rebounds per game, Bjorgaard carried a 12.1 scoring average and Anderson netted 9.9 points per game while shooting a school record 45 percent from 3-point range.

Brandt, a strong 200-pounder, will add some physical strength inside, and Hedin is a transfer student from Carlton, where he averaged 12 points per game. He will play point guard for the first time this year, while Anderson is employed as the shooting guard.

"It's a good nucleus," said Brekke, who is starting his fourth year as Thief River Falls head coach. "We're optimistic. It's as good a five as I've ever had to start a game with. We've got good size and we've got kids who can shoot from the outside."

Depth is a question mark at this point. Juniors Robby Farbo and Ryan Swanson, along with senior Dan Bjerknes, will be the first off the bench. Others out for the sport in the upper three grades include juniors Tom Koebmstedt, Jasoo Peterson and Derrick McFarlane; plus sophomores Stefan Ronchetti, Jon Blomker, Faol Kopari, Karl Anderson, Jeremy Jensen, Courtney Skjerven, Wayne Rahn, Billy Lubitz, Ryan Stengrim, and Riok Donarski.

Sanden draws most of the attention. His size and skills have already attracted interest from major colleges coaches. But if the Prowlers are going to be competitive at the Class AA level, the rest of the line-up will have to play well enough to keep some of the defensive pressure off their center. Ball handling and passing will have to be sharp. "Teams will probably try to press our guards," noted Brekke. "They won't want to let us get into a half-court game. If we can handle the press, we should be tough."

Brekke has confidence in the Prowlers' ability to put points on the boards, but defense is another matter. "That (defense) is an area of concern," he admitted. "If our program is going to make that extra step to the next level, we're going to have to be able to play good defense against the good AA teams."

Thief River Falls' 1994-95 home opener will be Tuesday, Dec. 13, vs. Kittson Central.

Prowlers are shut out by Central 8-0

Grand Forks Central scored four power play goals Saturday en route to an 8-0 high school hockey win over visiting Thief River Falls.

"We had too many penalties," pointed out Thief River Falls coach Pat Cullen. "You can't be taking that many penalties against a good team like that. They're really skilled and really quick."

The Knights led only 1-0 after one period, but opened up a 5-0 second period cushion as the Prowlers fell to 1-1 in their second season-opening road game of the week.

Scoring

First period - GFC, Ryan Kuhl (Eric Ness), 1:38.

Second period - GFC, Craig Wilhelmi (Ryan Regalia-John Spicer), 4:47; GFC, Wilhelmi (Jeff Panzer), 8:07; GFC, Blaine Young (Joey Melicher), 9:27; GFC, Ness (un), 14:02.

Third period - GFC, Ness (Eric Fohr-Jeremy Hangsleben), 8:42; GFC, Judd Spicer (Wilhelmi-Panzer), 6:09; GFC, Ness (Ryan Krull-Nick Fohr), 10:36.

Goalie Saves

TRF - Chano Keele 11-9-7, Brian Barry x-x-3, TRF total - 30; GFC - Jake Morsland 3-6-2 – 11.

Taylor, Rams beat Prowlers

Thief River Falls shooters were busy Friday with a whopping 84 field goal attempts against Roseau. Unfortunately for the Prowlers, only 25 of them were on target (30 percent) in a 77-59 girls high school basketball loss to Roseau.

"We missed so many chip shots," said Thief River Falls coach Sally Wiltse. "If we make a decent percentage of those shots, we have ourselves a pretty good ball game."

The Rams won despite turning the ball over 36 times. They won because sophomore guard Megan Taylor scored 35 points, because they shot 46 percent from the field (32/69) and because they out-rebounded the Prowlers 41-29.

It was the second home court loss of the week for the Prowlers, who made their debut Tuesday with a 57-46 defeat at the hands of Warren-Alvarado-Oslo.

"We're still not doing things the right way yet, but we were better than we were the first game," offered Wiltse.

The Prowlers trailed only 20-18 at the end of the first quarter, but were out-scored 12-1 over the final 3:18 of the first half to fall behind 46-28 at intermission.

"That second quarter killed us," acknowledged Wiltse.

Thief River Falls managed to chop the spread to nine points midway through the fourth quarter (62-53), but lost ground down the stretch.

The Prowlers' press forced a bundle of the Roseau turnovers, but because of the poor shooting percent, only three of those possession exchanges were converted directly into points.

A batch of close-in missed shots also helped explain a 19-16 Thief River Falls edge on the offensive boards.

The Prowlers were 7-for-14 at the free throw line, where the Rams went 13-for-21.

Senior guard Erin Habstritt and senior center Alexis Anderson joined Taylor in double figures for the Rams with 15 points each.

The Prowlers were led by senior forward Kelly Skeim with 21 points, sophomore forward Kim Stenseth with 17 and eighth grade forward Nicole Kopari with 10.

Gators shoot down Bears

Badger/Greenbush-Middle River shot 57 percent from the field Saturday in a 61-30 season-opening boys high school basketball win over Lake of the Woods.

Playing on the road didn't stop the Gators from lighting it up as they hit 21 of 36 from 2-point range and made 4 of 8 treys.

"We moved the ball very well," explained Badger/Greenbush-Middle River coach Eldon Sparby. "We got good shots."

The Bears, meanwhile, shot only 28 percent from the floor on a 12-for-43 showing, including 0-for-11 from 3-point range.

"We played good defense," noted Sparby. "That had a lot to do with their shooting percentage."

Matt Kuznia scored 11 points and Russell Larson had 10 to lead a balanced Badger/Greenbush-Middle River offense. Matt Speiker netted a game-high 18 points for the Bears, but none of his teammates scored more than 4.

The Gators were also on-target at the free throw line, where they were 7-for-8, while the Bears went 7-for-18. Lake of the Woods finished with a 25-21 rebound edge, but also had 33 turnovers to just 15 for the winners.

Badger/Greenbush-Middle River will be idle until a Dec. 13 match-up with Warroad in Greenbush.

Hockey JV is a 3-2 winner vs. Central

Tony Fletcher scored twice and Greg Wik had one goal Saturday as Thief River Falls edged Grand Forks Central 3-2 in junior varsity high school hockey.

Nathan LaRoque had a pair of assists for the winners, who evened their record at 1-1.

Thief River Falls goalie Brian Barry and Brad Inglis combined on 32 saves.

Mustangs knock off cold-shooting MCC

Marshall County Central will nail a bunch of 3-point baskets this winter, but not in Friday's 1994-95 boys high school basketball season opener. The Nordics were just 3-for-15 on treys and wound up losing to visiting Red Lake County Central 68-52.

"They're a better team than we are right now," said Marshall County Central coach Ron Ueland. "They have a good team, and we're just not quite ready to compete with them yet."

In addition to 24-for-63 shooting (38 percent), the Nordics turned the ball over 22 times. Those figures sabotaged a 41-30 rebound edge against the taller Mustangs, which included 18 on the offensive end.

"We did a nice job on the boards," said Ueland, "but we missed too many shots, and we turned it over too many times."

Red Lake County Central was 27-for-60 from the field (45 percent) and made 12 of 18 at the free throw line, where the Nordics were a quiet 1-for-2. The winners turned it over 13 times.

Aaron Chaput led Red Lake County Central with 23 points, while Bryce Huotari scored 18, Aaron Rosten 15, and Scott Lorenson finished with nine assists. Brandon Borg scored 19 points to lead Marshall County Central. Micah Ranum netted 10.

"We got off to a slow start, but we played better in the second half," said Red Lake County Central coach Todd Fore. "We playd pretty well, but there's still room for improvement."

Scoring

MCC - Micah Ranum 10, Trever Magner 7, Kent Rokke 4, Brandon Borg 19, Terry Olson 8, Matt Augustine 2, Kyle Halvorson 2, Craig Ranum 2.

Thief River Falls defender Jocelyn Helgeland tried to keep Roseau's Megan Taylor away from the basket during Friday's high school basketball match-up. Taylor scored 35 points to lead the Rams past the Prowlers 77-59.

Warroad 73-39 winner over MCC girls squad

Warroad handed the struggling Marshall County Central girls high school basketball team its third straight loss Monday in one-sided 73-39 fashion at Warroad.

A young Marshall County Central squad expected to have a tough time matching past success this winter, and that challenge was made even tougher when Tricia Pederson, the Nordics' lone returning starter and their top ball player, went down with an ankle injury before the season opener. Her status is day-to-day.

"We need Tricia back," said Marshall County Central coach Tom Mjelde. "We need a leader out there. Right now we're just not playing very good basketball. We're not doing a very good job handling the ball and we're not shooting very well."

The Nordics shot only 32 percent from the field (15/47) and turned the ball over 31 times against Warroad. "We didn't even get the chance to shoot because of the turnovers," pointed out Mjelde. "We did a poor job passing the ball."

Warroad shot 46 percent from the floor (33/72) and out-rebounded the Nordics 38-22, including an 18-5 advantage on the offensive boards. The winners turned it over 15 times.

Marshall County Central, after hosting Roseau Thursday, will compete in the Tri-County Invitational Monday and Tuesday in Karlstad. Monday semifinals feature Argyle vs. Stephen at 6:30 p.m. and Marshall County Central vs. Tri-County at 8.

Gators beat Roseau 63-47 in girls basketball...

Free throws help 3-0 B/G-MR

Roseau lost the home court edge Monday when Badger/Greenbush-Middle River cashed in on 20 of 30 free throw opportunities while the Rams went to the line just once in the Gators' 63-47 North Border Conference girls high school basketball win.

Badger/Greenbush-Middle River coach Tom Neibauer had a simple explanation for the difference in the foul situations. "We penetrated more than they did," he said. "We drew the fouls."

Krissi Super scored 22 points and Jessica Borgen netted 17 while controlling the lane on both ends of the court. Point guard Ali Hietala ran the offense effectively, mentioned Neibauer. "Our floor game is getting better every game," he said.

Most of the Rams' offense came from Megan Taylor, who scored 28 points despite close defensive coverage.

"We did a good job defensively," said Neibauer. "I don't know what else we could have done to try to stop her (Taylor)."

The 3-0 Gators shot 37 percent from the field (20/55) in building quarter leads of 19-12, 30-23 and 49-38.

Next outing for the Badger/Greenbush-Middle River squad will be in a four-team Thursday/Friday arrangement at Fertile. On Thursday, the Gators play Waubun at 6:30 p.m. and Fertile-Beltrami takes on Hawley at 8:15. Friday, Waubun and Hawley play at 6:30 p.m. while Badger/Greenbush-Middle River and Fertile-Beltrami, a pair of early-season favorites in Section 8A, square off at 8:15.

Pioneers will play in Gogebic Invitational

Northland Community College men's and women's basketball teams will head to Michigan this weekend to compete in the Gogebic Invitational at Ironwood.

The Saturday/Sunday event will feature a four-team tournament bracket for both men and women.

In the women's portion of the tournament, the Pioneers will be joined by host Gogebic, fellow Minnesota Community College Conference member Mesabi, and the University of Wisconsin-Marshfield. The men's field includes Northland, Gogebic, Midstate Technical College of Wisconsin Rapids, and the University of Wisconsin-Fond Du Lac.

A Thursday doubleheader at Northland resulted in a sweep for the Concordia College junior varsity as the Cobbers beat the Northland women 72-40 and defeated the Northland men 78-72.

Gogebic Invitational - Women

■ Semifinals Saturday, Dec. 10 - Mesabi vs. University of Wisconsin-Marshfield, 1:30 p.m.; Northland vs. Gogebic, 6:30 p.m.

■ Finals Sunday, Dec. 11 - third place, 9 a.m.; championship, 1 p.m.

Gogebic Invitational - Men

■ Semifinals Saturday, Dec. 10 - Midstate Technical College vs. Northland, 3:30 p.m.; Gogebic vs. University of Wisconsin-Fond Du Lac, 7:30 p.m.

■ Finals Sunday, Dec. 11 - third place, 11 a.m.; championship, 5 p.m.

Concordia JV women .........72 Northland..........................40

Getting beat wasn't so bad, but the margin of defeat was a little bigger than Northland women's coach Rick Nikunen would have liked as the Concordia College junior varsity rolled past the Pioneers 72-40.

It was the Northland season opener.

"We kind of expected the come out on the short end, but I thought the margin would be closer," said Nikunen. "Defensively we played pretty well in the first half. Offensively we didn't execute very well, and we didn't shoot very well."

It was the Northland season opener.

Scoring

Fourtown-Grygla Sportsmen's Club will meet Tuesday, Dec. 20, at 7:30 p.m. at the American Legion in Thief River Falls.

LHS ninth grade girls pick up win

Beth Goddard scored 13 points Friday as the Thief River Falls ninth grade girls basketball team beat Roseau 46-34.

The freshmen opened the 1994-95 season Thursday at Grand Forks Schroeder, where the A team lost 44-26 and the B team fell 30-17. Goddard scored 6 points in the A game and Sunny Carlson had 6 points in the B game.

Middle School

Seventh Grade Girls

Franklin Middle School seventh grade girls basketball teams swept Bemidji Saturday in a season-opening A/B doubleheader.

Kim Almquist scored 7 points and Beth Carpenter netted 6 as the A team won 32-27.

Abby Austad scored 8 points, while Lisa Sorteberg and Kia Nyland both netted 6 to lead the B team to a 35-25 victory.

Wolverines start season 3-0 with Monday victory

A strong first half carried the Goodridge/Grygla-Gatzke girls to a 50-34 high school basketball win over Lake of the Woods Monday in Baudette.

The Wolverines went to 3-0 by doubling the Bears 14-7 in both the first and second quarters for a 28-14 halftime cushion. The second half was a stalemate.

"We played very well in the first half," said Goodridge/Grygla-Gatzke coach Mike Gast. "We lost our intensity in the second half, and I wasn't very happy with that."

Brandi Stratton scored 12 points and Leah Vigen had 10 for the Wolverines, while Jamie Berndt was singled out by Gast for her defensive efforts. Kimi Bragdon scored 10 points to lead the Bears.

Goodridge/Grygla-Gatzke was 25-for-58 from the field (43 percent) but had an 0-for-10 night at the free throw line. Lake of the Woods went 14-for-43 from the field (33 percent) and 6-for-13 at the line. The Wolverines out-rebound the Bears 32-24.

LHS basketball JV girls beat Roseau

Roseau defeated Thief River Falls 41-35 Friday in girls junior varsity high school basketball.

The winners trailed 16-7 and 21-20 at the first two quarter stops before going ahead 32-25 in the third quarter.

Holly Bjorgaard scored 8 points and Laura Williams had 7 for Thief River Falls.

RLCC scoring balance leads to first victory

Four Red Lake County Central scorers hit double figures Monday as the Mustangs beat Clearbrook-Gonvick-Trail 61-42 in girls high school basketball at Oklee.

It was the first win in three season-opening starts for Red Lake County Central.

"We played well enough to win," said Red Lake County Central coach Rick Koivisto, whose team turned an 11-10 first quarter deficit into a 33-25 halftime lead.

Meckenzie Malwitz led the balanced Red Lake County Central offense with 19 points on 9-for-13 shooting, while Catherine Rosten netted 12, freshmen Angie Chervestad had a 10-point, 12-rebound effort, and Ami Tvedt contributed 10 points.

Red Lake County Central was 26-for-61 from the field (42 percent), but just 9-for-23 at the free throw line. Clearbrook-Gonvick-Trail struggled with an 18-for-74 shooting night from the floor (24 percent) while hitting 6 of 11 free throws.

Select species now for spring tree planting

This is a good time of year for persons intending to plant trees in the spring to do their species selection, according to Kathy Zavoral, district technician with the Marshall-Beltrami Soil and Water Conservation District in Grygla.

Farmstead windbreaks should consist of six to eight rows of trees including some conifers, Zavoral said, while a wildlife planting would include some fruit-bearing trees or shrubs.

The SWCD office in Grygla can offer a large variety of tree species suited for different soil types and planting purposes. It can also provide information on cost-share programs and species selection and answer planning questions.

"The best time to plant a tree was 20 years ago," Zavoral said. "The next best time is now. Why procrastinate any longer? Planting trees is an investment in the future."

Denise Ayers graduates from Mankato State

AmeriCorps gives progress report

USDA Natural Resources Conservation Service (NRCS), formerly Soil Conservation Service (SCS), AmeriCorps members, announced Wednesday information about their recent progress.

The Twin Valley AmeriCorps members assigned to help coordinate the Agassiz Recreational Trail have submitted a grant for an Information Heritage Center in Twin Valley. This would be a replica of the old Twin Valley depot and would be built along the Agassiz Recreational Trail. The Information Heritage Center would house 24-hour restrooms for trail users.

For community service projects, all 12 AmeriCorps members in northwest Minnesota, participated in the Crookston Clean-Up on November 9. Along with area volunteers, the AmeriCorps members picked up litter on the two main one-way streets.

On November 15, the AmeriCorps members received wind and water erosion training in Red Lake Falls, from area District conservationists Dave Dornbusch and Randy Huelskamp. This training also touched on some of the formulas used to measure crop residue loss.

Of the funds appropriated from the Minnesota State Lottery by the Legislative Commission on Minnesota Resources for the Agassiz Recreational Trail, there was an allocation for the establishment of a walking trail in the city of Ada. AmeriCorps Agassiz Recreational Trail coordinators are helping the city of Ada develop a plan of work, so construction on the Ada Trail can begin this spring.

The Agassiz Recreational Trail Citizens Advisory board chose Shelley Johnson of Twin Valley as the winner of the Agassiz Recreational Trail logo contest. She will receive a $50 savings bond.

On November 23, the AmeriCorps members went through a team building rope course at the Moorhead State University Regional Science Center. Each member went through a series of low rope courses and one high rope course. The emphasis of the day was setting individual goals and accomplishing those goals through teamwork.

The Conservation Outreach members have been working on organizing a Crop Residue Alliance for their respective counties. An initial letter of contact has been put together along with a list of area agri-businesses. In the coming months, the AmeriCorps members working on this project will be going to these businesses to discuss the potential contributions they can make. Also, they will be traveling to the landowners of priority living snowfence land and discussing the potential of their land for the planting of trees for the living snowfence project.

Donna Nelson is named coordinator for foreign students

Donna Nelson of Middle River has been named the community coordinator for area school districts with International Education Forum of Bay Shore, NY, an International student exchange program.

She will be seeking host families interested in participating in cultural exchange by hosting a high school student from one of 35 countries. Students are available for January placements.

"This area offers international students an excellent opportunity to experience American family life at its finest," Mrs. Nelson said. "In return, these students will enhance our educational programs by sharing another culture, language and knowledge with our teenagers.

"Since many of the students in our high schools have never traveled to other countries and possibly never will, their only exposure to cultures beyond our immediate borders may very well be through cultural exchange."

Host families may earn up to a 20 per cent scholarship toward an IEF Homestay Abroad in Spain, France, Russia, Australia and many other destinations. Families interested in hosting a student may contact Mrs. Nelson at 218-459-3329.

Wild rice paddies help birds

Artificial wild rice paddies may boost survival prospects for many Minnesota bird species, according to an article by editor Dave Hansen in Minnesota Science, published by the Minnesota Agricultural Experiment Station in St. Paul.

Large numbers of waterfowl make themselves at home in our state's commercial paddies, he writes. So do many threatened nongame species such as the American bittern and the marbled godwit. "As potential habitat for waterfowl, it's a concept that has far reaching implications," says Jay Huseby, a wildlife graduate research assistant. "As natural habitats are lost or degraded as a result of human manipulation, it becomes imperative to thoroughly understand wildlife biology in manipulated environments."

Working on that understanding, waterfowl and nongame birds in wild rice paddies have been under weekly observation by Huseby and wildlife researcher Dan Svedarsky. From April through October over the past two years, they've been counting breeding populations, marking nests, banding hatchlings and tracking hens and ducklings with radio transmitters to see what habitats the birds used and to monitor survival.

"As early as April, although little open water is as yet available, that which is will typically hold large numbers of waterfowl such as mallards, pintails and Canada geese," says Huseby. "Tundra swans and northern shovelers made up the bulk of new arrivals during the second week in April, and the density peaks at nine birds per acre of paddy by about April 18."

Diversity peaks at the beginning of May with 16 different waterfowl species present, though most northern breeds depart by mid-month.

"Those that stayed through the nesting and brooding period were primarily mallards, blue-winged teal, northern shovelers, wood ducks, American coots and Canada geese," Huseby says. "There were smaller numbers of gadwalls, American wigeons, green-winged teal, redheads and ring-necked ducks."

There were about 675 breeding ducks per square mile of flooded paddy, with mallards the predominant species even though they were the least successful species at breeding—about a 15 per cent success rate, compared with 75 per cent for Canada geese. Predation by raccoon, mink, skunk and ground squirrels was the major cause of nest failure.

The study site, representative of transitional terrain between prairie and forest, is in a major waterfowl migration corridor, says Svedarsky, who works out of the branch experiment station at Crookston.

"The paddies provide a valuable source of food: wild rice seeds and aquatic invertebrates," says fish and wildlife researcher Mary Henry. These foods include insects, crustaceans, snails and minnows."

Svedarsky's study also looked closely at the nesting success of black terns, a species that in some areas has declined, and identified 24 species of nongame birds living in the paddies or nearby habitat. These included the sandhill crane, American avocet, common yellowthroat, northern harrier, American goldfinch, yellow warbler and warbling vereo.

The 800 acres of paddies studied are about 40 miles south of the Agassiz National Wildlife Refuge in northwestern Minnesota. Additional support for the research was provided by farmers Jobe Gunvalson and Paul Imle.

Students in David Peterson's fourth grade class used the media center at Challenger elementary school for the first time Tuesday. The review from students — "Awesome!"

Federal tax refunds owed to over 1,000

Internal Revenue Service is looking for just over 1,000 Minnesotans. These people have undelivered federal tax refunds available to them, according to Inar Morics, director of the IRS in Minnesota.

The most common reason for an undelivered refund is that the name or address on the return is incorrect. Some people move and do not give IRS their new address. The 1,038 refunds, totaling nearly $394,000, are all that remain from more than one million checks sent to people in Minnesota each year.

The refund checks are not issued by local IRS offices but are mailed six to eight weeks after a person contacts the agency, Morics said. People who believe they are due refunds from returns filed for 1993 or earlier should contact the IRS at 644-7515 in the Twin Cities area or toll-free 1-800-829-1040 in Greater Minnesota. For all inquiries, a person should have at hand the name and address as it appears on the return, social security number, type of tax return, year for which the return was filed, and dollar amount of the refunds.

One way to avoid the delay of an undelivered refund is to send IRS a change of address, Form 8822, when moving, Morics said. You can also avoid a lost, stolen, or undeliverable refund by having your refund deposited directly into your bank account. This option is only available to people who have their return filed electronically or use the new computer-based 1040PC format. You can also avoid a delay by making sure you have social security numbers for both you and your dependents, Morics added.

Healthy snacks developed from MN agriculture crops

New snacks developed in the research kitchens of the Agricultural Utilization Research Institute (AURI) at Crookston could help people who are hungry in Minnesota as well as provide a boost to sale of crops grown in the state.

When Second Harvest St. Paul Food Bank, an agency responsible for distributing food to hundreds of food shelves and meal programs, approached AURI about ready-made snack, Dr. Charan Wadhawan began formulating them to meet several needs.

"The snacks had to be consistently available, to keep shelves stocked when donations might fall off," Dr. Wadhawan said. "They had to be high in protein, require no preparation, be nutritionally sound, low cost and, of course, they had to taste good."

The first granola-like bars developed met the basic needs but didn't pass the taste test. Additional work was done in the test kitchen with oats, sunflower seeds, corn flakes, peanuts and sweeteners. No artificial ingredients nor preservatives were used.

"I also worked on a peanut butter-like spread made from sunflower seeds," Dr. Wadhawan added. "People who tried them liked the new snack bars. School children who tasted the sunflower spread liked it, as did other focus groups."

Now AURI is helping Second Harvest look for Minnesota manufacturers to produce the bars and sunflower spread on a contract basis. It is also identifying equipment needed to produce the snacks.

When the snacks are manufactured and available, they'll bring healthy products to Minnesota food shelf users as well as add value to cereal and oilseed crops. For Second Harvest, the bars will improve a public food program that serves more than 32,000 Minnesota families.

AURI helps in the development of many other new uses for Minnesota's agricultural commodities. For more information about AURI programs, call 218-281-7600 or 1-800-279-5010 or write to AURI, Owen Hall Annex, UMC, Crookston, MN 56716.

Media center at Challenger elementary school opens

The new media center and elementary library at Challenger elementary school in Thief River Falls opened this week, getting a warm round of approval from students and staff.

The new media center combines four former school libraries, along with small group conference areas, a "reading room", equipment and book processing areas, and a small computer lab. Elementary librarian, Jane Oberg, says the new facility can be described in one word — "Fabulous!"

Oberg says children using the library for the first time this week were "excited by the newness and size compared to the media centers in other buildings. The wait has been part of the excitement." Oberg says students are especially attracted to the furnishings. "Our tables and chairs, the reading areas, are so comfortable. The furniture is just their size, and the skylight makes this such an easy area to work in."

Earlier this month parent and community volunteers shelved 4,500 volumes, moving the books from storage to the new media center in only four days. Oberg says students started out the year using collections of classroom materials and the Thief River Falls Public Library.

"We are thrilled to be able to serve students and staff. We will also be offering more hours, with the library open before school, at 8 a.m., and after school until 3:30 p.m." Oberg said.

Eventually, the library will be fully automated, with the card catalog on computer and books barcoded for easier check out. Oberg says they will be using a system similar to the public library.

"We will also start with traditional encyclopedias, bound volumes instead of computer software," she said.

Although the media center is equipped with television monitors, Oberg says she has no plans to use them. "It didn't make sense not to install them, and we did not want to limit the use of our media facility. The monitors, like our computer lab and encyclopedias on computer disc - the technology - will come, and we will be ready for it when we need it."

The new media center includes literature for kindergarten to fifth grade students. Oberg invites parents and community to tour the center, located between the four/five and two/three schoolhouses.

Sally Grand, educational assistant, and Jane Oberg, Challenger elementary school librarian, at work in the school's new media center. The new facility incorporates books and materials from the four former elementary libraries.

Now, there's Hope for Snorers

If you or someone you love snores, you understand how disruptive a problem it can be. But snoring doesn't have to deny you the rest you need.

Now, there is hope for those who snore. And it doesn't require major surgery.

Dr. Stephen Asp, a Minnesota native and UND Medical School graduate, is performing a unique, new radiosurgical procedure that he calls "a step beyond laser surgery".

It's done in the doctor's office, so no hospital stay is necessary. It's cost-efficient and convenient.

Call today for an appointment at our Grand Forks satellite office or for more information on this procedure, which has helped many who snore. Rediscover peaceful nights and a happy family.

IMPORTANT HOMESTEAD PROPERTY TAX NOTICE

"If the property you now own and live in was not being used by you - or by a "qualifying relative" - or by the previous owner - as a home on January 2, 1994, you can reduce the amount of property tax you will pay on your home in 1995 by applying to have the property classified as a homestead.

If you wish to claim homestead on a property that was not receiving the homestead classification in the past, you must contact the county assessor's office and make application on or before December 15, 1994.

You–or a "qualifying relative"–must have moved into the home you now own and live in it as a principal residence, on or before December 1, 1994, to apply to have the property classified as a homestead.

A "qualifying relative" is defined as a parent, stepparent, child, stepchild, grandparent, grandchild, brother, sister, uncle, or aunt. The relationship may be by blood or by marriage.

Because of a 1993 law change, once you have been granted the homestead classification, no further applications are necessary unless they are specifically requested by the county assessor.

If you should sell, move or for any reason no longer qualify for the homestead classification, you are required to notify the county assessor's office within 30 days of the change in homestead status.

To find out how to apply for the homestead classification and receive the proper application form contact:

Another View On The Property Rights Topic

Extremism is a subjective condition, depending upon the views of the person or people making the assessment. We have commented in these columns recently about the growth in the property rights movement and the viewpoint of many property owners that government control over the use of their property constitutes a "taking" of that property.

In a "commentary" published earlier this year in Minnesota Out-of-Doors, Jay D. Hair gives his views on what he considers to be the extremist view of property rights. He is president of the National Wildlife Federation, an organization which has, over the years, taken a generally reasoned approach to protection and preservation of wildlife. It has supported hunting as a means of harvesting game species as well as a producer of revenue to protect habitat and provide professional management of wildlife resources.

We would hope that the federation's position has not changed from its established past. A slide too far on the extremist side of environmentalism would not serve the organization well.

We believe many of our readers will have an interest in Mr. Hair's philosophy as he expresses it in the commentary which follows:

If landowners chop down every tree in which bald eagles nest, those endangered masters of the sky would be harmed, right? Well, no, not as long as the eagles aren't in the nests when the trees are felled, according to a recent federal court ruling.

The court's contention is as plausible as arguing that you wouldn't be harmed if someone destroyed your home while you were away.

In short, the decision defies common sense.

Legally, the case of "Sweet Home v. Babbitt" is about defining the word "harm." But in the long term, it could set the stage for eliminating important protections—not just for endangered specie, around which the case revolved—but for the health and safety of every American.

The case stems from the District of Columbia Circuit Court of Appeals where two judges on a three-judge panel ruled on an argument over the Endangered Species Act. The issue was whether the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service's definition of harm is valid. The act forbids harming threatened and endangered species, like the eagle. The Service defines harm to include "significant habitat modification or degradation" that kills or injures wildlife by "significantly impairing essential behavioral patterns, including breeding, feeding or sheltering."

In plain English, that means endangered wildlife is harmed if the place where it lives is destroyed.

The two deciding judges, however, found a way around the demonstrably obvious. They decided that harm must be restricted to its narrowest meaning, as in killing by—in their words—"a substantially direct application of force."

The decision means a landowner could completely drain a lake dry to irrigate a crop without "harming" any of the fish that die because the place where they live is destroyed.

An absurd opinion from the bench is not unique. Our justice system is sufficiently healthy to normally correct blunders. That will probably happen in this instance.

The act, after all, states that its overriding purpose is "to provide a means whereby ecosystems upon which endangered species and threatened species depend may be conserved." The Senate report issued when the law was passed advises that the taking of a protected species, which includes harming or killing them, is to be defined "in the broadest possible manner." And the Ninth Circuit Court has upheld the meaning of harm to include habitat degradation.

The law and reason should prevail. Fortunately, while the conflicting court rulings are resolved, the Fish and Wildlife Service can continue enforcing habitat protections. But the decision's full ramifications also should be considered.

The panel's solution to the need to protect species by protecting their habitat is to pay landowners not to cut down all the trees where eagles nest, or not to drain all the lakes essential to the survival of fish. Such reasoning opens the door to a new legal doctrine of property rights extremism.

Today one court panel accepts the extremist argument that wildlife does not need a place to live in order to live. Tomorrow the argument may be that the only way to stop your neighbor from destroying a wetland that would result in the flooding of your basement the next time it rains is to pay your neighbor not to harm you. Where most of us live, that's called extortion.

The idea that rights leave off when harm to others begins and that a democracy can require protections for the public good is at least as old as the Republic. From this idea flows the decision to protect endangered species. Or to keep one landowner from fouling the air everybody else breathes. Or to stop a porno shop from opening next to a school yard. The circumstances vary, but the principle is the same.

The new absolutists, however, want to alter that tradition in one fundamental way. It's fine, they argue, for society to pass laws protecting public health, public safety and public values. But, and here's the crux of it, society has to pay for any reduced use of private property that results from obeying the law.

The extremists are asking us to choose between cashing out the Treasury or to begin repealing laws protecting the environment, and public health and safety.

This panel ruling is pernicious on two fronts. If allowed to govern, it would both eviscerate the Endangered Species Act and serve as precedent to do the same to a host of laws society has adopted to protect itself. The extremist view of property rights threatens not only endangered species, but the security of measures that protect us all.

IN LOVING MEMORY OF FLOYD HAUGEN WHO PASSED AWAY DECEMBER 2, 1965.

Those we love must someday pass beyond our present sight... must leave us and the world we know without their radiant light.
But we know that like a candle their lovely light will shine to brighten up another place more perfect...more divine...
And in the realm of heaven where they shine
so warm and bright
our loved ones live forevermore in God's eternal light.

Sadly missed by his family,
Mom and Dad, Brother and Sisters.

REGULAR BOARD MEETING
November 14, 1994 7:00 p.m.
S.D.S.C. Conference Room A

A Regular Board Meeting of Independent School District #564 was held on Monday, November 14, 1994, at 7:00 p.m. in Conference Room A of the School District Service Center.

The following Board members were present: Larry Belmont, Carl Clark, Dennis Kiesow, Jean Larson, Cheryl Lee and Darla Twomey. Also present was Dr. Robert Duncan, Superintendent of Schools.

Chairperson Dennis Kiesow called the meeting to order and Clerk Darla Twomey established that a quorum was present.

A motion was made by D. Twomey and seconded by J. Larson to approve the agenda as amended. Motion carried unanimously.

A letter from Mary Almquist regarding the equipment received from Panasonic for the Kids Witness News Program was reviewed. Information was distributed concerning the MSBA New Board Member Orientation Phases I & II and Board members were asked if they would like to renew their subscription for "The Board" publication.

Tony Dorn, Inc. was recognized for their donation of $200 to the Fine Line Dance Program. The Prowler Football Team was also recognized for being named Class A Academic State Champions by the Minnesota Football Coaches Association. Lincoln Senior Sarah Huschle was also recognized for being named to the 1994 Minnesota Academic All-State High School Volleyball Team.

A group of parents presented their concerns about discussions that have been taking place concerning the possibility of eliminating the morning and afternoon milk program at Challenger Elementary School. They presented a petition signed by a number of citizens asking that the program be continued.

Larry Belmont updated the Board on the Project 2000 Strategic Plan indicating the plan will soon be disseminated to the public via a brochure with copies of the entire plan to be distributed to all staff. Presentations will also be made to community groups and organizations after the first of the year.

Darla Twomey reported on behalf of the Shared Decisions-Making Oversight Team indicating the Team met last week and determined there was a need for the oversight team to continue. They will be meeting again at the end of the month to determine their role.

Carl Clark reported on behalf of the Board Negotiating Team and reviewed the settlement with the Bus Drivers group which was on the agenda for approval. Carl also reported the Team met with the Food Service, Educational Assistant and Mechanic groups earlier in the day. The Board received proposals from the groups and scheduled another meeting in two weeks to continue negotiations.

Dennis Kiesow reported on behalf of the Northwest Technical College Joint Powers Board and referred to the minutes which were included in the agenda.

Business Manager Harry Nelson reported the School Auction is scheduled for next Saturday, November 19th, and distributed copies of a list of some of the items to be sold at that auction. Harry also reviewed the recommendations for increasing the petty cash account at Franklin and for establishing an account for the Community Education Department.

Superintendent Bob Duncan reviewed the November 1 enrollment report and reminded Board members of the Telecommunications Luncheon scheduled for this Wednesday, November 16th, at the Best Western. A consultant will be presenting information about the need for a community-wide telecommunications strategic plan.

A motion was made by C. Clark and seconded by L. Belmont to approve the Minutes of the October 24, 1994, Regular Board Meeting as presented. Motion carried unanimously.

ASK YOUR LOCKSMITH
Questions And Answers
Q What features should I look for when choosing a good deadbolt for my home?
A There are many good quality locks on the market and your professional locksmith is your best source for advice on the right one for you. A good deadbolt lock should be a tubular design with at least a one inch throw locking bolt. It should also have a tapered outside collar to resist wrenching, a high security strike plate to reinforce the door frame and at least two 1/4 inch hardened steel bolts to securely fasten the lock to the door. Proper installation should be done by your professional locksmith so that you will get the greatest measure of protection from any locking device.

Domestic violence affects children who witness abuse

In homes where domestic violence occurs, children are at high risk of suffering physical abuse themselves. Regardless of whether children are physically abused, the emotional effects of witnessing domestic violence are very similar to the psychological trauma associated with being a victim of child abuse.

Each year, an estimated minimum of 3.3 million children witness domestic violence.

— Children in homes where domestic violence occurs are physically abused or seriously neglected at a rate 1,500 per cent higher than the national average in the general population.

— Research results suggest that battering is the single most common factor among mothers of abused children.

— A major study of more than 900 children at battered women's shelters found that nearly 70 per cent of the children were themselves victims of physical abuse or neglect. Nearly half of the children had been physically or sexually abused. Five per cent had been hospitalized due to the abuse.

However, only 20 per cent had been identified and served by child protective services prior to coming to the shelter. The same study found that the male batterer most often abused the children, in about one-fourth of the cases both parents abused the children, and in a few instances only the mother.

— Lenore Walker's 1984 study found that mothers were eight times more likely to hurt their children when they were being battered than when they were safe from violence.

— Although child abuse and neglect are strongly linked to domestic violence, child protection organizations have paid little attention to the concurrence of the two problems. For example, in 1984, only 15 states participating in the American Humane Association's National Study of Child Abuse and Neglect collected data on the mother's abuse. In 1985, this number dropped to six states collecting these data.

— Children in homes where domestic violence occurs may "indirectly" receive injuries. They may be hurt when household items are thrown or weapons are used. Infants may be injured if being held by their mothers when the batterers strike out.

— Older children may be hurt while trying to protect mother.

— Children from violent homes have higher risks of alcohol/drug abuse and juvenile delinquency.

—Approximatley 90 per cent of children are aware of the violence directed at their mothers.

— Children are present in 41 to 55 per cent of homes where police intervene in domestic violence calls.

— Some of the emotional effects of domestic violence on children include:

- Taking responsibility for the abuse;
- Constant anxiety (that another beating will occur);
- Guilt for not being able to stop the abuse or for loving the abuser;
- Fear of abandonment.

— Children in homes where domestic violence occurs may experience cognitive or language problems, developmental delay, stress-related physical ailments (such as headaches, ulcers and rashes) and hearing and speech problems.

— The majority of abused women who use shelter services bring their children. In one study, 72 per cent of the women brought children to the shelter; 21 per cent were accompanied by three or more children.

— Boys who witnessed domestic violence are more likely to batter their female partners as adults than boys raised in nonviolent homes. There is no evidence, however, that girls who witness their mothers' abuse have a higher risk of being battered as adults.

— Approximately 15 states have passed legislation recognizing that domestic violence should affect child custody decisions.

Dagen receives Potato Growers service award

Troy Dagen, a seed potato grower who has been farming in the Karlstad area for 28 years, was one of three individuals in the industry presented with the Meritorious Service Award, highest honor in the Red River Valley Potato Growers Association, at its annual meeting in Fargo, ND recently.

Following his high school education in Karlstad, Dagen attended North Dakota State University in Fargo where he received a bachelor of science degree in agricultural economics.

Under the business name of Dagen Farms Inc., Troy farms with his son Preston, who joined the operation in 1993. The farm started as a partnership with Troy's brother Gary and father Luverne. In 1985 Luverne retired and in 1987 Troy bought out Gary's portion of the business.

Dagen Farms produces about 450 to 650 acres of seed potatoes each year with the remainder of the 2,400 acre farm in wheat, barley and sunflowers.

Troy has been very active in a number of agriculture related organizations. He is a past chairman of the Red River Valley Potato Growers Association board(1982-1983)and served two terms on the board. He is also currently vice president of the Minnesota Certified Seed Potato Growers Association.

He is a member of the Karlstad Farmers Elevator, Farmers Union, Minnesota Wheat Growers Association and an advisor on the Northwest Regional Development Commission. He was instrumental in getting a 10-ton highway route established for northwestern Minnesota a few years ago.

Named Kitlson County King Agassiz for 1985-86, he was also a member of the Karlstad school board for two terms, including serving as chairman. Troy and his wife Mary have one daughter, Erin.

James Pederson of Kennedy was elected vice chairman of the association and Mark Thompson of Park River, ND, was elected as the new chairman, succeeding Chuck Gunnerson of Ada. Mark and his two brothers grow about 500 acres of certified seed potatoes each year as well as 50 acres near Mountain, ND, for seed increase in an isolated area decreasing disease and insect potential.

"Jabberwock"

Lincoln's Fall Play is Huge Success

By Alyssa Johnson

Imagine: a weary man comes home late from a long trip of travelling; ten minutes later, his father-in-law nearly shoots a police officer in the face. Anyone who doesn't understand probably did not see "Jabberwock," Lincoln's fall play. It was preformed on November 18th and 19th, and it was a great success.

"Jabberwock" is based on the life of James Thurber, author of "The Secret Life of Walter Mitty." The play is set in Columbus, Ohio, during World War 1. The young Thurber, called Jamie, is played by Jeremi Hanson. Throughout the play, Jamie struggles with the problems teenagers of every generation has had to deal with. Jamie is not alone in his struggle, thanks to the support given by his somewhat zany family. The family consists of Jamie's mother, father, two brothers, and grandfather. All give Jamie their own off-key, yet accurate, opinions about the issues Jamie is dealing with. Jabberwocks, such as girls, university life, and war, eventually resolve themselves.

Though the point of the play is hard to get, the cast does a great job. Hanson plays Thurber with an endearing mixture of seriousness and humor. Sam Adams and Maja Turenne come across as the wise but somewhat befuddled Mr. and Mrs. Thurber. Chris Tsuckichi and Josh Melby provide humor as Jamie's brothers, and Kiki Goddard is effectively snobbish as Georgiana. The true star of the show, though, is Ben Schmitz. His performance as Jamie's senile grandfather can only be described as brilliant. Schmitz is a natural-born actor, and this part seems to have been written just for him. The scene in which Schmitz plays checkers with himself leaves the audience rolling in the aisles. The set, built by Art Heinze, Mike Melby, and Scott Bornholdt, is also stunning. The set lets the audience see everything that is happening at once. Director Coanie Stock kept calm throughout the performance. When a light switch fell off the wall on Friday night, she simply sent an actor dressed as a handyman out to fix it, just as if it were part of the script. All and all, the play is well done and thoroughly enjoyable.

Prowler Football

Prowlers Go All the Way to Fargo Dome

By Carlos Diaz

The Prowler Football Team started the '94 season on August 15. They lost the first two games against Detroit Lakes and Alexandria, but came back and won their next three games. After losing their Homecoming game, the Prowlers beat Fergus Falls and East Grand Forks to end their regular season.

The Prowlers had some major goals this year, and one of them was to make it to the Fargo Dome. That's exactly what they did. With a 7-3 record going in, everything seemed great. The game against Detroit Lakes was definitely a battle to the end. Both teams started out like champions, fighting to be number one. The Lakers were the first to score, but it didn't take long for the Prowlers to respond. They came back with a touchdown of their own to tie the game. A few plays later, the Lakers scored again. When the Prowlers scored in retaliation, they missed the extra point. This left the score 14-13 in favor of the Lakers. With the half coming to an end, Lakers' quarterback Wade Lewandowski passed the ball to Skarie. He caught the ball and fell into the end zone. The half ended with a score of 21-13. The last half of the game, the Prowlers didn't have a chance to score. The final score was 28-13. Senior Tony Halsa led the Prowlers with 75 yards on 13 carries, and junior Nick Chiodo gained 33 yards on 3 carries. The Prowlers finished their season 7-4, placing second in Section 8A.

"It was a great season! I think the whole team is proud of what we accomplished this year, and next year the juniors, sophomores, and freshmen will push themselves harder to do even better. I'd like to thank all of the students and faculty for coming out and supporting the team at our games. I would also like to thank the Pep band on a great job playing for us this year," said Captain John Davis.

"The Prowlers did outstanding," said Coach Mumm. The game against Detroit Lakes was a fight to the end. Although the Prowlers made a couple of mistakes, they played like champions. The football team is losing some seniors, but they will be replaced with some excellent players. Next year Lincoln will be looking to see the Prowlers go all the way to state.

Construction at Lincoln

The Man Behind the Plaster

By David Lopatowski

As everyone knows, there is a lot of construction going on at Lincoln High and in the community. Everyone has seen or heard of the construction going on as well.

The man partially in charge of the operation is Don Bergstrom. Don Bergstrom is from north central North Dakota, and he has a history of building things. In North Dakota be worked on the oil fields. He spent eight years of his time gaining experience there.

He and his wife and daughter owned a golf course. They've also had the pleasure of doing leisure work, but Bergstrom wanted more. He dug his hands in the dirt of Civil Engineering. Bergstrom is studying at Moorhead StateUniversity to get his degree in Civil Engineering.

Don Bergstrom is employed by B & V, Construction, based in the Cities and in other towns in other areas.

Bergstrom has wanted to get into commercial building (the building of schools and businesses) for a long time but hasn't had the chance to do anything big until now. From his studying in classes in Moorhead, he has been given the chance to work here and build our school, under the title of Project Coordinator.

Being the Project Coordinator, be gets to meet with a lot of people. In the process of building the new schools, he has met a lot of people from the community. Although E&V Construction has many people working for them, they have hired other contractors to do the work of rewiring the electrical outlet and the insulating of the new rooms. Some of the other contractors are local people, and some of them are from Grand Forks and surrounding communities.

Don Bergstrom has a job that requires him to listen to other people and give constructive criticism. He also corrects what is wrong. He still must follow orders and do what he's told, because his job is to satisfy what his boss (in this particular case the TRF School Board) tells him to do.

The construction was held up a little by last winter's bitter cold. Some days it was so cold that the workers didn't even go to work! Since then, everything has gone well. Some employees are concerned about the upcoming winter though.

Although you have seen some of the construction, there is a lot more to do than what you have seen. Before school started there were about two or three weeks of rushing to finish up the last part of the kitchen and the lunchroom area.

The Challenger building was a start from scratch, brand new, fresh out of the can school. Challenger school is a modern and fresh new idea wrapped into brick and plaster. The workers range from male, female, tall, short, white collar workers, and tool belt workers. Most of them enjoy their work, and their pay, which ranges from eight to eleven dollars an hour. Don Bergstrom looks anxiously towards his next job. Someday he hopes to bring his kids back and say, "I helped to make this building."

Domestic violence affects children who witness abuse

In homes where domestic violence occurs, children are at high risk of suffering physical abuse themselves. Regardless of whether children are physically abused, the emotional effects of witnessing domestic violence are very similar to the psychological trauma associated with being a victim of child abuse.

Each year, an estimated minimum of 3.3 million children witness domestic violence.

— Children in homes where domestic violence occurs are physically abused or seriously neglected at a rate 1,500 per cent higher than the national average in the general population.

— Research results suggest that battering is the single most common factor among mothers of abused children.

— A major study of more than 900 children at battered women's shelters found that nearly 70 per cent of the children were themselves victims of physical abuse or neglect. Nearly half of the children had been physically or sexually abused. Five per cent had been hospitalized due to the abuse.

However, only 20 per cent had been identified and served by child protective services prior to coming to the shelter. The same study found that the male batterer most often abused the children, in about one-fourth of the cases both parents abused the children, and in a few instances only the mother.

— Lenore Walker's 1984 study found that mothers were eight times more likely to hurt their children when they were being battered than when they were safe from violence.

— Although child abuse and neglect are strongly linked to domestic violence, child protection organizations have paid little attention to the concurrence of the two problems. For example, in 1984, only 15 states participating in the American Humane Association's National Study of Child Abuse and Neglect collected data on the mother's abuse. In 1985, this number dropped to six states collecting these data.

— Children in homes where domestic violence occurs may "indirectly" receive injuries. They may be hurt when household items are thrown or weapons are used. Infants may be injured if being held by their mothers when the batterers strike out.

— Older children may be hurt while trying to protect mother.

— Children from violent homes have higher risks of alcohol/drug abuse and juvenile delinquency.

—Approximatley 90 per cent of children are aware of the violence directed at their mothers.

— Children are present in 41 to 55 per cent of homes where police intervene in domestic violence calls.

— Some of the emotional effects of domestic violenec on children include:

- Taking responsibility for the abuse;
- Constant anxiety (that another beating will occur);
- Guilt for not being able to stop the abuse or for loving the abuser;
- Fear of abandonment.

— Children in homes where domestic violence occurs may experience cognitive or language problems, developmental delay, stress-related physical ailments (such as headaches, ulcers and rashes) and hearing and speech problems.

— The majority of abused women who use shelter services bring their children. In one study, 72 per cent of the women brought children to the shelter; 21 per cent were accompanied by three or more children.

— Boys who witnessed domestic violence are more likely to batter their female partners as adults than boys raised in nonviolent homes. There is no evidence, however, that girls who witness their mothers' abuse have a higher risk of being battered as adults.

— Approximately 15 states have passed legislation recognizing that domestic violence should affect child custody decisions.

Dagen receives Potato Growers service award

Troy Dagen, a seed potato grower who has been farming in the Karlstad area for 28 years, was one of three individuals in the industry presented with the Meritorious Service Award, highest honor in the Red River Valley Potato Growers Association, at its annual meeting in Fargo, ND recently.

Following his high school education in Karlstad, Dagen attended North Dakota State University in Fargo where he received a bachelor of science degree in agricultural economics.

Under the business name of Dagen Farms Inc., Troy farms with his son Preston, who joined the operation in 1993. The farm started as a partnership with Troy's brother Gary and father Luverne. In 1985 Luverne retired and in 1987 Troy bought out Gary's portion of the business.

Dagen Farms produces about 450 to 650 acres of seed potatoes each year with the remainder of the 2,400 acre farm in wheat, barley and sunflowers.

Troy has been very active in a number of agriculture related organizations. He is a past chairman of the Red River Valley Potato Growers Association board(1982-1983)and served two terms on the board. He is also currently vice president of the Minnesota Certified Seed Potato Growers Association.

He is a member of the Karlstad Farmers Elevator, Farmers Union, Minnesota Wheat Growers Association and an advisor on the Northwest Regional Development Commission. He was instrumental in getting a 10-ton highway route established for northwestern Minnesota a few years ago.

Named Kittson County King Agassiz for 1985-86, he was also a member of the Karlstad school board for two terms, including serving as chairman. Troy and his wife Mary have one daughter, Erin.

James Pederson of Kennedy was elected vice chairman of the association and Mark Thompson of Park River, ND, was elected as the new chairman, succeeding Chuck Gunnerson of Ada. Mark and his two brothers grow about 500 acres of certified seed potatoes each year as well as 50 acres near Mountain, ND, for seed increase in an isolated area decreasing disease and insect potential.

CLUB LINCOLN

By Amie Rumple

Have you ever wanted to know what a school club does? Then this is the place to find out! How many of you want to know about the Key Club or the Photo Club? I'll be telling you about many of the clubs at Lincoln.

In this edition, I'm going to tell you about Key Club. Key Club likes to help others in the community. Some of the things they did last year included tutoring, helping with the Special Olympics, and working at Discovery Place. Key Club also helps the National Honor Society with the Blood Drive every year, and they buy gifts for the Angel Tree. Some of the projects that Key Club is working on now are Jail & Bail, fund raising, and the Blood Drive.

There are about fourty students in the club at this time, but there is always room for more. Key Club meets on Monday nights from 3:05 to 3:30. To find out how to join, contact Mr. Mike or either of the co-presidents, Vicki Bitzegaio or Angeline Gunstad. The Key Club could always use more enthusiastic students to join in on the fun!

FASHION FOR TODAY AND FOR THE FUTURE

By Lauren Lavalier

Catch-it! Fall fashions for 1994-95 school year are here. The seventies and the nineties are uniting to bring you the fantastic new threads of today. These fashions are extremely hip, but beware kids, your parents probably did wear them once. You could probably look in the attic in one of those cedar chests and find some really cool and hip clothes, but always beware of mice holes and moth balls.

To go with those new threads, check out these garbs (accessories): Docs, Eastlands, Platforms, clogs and sandals. Some other hot garbs are chokers, beads, braclets, necklaces, earrings (short or small studs) and rings. Silver is in, but gold is cool too.

What did everyone wear to Homecoming? That is the biggest question amongst teenage girls today, but before you go out and buy another hundred dollar dress for Sno-fest, consider some things. You will probably only wear that dress once. Why don't you wear one of your old ones, trade with a friend, or buy one for less at Twice But Nice? If you really want to get creative, take the sewing machine, a pair of scissors, and some sequins to one of your old dresses to create your own unique style.

What About The U?

Should You Go To The University of Minnesota?

By Cory Anderson

Seniors, you may be wondering where you are going to spend the next four years of your life. Many of you are considering a four year college. Well, consider the U, it's not all that bad.

The University of Minnesota Twin Cities Campus may seem quite forbidding, being the 3rd largest campus in the nation (about 45,000 students). The U covers an expanse of 2,000 acres. There are people from 110 different countries and even more different life-styles.

Many people think that the U is dangerous with all the different types of people. Yes, the U did have 2,098 crimes in 1992, but that is down 212 from the crimes committed in 1990, and it's still on a decline. To protect their students, the U is installing ten more Kiosks or "Blue Light Phones" on Campus. This makes it a total of sixteen Kiosk phones on campus. These Kiosks are phones to summon campus police in an emergency with the touch of a button. There is also a twenty-four hour escort service.

What's that? You say, "If I went to the U, I'd be too busy to party." If you want to party you should try staying in Territorial hall (it has a "interesting" reputation). If you can't find anything to do, join a club (the ski club goes skiing in Colorado for two weeks), or go to Dinkytown. Dinkytown is just off campus; it's kind of like Chinatown, but it's more students than Chinese. You can find anything to Dinkytown, from McDonald's to Disco Bars. If all else fails, make some new friends; with 45,000 people, it shouldn't be too difficult. Once you have found some friends in your dorm, you can go to the new recreation center or one of the three movie theaters on campus (you get to see the movies before they come out in the cities). You could join an intramural sport (or a collegiate, if you're really good). You never know, though, if you will be good at a sport like inner tube basketball! If you want academics, then the U is a good shot. It ranks right up there with all the other universities in the states; it' at 26th with its academic reputation, and with the 15th largest research library, you could be studying for the rest of your life. All students on campus have access to computers, and most know how to use them efficiently. The U is an average college, but if you really want to study, you should try the Institute of Technology (take pre calc, trust me).

Well, this is a fairly comprehensive look at the University of Minnesota. Remember, any college is only what you make of it. Take a good look at where you are going to before you get there, and remember No Fear™.

My Thanks to Cathy Madison for some very useful information in the writing of this article.

Drinking & Driving

What Would You Do?

By Loretta Stavenes

Does drinking and driving affect you? If your answer is no, you are sadly mistaken. There are numerous accidents caused by the "it will never happen to me" attitude. Nobody thinks of drinking and driving as a serious problem, but it is.

Think of a situation where you are at a party, and you had not been drinking. Your friend, who has been drinking, wants to drive you home. What are you going to do? You have a series of serious questions you should ask yourself before making your decision:

1. Ask your friend if you could drive.
2. Take the keys.
3. Have another friend, who has not been drinking, drive you home instead.

Look at the many choices besides letting your friend drive. The choice is yours. Please remember that drinking and driving kills hundreds of innocent people each year. Do you want to be one of those innocent people?

Faculty Facts

by Denae Weatherford

Have you ever had a favorite teacher? If you have, maybe one of them was Bob Michalicek, better known as Mr. Mike. He's a great teacher, he makes his classes interesting, and he loves to work with students. He tries to help all the students, no matter how much trouble they are. Mr. Mike thinks there is good in everyone. These are some of the qualities that earned Mr. Mike a top-10 finish in the Minnesota Teacher of the Year Competition.

Mr. Mike got his Bachelor's Science Degree from Bemiji State. He also got a double major in math and science, along with his Driver's Education Certification. Mr. Mike got his Master's Degree at Wisconsin State University. He took a lot of other classes at Cleveland University, St. Cloud University, and the University of Minnesota. When he was a junior in college, some of his professors encouraged him to work with young people. That is when he decided to go in to teaching.

In his spare time he likes working with automobiles and inventing little things for around the house. This summer he built a double deck on his house. A couple of summers ago he built a swimming pool and a heater to go along with it. Mr. Mike likes to fish, camp, and hunt. He mostly likes outdoor types of things.

Mr. Mike will celebrate thirty wounderful years of marriage on August 29th. He and his wife have four great children. The oldest is Jeff. He is 26, and he was married in July. The second oldest is Quen, who is 24. She is married and has a little girl who is seven months old. Stewert is 22; he got married one year ago in August. Misty, the youngest, is 21. She got married on October 22nd.

If you have been in any of his classes such as physical science, astronomy, drivers ed., and/or physics, you know what a great teacher Mr. Mike is.

Yearbooks still available

Don't miss out on the memories! Order your 1995 Yearbooks today! Any student who wants his or her name stamped on the cover of the yearbook must order by December 22 (That's the day before Christmas vacation!) Yearbooks can be ordered in room 208 and cost 35 dollars.

Also, the following students still need to pick up their '94 yearbooks: Amy Christianson, Diane Erickson, Kelly Gould, Alisa Hugg, Melanie Krepp, Ryan Limanen, Jeremy Pilcher, Cheri Scott, Dan Spielman, Brad Svir, and Ryan Swanson. Last year's seniors should pick their books up in the Student Affairs office, while all others should be picked up in room 208. Don't miss the chance to have a valuable keepsake of your years in high school; get your yearbook today!

In Memory of Brandon

The first thing that comes to mind
Definitely his smile.
The way he walked around and Dished out that big-ol' smile
He always made others feel good.
I know he supposedly had an "identical"
But there was still no one like him.
He was special in so many ways.
It's unbelievable to think.
That his time here with us is gone.
But what can we do?
Just remember the good times
And move on.
I know it won't be easy,
But try and remember
He's not alone.
God is with him.
And he's probably wrapping him tight in his arms right now.
We Thank-you, God, for doing that.
We know he's being taken care of.
Brandon-
We love you
And we'll miss you.

Get to Know...

Suvi Himanen

By Jenny Wilde

Suvi is a foreign exchange student from Finland. She lives in a farmhouse with her cat (Cassius), brother (Henri), and parents. She goes to a school in a large city called Lahti.

On Friday and Saturday nights, Suvi, like most teens in the United States, likes to go to a party or to a club to dance. Techno music is really popular with European teenagers, but Suvi likes all kinds of music. (Techno is music made by machines rather than instruments). Some of Suvi's other hobbies include reading and playing the piano. Suvi keeps busy with school by editing her school's newspaper and playing "ringette." Ringette is a game somewhat similar to ice hockey. As a matter of fact, Suvi hopes to become the manager of Thief River Falls' Hockey Team. Suvi is not sure which other activities she'd like to join. She is going to wait until spring to see if there is anything she is interested in.

One difference between the United States and Finland is the school system. Finnish schools give out more homework than schools in the United States. As a result, tests becomes more difficult than in the United States. Most students in Finland need to know more than one foreign language. Suvi speaks English, Swedish, German, and French. Another difference in the school system is the extra-curricular activities. In Finland there are no school sports. Suvi says she really enjoys Lincoln's school spirit.

One thing Suvi dislikes about the United States is the fruit. Her favorite American expression is "yee-haw," which is translated into jiihaa in Finnish. Suvi is enjoying her experience in the United States. Suvi will be here for the whole year, so take the time and get to know her.

Homecoming '94

By Jeni Gaffaney

The Homecoming theme for 1994 was "When I'm With You." Homecoming week was October third though the seventh.

The week started off with Dress-up day. Coronation for this year's King and Queen was held at 7:30 P.M. in the auditorium. The Homecoming Court for the seniors included Sarah Mugaas, Jana Johnson, Mandy Johnson, Nathan G. Anderson, Dan Bjerknes, and John Davis. For the juniors, the girls were Jill Dekkers and Leah Helgenset. The boys were Keith Anderson and Aaron Ehrenstrom. The sophomore attendants were Alicia Bakken, Kyla Skiple, Kyle Nelson, and Jay Tanner. Representing the freshmen were Desirae Alberg, Rebecca McKercher, Berry Belcher and Chris Manning. Lincoln history was made when Nathan Anderson was crowned Lincoln's first Homecoming King. Last year's Homecoming Queen, Toni Chiodo, crowned Jana Johnson this year's Queen.

Tuesday was "Come as You Are Day." Teenagers are usually obsessed about how they look, but on Tuesday they came dressed like they just rolled out of bed. On "Senior Citizen Day," Lincoln students came to school dressed more like grandparents than teenagers. Students matched bikinis with thermals for "Summer/Winter Day" on Thursday.

Pep fest was held in the gym on Friday at 1:00 P.M. The Student Senate gave a free ticket to the dance or a five dollar gift certificate to Pizza Hut for the best dressed male, female, and staff member. Winners from Tuesday though Thursday were announced at the pep fest. The winners of the "Come as You Are Day" award were Lisa Hovet, Rob Stock, and Mrs. Paulson. For "Senior Citizen Day" the winners were Myndy Olson, Sam Adams, and Mrs. Hofstad. "Summer/Winter Day" winners were Tracy Koivisto, Stefan Ronchetti, and Mr. Cornell. DECA held a Kiss the Pig contest, and the lucky winner was Coach Mumm.

The parade immediately followed the pep fest. The weather was a little nippy for the parade, but most of the students stuck it out. Every class did a great on their floats, but the junior's float was judged the best. The Homecoming dance was held in the new gym from 9:00 to 12:00 P.M. Students had a great time, even though they could only wear socks or slippers. The dance featured the SLV Entertainment System, complete with a giant video screen and a spectacular light show. Overall, everyone had a good time despite the weather.

Sigerud, one of LHS's Amity scholars, and Mrs. Young, German teacher, show that they have school spirit by dressing appropriately for "Summer/Winter Day" during Homecoming week.

Girls' Tennis

By Amie Rumple

The Lincoln High School Girl's Tennis team finished their season at 5-9. Overall, the team did very well. Two doubles teams went on to Regions. They were Kamie Twomey and Tiffany Brouse and Shari Evenson and Anne Padia. Neither team advanced to state, but both represented Lincoln very well.

Coach Jim Bitzegaio said, "I had a lot of fun, and I think the kids did, too."

He also said that there were four students that improved a great deal over the season. They were Kate Ihle, Elizabeth Odette, Heidi Johnson, and Vicki Bitzegaio. Great job girls!

Twomey also said, "We had a great year! We had a few problems, but we pulled together, and we will do better next year." Well, Kamie, everyone wishes you and the team good luck!

Freshman Becky Mooney races to the finish. Mooney was the Prowler's top finisher at the regional meet held at the Thief River Falls' golf course.

Cross Country

By Jeremy Swanson

When Coach Dyer was asked how the season looked, he said, "Not very bright, because of injuries and low numbers of people and also poor weather conditions." The team has had nine meets this season. The team captains for the girls were Jessica Bugge and Leah Helgenset. Helgenset has been in Cross Country for five years and has a good attitude about things. When asked about the practices, she said, "They are hard, but they help us a lot." The boys captains are Dan Bjerknes and Nathan F. Anderson. Anderson has been in Cross Country for two years. When asked about the season, he said, "We started strong but got weaker due to injuries and poor weather conditions.

The Cross Country team hosted regions this year here at the golf course. There were fourteen teams total. Two teams could go to state, and the top five to cross the finish line could go to state also. Alexandria was one of the teams to go to state. The Prowler girls got seventh place in regions, while the boys team got 14th place.

Swimmers advance to state

Sensational Swimming

By Alyssa Johnson

One thing is for sure: you can't say the swimming team doesn't work hard. They've already swum over a hundred miles this year. Besides that, Coach Ryan Lokken has had them do approximately two thousand push-ups and about fifteen thousand sit-ups. All that hard work has really paid off. Swimmers Theresa Giauque, Sarah Harger, Mandy Johnson, Sunny Carlson, Becky Harger, Nichole Kopari, Cammie Sorenson, and Andi Sorvig all qualified for regions. Divers Becky Mattson and Jennifer Olin also attended regions on November 11th and 12th in Alexandria. Co-captain Giauque made qualifying times for state early in the season, and Olin also went to state.

"It has been a really good year," said Giauque. "A lot of the younger swimmers have really shown improvement."

Though they only won three of the eleven meets they swam this season, they got some of their best times. Giauque has broken pool records for the 500 Freestyle in Park Rapids and Detroit Lakes. She also broke Detroit Lakes' pool record in the 200 Freestyle.

November third was Parent's Night. The Parent's Night ceremony was held during the break after the diving competition. Underclassmen presented their parents with balloons and blue or yellow carnations. Along with hugs and a few tears, the seniors handed their parents balloons, roses, and thank you cards. Since it was the last meet of the regular season, many of the seniors felt reminiscent about Parent's Night.

"It's going to be sad to go. We're like a family," said Johnson.

The family atmosphere was apparent even before the meet started. The girls came out of their locker room cheering and clapping. After revving up the crowd with some cheers, they started doing the hokey-pokey. Thief River's opponents, Crookston, joined in on the song. The meet began after the National Anthem.

There were plenty of exciting moments throughout the meet, but the 200 Freestyle was probably the highlight of the evening. Not only did Thief River Falls take the three top places, but a new pool record was set. Giauque finished at 2:01.07, beating her old record of 2:03.14. Finishing right behind Giauque were Sarah Harger and Johnson. This race also proved to be a region's qualifier for Harger, who is co-captain of the team. In order to qualify, she did what is considered impossible in swimming: she dropped nine seconds from her time.

"Everyone's swimming their hardest," said Harger, shortly after qualifying, "and we're doing great."

Standing out among the divers were Mattson and Olin. Mattson received a score of seven, on a dive with a degree of difficulty of 1.7. Olin's high score was a 6.5, on a dive with a degree of difficulty of 2.3. These high scores helped Thief River Falls beat Crookston in the diving competition.

Freestyle seems to be TRF's strong point. Kopari was barely out-touched in the 100 Freestyle. Giauque took first in the grueling 500 Freestyle, finishing just a couple of seconds short of the pool record. She was also a part of the 400 Freestyle Relay. Giauque, Johnson, Kopari, and Becky Harger all worked together to finish in first place.

The swimmers were grateful for the large turn out for Parent's Night. They may not have won, but they swam their best.

After Parents Night the swimmers went on to regions. Going into the competition, Giauque was seated first in the region in both the 200 and 500 Freestyle. She placed first in both events, beating the competition by several seconds. Giauque said that in the past she had never won a region's race by more than half a second. The other Prowlers did their best, and they were happy with their times. Olin placed second at regions in the diving competition. Their performances enabled them to go on to state. Both girls did well. Olin placed 21st, and missed going on to the second day by one place. Giauque placed twelfth in both of her events. Since Minnesota has the second fasted swimming times in the country, that would place Giauque among the top thirty swimmers in the United States. The two top finishers in the state had times that would be fast enough for Olympic try-outs. The Prowler Swimming team should be proud of how they ended the season. Lincoln can look forward to another great team next year.

Volleyball

Prowlers make sub-regions

By Jenny Wilde

The Lincoln Volleyball team finished the year at 14-13. One goal met by the team was to play in Sub-Regions. With a loss to Alexandria in the sub-regions, the volleyball team ended their 1994 season. With two senior powerhouses leaving, next year's team will have to rely on their vast experience.

The captains, Sarah Huschle and Kelly Skiem, promoted teamwork by having team breakfasts and other fun team activities, such as their dance at the Pep-Fest. Great job ladies!

Co-Captain Sarah Huschle was recently recognized for her academic and athletic achievements. She was named to the Minnesota State Academic All Star Vollyball team. Huschle's 4.0 grade point average, along with other activities, earned her the award. This year's volleyball team completed a great year both on and off the court.

VIP moves into new quarters

Violence Intervention Project has moved to a new location in a building across from the Eagles Club in Thief River Falls. An open house on December 21 will give the public an opportunity to see the new facility.

Prior to its move at the end of October, Violence Intervention Project (VIP), was located in much smaller space in buildings on Second Street. All of the programs, except the crime victims program, are now located under one roof.

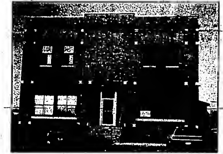
VIP was originally conceived as the Martha Rogers Ripley Alliance in 1978 by a group of dedicated women from various backgrounds. Their purpose was to provide alternatives to women who, like themselves, were living in an environment of domestic violence. In May of 1990, this agency consolidated with Project Safe to form VIP. Project Safe, like the Ripley Alliance, began in 1979 and its primary focus was to serve victims of sexual assault. Today the consolidated agency has had the opportunity to broaden the scope of its mission, to serve victims in a larger geographic region, to better serve clients with overlapping problems, and to more completely utilize the volunteer network and the staff.

VIP's mission explicity states a belief in equality among people and an intent to work toward that goal. Equality doesn't mean just the eradication of sexism or racism, but also includes other forms of discrimination such as ageism, homophobia, and discrimination based upon being low-income.

VIF is a non-profit agency which serves victims of domestic abuse and sexual assault in Minnesota Region 1. VIP is the only agency serving victims of abuse in northwest Minnesota Region 1 which includes the counties of Polk, Roseau, Marshall, Kittson, Pennington, Red Lake and Norman. VIP provides services for an area of 8,451 square miles. Its area extends from the Candian border on the north to Norman county on the south, the North Dakota border on the west to approximately 100 miles east. The population served numbers approximately 91,000.

Other programs included under the VIP name include: Umbrella Tree Children's Safety Center, Pennington County General Crime Victim program, Sexual Assault Services, an effort to recruit legal advocates, and the Criminal Justice Intervention project.

VIF now occupies a building which has been extensively remodeled. It accommodates several programs under one roof and is handicapped accessible. The public is invited to see the new office of VIP from 2 to 5 p.m. Wednesday, December 21. Refreshments will be served.



Violence Intervention Project, which is located now across from the Eagles Club in Thief River Falls, will hold an open house for the public from 2 to 5 p.m. Wednesday, December 21. VIP serves a seven-county area in northwestern Minnesota with a variety of programs. Their new offices are located in a building which has seen extensive remodelling.

Low turnout at tax hearing won't stop the process

Relatively few people turned out for the city of Thief River Falls' truth in taxation hearing Tuesday night at the Thief River Falls library.

Thomas Thelen, field representative for the League of Minnesota Cities, attended the hearing in Thief River Falls. Thelen said he observes activities at about 20 of these hearings each year. Attendance at these hearing is typically poor, he said, but he is supportive of the process. He thought the state had done everything it could to encourage participation in these hearings. About the only thing, he noted, that will bring people out to these hearings is a large tax increase.

The city of Thief River Falls is proposing to levy for $1,281,864 in 1995, roughly a five per cent increase over the previous year. The levy will support the city's governmental fund, debt service fund and police pension fund. The governmental fund includes many of the city's major expenses that are included in its budget. The Thief River Falls city council is expected to formerly adopt the city's budget at its meeting on December 27.

Roger DeLap began the hearing with a discussion about those factors that can affect levels of property taxes, such as: a change in the property's market value; a change in state "tax classification rates"; changes in city, county or school tax levy requests; changes in property tax classification; and a change in the city's overall market value.

He followed this summary with a more in-depth discussion about class rate changes and shifts that may have taken place, and the tax capacity system. Overall, however, taxes on property are determined by following a formula — Market Value multiplied by the Classification Rate, which provides the tax capacity, and then the tax capacity rate multiplied by the tax rate and that provides the property tax amount.

For example, a residential homestead with a market value of $50,600 multiplied by a classification rate of one per cent provides a tax capacity of $506. The tax capacity of $506 multiplied by the tax rate, which is 42.9 per cent in Pennington county, provides a tax of $217. Now, that is the tax just for the city of Thief River Falls. The county's and school district's levies will affect the overall tax.

The city of Thief River Falls proposes to raise $1,281,864. The net local tax levy will raise $955,800, which is a 5 per cent increase over the previous year.

Groundbreaking for the $3 million SWIS PENNCO regional recycling facility at Thief River Falls took place Saturday, December 10, at 11 a.m. Because the construction site was frozen, a mound of compost produced at the Future Fuel plant was placed on the site for ceremonial shoveling. Construction of the 100x300 building should start later this week.

Ground broken on Saturday for regional recycling plant

SWIS PENNCO to build $3 million facility to handle area's solid waste

Groundbreaking for the $3 million SWIS PENNCO regional recycling facility southwest of Thief River Falls took place Saturday morning, December 10, followed by a reception and speaking program at the River Road Casino.

The ceremony at 11 a.m. was actually a compost shoveling event as a mound of compost produced at the present Future Fuel plant was placed on the frozen construction site for that purpose. Construction of the new 100x300 building will begin this week pending thawing of some frozen ground to permit laying of footings.

The regional facility will be a pre-structured concrete and steel building containing state-of-the-art separation and processing equipment. It is being financed by Solid Waste Integrated Systems (SWIS) Corporation with the Red Lake Nation as a 20 per cent limited partner.

When the plant is completed and operational, it will be a successor to the present Future Fuel facility. The existing building and equipment will be used for a portion of the operation producing compost and fuel pellets.

Bobby Whitefeather, chairman of the tribal council of the Red Lake Nation, said the leadership of the reservation is excited to be a part of the project.

"We believe this will not only be a benefit for our neighbors outside the reservation boundaries," he told The Times in a telephone interview, "but will be a great help to us as we deal with our own disposal problem."

Whitefeather said that presently the only option available to the Red Lake Nation has been landfills. With its limited partnership in the regional recycling facility, the reservation will be able to give more attention to environmental considerations while participating in the economic development of the region, he added.

Pennington county is contracted with SWIS PENNCO to provide a minimum of 8,000 tons of solid waste per year at a cost to the county of $55 per ton. Previous history of the Future Fuel plant has been a supply of approximately 9,000 tons, according to Rick Nordhagen, chief operations officer for the new facility.

Nordhagen said that the new plant will process solid waste from Pennington county as well as the Red Lake Reservation. It has a state permit to process up to 30,000 tons per year (approximately 100 tons per operating day) and expects to attract solid waste from other counties or communities once it is operating and able to demonstrate what it can do.

The new equipment is expected to reduce the amount of solid waste which needs to be landfilled to 10 per cent or less of the total volume received. That waste in all probability will be hauled to the Kittson-Marshall county licensed landfill in the Strandquist area. Presently the landfill material from the local processing operation is hauled to Grand Forks, ND.

Ken Murphy, chairman of the Pennington county board of commissioners, said that selection of SWIS Corp. to handle the county's solid waste was made following a lengthy search for a management firm and tours of a number of solid waste facilities.

Murphy said that the solid waste facility in Thief River Falls was one of the early ones in the state and that the present equipment is outdated and difficult to keep in repair. Because the county still has outstanding debt on a portion of the facility, however, it could not move the equipment in the present building without having that debt become immediately payable. In addition, grant funds received would convert to loan status and become immediately payable.

"Our option is to continue to use the present facility until the new one is ready, then to use the old facility on a limited basis until the debt is retired," Murphy said. "The new plant will do a much better job of separating and recycling solid waste and reduce the volume of waste which must go to a landfill."

The county board chairman, who also serves on the state solid waste board, said that the market for recycled materials remains soft and the tolerances for contaminated materials are more stringent. Several pieces of ceramic material in a semi-trailer load of clear glass, for example, could result in rejection of the entire load. And while more uses are being found for recycled material, more material is being recycled and the supply in many areas remains much greater than the demand.

Murphy also said it was a goal to have the new plant be a regional system in the future, but that the primary purpose was to get more stability into the Pennington county solid waste system.

Nordhagen said that it has taken a long time to get everything together and bring it to the point of breaking ground for the new plant. He said that those directly involved in the project appreciate the support, patience and help received.

Hovden enjoys 102nd Christmas

by Sherry LaCoursiere
Northern Watch Reporter
Times Reporter

Blanche Hovden will be enjoying her 102nd Christmas this year. She was born September 13, 1892, and reached the venerable age of 102 this year.

You might think that a 102-year-old lady would be firmly ensconced in one of the area nursing homes or even in the hospital, but you won't find Blanche in those places.

She lives in her own little apartment at the Skylite complex, still doing her own laundry, cooking and cleaning, and she is as active as someone half her age.

"I don't need any help," she said. "I do all of the housework — I wash my own clothes and do the cooking. I don't do much baking, but my friends bring me cookies sometimes. And I hire someone to come and do my windows in the spring."

Every day she eats her noon meal in the complex's communal dining hall with her friends, and visits the Skylite Hair Care Center every Wednesday to get spiffy.

Blanche has lived at the Skylite Apartments since it was built 25 years ago. She was the second person to move into the complex and was allowed to choose where she wanted to live, so she has an outside apartment where she can see who is coming and going.

Blanche was born in Ridgeway, Iowa, one of six daughters and a son born to Mr. and Mrs. Bakken. Blanche and her 90-year-old sister who lives in Decorah, Iowa, are the only children still living.

Mr. Bakken was a farmer and worked at a creamery. After he retired, he was a buttermaker and Blanche said he was the first person to have a franchise on cream separators.

Mrs. Bakken was one of those hard working farm wives we have all read about, and a "real good mother," said Blanche. Not only did she do the ordinary household chores, such as cleaning, cooking, baking and laundry for her family of seven, but she canned fruits and vegetables and butchered the hogs and cattle for the family's larder.

Blanche remembers her mother's sausage as "the best I've ever eaten." She added, "I haven't been able to get sausage that tastes like that no matter what kind I try."

The Bakken's' Christmases centered around their church. Blanche grew up in an Evangelical Lutheran Synod home, and she remembers always going to church for Christmas services, where, she said, the men and women sat on separate sides of the aisle.

She remembers one year when the deacon (similar to an assistant or youth pastor) had the children line up in the aisle to question them on their faith. Some of the children were so excited about Christmas that they forget the answers to even the most basic questions. Blanche especially remembers the deacon asking a young fellow, "Who was born on Christmas?" The befuddled youth figured he knew the right answer to that question, and immediately piped up, "It was Santa Claus, Deacon."

When Santa came to the Bakken house he left the children practical gifts, such as handmade socks, scarves and mittens. "There weren't a lot of gifts at Christmas," she said. "We would always have an apple in the toe of our stockings because we grew apples in the area, and we would get hard candies, too."

A sprilely, perky 102 years old, Blanche Hovden can still enjoy a joke or two, but her favorite subjects of conversation are politics and her family. Blanche has lived at Skylite Apartments since the complex opened 25 years ago and she still takes care of her own cleaning, cooking and laundry without any help.

After their schooling, Blanche and one of her sisters decided to seek their fortunes elsewhere and went to Waterloo, Iowa, to work as housekeepers for an affluent family and "see the world," she said. But they only stayed there two days, finding the housework there much harder than what they were used to at home. "We stayed long enough to earn enough money to take the train home again, and were we ever happy to be back," she said.

Before she was married, Blanche worked at a general merchandise store for five years. This was the old-fashioned kind of store where some of everything was sold from hard candy to hardware, shoes to sugar, pickles to pins and anything

Low turnout at tax hearing won't stop the process

A 5 per cent increase, however, does not necessarily mean that each property owner will see a 5 per cent increase in their taxes. On most properties, it translates to an increase of about 3.35 per cent. On a residential property valued at $30,000, for example, that's a $4.17 increase or 35 cents per month. On a residential property valued at $50,000, the increase would be $6.94 or 58 cents per month. On residential property valued at $90,000, it amounts to an increase of $15.01 or $1.25 per month. Of course increases and or decreases in taxes are affected by several other factors, already mentioned.

If all of the levies from the city, county and school district, are added together, the net levy on property in Thief River Falls, minus tax aids, would amount to $3,925,019.

Tax payers may want to know where their tax dollars are going. Thief River Falls will receive about 25 cents of every tax dollar. The county will receive about 35 cents of every tax dollar, and the school district will receive about 40 cents of every tax dollar. Statewide averages show that cities generally receive about 20 cents of every tax dollar, counties about 29 cents, and school districts about 48 cents of every tax dollar.

The process of developing a budget in Thief River Falls began about June 1. By September, departments and committees were still working on a projected deficit of $658,000. The budget is now basically balanced, DeLap said. The per cent increase in the proposed 1995 budget over the current 1994 budget is 1.3 per cent overall and 1.3 per cent of the General Fund only.

Revenue for the city of Thief River Falls is raised in a variety of ways. Local government tax accounts for only 21.3 per cent of the revenue projected. Minnesota property tax aids account for 11.6 per cent. Minnesota Local government aids account for 25.4 per cent. Miscellaneous state and county aids account for 3.4 per cent. Fines, rent and department revenue account for 10.6 per cent of the revenue picture. Special assessments, licenses and interest account for 8.4 per cent. Miscellaneous and revolving capital fund transfers account for 2.7 per cent. Electric and liquor department transfers account for 11.5 per cent. Engineering services and CDAB loans account for 5.1 per cent.

Locally, the largest amount of money spent in the budget is spent for police protection at 18.7 per cent. Principal and interest payments on bonds accounts for 16.9 per cent of governmental fund expenses. Other expenses included: 14.1 per cent on park and recreation; 13.6 per cent on general government; 11.8 per cent on miscellaneous insurance and trust fund accounts; 9.8 per cent on streets and highways; and 7.9 per cent on the fire department. This formula has not changed substantially in roughly 8 to 10 years.

Grygla bank earns high rating

American State Bank of Grygla has earned another five-star rating from Bauer Financial Reports Inc., a nationally recognized bank research firm. The bank has received the rating continuously since Dec. 1, 1993.

The bank's tangible capital ratio and risk-based capital ratio exceed two times federal regulatory requirements.

Parents express views on school milk breaks at PTSP meeting

About two dozen people attended a meeting Tuesday night of the Parents, Teachers, Students in Partnership. Organizers were hoping to have more in attendance at the open forum, but there were many other events scheduled that night.

The meeting held at Challenger elementary school was also an open forum, or an opportunity to parents, teachers and administrators to ask questions. Most of the questions addressed Tuesday night had been submitted in advance. One of the more controversial questions raised was whether milk breaks for children at Challenger would continue.

The issue of milk breaks at the school came before the School board only recently, catching many parents off-guard. Trying to determine how it reached the school board appeared to be a matter of a rumor and lack of communication.

Dave Heden, principal at the school explained that staff had discussed changing the policy at a meeting and that's about as far as it went.

One parent in attendance explained that she had called the school and had asked whether she could pay for her child's milk for the entire year. She said she was told that she couldn't because they didn't know if the program would continue beyond December 1. Alarmed, she contacted other parents who in turn called the school and were apparently told the same story. Word spread among parents, and one parent requested the matter be brought before the school board.

Other parents had "heard" through the rumor mill that teachers didn't like the milk break because it took away valuable time from the classroom.

A teacher in attendance at the meeting explained that at the beginning of the year when teachers and students were struggling with adjustments at the school, they didn't like the time involved in taking the students to the cafeteria for two milk breaks a day. The time involved does amount to two weeks out of the school year — two 20-minute breaks per day, and 100-minutes per week.

Teachers said they were told they had to take the students to the cafeteria because if milk was spilled on the carpet in the rooms, it would ruin the carpet. Administration at the meeting made no attempt to say whether this was true or untrue.

Jean Larson, school board member, said she was the only school board member aware that this was such a hot issue before the school board meeting.

The issue had been discussed by the board in previous years, but Larson explained that in the future the only reason that the board would consider the issue is if a policy change is recommended to the board.

Glen Espe promised that the issue would be discussed in a public forum before a policy change was recommended to the school board.

Aside from attempting to explain the chain of events that led to the issue being considered by the board, parents argued the merit of giving the children an extra break during the day and presented nutritional data promoting milk. That information was contrary to information supported by the school's nutritionist, who added that Thief River Falls was one of the few school districts in the state to still offer two milk breaks after the introduction of breakfasts.

Parents also presented a petition, they said had been signed by 200 parents who supported the program. Another parent argued that since 75 per cent of the students participated in the milk program, it should be clear that the parents support the program.

Several other issues were brought up at the meeting. Questions included: whether the school intends to start a student council; how soup labels will be collected; whether or not there was a better place to allow wet outdoor clothing to dry other than in a locker; whether students will be able to attend the Lincoln high school and Northland Community College homecoming parades in the future; whether it was necessary to enforce a strict policy on no talking in the hallways; whether it was necessary for students to go outside during the recess period; how the failure of the school levy will affect Challenger elementary school; whether lowering class size could be a priority; and, whether the type of gym floor at Challenger promotes injury.

Junior class leads Lincoln honor roll

Junior class at Lincoln high school led the first honor roll of the 1994-95 school year with 107 students on the scholastic honors list, according to the office of Terry Soine, principal. A total of 351 students in the four grades at Lincoln were listed on the honor roll.

The junior class total included 26 with straight A, 40 with A average and 41 with B average grades.

Senior class also had 26 straight A students with 33 A average and 28 B average for a total of 87 honor students.

Sophomores had 85 students on the honor roll, including 11 with straight A, 29 with A averages and 45 with B averages.

Freshman class recorded 72 honor students including 14 with straight A, 33 with A averages and 25 with B averages.

A list of honor roll students includes the following:

FAMILY HEALTH

Sherry LaCoursiere

Winter is here and the Christmas season brings winter fun. With winter fun comes the danger of hypothermia and frostbite. Inter-County Nursing Service, based in Thief River Falls, tells us what hypothermia and frostbite are and gives some pointers on how to avoid them.

Hypothermia

Hypothermia is a condition where body heat is lost faster than it can be produced. The result is an unusually low body temperature of 95 degrees or less. This can pose a very serious health problem and sometimes be fatal. There are two types of hypothermia, exposure and accidental.

Exposure hypothermia hits those people who are not adequately protected against the weather. Working and playing outside, facing the elements of winter can cause this form.

Symptoms of hypothermia are as follows: uncontrollable shivering, vague, slow or slurred speech, incoherence or memory lapse, immobile or fumbling hands, a lurching gait or frequent stumbling, drowsiness, and apparent exhaustion or inability to get up after a rest.

Accidental hypothermia affects older people. This can develop simply by being in an underheated building. This type has a similar set of symptoms. The warning signs include clumsiness, poor coordination, stiff joints and stiff muscles, confusion, slurred speech, difficulty walking and even seizures or coma.

The way to prevent hypothermia is to dress to protect yourself. Wear several layers of lightweight clothing rather than one heavy garment. Wool is the warmest fabric. Be sure to wear a cap and remember mittens are warmer than gloves. Keep clothes dry and change immediately if they get wet. Avoid sweating heavily by shedding layers.

If you are an older person, think twice about lowering your thermostat. Dress warmly and keep physi-

Poinsettia fact and fiction

According to the North Central Florists Association, the old "wives' tale" that poinsettias are poisonous is simply not true. In-depth studies conducted by Ohio State University and the Society of American Florists prove, beyond a doubt, that poinsettias are not harmful if ingested.

Of course, like all ornamental plants, the poinsettia is not intended for human consumption — but then who has room for the sour-tasting leaves after all the delicious holiday goodies?

The legend is told of Pepita, a poor Mexican girl who had no gift to present to the Christ Child at Christmas Eve services. As Pepita walked sorrowfully to church, her cousin Pedro tried to console her. "Pepita," he said, "I am certain that even the most humble gift given in love will be acceptable in His eyes."

Pepita gathered a bouquet of common weeds from the roadside. As she entered the chapel and approached the altar, her spirits lifted. Forgetting the humbleness of her gift, Pepita laid the weeds at the feet of the Christ Child.

Suddenly Pepita's weeds burst into brilliant red blooms. The miraculous event was named the Flores de Noche Buena. Today we call these flowers poinsettias.

To select a healthy poinsettia that will beautify your home or office or those of your friends and acquaintances, follow these simple rules:

— Choose plants with thoroughly colored and expanded bracts. The bracts are the colorful part of the plant, while the actual flower is the small yellow center.

— Look for plants with dense, plentiful foliage all the way to the soil line.

— The plant should be about 2 1/2 times larger than its pot size.

— Select plants with strong, stiff stems and no signs of wilting.

Your poinsettia will remain beautiful if you:

— Keep it away from excessive heat or cold drafts (they love indirect sunlight and mild temperatures).

— Water it when the soil feels dry to the touch but don't leave it in standing water.

Valley Home to have Christmas open house

Valley Home will have an open house Christmas party Saturday, December 17, beginning with a program at 2 p.m. Refreshments will be served at 2:30 p.m. and the open house will conclude at 4:30 p.m.

SPEAKING OF

Sherry LaCoursiere

. . . Give Me Time for Christmas

The Christmas season is just not long enough. There are too many things that have to be done and no time left for things that are fun and I would like to do.

After all the have tos in the short month of December, there is no time left for things that are fun to do. Just one year I would like to do everything I want to do and have someone else do all of the have tos.

I just have to think up special gifts for everyone, then run around town and find them and bring them home and wrap them, after finding the gift wrap and ribbons and tape and scissors, of course.

I have to pick out the tree and get it into the holder and then find and drag out all of the boxes holding the tree trimmings and put them on the tree, and of course I have to have tinsel on the tree or it wouldn't be Christmas, even though it takes me days to put it up.

I have to drag out more boxes and find all of my Christmas decorations, including Christmas curtains, and then put them up all over the house, including the upstairs bathroom, because it makes me feel more like Christmas, you know.

I have to bake dozens of cookies and bars and make several different candies and other treats because it just wouldn't be Christmas without them.

I have to cook a big dinner on Christmas eve and then bring out huge trays of all of the cookies I baked and serve punch by candlelight.

Though all of my have tos are gratifying once they are done and make me feel Christmassy, there are several things I would like to do that I just can't seem to find time for because they are not necessities.

I would like to watch every Christmas program on television some year, especially the ones that are cartoons, like Rudolph and Frosty and the Grinch.

I would like to go to all of the Christmas programs in the churches and schools some year and listen to all of the young people sing, and play instruments and recite poems and stories about Christmas.

I would like to sing some Christmas carols myself — all of them I know — loudly.

I would like to wear a Santa hat on my head — for one whole day.

I would like to wander around the stores and look at all of the Christmas gifts and decorations there, even though I do not need to buy them for gifts for anyone.

I would like to drive all over town and look at every single one of the houses that has Christmas lights on it. For that matter, I would like to put Christmas lights on that tall Christmas tree in my front yard.

I would like to read "T'was the Night Before Christmas" to my grandchildren on Christmas eve night and see wonder and magic in their eyes.

I would like to sit back and put my feet up and do nothing but gaze at the blinking lights on my Christmas tree, and day dream about what Christmas was like when I was young while "White Christmas" and other carols play softly in the background.

I think there should be at least two more weeks of December. That would give me just enough time to get all of the have tos done and I could have the extra two weeks to do the fun things.

Yes, why don't we put Thanksgiving somewhere else and start Christmas in the middle of November?

Mattson and Schmitz to wed December 31

LaVonne P. Mattson and Roger L. Schmitz, along with their parents, Melvin and Avis Mattson and Francis and Evelyn Schmitz, are proud to announce the couple's engagement and forthcoming marriage.

The celebration will be held December 31 at 2 p.m. at the Assembly of God church in Thief River Falls.

Sara Radniecki and Kim Rosendahl to wed

Tim and Sandy Radniecki of Oklee and Myron and Judie Rosendahl of Madison are pleased to announce the engagement of their children, Sara Lynn and Kim Jeffrey, both students at Moorhead State University. A summer wedding is being planned.

Sunday school Christmas musical at Methodist church

The United Methodist Sunday school will present the Christmas musical, "Twinkle and the All-Star Angel Band," Sunday, December 18, at 6:30 p.m.

The musical, directed by Brenda Marben, is about a tiny Christmas angel who finds a very special place among the heavenly chorus.

Everyone is welcome to attend this Christmas event. The United Methodist church is located across from the Thief River Falls fire hall.

Santa Claus will come to Goodridge on Saturday

Students wanted to take part in Project 120

State Representative Tim Finseth, District 1B, encouraged high school students to participate in Project 120 seminars."

Project 120 brings high school students from throughout Minnesota to the state capitol to participate in a hands-on study of state government while the legislature is in session. The program includes meeting with constitutional officers, commissioners, legislators, judges, lobbyists and others who affect the course of Minnesota government.

Outcomes from Project 120 include increased knowledge of the government process, enhanced skills for accessing and being involved in government, and a more positive attitude toward each citizen's role in government.

"Project 120 helps prepare students for active citizenship through direct contact with officials in all three branches of the government," Finseth said. "I encourage area students who are interested in state government to apply for Project 120."

During the 1995 session there will be 13 weekly seminars offered beginning January 15 and continuing through the week of April 30. Interested students should contact their teachers, the Project 120 office at 612-224-2100 or State Rep. Finseth at 612-296-9918.

Senior citizen dance Thursday at Heritage Center

There will be a senior citizen dance Thursday, December 15, from 7 to 10 p.m. at the Heritage Center in Thief River Falls. Music will be by Cathy Erickson. All senior citizens are welcome.

Noon meal at Heritage Center

The Heritage Center will have a roast beef dinner on Sunday, December 18, at 12 noon. Entertainment after the meal will be by the Bitzegaio family.

Quin County Board to meet

The Quin County Board and Advisory committee meeting will be held Monday, December 19, at 7:30 p.m. at the Newfolden Community Center.

Health Column: Hypothermia and Frostbite

cally active. A thermal or electric blanket may help.

Frostbite

Frostbite is common on fingers, toes, nose, cheeks and earlobes. Those persons with previous frostbite are more susceptible and need to take precautions.

Frostbite is listed in three levels: Symptoms include cold, itchy or tingly, numb feeling.

Mild: Swelling or mild purplish color which soon subsides.

Moderate: More swelling and deeper purple-blue color. Blisters appear in 24-48 hours.

Severe: More swelling and black color with death of tissue. Blisters do not appear.

Severity is not known until the frostbitten area is rewarmed.

Treatment of frostbite includes the following: remove wet clothing, rewarm area with warm, moist compresses for 20-30 minutes, elevate affected area, check oral temperature for possible hypothermia and refer to physician if beyond mild stage and keep indoors.

Bare hands can be rewarmed under arms or between legs. Avoid use of alcohol or tobacco. Do not rub frostbitten skin.

ON MY MIND

Kim Chadwick-Quade

To: Santa Claus, The North Pole

Dear Santa:

I'll begin with all the usual perfunctory remarks before I get into the good stuff!

How have you been since I wrote last? A lot can happen in a year. I bet you're busy. How's Mrs. Claus, the elves and your reindeer? And the weather up there? Chilly as usual, I'm sure.

Well, Santa, I've been a good girl this year. As I'm sure you know, we've moved to Thief River Falls. Though I don't think we'll be too hard to find. There have been many changes in the Quade household and some of my requests are related to our new surroundings.

First of all, I desperately need a beginning gardening book. When we bought this house we inherited a wonderful, huge garden in the backyard. Because we moved in late August, we reaped the benefits of the garden.

However, I know nothing, zero, about gardening. In fact, I had to ask my grandma what kinds of produce were growing back there. I thought that the burpless cucumbers were zucchini, and I wasn't sure if those plants with the big leaves were pumpkins or squash (squash). I didn't know if I should pull the roots and put them out with the garbage or just let them disintegrate as a fertilizer for next year. Anyway, I'm sure you're beginning to see my problem. If I don't get some help, at least in the form of a book, we'll have to turn the garden into a pumpkin patch or a large mud wrestling pit.

Also, please bring me a new address book. A big one, with plenty of space to write in names and addresses. The one I have is so old I can't even remember who some of the people are. And, a lot of the names have five or six different addresses that I can't remember which is the most recent. My current book is so messed up that I have to look for the "A's" somewhere between "L" and "P." Thanks!

I don't know if you can manage this next request or not. But I know you can work miracles; I've seen you do it before. Just stuff it in your big bag along with all the toys. This is a little embarrassing, but my bowling game could use some consistency. For instance, one day I bowled a 181 (kind of unbelievable, I know) and then a 94. This seems to happen fairly regularly, so I'm not sure what the problem is. If you can arrange this one I'll appreciate it and so will my team members.

I have one other item on my Christmas wish list. Again, maybe this is asking too much. My husband and I would like you to bring us some pinochle players. That's how we whiled away our cold winter weekends in Detroit Lakes. We're not very good players ourselves, but we just like the fun of being together with other people. Sometimes we were so busy eating and talking we forgot who got the bid and what trump was.

Anyway, thanks for listening and considering these requests. I should probably throw in a good word for my son, Zachary, and my husband. Zach wants that game called "Rattled," but his list changes with every toy commercial. And my husband is usually happy with anything sports-related, especially Bison clothing. I know that can be kind of risky in Sioux territory, but he can handle the pressure.

I hope you and Mrs. Claus are able to take a vacation after the holidays. You deserve it. While you're at our house, help yourself to the peanut butter sandwich and chocolate milk that Zach plans on leaving for you. That's his favorite and he's sure you'll like it too.

Merry Christmas!

Annual bird count is December 30 in Warren

Warren with coffee and bars and cookies served potluck style.

Last year, 25 species and 1531 individual birds were spotted by area bird counters who took part in the Warren area count.

The National Audubon Society reported that almost 1700 counts were made during the 94th Annual Christmas Bird Count. Also, a total of 44,478 people took part in the event.

For more information, call Brad Cook at the Audubon Sanctuary at 218-745-5663 or 218-745-4457.

The Sanctuary is located three miles east and two miles south of Warren.

THE TIMES' WEDDING POLICY

The Times wishes to publish wedding stories as soon as possible following the event. We have forms that can help you prepare information for these stories. Following is The Times' policy on publishing wedding stories.

- Full story with photo will be published if material is received at The Times within one month after wedding.
- Short story with photo but no description of gowns, flowers, etc. if material is received one to three months after wedding.
- Photo only with caption listing names of couple, parents, date and place of wedding and where couple is residing if material is received three to six months after wedding.

Squarenaders will have Christmas dance in Crookston

A barbecued rib dinner will be served Monday at 5:30 p.m. at the Heritage Center. The Heritage Line Dancers and the Heritage Choir will provide entertainment.

Christmas Sunday school program at Viking Covenant church

The Viking Covenant church will present its Sunday school Christmas program, "Jesus, Light of the World," on Sunday, December 18, at 5 p.m. Everyone is invited.

ON THE OTHER HAND

Jennifer Halling
Lincoln High School

When I was little I had to wait patiently until the weekend before Christmas before we put up our tree. By that time, only the ugly, unwanted trees were left. We tried to find the best tree which was usually lopsided and full of holes where branches should have been. When we got it home, the bad side would be put toward the wall, although it was difficult to tell which side was the bad side.

Boxes full of ornaments would then be brought out to decorate. I think the reason we had so many was to try to cover our homely tree.

Our trees definitely had character, especially after the first Christmas bulbs and school-made ornaments were hung.

One of the ornaments I remember making was when I put popsicle sticks around a Christmas card and used a piece of yarn to hang it with. Family members would hang their favorite ornament. My favorite was a fuzzy little bear with a red and white scarf holding a candy cane. The funniest part about decorating our tree was trying to hang our big, heavy, outdoor lights on the weak branches.

A few years ago, however, my sister and I decided to break that long-standing tradition: we bought an artificial tree and we bought all new ornaments. Of course, we had to keep a few of the old, special ornaments. But the job of decorating belongs exclusively to my sister and me, and the theme now seems to be angels and crocheted snowflakes. Now we try to get it done within the first two weeks of December.

My mother always bakes lots of cookies for the holiday. Everyone's favorite is her sour cream cookies with green frosting, which are best right out of the freezer. Last year, I decided to give her a break and bake some of the cookies myself. Baking is normally one of my least favorite things to do, but I guess I lost my head in the Christmas spirit. With each pan the cookies got bigger and bigger. I was getting tired of baking, so I started making the cookies larger and larger to finish sooner. I was using a ballerina cookie cutter. Though I've never seen a fat ballerina, by the time I was done I had a bunch of pudgy dancers. The cookies were so big and ugly no one would eat them. My mom ended up making another batch anyway.

On Christmas Eve our house gets crammed as the family gathers for dinner and gift exchange. Usually we have a hot dish, but this year we are going to try Mexican. The little kids are so excited to open gifts they can hardly eat. They play so hard all night it doesn't seem practical to dress them in frilly dresses or sweaters.

I sometimes think I'm about to lose my mind because of kids clobbering each other, running everywhere, and whining to me about not getting a turn to play Nintendo. I try to remember how anxious I felt on Christmas when I was their age, and it helps me deal with them. Finally, after everyone was eaten, we gather in the living room to open presents.

My favorite gift on Christmas was a Pound Puppy. I was around seven or eight when they became a popular toy. I begged for one during the whole shopping season. My parents led me to believe they had no intention of getting me one, and I was a little nervous opening my gifts that year. I didn't want anyone to see my disappointment after not finding a Pound Puppy as one of my presents. But the last present I was handed did have a Pound Puppy in it. I named him Toby and he became my favorite stuffed animal. In fact, he still has his own place at the end of my bed.

Soon after presents are opened, everyone heads back to their own homes. Later, we go to ten o'clock Mass. You need to arrive extra early because it is always packed. We also try to get there early so we can listen to the choir sing thirty minutes of Christmas carols.

Christmas Day I get up around noon and begin munching on leftovers. Wrapping paper and boxes are still scattered around the living room. My mom then begins to clean the mess left behind by the frenzy of Christmas Eve.

TIMES FOR TODDLERS

ACTIVITIES

Songs!

The Christmas season is upon us. This is the time to learn some new fun Christmas songs. These songs are to the tunes of familiar children's songs.

I'm a Little Pine Tree
(tune of I'm a Little Teapot)

I'm a little pine tree tall and straight
Here are my branches for you to decorate
First we'll put the shiny star on top
Just be careful that the balls don't drop

Now be sure to plug in all the lights
So I will look very gay and bright
Then put all the presents under me
I'm all set for Christmas, as you can see.

S-A-N-T-A
(tune of B-I-N-G-O)

There was a man on Christmas Day
And Santa was his name-o
S-A-N-T-A
S-A-N-T-A
S-A-N-T-A
And Santa was his name-o.

BOOK OF THE WEEK

The Thief River Falls public library invites you to browse through its new selection of children's books including the following:

Davis, Lee. P. B. Bear's Birthday Party. From counting the candles on P. B.'s delicious birthday cake to guessing what's inside the mysterious brown box, you'll have a wonderful time at P. B. Bear's birthday party.

Birdwell, Norman. Clifford's Family. Enjoy the fun-filled trip as Clifford's family takes him back to his old home town to visit the relatives: dog relatives.

VIDEO VARIETY

The Berenstain Bears: No Girls Allowed. Sister is hopping mad when brother bear builds a secret club house with no girls allowed. Papa Bear steps in with words of wisdom to help them see that the best way is to play together.

Don't forget to attend Storytime every Wednesday at 11:15 a.m.

PARENTING TIPS

Last Minute Gift Ideas

In need of some last minute gifts for children? Remember gifts do not need to be expensive or purchased at a store to be valuable for children. Think about what the child is doing at his/her age when selecting toys. Always think of safety. It has been said that no toy is completely safe, maybe all playthings need adult supervision.

Infants

need playthings to hold, look at and listen to. Always remember to check them for safety. The playthings must be too big to swallow and not have sharp edges or other dangerous parts. They may include:

- safe things to chew on
- toys to hold and squeeze
- toys for the bathtub

One-Year-Olds

need toys to take apart and put together, parts to screw and unscrew, put on and take off, throw and drop, stack and unstack. They are curious and want to know "why".

- a soft safe ball
- pop beads
- small soft dolls and stuffed animals
- small lightweight blocks
- water toys

Two-Year-Olds

need toys to build their muscles. They need toys that help them learn "in, out, over, under, up and down." Two-year-olds have gone from simple imagination to actual make believe.

- simple puzzles
- riding toys
- a small table and chair set

Three, Four, Five-Year-Olds

can have increasingly more difficult toys to play with. Toys that encourage them to think and figure things out.

- blocks
- construction toys
- crayons, paper, markers
- playdough
- board games
- puppets

(Contributed by the Early Childhood Family Education department of School District 564.)

Desirae Varner, Kelly Rogalla and Judith Anderson of Violence Intervention Project, will be among the eight VIP employees available to the public during its open house in its new office in the building just across the street from the Eagles club. The open house will be held from 2 to 5 p.m. Wednesday, December 21.

Olson returns from National 4-H Congress

Mylynda Olson of Thief River Falls has returned from the 73rd and last National 4-H Congress held in Orlando, FL, December 2-7. She was among 1,200 outstanding youth leaders from all 50 states and Puerto Rico who were delegates to the event and heard about the 4-H Workforce Preparation Program being introduced to succeed the 4-H Congress.

Preparing young people for the millennium and facing the 1990s squarely, the 73rd congress was not just the last of the historic annual meetings where 4-Hers gathered from all over the U.S. and its territories, it was the beginning of the new 4-H Workforce Initiative and Job Preparedness Program. Those attending participated in many business exposure and career counseling events.

One of the events in which delegates participated was the President's Council on Physical Fitness and Sports. Others were diversity training and leadership experiences. The program was designed to give young people an understanding of a culturally diverse society and its impact on the workplace and career awareness through exposure to different businesses.

"The 73rd Congress was absolutely outstanding!" Mylynda said. "I learned the importance of communication, organization and dedication. The chance to meet new people was great!" The delegates met with industry leaders, trustees, donors and state advisors as well as exploring various worksites and their job possibilities.

Mylynda actively participates in the fishing project and said, "4-H has had a tremendous impact on my life. Through 4-H I have met many new people, been to new places and gained many career skills."

Dance of the Sugar Plum Fairies as performed by students at Plummer high school was performed during the school's presentation of the Nutcracker, an adaptation of the Nutcracker Suite by Tchaikovsky. Grades 4 through 6 at the school presented the Nutcracker Monday, December 12, in the Plummer school gym. It was under the direction of Carol Kankel. Junior high school students also performed a concert and students in Kindergarten through grade performed "Littlest Christmas Tree". About 85 students were involved in the program.

Producers who suffered 1994 crop losses due to weather related conditions may apply for disaster assistance at the Pennington County Farm Service Agency (FSA) office, according to Orlan Stolaas, acting chairman of the FSA (formerly ASCS) committee.

The 1994 disaster assistance program is similar to those of recent years which provides partial reimbursement for losses exceeding 35 per cent of normal production for insured crops (35 per cent if not insured). County offices will accept applications until March 31, 1995.

Producers who apply will be asked for complete information on their normal production practices as well as the weather conditions which caused the disaster. Local FSA committees have been given more authority and responsibilities in administration of this program. They are required to apply a "reasonableness" factor to all applications to determine if the practice is normal for the area. If it does not meet this test, the committee can lower yield estimates and payment rates, or reject a commodity which is not historically or successfully grown in the [illegible].

Farmers who think they met the eligibility requirements for disaster assistance need to call the FSA county office at 681-1612 to make an appointment. When they call, they will be told what information will be needed to process their claim.

else you could name. She found working at the general store much more to her liking than cleaning a rich lady's house.

She married Ralph T. Hovden and the couple farmed in Iowa for a short time, but they found that land rent was too high for them. They moved on to North Dakota, then to Hazel, Minnesota, and then on to Thief River Falls. She and her husband had nine children over the years.

Blanche said her husband and oldest son went to work on a farm near Mavie, and she and the children who were still at home lived in a house on Tindolph avenue. She wanted the children to have a good education and she wasn't sure how the schools were in Mavie, so she preferred to stay in Thief River Falls. The four youngest children, Lil, Earl, Alton and Mavis, attended Thief River Falls schools.

She later worked at the Peterson Biddick turkey plant, working with the turkeys, and then was "promoted" to candling eggs, "an easier job," she said. She also worked at Land O'Lakes when Peterson Biddick laid people off after the holidays.

I knew my late grandmother, Julia Liden, had also worked at Peterson Biddick and I asked Blanche if she had known her. I was shocked when she said, "Oh, yes, I knew Julia. She was my best friend there. We worked side by side for many years." She was quiet for a minute and then said, "I can just see her now, standing there on the line. We had such fun together."

Blanche's husband died in 1968 and she moved to the Skylite Apartments in 1969. She loves living there and says it is just perfect for her.

What does she want for Christmas this year? "Oh, I have everything I can think of. I told everyone I don't want anything because I have everything I need right here."

Blanche is in wonderful health. "I have never had a sick day," she said. "I take some tablets for my glands, and aspirin, and that's all I take. I haven't been to the doctor for a couple of years. When I went for my flu shot, Dr. Heinrichs asked me what in the world I was doing there. He said, 'You don't need to see me.'"

When I asked her what she attributed to her long life to, she said, "I don't know — I just get up and thank the Lord every day."

Perhaps the fact that Blanche is interested in everything around her might have something to do with her 102 years of living. Very interested in politics, Blanche makes sure she votes every year. "I love politics," she said. In her younger years she was very active in the John Birch Society.

Blanche will be spending a quiet Christmas at her home this year. Several of her children and grandchildren visited during the summer and fall this year, so they won't be coming for Christmas.

But I bet Blanche's Christmas won't be too quiet — I bet her telephone will be ringing with calls from friends and family from near and far through most of the day and perhaps Santa will visit Christmas eve night, too.

Garbage fees collected in state for 1993 total over $299 million

Minnesota state, county, city and town government collected $299 million in fees, charges and taxes on garbage in 1993, according to a report recently released by the Minnesota Office of Environmental Assistance.

The report found that governments in the state spent $265 million of the total on recycling and managing garbage. The rest went for other types of local projects, such as roads or parks, or was deposited into the state's Local Government Trust Fund.

The $299 million that governments collected represents only a portion of the estimated $730 million cost of managing garbage. The majority of costs for solid waste management are for garbage collection from residents and businesses and most of the fees for these services are collected and spent in the private sector.

Sources of the $299 million that governments collected included state taxes and fees on garbage collection and disposal, including the 6.5 per cent sales tax; city and county charges such as tipping fees and per-ton surcharges at landfills, waste incinerators and other solid waste facilities; service fees for solid waste management, usually paid by residents or businesses through property tax or utility bills; and permit and license fees such as garbage hauler licenses.

The money was spent on helping communities reduce waste going to landfills (such as household hazardous waste collection programs), recycling programs, providing hauling services and operating garbage facilities.

In 1993 counties collected $191 million and spent $172 million, cities collected $73 million and spent $70 million and the state collected $34 million, spent $23 million and deposited $8.4 million into the Local Government Trust Fund.

Three Wee Kings, a Christmas musical fantasy, will be presented Thursday, December 15 at 7 p.m. at St. Bernard's church in Thief River Falls. Pictured from left are the three kings, Jeremiah Hunt, Andre Thibodeau, and Tommy Greella. The St. Bernard's Singers and the pre-kindergarten and kindergarten students will also be featured.

Erskine plans snowmobile race weekend

Second annual cross country snowmobile race on Lake Cameron at Erskine will take place Saturday and Sunday, December 17 and 18, with 12 different race classifications allowing everyone from novice to professional to compete.

A $5,000 purse has been added this year for distribution throughout a majority of the classes. Trophies will be awarded in all classes.

The first race last year drew 150 entries and a large number of racing fans, according to Jesse Brodley, who is handling public relations for the race. Racing will start at 11 a.m. both days. For more information call 1-800-761-5943.

Learning center at Fertile offers winter classes

Agassiz Environmental Learning Center will offer classes on ice fishing, cross country skiing and making snowshoes at the nature center in the Fertile Sandhills Recreation Area on the southwest edge of Fertile.

On Wednesday, December 28, an ice fishing workshop will start at 2 p.m. Those attending will have the option of assembling a basic ice fishing kit. Cost of the workshop is $5 and the optional kit is $20. Pre-registration is required by December 21.

On Thursday, December 29, interested participants can either take cross country ski lessons or learn how to make snowshoes. From 1 to 3 p.m. Dale and Lynn Anderson of Adventure Outings will instruct the cross country ski lessons. Cost of the lessons is $3 for students under age 16 and $5 for adults. Rental ski packages are available for $2. Pre-registration is required by December 21.

From 1:30 to 4 p.m. Joe Gartner of the learning center will instruct the snowshoe making workshop. Cost of the workshop is $75 per participant and each participant will receive one (pair) high quality snowshoe kit and bindings. Pre-registration and a deposit of $30 is required by Monday, December 19.

Olson returns from National 4-H Congress

Mylynda Olson of Thief River Falls has returned from the 73rd and last National 4-H Congress held in Orlando, FL, December 2-7. She was among 1,200 outstanding youth leaders from all 50 states and Puerto Rico who were delegates to the event and heard about the 4-H Workforce Preparation Program being introduced to succeed the 4-H Congress.

Preparing young people for the millennium and facing the 1990s squarely, the 73rd congress was not just the last of the historic annual meetings where 4-Hers gathered from all over the U.S. and its territories, it was the beginning of the new 4-H Workforce Initiative and Job Preparedness Program. Those attending participated in many business exposure and career counseling events.

One of the events in which delegates participated was the President's Council on Physical Fitness and Sports. Others were diversity training and leadership experiences. The program was designed to give young people an understanding of a culturally diverse society and its impact on the workplace and career awareness through exposure to different businesses.

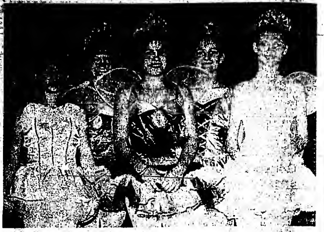
"The 73rd Congress was absolutely outstanding!", Mylynda said. "I learned the importance of communication, organization and dedication. The chance to meet new people was great!" The delegates met with industry leaders, trustees, donors and state advisors as well as exploring various worksites and their job possibilities.

Mylynda actively participates in the fishing project and said, "4-H has had a tremendous impact on my life. Through 4-H I have met many new people, been to new places and gained many career skills."



Dance of the Sugar Plum Fairies as performed by students at Plummer high school was performed during the school's presentation of the Nutcracker, an adaptation of the Nutcracker Suite by Tchaikovsky. Grades 4 through 6 at the school presented the Nutcracker Monday, December 12, in the Plummer school gym. It was under the direction of Carol Kenkel. Junior high school students also performed a concert and students in Kindergarten through grade 3 performed "Littlest Christmas Tree". About 88 students were involved in the program.

Co. disaster assistance signup open

Producers who suffered 1994 crop losses due to weather related conditions may apply for disaster assistance at the Pennington County Farm Service Agency (FSA) office, according to Orlan Stolaas, acting chairman of the FSA (formerly ASCS) committee.

The 1994 disaster assistance program is similar to those of recent years which provides partial reimbursement for losses exceeding 35 per cent of normal production for insured crops (35 per cent if not insured). County offices will accept applications until March 31, 1995.

Producers who apply will be asked for complete information on their normal production practices as well as the weather conditions which caused the disaster. Local FSA committees have been given more authority and responsibilities in administration of this program. They are required to apply a "reasonableness" factor to all applications to determine if the practice is normal for the area. If it does not meet this test, the committee can lower yield estimates and payment rates, or reject a commodity which is not historically or successfully grown in the county.

Farmers who think they met the eligibility requirements for disaster assistant are invited to call the FSA county office at 681-1612 to make an appointment. When they call, they will be told what information will be needed to process their claim.

Hovden to enjoy 102nd Christmas

else you could name. She found working at the general store much more to her liking than cleaning a rich lady's house.

She married Ralph T. Hovden and the couple farmed in Iowa for a short time, but they found that land rent was too high for them. They moved on to North Dakota, then to Hazel, Minnesota, and then on to Thief River Falls. She and her husband had nine children over the years.

Blanche said her husband and oldest son went to work on a farm near Mavie, and she and the children who were still at home lived in a house on Tindolph avenue. She wanted the children to have a good education and she wasn't sure how the schools were in Mavie, so she preferred to stay in Thief River Falls. The four youngest children, Lil, Earl, Alton and Mavis, attended Thief River Falls schools.

She later worked at the Peterson Biddick turkey plant, working with the turkeys, and then was "promoted" to candling eggs, "an easier job," she said. She also worked at Land O'Lakes when Peterson Biddick laid people off after the holidays.

I knew my late grandmother, Julia Liden, had also worked at Peterson Biddick and I asked Blanche if she had known her. I was shocked when she said, "Oh, yes, I knew Julia. She was my best friend there. We worked side by side for many years." She was quiet for a minute and then said, "I can just see her now, standing there on the line. We had such fun together."

Blanche's husband died in 1968 and she moved to the Skylite Apartments in 1969. She loves living there and says it is just perfect for her.

What does she want for Christmas this year? "Oh, I have everything I can think of. I told everyone I don't want anything because I have everything I need right here."

Blanche is in wonderful health. "I have never had a sick day," she said. "I take some tablets for my glands, and aspirin, and that's all I take. I haven't been to the doctor for a couple of years. When I went for my flu shot, Dr. Heinrichs asked me what in the world I was doing there. He said, 'You don't need to see me.'"

When I asked her what she attributed to her long life to, she said, "I don't know — I just get up and thank the Lord every day."

Perhaps the fact that Blanche is interested in everything around her might have something to do with her 102 years of living. Very interested in politics, Blanche makes sure she votes every year. "I love politics," she said. In her younger years she was very active in the John Birch Society.

Blanche will be spending a quiet Christmas at her home this year. Several of her children and grandchildren visited during the summer and fall this year, so they won't be coming for Christmas.

But I bet Blanche's Christmas won't be too quiet — I bet her telephone will be ringing with calls from friends and family from near and far through most of the day and perhaps Santa will visit Christmas eve night, too.

Garbage fees collected in state for 1993 total over $299 million

Minnesota state, county, city and town government collected $299 million in fees, charges and taxes on garbage in 1993, according to a report recently released by the Minnesota Office of Environmental Assistance.

The report found that governments in the state spent $265 million of the total on recycling and managing garbage. The rest went for other types of local projects, such as roads or parks, or was deposited into the state's Local Government Trust Fund.

The $299 million that governments collected represents only a portion of the estimated $1.30 billion cost of managing garbage. The majority of costs for solid waste management are for garbage collection from residents and businesses and most of the fees for these services are collected and spent in the private sector.

Sources of the $299 million that governments collected included state taxes and fees on garbage collection and disposal, including the 6.5 per cent sales tax; city and county charges such as tipping fees and per-ton surcharges at landfills, waste incinerators and other solid waste facilities; service fees for solid waste management, is mainly paid by residents or businesses through property tax or utility bills; and permit and license fees such as garbage hauler licenses.

The money was spent on helping communities reduce waste going to landfills (such as household hazardous waste collection programs), recycling programs, providing hauling services and operating garbage facilities.

In 1993 counties collected $191 million and spent $172 million, cities collected $73 million and spent $70 million and the state collected $34 million, spent $23 million and deposited $8.4 million into the Local Government Trust Fund.

Three Wee Kings, a Christmas musical fantasy, will be presented Thursday, December 15 at 7 p.m. at St. Bernard's church in Thief River Falls. # Erskine plans snowmobile race weekend

Second annual cross country snowmobile race on Lake Cameron at Erskine will take place Saturday and Sunday, December 17 and 18, with 12 different race classifications allowing everyone from novice to professional to compete.

A $5,000 purse has been added this year for distribution throughout a majority of the classes. Trophies will be awarded in all classes.

The first race last year drew 150 entries and a large number of racing fans, according to Jesse Bradley, who is handling public relations for the race. Racing will start at 11 a.m. both days. For more information, call 1-800-761-5943.

Learning center at Fertile offers winter classes

Agassiz Environmental Learning Center will offer classes on ice fishing, cross country skiing and making snowshoes at the nature center in the Fertile Sandhills Recreation Area on the southwest edge of Fertile.

On Wednesday, December 28, an ice fishing workshop will start at 2 p.m. Those attending will have the option of assembling a basic ice fishing kit. Cost of the workshop is $5 and the optional kit is $20. Pre-registration is required by December 21.

On Thursday, December 29, interested participants can either take cross country ski lessons or learn how to make snowshoes. From 1 to 3 p.m. Dale and Lynn Anderson of Adventure Outings will instruct the cross country ski lessons. Cost of the lessons is $3 for students under age 16 and $5 for adults. Rental ski packages are available for $2. Pre-registration is required by December 21.

From 1:30 to 4 p.m. Joe Gartner of the learning center will instruct the snowshoe making workshop. Cost of the workshop is $75 per participant and each participant will receive one (pair) high quality snowshoe kit and bindings. Pre-registration and a deposit of $30 is required by Monday, December 19.

Edwin Christensen, 88

Thief River Falls — Edwin Christensen, age 88, died Sunday, December 11, at Oakland Park Nursing Home in Thief River Falls.

Funeral services for Edwin Christensen will be held Thursday, December 15, at Zion Lutheran church in Thief River Falls at 10:30 a.m. with Rev. Dennis Raymond officiating. Ida Nordvalt will serve as organist, with Dian Johnson singing "Nearer My God To Thee" and "How Great Thou Art." Rev. and Mrs. Raymond will sing "Borning Cry." Congregational hymns will be "O' Come, O' Come Immanuel" and "Lift High the Cross."

Visitation will be Wednesday, December 14, from 2 to 9 p.m. at the Green Funeral Home in Thief River Falls, with a 6:30 p.m. prayer service that evening. There will also be visitation for one hour prior to the service on Thursday.

Casketbearers will be Tom Christianson, Bruce and Gary Jorde, Jim Terrian, Reid Tinkham, Dick Melquist, Aaron Wedul and Bee Yang. Interment will be at Greenwood cemetery with the Green Funeral Home in charge of arrangements.

Edwin Ruben Christensen was born May 17, 1906, in Norden township, Red Lake county, the son of Karsten and Karen Marie Larson Christensen. He was baptized and confirmed in the Christian faith and attended North Star school in rural Pennington county. He worked in South Dakota at a lumber yard for one year, in Larson, ND, for two years, and in Wellsburg, ND, for one year before moving to St. Hilaire, where he operated a City Service gas station for many years.

He was united in marriage to Harriet Reller on January 11, 1927. She died January 23, 1959.

He was united in marriage to Helen Wedul on May 1, 1960, at Bemidji, and the couple lived in Thief River Falls after their marriage. He later owned Christie's Vending from 1952 until he retired in 1971. He had resided at Oakland Park Nursing Home for the past year.

He served on the city council from 1950 to 1953 and was a member of Zion Lutheran church, where he served as trustee on the church council for some years. He enjoyed oil, acrylic and water painting, woodworking, reading and fishing.

Survivors include his wife, Helen, Thief River Falls; two daughters, Betty (husband, Chester) Jorde, Thief River Falls, and Donna (husband Lysle) Martinson, Maple Lake; four sons, Robert (wife, Joyce) Christensen, Slidell, LA, Dale (wife, Marilyn) Christensen, Lodi, WI, Dean (wife, Joan) Christensen, Catalina, AZ, and Gerald (wife, Anna) Christensen, Chicago, IL; a daughter-in-law, Kay Wedul-Steiger, Thief River Falls; 23 grandchildren; 28 great-grandchildren; and one great-great grandchild.

Preceding him in death were his first wife, Harriet; two sons, Jerry Wedul and Alroy Christensen; four brothers, John, Waldimar "Waldie," Daniel and David; and four sisters, Annie Rustebakke, Ruth Copham, Edna Christensen and Judith Ellsworth.

David Fournier, 75

Red Lake Falls — David Fournier, age 75, of rural Red Lake Falls, died the evening of Monday, December 12, at Riverview Nursing Home in Crookston where he had resided since October 25 of 1994.

Mass of Christian Burial for David Fournier will be held Thursday, December 15, at 2 p.m. at St. Anthony Catholic church in Terrebonne with Rev. Gary LaMoine presiding. Interment will be at the church cemetery in the spring.

Visitation will be at the Petterson Funeral Home on Wednesday, December 14, from 4 to 7 p.m., with a wake service that evening at 7 p.m. at the funeral home. There will also be visitation on Thursday at the church for one hour prior to the service.

There will be a complete obituary in the December 21 Times.

Dear Readers,
In observance of Christmas and Hanukkah, let us reach out and give of ourselves, to our family and friends, but also to those in our community who may be lonely and dispirited. Those who are widowed or lack family feel acutely lonely during the holiday season.
Sincerely,
Belmont Funeral Home
Larry Belmont

Roy W. Dobias, 30

Sioux Falls, SD — Roy W. Dobias, age 30, died Thursday, December 8, at McKennan Hospital in Sioux Falls, SD.

Funeral services for Roy Dobias were held at 2 p.m. Monday, December 12, at Calvary Lutheran church in St. Hilaire. A funeral service was held in Sioux Falls, SD, on Saturday. Interment was at the St. Hilaire cemetery with the Belmont Funeral Home of Thief River Falls in charge of local arrangements.

The family requests that expressions of sympathy be in the form of donations to McKennan Hospice in Sioux Falls, SD.

Roy W. Dobias was born August 23, 1964, in Oakland, CA, the son of Marvin and Alma Dobias. He graduated from Lincoln high school in Thief River Falls in 1983 and also was a graduate of the Thief River Falls AVTI.

He was united in marriage to Angela Skadsem in October, 1987, in Newfolden. He was presently employed as a disk jockey at KTWB-Outlaw Overnight and was also a speaker for Aids Awareness.

Survivors include a son, Chaz, and a daughter, Chesnay, both of Aberdeen, SD; his parents, Marvin and Alma Dobias of St. Hilaire; one brother, Marvin Dale, Eden Prairie; three sisters, Julie Tonsager of Randal, Ruth Dobias of Williams and Wendie Dobias-Osborn, Bemidji; and six nieces and two nephews. He is also survived by his grandmother, May Coon, San Leandro, CA, and a special friend, Carson Kuyper, Sioux Falls, SD.

Organ donation program in area has good record

Only 1.7 per cent of cases in the LifeSource region in 1990 were denied organ recovery by the local medical examiner, compared with 7.2 per cent nationally, according to the LifeSource organization.

LifeSource is the nonprofit, federally designated organization which manages all organ donations for transplantation in Minnesota, North Dakota, South Dakota and parts of Wisconsin.

There are currently more than 36,000 Americans waiting for organ transplants and approximately eight people die each day because of the lack of available organs. LifeSource's mission is to promote organ donation to benefit the greatest number of people through transplantation and to explore different methods to increase organ donation.

In some cases in which organ donation is a possibility, the medical examiner is called to investigate the cause, manner and mechanism of the death. Organ donation can proceed, in these cases, only if the medical examiner gives approval.

A study commissioned by the Association for Organ Procurement Organizations indicated that of the 2,670 potential organ donors reported in 1990, 7.2 per cent were denied organ recovery by the local medical examiner.

LifeSource's policy is to contact the medical examiner's office about all possible organ donation cases which warrant a review of the situation surrounding the death. In the vast majority of these cases, the medical examiner allows LifeSource to proceed with organ donation.

"LifeSource continues to support the expertise of medical examiners and coroners in their responsibility for protecting and providing forensic evidence," states Susan Gunderson, executive director of LifeSource. "They, in turn, are committed to the shared goal of providing the greatest number of life-saving organ transplants through donation. The success of the relationships between LifeSource and the medical examiners and coroners in our region is an outcome of mutual respect and the willingness to work together."

Headquartered in Minneapolis, LifeSource has regional offices in Rochester; Fargo and Bismarck, ND; and Sioux Falls, SD. For more information about organ donation, call 1-800-247-4273.

He was united in marriage to Vera Janet Urness at Hope Lutheran church on June 18, 1939. In the early years, he worked with two brothers and formed a logging and trucking business. He started the Skoe Lumber Company in the 1940's, and continued until he retired. He was a long time member of the Minnesota Timber Producers Association.

He served on the city council for 30 years and was mayor of Northome from 1979 to 1985. He worked for the establishment of a medical clinic and nursing home in the community. He also served 20 years on the fire department, was a member of Hope Lutheran church, and served on the church council. He was elected to the first board of directors of the Paul Bunyan rural telephone cooperative where he served for 35 years.

Survivors include his wife, Vera; two sons, Ralph (wife, Kathleen), Minnetonka and Wayne (wife, Carol), Northome; one daughter, Irene (husband, Philip) St. Louis of Mounds View; and eight grandchildren. He is also survived by four sisters, Bena (husband, Stan) Petzel, Minneapolis, Marie (husband, Tony) Roayei, St. Cloud, Emilie Karkela, Grand Rapids, and Gladys (husband, Don) Barron, Thief River Falls; and two brothers, Stanley of Leona Valley, CA, and Willis, Santa Barbara, CA.

He was preceded in death by one son, Paul; three brothers, Stanton, Raymond and Russel; and one infant sister, Viola.

Roy W. Dobias, 30

Sioux Falls, SD — Roy W. Dobias, age 30, died Thursday, December 8, at McKennan Hospital in Sioux Falls, SD.

Funeral services for Roy Dobias were held at 2 p.m. Monday, December 12, at Calvary Lutheran church in St. Hilaire. A funeral service was held in Sioux Falls, SD, on Saturday. Interment was at the St. Hilaire cemetery with the Belmont Funeral Home of Thief River Falls in charge of local arrangements.

The family requests that expressions of sympathy be in the form of donations to McKennan Hospice in Sioux Falls, SD.

Roy W. Dobias was born August 23, 1964, in Oakland, CA, the son of Marvin and Alma Dobias. He graduated from Lincoln high school in Thief River Falls in 1983 and also was a graduate of the Thief River Falls AVTI.

He was united in marriage to Angela Skadsem in October, 1987, in Newfolden. He was presently employed as a disk jockey at KTWB-Outlaw Overnight and was also a speaker for Aids Awareness.

Survivors include a son, Chaz, and a daughter, Chesnay, both of Aberdeen, SD; his parents, Marvin and Alma Dobias of St. Hilaire; one brother, Marvin Dale, Eden Prairie; three sisters, Jolie Tonsager of Randal, Ruth Dobias of Williams and Wendie Dobias-Osborn, Bemidji; and six nieces and two nephews. He is also survived by his grandmother, May Coon, San Leandro, CA, and a special friend, Carson Kuyper, Sioux Falls, SD.

Organ donation program in area has good record

Only 1.7 per cent of cases in the LifeSource region in 1990 were denied organ recovery by the local medical examiner, compared with 7.2 per cent nationally, according to the LifeSource organization.

LifeSource is the nonprofit, federally designated organization which manages all organ donations for transplantation in Minnesota, North Dakota, South Dakota and parts of Wisconsin.

There are currently more than 36,000 Americans waiting for organ transplants and approximately eight people die each day because of the lack of available organs. LifeSource's mission is to promote organ donation to benefit the greatest number of people through transplantation and to explore different methods to increase organ donation.

In some cases in which organ donation is a possibility, the medical examiner is called to investigate the cause, manner and mechanism of the death. Organ donation can proceed, in these cases, only if the medical examiner gives approval.

A study commissioned by the Association for Organ Procurement Organizations indicated that of the 2,670 potential organ donors reported in 1990, 7.2 per cent were denied organ recovery by the local medical examiner.

LifeSource's policy is to contact the medical examiner's office about all possible organ donation cases which warrant a review of the situation surrounding the death. In the vast majority of these cases, the medical examiner allows LifeSource to proceed with organ donation.

"LifeSource continues to support the expertise of medical examiners and coroners in their responsibility for protecting and providing forensic evidence," states Susan Gunderson, executive director of LifeSource. "They, in turn, are committed to the shared goal of providing the greatest number of life-saving organ transplants through donation. The success of the relationships between LifeSource and the medical examiners and coroners in our region is an outcome of mutual respect and the willingness to work together."

Headquartered in Minneapolis, LifeSource has regional offices in Rochester; Fargo and Bismarck, ND; and Sioux Falls, SD. For more information about organ donation, call 1-800-247-4273.

INTENTIONAL DUPLICATE EXPOSURE

DNR continues to warn about possible dangers of thin ice

Minnesota Department of Natural Resources is warning parents to caution their children to stay off any ice that may formed on water bodies around their homes. Even in the far northern part of the state, there is very little ice, and what there is, isn't even close to being safe.

"With the Thanksgiving weekend snowfall blanketing the thin skim of ice on some small ponds and lakes, parents have to warn their children in no uncertain terms to stay off the ice," said Tim Smalley, DNR boat and water safety specialist. "An ice-covered stream or pond is like a magnet to children, and they just don't know how dangerous walking out on the ice can be." Smalley said that even when conditions improve, children should never go out on the ice without adult supervision.

In a check of DNR headquarters around the state Nov. 28, officers reported that there was a thin skin of ice on parts of small lakes and on sheltered areas of large lakes, but absolutely none of it was safe to walk on.

Capt. Butch Dyrland, DNR Region I Enforcement supervisor in Bemidji, said, "The ice conditions up here are terrible. We now have snow cover on many of the lakes which are just barely frozen. That will keep the ice from freezing very thick for quite some time." Dyrland added that larger lakes are open and small ponds are frozen, but the DNR considers them to be extremely dangerous.

Smalley noted that the DNR is already getting calls from anxious early season winter anglers asking where the ice is okay. "We just say nowhere South of the Canadian border."

There is free information on ice safety available. Call the DNR Information Center and ask for the brochure "Danger Thin Ice," which explains how to avoid an ice accident and how to survive if you do fall through. The DNR also has a free wallet-size card titled "Recommended Safe Ice Thicknesses." For children, the DNR has a comic book titled that contains information on water and ice safety for young outdoor enthusiasts. To obtain these and other DNR publications, call toll free 1-800-766-6000 in greater Minnesota.

Artist's drawing shows the way the new SWIS PENNCO regional recycling facility at Thief River Falls will look. The building will be 100x300 feet in size and constructed of pre-cast concrete and steel. It will contain state-of-the-art equipment for separation and processing of solid waste with 10 per cent or less of the volume received expected to be buried in a landfill.

Strandquist

F. Myrtle Vagle
436-2133

The Strandquist Senior Citizens have quit meeting for the winter due to heating facilities at the Center. Using the place only 1 day a week it is not a good idea to keep the heat on it. All four thermometers that survived at our house has been registering real small numbers so we know winter is here for certain. But it makes for real cuddling weather and should be taken advantage of this close to Christmas. All the Strandquist Seniors are invited to come on Thursday to our "Klub" dinner at 11:30. You will never find them any better anywhere. I have been trying to keep track of the folks from Strandquist so you who live far away and some not so far, can see how they survive this climate.

Looking to the future, the Red Lake Nation is a limited partner in the SWIS PENNCO regional recycling facility which will be under construction this week at Thief River Falls. Bobby Whitefeather, chairman of the tribal council for the Red Lake Nation, shakes hands with Robert Kruse, chairman/secretary of SWIS PENNCO at the reception following the groundbreaking ceremonies last Saturday morning.

Firewood might harbor oak wilt

It's time to stoke up the fireplace or wood stove again. "However, before you haul those prized oak logs to your house or cabin, you should know what killed the tree," cautions Dan Gillman, plant health specialist at the Minnesota Department of Agriculture. If it is a red oak that died of oak wilt you may be transporting this deadly tree disease to new areas, "but," Dan adds, "there are precautions you can take to preven the spread of oak wilt in this way."

It is best to keep oak wilt infected red oak logs where they died. New outbreaks of oak wilt have occurred in several new sites in Minnesota because people carried oak wilt infected wood to their cabins or gave it away to friends and relatives. Likewise, do not bring red oak logs into your back yard, unless you know the red oaks have been dead at least one year or did not die from oak wilt.

The oak wilt fungus can form spores next spring that can then infect oaks near your wood pile. In the spring (from about April 15 to June 30) the oak wilt fungus forms spores under the bark of the red oak logs from trees that died from oak wilt the previous summer. Picnic beetles feed on these spores and carry them to nearby oak trees with fresh wounds. If you can burn all the wood this winter (before April 15), you will burn the fungus too and eliminate the hazard.

If you cannot burn all the red oak logs by then, stack all pieces larger than two inches in diameter and "seal in" the wood with four-mil plastic. "Seal in" the wood by burying the edges of the plastic with soil around the entire pile. Tape all seams or breaks with duct tape or other heavy duty tape. This provides a barrier preventing picnic beetles from flying in and out of the wood pile. Moreover, the plastic "tent" creates a humid environment that encourage other fungi on the wood to grow and kill the oak wilt fungus.

If your trees died from oak wilt this summer, stop the underground spread to nearby oaks by cutting root connections to isolate the diseased from the nearby health trees. For more information about protecting trees from oak wilt call Dan Gillman at (612) 296-0592 at the Minnesota Department of Agriculture.

DNR continues to warn about possible dangers of thin ice

Minnesota Department of Natural Resources is warning parents to caution their children to stay off any ice that may formed on water bodies around their homes. Even in the far northern part of the state, there is very little ice, and what there is, isn't even close to being safe.

"With the Thanksgiving weekend snowfall blanketing the thin skim of ice on some small ponds and lakes, parents have to warn their children in no uncertain terms to stay off the ice," said Tim Smalley, DNR boat and water safety specialist. "An ice-covered stream or pond is like a magnet to children, and they just don't know how dangerous walking out on the ice can be." Smalley said that even when conditions improve, children should never go out on the ice without adult supervision.

In a check of DNR headquarters around the state Nov. 28, officers reported that there was a thin skin of ice on parts of small lakes and on sheltered areas of large lakes, but absolutely none of it was safe to walk on.

Capt. Butch Dyrland, DNR Region I Enforcement supervisor in Bemidji, said, "The ice conditions up here are terrible. We now have snow cover on many of the lakes which are just barely frozen. That will keep the ice from freezing very thick for quite some time." Dyrland added that larger lakes are open and small ponds are frozen, but the DNR considers them to be extremely dangerous.

Smalley noted that the DNR is already getting calls from anxious early season winter anglers asking where the ice is okay. "We just say nowhere South of the Canadian border."

There is free information on ice safety available. Call the DNR Information Center and ask for the brochure "Danger Thin Ice," which explains how to avoid an ice accident and how to survive if you do fall through. The DNR also has a free wallet-size card titled "Recommended Safe Ice Thicknesses." For children, the DNR has a comic book titled that contains information on water and ice safety for young outdoor enthusiasts. To obtain these and other DNR publications, call toll free 1-800-766-6000 in greater Minnesota.

The reception was held at the River Road Casino.

Artist's drawing shows the way the new SWIS PENNCO regional recycling facility at Thief River Falls will look. The building will be 100x300 feet in size and constructed of pre-cast concrete and steel. It will contain state-of-the-art equipment for seperation and processing of solid waste with 10 per cent or less of the volume received expected to be buried in a landfill.

Strandquist

F. Myrtle Vagle

The Strandquist Senior Citizens have quit meeting for the winter due to heating facilities at the Center. Using the place only 1 day a week it is not a good idea to keep the heat on it. All four thermometers that survived at our house has been registering read small numbers so we know winter is here for certain. But it makes for real cuddling weather and should be taken advantage of this close to Christmas. All the Strandquist Seniors are invited to come on Thursday to our "Klub" dinner at 11:30. You will never find them any better anywhere. I have been trying to keep track of the folks from Strandquist so you who live far away and some not so far, can see how they survive this climate.

Firewood might harbor oak wilt

It's time to stoke up the fireplace or wood stove again. "However, before you haul those prized oak logs to your house or cabin, you should know what killed the tree," cautions Dan Gillman, plant health specialist at the Minnesota Department of Agriculture. If it is a red oak that died of oak wilt you may be transporting this deadly tree disease to new areas. "but," Dan adds, "there are precautions you can take to preven the spread of oak wilt in this way."

It is best to keep oak wilt infected red oak logs where they died. New outbreaks of oak wilt have occurred in several new sites in Minnesota because people carried oak wilt infected wood to their cabins or gave it away to friends and relatives. Likewise, do not bring red oak logs into your back yard, unless you know the red oaks have been dead at least one year or did not die from oak wilt.

The oak wilt fungus can form spores next spring that can then infect oaks near your wood pile. In the spring (from about April 15 to June 30) the oak wilt fungus forms spores under the bark of the red oak logs from trees that died from oak wilt the previous summer. Picnic beetles feed on these spores and carry them to nearby oak trees with fresh wounds. If you can burn all the wood this winter (before April 15), you will burn the fungus too and eliminate the hazard.

If you cannot burn all the red oak logs by then, stack all pieces larger than two inches in diameter and "seal in" the wood with four-mil plastic. "Seal in" the wood by burying the edges of the plastic with soil around the entire pile. Tape all seams or breaks with duct tape or other heavy duty tape. This provides a barrier preventing picnic beetles from flying in and out of the wood pile. Moreover, the plastic "tent" creates a humid environment that encourage other fungi on the wood to grow and kill the oak wilt fungus.

If your trees died from oak wilt this summer, stop the underground spread to nearby oaks by cutting root connections to isolate the diseased from the nearby health trees. For more information about protecting trees from oak wilt call Dan Gillman at (612) 296-0592 at the Minnesota Department of Agriculture.

St. Paul Johnson skaters Nick Newton (12) and Shawn Pograba (23) squeezed out Thief River Falls defenseman David Halsa in front of the Prowlers' net during a Governors power play opportunity in the first period of Friday's high school hockey game at the Huck Olson Memorial Civic Center. Johnson won 9-8 in overtime.

Prowlers win overtime opener

■ Thief River Falls boys edge Crookston 67-65

Nathan Anderson started overtime with a 3-point basket Friday and Thief River Falls went on to beat host Crookston 67-65 in the 1994-95 boys high school basketball season opener for the Prowlers.

A key basket off on offensive rebound near the end of regulation time by Eric Bjorgaard led to the overtime session when the Prowlers led by as many as seven points but had to wait out a final Crookston possession before laying claim to the win.

Thief River Falls jumped out to a 17-7 first quarter lead, had a 28-22 halftime edge and went into the fourth quarter ahead 48-36 before Crookston came back to gain a 56-56 regulation time tie.

"We had some trouble with their pressure, and our back-side defense needs work," reported Thief River Falls coach Scott Brekke. "But we're still pretty pleased. We did some good things. The kids worked hard. I'm real proud the way they hung in there and found a way to win in front of a big crowd on the road. It's a confidence-builder for us."

Kyle Sanden led the Prowlers with 21 points, while Bjorgaard netted 16 and Anderson 15. Jared Brandt contributed 9 points off four offensive rebounds as the Pirates stacked their defense against the 6-11 Sanden.

Bobby Shimpa of Crookston led all scorers with 24 points.

Thief River Falls went 27-for-59 from the field (46 percent) and made 10 of 21 free throws. Crookston was 20-for-56 from the floor (38 percent) and stayed close by sinking 19 of 23 free throws. The Prowlers out-rebounded the Pirates 36-31, but also had more turnovers, 20-12.

TRF girls pick up first win, 65-46

A height advantage led to a scoreboard advantage for the Thief River Falls girls Saturday as the Prowlers beat visiting Fosston 65-46 in high school basketball.

It was the first win in four starts for the Prowlers.

The Greyhounds lost heavily to graduation from a 1994 Section 8A championship team, losing both experience and size. They didn't have a player over 5-7 on the court Saturday.

That left the door open for the Prowlers' 5-10 sophomore Kim Stenseth, who scored 14 points and grabbed 17 rebounds, including 10 on the offensive end, and 6-1 senior Sarah Huschle, who scored 13 points, picked up 11 rebounds and blocked four shots.

As a team, the Prowlers blocked 11 shots, with 5-11 eighth grader Nicole Kopari matching Huschle's four stuffs. Kelly Skelm, a 5-7 senior, led all scorers with 20 points.

"We really had the height advantage," acknowledged Thief River Falls coach Solly Wiltse. "We played better than we have been. It's a good win for our kids. They needed it."

Erin Reitmeier and Maija Savolojo both scored 11 points to lead the Fosston offense.

The Prowlers had quarter leads of 12-8, 25-20 and 39-31.

Thief River Falls was a busy 31-for-85 from the field (36 percent) thanks to a 54-44 rebound advantage, including 25 on the offensive boards. The Prowlers made 5 of 18 free throws.

Fosston went just 14-for-74 from the field (19 percent) and connected on 18 of 32 free throws as the Prowlers continued their penchant for fouls.

Thief River Falls topped the turnover charts 22-20.

Governors win hockey shoot-out in overtime...

Johnson rally tops TRF 9-8

In basketball, they would have called it a fast-break offense. In football, it would have been labeled the run-and-gun. But it was high school hockey, and it was just plain crazy Friday as St. Paul Johnson stunned Thief River Falls by overcoming a 7-2 third period deficit to win a wild 9-8 overtime game at the Huck Olson Memorial Civic Center.

The Governors found themselves down 3-1 at the end of the first period, trailed 5-2 at the second intermission and when the Prowlers' Tim Barry and Steve Rambeck scored in the first 65 seconds of the third period, it looked like mild upset was in the books.

However, that was just the start of what turned into a head-shaking shooting gallery that resulted in nine goals in a span of 10-minutes, 18-seconds.

The Johnson charge began when Sean Rowan scored on a battle around the net at 2:13. Back-to-back power play goals by Jeff Abbott and Mike Lyons made it 7-5 and Denis Shlepnev got around the Thief River Falls defense and beat goalie Chanc Keefe to bring the Governors to within 7-6 at the six-minute mark.

The Prowlers responded just 36 seconds later when Nick Chiodo was given a wide open shot from the top of the slot and rifled the puck past Johnson goalie Matt Magnuson, who had replaced started Geno Ricci at the start of the period, to rebuild a two-goal edge.

However, the Governors' Nick Lewis connected from long range a mere 43 seconds later and Shlepnev completed the unlikely comeback with a game-tying open net tap-in at 10:55.

"They gained momentum and it was a snowball effect," offered Thief River Falls coach Pat Cullen, who was obviously upset with the Prowlers' inability to hold on to the third period lead. "We just didn't meet the challenge," he said.

The two teams did go through the final 3:05 of regulation time without scoring, but it took just 31 seconds of the scheduled 8-minute sudden death overtime to produce a winner as Rowan put the first shot of the extra session into the net.

It was a game-long rally for Johnson, who fell behind 2-0 at the outset on goals by Nick Chiodo and Rambeck.

Joe Fiebiger one-timed a nifty centering pass from Nick Newton at 13:52 to make it 2-1, but a quick nine seconds later Chiodo was at the goal mouth for a centering pass tip and a 3-1 Thief River Falls lead at the first break.

Keith Anderson led a 2-1 Thief River Falls rush, kept the puck, shot and scored at 3:15 of the second period and Barry followed suit as Magnuson guessed pass at 5:25 for a 5-1 advantage.

Rowan bounced the puck off Keefe at 10:53 to complete the second period scoring and set the stage for the third period fireworks.

While it was a nightmare for goalies and defensemen, the game fattened the offensive figures for many as Chiodo matched his three goals with three assists; Anderson had a goal and three assists; Barry scored twice and had one assist; Andy Furuseth collected three assists; and Rambeck added his two goals to the total.

Rowan had a hat trick for the winners, while Shlepnev, probably the most talented player on the ice, complemented his two goals with two assists.

Scoring

Lumberjacks win Prowler Relays

■ Thief River Falls boys host season-opening swim meet

Boys high school swimming season opened Saturday with the annual Prowler Relays in the Franklin Middle School pool.

First in seven of the nine events, Bemidji won the eight-team competition that featured all relays with 140 points, followed by Fergus Falls with 102, Detroit Lakes 96, Moorhead 82, Crookston 64, Fosston/Bagley 60, Thief River Falls 58 and Park Rapids Area 46.

Thief River Falls coach Ryan Lokken was pleased with the Prowlers' debut. "We saw a lot of nice things," he said. "Technique-wise, we're already as good as we were at the end of last year, which is a real positive. It was a learning meet for us. We used a lot of kids in a lot of events."

Bemidji also won the junior varsity portion of the meet with 136 points, followed by Moorhead with 78, Thief River Falls 70, Fosston/Bagley 66, Detroit Lakes 56, Park Rapids Area 40, Crookston 32, and Fergus Falls 32.

Varsity Meet Results

Gators top Falcons

Combination of Krissi Super's offense and strong team defense carried the Badger/Greenbush-Middle River girls high school basketball team past the host Falcons 46-34 Friday in Round 2 of the Fertile-Beltrami Christmas Classic.

The Gators and Hawley both both went 2-0 in the four-team, two-day event by sweeping Fertile-Beltrami and Waubun.

Super's impressive offensive show included a 3-for-4 on 3-pointers, 8-for-14 shooting from 2-point range, and a 5-for-6 effort at the free throw line.

"Krissi had a real good game," pointed out Badger/Greenbush-Middle River coach Tom Neibauer after the Gators improved their overall record to 5-0.

"Our team defense was real good," acknowledged Neibauer, whose team was 17-for-33 from the field (52 percent) and 9-for-14 at the line, where Stephen made 6 of 11.

The Gators will compete in the Warren-Alvarado-Oslo Invitational Thursday, Friday, and Saturday.

Using the two Warren gyms, first round match-ups Thursday will have Kittson Central playing Climax/Fisher and East Grand Forks vs. Crookston at 6:30 p.m., followed by Badger/Greenbush-Middle River vs. Fosston, and Warren-Alvarado-Oslo against East Grand Forks Sacred Heart at 8:15.

MCC free throws net 49-44 win

Marshall County Central got by with a 25 percent shooting performance Friday in a 49-44 boys high school basketball win over Lake of the Woods in Newfolden.

The Nordics, just 14-for-44 from the field, won it by getting the ball inside, drawing fouls and hitting the free throws. They were 18-for-31 at the line for the night – double the Bears' 9-for-15 free throw production.

Lake of the Woods struggled from the field, too, with a 17-for-54 showing (31 percent). The Bears had a 42-32 rebound advantage, but also had more turnovers, 13-6.

Marshall County Central, 1-1, trailed at the quarter stops 14-4, 31-26 and 39-37 before overtaking Lake of the Woods midway through the fourth quarter.

"We struggled all night to catch up," explained Marshall County Central coach Ron Ueland. "We didn't shoot very well, but we did work the ball inside and drew the fouls."

Micah Ranum of the Nordics and Matt Speiker of the Bears shared game-high scoring honors with 19 points each.

Wrestlers winless in Sertoma Invitational

Thief River Falls went 0-4 against a strong field that formed the 18-team Sertoma Invitational dual high school wrestling tournament Friday and Saturday in Grand Forks.

The Prowlers lost a 46-27 first round decision to Grand Forks Red River, putting them into the tournament's South Division, where they absorbed a 66-12 first round drubbing at the hands of Devils Lake and dropped a 39-34 consolation semifinal match against Belcourt before finishing up with a 36-18 defeat at the hands of Cavalier.

Nationally-ranked Bismarck Century won the tournament with a 55-9 championship match victory over Morris.

Huskies win 46-40 contest vs. Ponies

Brady Wiseth, a 5-11 senior guard, scored 15 points and Martin Dahlen, a 6-3 senior forward/center had an 11-point, 13-rebound night Friday as Goodridge knocked off Warren-Alvarado-Oslo 46-40 in a boys high school basketball game played at Northland Community College.

"It's a big win for us," pointed out Goodridge coach John Rahn. "I know they (Ponies) are down a little, but they still play good defense, and it was nice to see our kids put the ball in the basket against that kind of pressure. It was a good team win; everybody contributed.

The Huskies were 20-for-47 from the field (43 percent) and 4-for-10 at the free throw line. The Ponies went 16-for-51 from the floor (31 percent) and had a quiet 1-for-2 night at the line.

St. Paul Johnson skaters Nick Newton (12) and Shawn Pograba (23) squeezed out Thief River Falls defenseman David Halsa in front of the Prowlers' net during a Governors power play opportunity in the first period of Friday's high school hockey game at the Huck Olson Memorial Civic Center. Johnson won 9-8 in overtime.

Prowlers win overtime opener

■ Thief River Falls boys edge Crookston 67-65

Nathan Anderson started overtime with a 3-point basket Friday and Thief River Falls went on to beat host Crookston 67-65 in the 1994-95 boys high school basketball season opener for the Prowlers.

A key basket off an offensive rebound near the end of regulation time by Eric Bjorgaard led to the overtime session when the Prowlers led by as many as seven points but had to wait out a final Crookston possession before laying claim to the win.

Thief River Falls jumped out to a 17-7 first quarter lead, had a 28-22 halftime edge and went into the fourth quarter ahead 48-36 before Crookston came back to gain a 56-56 regulation time tie.

"We had some trouble with their pressure, and our back-side defense needs work," reported Thief River Falls coach Scott Brekke. "But we're still pretty pleased. We did some good things. The kids worked hard. I'm real proud the way they hung in there and found a way to win in front of a big crowd on the road. It's a confidence-builder for us."

Kyle Sanden led the Prowlers with 21 points, while Bjorgaard netted 16 and Anderson 15. Jared Brandt contributed 9 points off four offensive rebounds as the Pirates stacked their defense against the 6-11 Sanden.

Bobby Shimpa of Crookston led all scorers with 24 points.

Thief River Falls went 27-for-59 from the field (46 percent) and made 10 of 21 free throws. Crookston was 20-for-56 from the floor (38 percent) and stayed close by sinking 19 of 23 free throws. The Prowlers out-rebounded the Pirates 36-31, but also had more turnovers, 20-12.

TRF girls pick up first win, 65-46

A height advantage led to a scoreboard advantage for the Thief River Falls girls Saturday as the Prowlers beat visiting Fosston 65-46 in high school basketball.

It was the first win in four starts for the Prowlers.

The Greyhounds lost heavily to graduation from a 1994 Section 8A championship team, losing both experience and size. They didn't have a player over 5-7 on the court Saturday.

That left the door open for the Prowlers' 5-10 sophomore Kim Stenseth, who scored 14 points and grabbed 17 rebounds, including 10 on the offensive end, and 6-1 senior Sarah Huschle, who scored 13 points, picked up 11 rebounds and blocked four shots.

As a team, the Prowlers blocked 11 shots, with 5-11 eighth grader Nicole Kupari matching Huschle's four stuffs. Kelly Skeim, a 5-7 senior, led all scorers with 20 points.

"We really had the height advantage," acknowledged Thief River Falls coach Sally Wiltse. "We played better than we have been. It's a good win for our kids. They needed it."

Erin Reitmeier and Maija Savaloja both scored 11 points to lead the Fosston offense.

The Prowlers had quarter leads of 12-8, 25-20 and 39-31.

Thief River Falls was a busy 31-for-85 from the field (36 percent) thanks to a 54-44 rebound advantage, including 25 on the offensive boards. The Prowlers made 5 of 18 free throws.

Fosston went just 14-for-74 from the field (19 percent) and connected on 18 of 32 free throws as the Prowlers continued their penchant for fouls.

Thief River Falls topped the turnover charts 22-20.

Governors win hockey shoot-out in overtime...

Johnson rally tops TRF 9-8

In basketball, they would have called it a fast-break offense. In football, it would have been labeled the run-and-gun. But it was high school hockey, and it was just plain crazy Friday as St. Paul Johnson stunned Thief River Falls by overcoming a 7-2 third period deficit to win a wild 9-8 overtime game at the Huck Olson Memorial Civic Center.

The Governors found themselves down 3-1 at the end of the first period, trailed 5-2 at the second intermission and when the Prowlers' Tim Barry and Steve Rambeck scored in the first 65 seconds of the third period, it looked like mild upset was in the books.

However, that was just the start of what turned into a head-shaking shooting gallery that resulted in nine goals in a span of 10-minutes, 18-seconds.

The Johnson charge began when Sean Rowan scored on a battle around the net at 2:13. Back-to-back power play goals by Jeff Abbott and Mike Lyons made it 7-5 and Denis Shlepnev got around the Thief River Falls defense and beat goalie Chanc Keefe to bring the Governors to within 7-6 at the six-minute mark.

The Prowlers responded just 36 seconds later when Nick Chiodo was given a wide open shot from the top of the slot and rifled the puck past Johnson goalie Matt Magnuson, who had replaced started Geno Ricci at the start of the period, to rebuild a two-goal edge.

However, the Governors' Nick Lewis connected from long range a mere 43 seconds later and Shlepnev completed the unlikely comeback with a game-tying open net tap-in at 10:55.

"They gained momentum and it was a snowball effect," offered Thief River Falls coach Pat Cullen, who was obviously upset with the Prowlers' inability to hold on to the third period lead. "We just didn't meet the challenge," he said.

The two teams did go through the final 3:05 of regulation time without scoring, but it took just 31 seconds of the scheduled 8-minute sudden death overtime to produce a winner as Rowan put the first shot of the extra session into the net.

It was a game-long rally for Johnson, who fell behind 2-0 at the outset on goals by Nick Chiodo and Rambeck.

Joe Fiebiger one-timed a nifty centering pass from Nick Newton at 13:52 to make it 2-1, but a quick nine seconds later Chiodo was at the goal mouth for a centering pass tip and a 3-1 Thief River Falls lead at the first break.

Keith Anderson led a 2-1 Thief River Falls rush, kept the puck, shot and scored at 3:15 of the second period and Barry followed suit as Magnuson guessed pass at 5:25 for a 5-1 advantage.

Rowan bounced the puck off Keefe at 10:53 to complete the second period scoring and set the stage for the third period fireworks.

While it was a nightmare for goalies and defensemen, the game fattened the offensive figures for many as Chiodo matched his three goals with three assists; Anderson had a goal and three assists; Barry scored twice and had one assist; Andy Furuseth collected three assists; and Rambeck added his two goals to the total.

Rowan had a hat trick for the winners, while Shlepnev, probably the most talented player on the ice, complemented his two goals with two assists.

Scoring

Lumberjacks win Prowler Relays

■ Thief River Falls boys host season-opening swim meet

Boys high school swimming season opened Saturday with the annual Prowler Relays in the Franklin Middle School pool.

First in seven of the nine events, Bemidji won the eight-team competition that featured all relays with 140 points, followed by Fergus Falls with 102, Detroit Lakes 96, Moorhead 82, Crookston 64, Fosston/Bagley 60, Thief River Falls 58 and Park Rapids Area 46.

Thief River Falls coach Ryan Lokken was pleased with the Prowlers' debut. "We saw a lot of nice things," he said. "Technique-wise, we're already as good as we were at the end of last year, which is a real positive. It was a learning meet for us. We used a lot of kids in a lot of events."

Bemidji also won the junior varsity portion of the meet with 136 points, followed by Moorhead with 78, Thief River Falls 70, Fosston/Bagley 66, Detroit Lakes 56, Park Rapids Area 40, Crookston 32, and Fergus Falls 32.

Thief River Falls teammates cheered on one of their swimmers during Saturday's Prowler Relays at the Franklin Middle School pool. It was the 1994-95 high school swimming season opener for the Thief River Falls boys. Eight teams took part in the event.

Gators top Falcons

Fertile-Beltrami Christmas Classic

■ Round 1 - Thursday - Badger/Greenbush-Middle River 66, Waubun 44; Hawley 54, Fertile-Beltrami 46.

■ Round 2 Friday - Badger/Greenbush-Middle River 46, Fertile-Beltrami 34; Hawley 67, Waubun 46.

Combination of Krissi Super's offense and strong team defense carried the Badger/Greenbush-Middle River girls high school basketball team past the host Falcons 46-34 Friday in Round 2 of the Fertile-Beltrami Christmas Classic.

The Gators and Hawley both both went 2-0 in the four-team, two-day event by sweeping Fertile-Beltrami and Waubun.

Super's impressive offensive show included a 3-for-4 on 3-pointers, 8-for-14 shooting from 2-point range, and a 5-for-6 effort at the free throw line.

"Krissi had a real good game," pointed out Badger/Greenbush-Middle River coach Tom Neibauer after the Gators improved their overall record to 5-0.

"Our team defense was real good," acknowledged Neibauer, whose team was 17-for-33 from the field (52 percent) and 9-for-14 at the line, where Stephen made 6 of 11.

The Gators will compete in the Warren-Alvarado-Oslo Invitational Thursday, Friday, and Saturday.

Using the two Warren gyms, first round match-ups Thursday will have Kittson Central playing Climax/Fisher and East Grand Forks vs. Crookston at 6:30 p.m., followed by Badger/Greenbush-Middle River vs. Fosston, and Warren-Alvarado-Oslo against East Grand Forks Sacred Heart at 8:15.

MCC free throws net 49-44 win

Marshall County Central got by with a 25 percent shooting performance Friday in a 49-44 boys high school basketball win over Lake of the Woods in Newfolden.

The Nordics, just 14-for-44 from the field, won it by getting the ball inside, drawing fouls and hitting the free throws. They were 18-for-31 at the line for the night – double the Bears' 9-for-15 free throw production.

Lake of the Woods struggled from the field, too, with a 17-for-54 showing (31 percent). The Bears had a 42-32 rebound advantage, but also had more turnovers, 13-6.

Marshall County Central, 1-1, trailed at the quarter stops 14-4, 31-26 and 39-37 before overtaking Lake of the Woods midway through the fourth quarter.

"We struggled all night to catch up," explained Marshall County Central coach Ron Ueland. "We didn't shoot very well, but we did work the ball inside and drew the fouls."

Micah Ranum of the Nordics and Matt Speiker of the Bears shared game-high scoring honors with 19 points each.

Wrestlers winless in Sertoma Invitational

Thief River Falls went 0-4 against a strong field that formed the 18-team Sertoma Invitational dual high school wrestling tournament Friday and Saturday in Grand Forks.

The Prowlers lost a 46-27 first round decision to Grand Forks Red River, putting them into the tournament's South Division, where they absorbed a 66-12 first round drubbing at the hands of Devils Lake and dropped a 39-34 consolation semifinal match against Belcourt before finishing up with a 36-18 defeat at the hands of Cavalier.

Nationally-ranked Bismarck Century won the tournament with a 55-9 championship match victory over Morris.

Huskies win 46-40 contest vs. Ponies

Brady Wiseth, a 5-11 senior guard, scored 15 points and Martin Dahlen, a 6-3 senior forward/center had an 11-point, 13-rebound night Friday as Goodridge knocked off Warren-Alvarado-Oslo 46-40 in a boys high school basketball game played at Northland Community College.

"It's a big win for us," pointed out Goodridge coach John Rahn. "I know they (Ponies) are down a little, but they still play good defense, and it was nice to see our kids put the ball in the basket against that kind of pressure. It was a good team win; everybody contributed.

The Huskies were 20-for-47 from the field (43 percent) and 4-for-10 at the free throw line. The Ponies went 16-for-51 from the floor (31 percent) and had a quiet 1-for-2 night at the line.

TRF passing game sets school record

■ 1994 football statistics

Quarterback Keith Anderson and wide receiver Steve Burslie formed a school record-breaking passing combination during Thief River Falls' 1994 high school football season, according to statistical information provided by Prowlers coach Jeff Mumm.

Anderson, a junior, was 60-for-122 passing for a school-record 1,006 yards this fall. His primary target was Burslie, a senior, who caught 35 passes for a school-record 671 yards.

Burslie finished with a career school pass receiving record of 918 yards.

The Prowlers' passing complemented a running game that featured seniors Tony Halsa with 854 yards on 122 carries and Brian Howe with 741 yards on 136 attempts.

On the other side of the ball, senior linebacker John Davis set two single-season records with 460 Tom Cat defensive points and 83 first-hit tackles.

Davis was credited with career records with 1,117 Tom Cat defensive points, 191 first-hit tackles and 136 second/third/fourth/fifth-hit tackles.

Team-wise, the 1994 Prowlers set a single-game record with 488 total yards vs. Fergus Falls and single-season records with 151 first down, 487 rushing attempts, 1,014 passing yards, 3,728 total yards, and 311 points. Fifteen interceptions thrown by the Prowlers also went into the books as a single-season record.

Thief River Falls went 7-4 this fall, losing to Detroit Lakes 21-8 and Alexandria 32-20 to start the year before beating Wadena-Deer Creek 40-12, Staples-Motley 54-20 and Park Rapids Area 34-0. Crookston knocked them off in Week 6 by a 14-6 margin, but the Prowlers finished the regular season with wins over Fergus Falls 35-3 and East Grand Forks 41-37.

In Section 8A play, Thief River Falls handled Fergus Falls 48-12 and eliminated Crookston 20-6 to reach the finals for the second time in three years, where they lost to Detroit Lakes 28-13.

Goodridge balance tops Roseau 64-55

Goodridge won for the second straight night on the road Saturday – a 64-55 boys high school basketball decision at Roseau that hiked the Huskies' record to 2-1.

Brady Wiseth and Martin Dahlen staked the Huskies to a 23-14 lead with eight points each in the first quarter. Then after the Rams pulled within 48-46 at the end of the third quarter, Mitch Srnsky and Ryan Kriel took over the offensive load for Goodridge over the final eight minutes.

Wiseth finished with 18 points, Dahlen 16 and Srnsky 13. Scott Lunos led the Rams with 15 points.

"Again, it was a total team effort," said Goodridge coach John Rahn. "The kids off the bench did a great job for us. They all contributed in their own way."

Goodridge shot only 38 percent from the field (24/64), but did connect on five 3-point baskets. The Huskies made 4 of 8 free throws.

Roseau also had a tough night offensively, shooting just 36 percent from the field (23/64). The Rams were 5-for-8 at the line and finished with a 41-32 rebound advantage.

Holiday Invitational...

MCC girls lose to Tri-County 65-42 in semifinal start

Marshall County Central started the game with a 7-0 lead, but then wilted under a full-court Tri-County press Monday as the host Wildcats claimed a 65-42 girls high school basketball win in the first round of the Tri-County Holiday Invitational at Karlstad.

Argyle beat Stephen 45-37 in the first half of the semifinal doubleheader.

"We started well, but we couldn't handle the press," said Marshall County Central coach Tom Mjelde.

The winners had quarter leads of 18-15, 33-23 and 55-35.

A balanced Tri-County offense featured Sara Bogestad with 15 points, while Erika Spilde, Anne Bogestad and Heidi Stusynski all had 14. Tricia Pederson, sidelined by an ankle injury before the Marshall County Central season opener, was in the Nordics line-up and netted a game-high 17 points. Teammate Darlene Nelson scored 14.

It was a poor shooting night for the Nordics, who went 14-for-55 from the field (25 percent) and 12-for-24 at the free throw line. The Wildcats were 23-for-53 from the field (43 percent) and 16-for-33 at the line in a ragged game that featured 57 free throws and 49 turnovers.

The winners had a 44-34 rebound advantage and topped the turnover charts 25-24.

It was the fourth loss in as many starts for the Nordics.

Blake scorers follow suit

■ Opponents out-scoring TRF hockey team

Believe it or not, at one time Pat Cullen was concerned about Thief River Falls' goal-scoring capabilities. The first-year head coach watched his team go through three preseason scrimmages without putting the puck in the net. And while the Prowlers did open the 1994-95 high school hockey season with a 3-2 win at Bemidji, they were shut out by Grand Forks Central 8-0 in start No. 2.

Playing at home, however, must have jump-started the Thief River Falls offense as the Prowlers scored 19 goals in three games at the Huck Olson Memorial Civic Center.

Unfortunately, they also gave up 24 goals in those same three games and lost each time out – 7-5 Tuesday vs. Warroad; 9-8 Friday vs. St. Paul Johnson in overtime; and 8-6 Saturday afternoon vs. Blake.

"Offense has not been a problem," acknowledged Cullen. "But we've got to shore up our overall defensive play in our zone. You can't fault just one person or one area. Everybody has to step forward and do a better job."

Blake, coached by Lincoln High School graduate Jeff Lindquist, blitzed Thief River Falls with a three-goal flurry in a 60-second span to start the game. The Prowlers spent the right of the day in rally-mode.

Thief River Falls goalie Chane Keefe gloved a 2-on-1 shot by the Bears' Darce Swaggert, only to have the puck pop out and drop behind the goal line to start the scoring at 5:01.

John Grudnowski's centering pass from behind the net caromed off the back of the netminder's leg and into the net at 5:12, and a wrist shot from the slot by Kevin Etten made it 3-0 at 6:01.

Brad Inglis made his varsity debut in the nets in relief at that point, and the Prowlers rallied behind him to pull within 3-2 on a close-in wrist shot by Adam Fulton at 10:38 and a tough-angle shot from the corner to the left of Blake goalie Justin Richter by Aaron Ehrenstrom at 12:11.

But the comeback was stymied when Blake scored twice in the final 27 seconds of the first period – a rebound by Etten at 14:33 and a tip-in by Swaggert at 14:53.

That made it 5-2 and Keefe returned for the start of the second period.

Again, the Prowlers rallied as Tim Barry tipped in Paul Gonsorowski's slot slap shot from the point just 35 seconds into the second period and Keith Anderson fought off two defenders as he entered the Blake zone and got off a high wrist shot that went over Richter's shoulder at 4:16.

The two teams spent the third period matching goals.

Barry finished off a full-speed, length-of-the ice rush by scoring on a goal mouth feed at 3:10 for a 5-5 tie; the Bears' Peter Mahler scored on a long rebound at 3:29; the Prowlers' Nick Chiodo scored off a power play scramble in front of the net at 6:25 to tie it 6-6; and a nice set up in front produced a power play goal for Blake's J.C. Newby at 12:25 made it 7-6.

The winners added an open net goal by Christian Peterson at 14:46 – who hit the net from his own zone after Keefe was pulled in favor of an extra attacker.

"It was a tough weekend," admitted Cullen. "Our youth showed. We knew it wasn't going to be easy, but I still think we'll be okay. Just give us time."

Scoring

First period - Blake, Darce Swaggert (Weber Brown), 5:01; Blake, John Grudnowski (un), 5:12; Blake, Kevin Etten (Christian Peterson), 6:01; TRF, Adam Fulton (Paul Gonsorowski), 10:38; TRF, Aaron Ehrenstrom (Steve Rambeck), 12:11; Blake, Etten (Peter Mahler-Peterson), 14:33; Blake, Swaggert (Etten), 14:53.

Second period - TRF, Tim Barry (Gonsorowski), :35; TRF, Keith Anderson (Brian Howe), 4:16.

Wolverines have offensive trouble in loss to Eagles

Goodridge/Grygla-Gatzke played strong defense, but struggled on offense Monday in losing a 43-27 girls high school basketball game at Red Lake Falls.

"Our offense just wasn't there at all," said Goodridge/Grygla-Gatzke coach Mike Gast. "Our defense was as good as our offense was bad, but it wasn't enough."

The Eagles led only 21-19 at halftime, but out-scored the Wolverines 16-2 in the third quarter to take control.

Goodridge/Grygla-Gatzke made just 7 of 40 field goal attempts (18 percent), while Red Lake Falls went 17-for-45 from the field (38 percent). The Wolverines did make 13 of 17 free throws; the Eagles were 5-for-8 at the line.

The loss dropped the Wolverines to 3-2.

Grygla-Gatzke turnovers lead to 55-39 defeat

Rebounds and turnovers hurt Grygla-Gatzke Friday in a 55-39 boys high school basketball loss at Stephen.

The 0-2 Eagles had more turnovers (16) than points (13) at halftime and wound up getting beat on the boards 33-26.

"We didn't do a very good job on the boards and we didn't take care of the ball very well, either," said Grygla-Gatzke coach Vern Johnson.

Stephen had quarter leads of 10-6, 19-13 and 35-19.

The Eagles' 25 turnovers limited them to 39 field goal attempts, and they hit only 14 – 36 percent. The Tigers were 23-for-51 from the field (45 percent) and turned it over only 12 times.

Matt Kroulik scored 15 points and Trent Chwialkowski had 12 for the winners. Scott Heganson led the Eagles with 13 points.

Grygla-Gatzke was 8-for-16 at the free throw line; Stephen was a similar 8-for-15.

TRF hockey JV picks up a pair of victories

Thief River Falls beat Red Lake Falls 9-5 Friday night and stopped Blake 6-1 Saturday afternoon in junior varsity high school hockey.

A hat trick by Adam Swanson led Thief River Falls over Red Lake Falls in a preliminary game to the Prowlers vs. St. Paul Johnson varsity match-up. Tony Fletcher scored twice, while Josh Clark, Greg Wick, Craig Huot and Trevor Lee had one goal each. Wik and Lee also had two assists each.

Bryan Cleven scored twice against Blake, while Rob Stock, Nathan LaRoque, Jeremy Swanson, and Adam Swanson had single goals.

Brekke, Wiltse will speak to Boosters

Lincoln High School boys basketball coach Scott Brekke and girls basketball coach Sally Wiltse will be the guest speakers Thursday at the 12-noon Thief River Falls Sports Boosters Club meeting at the Elks.

Thefts, accidents and incidents of vandalism in LEC news

Thefts, accidents and incidents of vandalism were listed in news reports to the law enforcement center in Pennington county last week.

Thefts. Upon investigating a theft reported at Westside Motors on November 28, police discovered a stolen gun at a local residence. The gun, a 30-30, had been mistakenly left behind at the Best Western in Thief River Falls. Employees placed it in a storage room until the owner could pick it up. It was later found to be missing and reported stolen to police in September of 1993. Police also located the missing equipment taken from a vehicle left at Westside Motors. Charges are pending against Henry Andrew Christianson, 33, Thief River Falls for theft of a firearm, and theft over $200 and under $500. Also, Ricky Wayne Lamprecht, Thief River Falls, faces a charge of theft over $200 and under $500 in connection with the theft from Westside.

On October 28 police received a report from St. Hilaire Co-op feed mill in Thief River Falls of employee theft. An employee had allegedly been observed taking feed from the plant without paying for it and not writing up tickets on cash sales. A complaint has been issued charging Craig Allen Chaput, 30, route 1, Red Lake Falls, for theft over $250 and under $500.

On December 9 at 3:08 p.m. Tracy Wegge, route 1, Thief River Falls, reported a theft from her vehicle while parked at Northland Village parking lot. Forty cassette tapes in a box were taken. The theft loss was estimated at $300.

On December 9 at 8:35 p.m. police received a report of suspicious actions by a man in a store. He was purchasing large value gift certificates with checks and using the gift certificates to purchase small items and getting cash for the remaining amounts. It was learned that the subject had charged $542.87 and that there was no money in the man's checking account. Troy Hinton, 22, Edmonton, Alberta, Canada was arrested at customs on a probable cause warrant for theft by check, a felony. He was being held at customs in Pembina.

Charges of issuing worthless checks were filed against the following: Jay Milo Pedersen, 31, West Fargo, ND, $69.87; Michael James Raymond, 19, Motley, $50; Troy David Brownlee, 21, Ada, $38; Evangeline Shirley Bourcy, 41, Shevlin, $39.68.

On December 12 at 9:24 p.m. police received a report that someone took $70 from a jacket at the Center School.

Vandalism. On December 6 at 11:17 a.m. Roger Philipp, Thief River Falls, reported a radio antenna on his vehicle damaged. Damage was estimated at $175.

On December 9 at 8 a.m. Marty Moeglein, route 4, Thief River Falls, reported that someone scratched his car with a sharp object while the vehicle was parked in the parking lot of the Family Bowl. The damage loss was estimated at $250.

On December 9 Davo Voelk, Thief River Falls, reported a window, four feet by 10 feet, had been broken. Damage loss was estimated at $250.

On December 11 at 12:55 p.m. Jerry Brockhaus, Crooks, SD, reported the window of his vehicle, which was parked in the Best Western lot, had been broken. Damage loss was estimated at $200.

On December 11, three 15 year-old girls and one 16-year-old were charged in connection with a vandalism of a home November 24.

Accidents. On December 9 at 2:50 p.m. police received a report of an accident at Duluth Avenue and Eighth Street. Jody Hanson, Thief River Falls, was going south on Duluth and a Bronco driven by Terrence Nefzger, route 1, Plummer, was going west on Eighth when the vehicles collided. Damages were estimated at $2,000 to the vehicle driven by Nefzger, and $1,000 to the vehicle driven by Hanson. Nefzger was cited for failure to yield.

On December 9 at 11:30 p.m. police received a report of an accident at Second Street and Horace Avenue. A car driven by Shaun Moran, route 3, Red Lake Falls, was traveling east on Second and attempting to turn north on Horace when his vehicle left the road and struck a utility pole. Damage loss was estimated at $2,000 to the car and none to the utility pole.

On December 10 at 12:02 p.m. police received a report of an accident at Highway 1 and Davis Avenue. A pickup driven by Christopher Thompson, route 2, Thief River Falls, was going east on Highway 1 and a car driven by Gilbert Trontvet, route 2, Thief River Falls, was going west and turning south onto Davis when the vehicles collided. Damages were estimated at $1,500 to each vehicle. The accident is under investigation.

Disorderly conduct. On December 11 at 4:04 a.m. police received a request for assistance from employees at the Glenmore Halfway house on LaBree Avenue. A subject was going to be taken by ambulance to the hospital but became disorderly. He was eventually checked at the hospital and then arrested. Terry Dale Dahle, 42, Thief River Falls, was arrested for disorderly conduct.

Consumption under age. On December 11 at 7:45 p.m. officers pulled over a vehicle at Third and Main. The driver, Paul Joseph Sanbursky, 20, Grand Forks, ND, was charged with possession of beer under age. A passenger, Michael Anthony Thorson, 20, East Grand Forks, was cited for consumption of beer under age.

Several individuals sentenced in court

Several individuals were sentenced on alcohol, assault, and speeding cases. Citations were listed in the Pennington County Citation Disposition Bulletin for last week.

Dennis Del Knutson, 37, Thief River Falls, has been sentenced on charges of burglary in the first degree, assault in the second degree, violation of a protection order, and burglary in the first degree. The charges against Knutson stem from an incident in August of 1994 in which he broke into a house in violation of a protection order, held a woman against her will with a gun and assaulted her. He was sentenced to pay costs of 532.50, 48 months in prison on the burglary charge, 34 months on the assault charge, and 90 days in jail on the violation of a protection order. All sentences were to be served concurrently. He was given credit for time already served, and he was ordered not to have any firearms for 10 years.

Project 120 helps students learn about public service

If your are a high school student, or the parent of one, you may wonder about all the conferences or seminars that students get invited too. It is tough to know which ones to choose. Based on my experience at the State Capitol, here's one I would like to recommend.

Project 120 puts on a series of seminars for high school students during the legislative session in St. Paul. It is open to Minnesota students currently enrolled in grades 9-12. During the 1995 session there will be 13 seminars, each one of them will be five days long

The idea behind Project 120 is that students can learn best about public service from seeing it close up. All three branches of government are covered in the seminars.

A typical day might include discussions with legislative leaders, attending committee hearings, and meetings with commissioners to find out about their work. Counselors work with students to help them get the most out of the experience.

The program has been held annually for the past 20 years. Its name comes from the 120 days that the Legislature is allowed to be in regular session over any two-year period.

As a parent, and someone who has worked with youth programs, I know a common question is: "Who sponsors this event?" The answer is that Project 120 is put together by an independent non-partisan, non-profit organization based in St. Paul.

Part of the program cost is underwritten by a public-private partnership. The cost to students who participate is $225, which covers tuition, meals and lodging. Scholarships are available based on financial need.

Over the years I have met quite a few students who have attended Project 120. They have always given it good reviews.

Tri-Valley gets $118,500 grant for low-income

Tri-Valley Opportunity Council, Inc., of Crookston has been awarded a $118,500 grant by the Otto Bremer Foundation of St. Paul..

The grant is for a case management/self sufficiency project to help low-income families move out of poverty. It is payable over a three-year period.

Railroad club hosts show Sat.

The model railroad under the Christmas tree — a family tradition connecting Chrismas across the years. Saturday, December 17, the Thief River Falls Model Railroad club will host a Christmas Shoppers Train Show, from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. at the Thief River Falls City auditorium. The show is a benefit for the Soo Line Depot preservation project, and also a chance to pass on the Christmas tradition to new families.

Chuck Schwartz, secretary of the model railroad club, says his own hobby began with the Lionel train set his parents bought him for Christmas as a boy. "Every year they would add to it — an engine, another car. I still have it. I guess there are some toys you never out grow."

Schwartz passed on the tradition by buying a Christmas train for his own children. "My wife and I stayed up until midnight one year putting it together. I began to think it might be a great stress reducer, a hobby completely unrelated to my job. Now my set fills half my basement."

Schwartz says model railroad takes a mix of skills; electronics, carpentry, landscaping and landscape painting, and model making. That's when a club becomes an asset, where hobbyists can draw off each other's skills. "We have members from East Grand Forks, Roseau, Newfolden, Crookston, St. Hilaire and Thief River Falls. There is a lot of talent to draw from, and it's a lot of fun."

For hobbyists who don't have a whole basement to work in, Schwartz says the club encourages

Methodist church Musical Sunday

United Methodist Church Sunday School will present the Christmas Musical "Twinkle and the All Star Angel Band", Sunday, December 18, at 6:30 p.m.

The musical will be followed by an Advent Open House and reception. Director, Brenda Marben, says the Sunday School is issuing a community invitation. "It's kind of our Christmas present and it's a great way for all families to celebrate the real meaning of Christmas."

Marben says the musical, about a tiny Christmas angel who finds a special place among the heavenly host, include contemporary and traditional music. "The theme is about giving the best of ourselves at Christmas, but we also wanted to recreate the traditional nativity, and music and the story line does just that."

The musical stars Rebekah Soiem as Twinkle, the angel turned Christmas star, and her heavenly host, Chelsea Haviland, Rachel Harger, Brittany Haviland, Brianna Reierson, Heidi Young, Lora Danielson, Ben Worker, Ann Marben, Jason Swenson. Yvonne Asp is Gladya the director of the Heavenly Host, Mike Langland as the narrator, and youth director Chris Arries as Gabriel. Marben says the characters are backed by the 55-member angel band. "They really have the biggest part, musical instruments and song, rhythm movement, lighting cues. Our Sunday School has been growing and this gave us a chance to give everyone a great part."

Marben says the cast has been

Employers shape Job service future

The future of the Minnesota Job Service, a division of the Minnesota department of economic security, is in the hands of Minnesota employers.

Starting this month, randomly selected employers from all around the state will receive a survey that will allow them to tell Job Service how it can improve and redesign itself to provide better customer service. The results of that data will shape the future of the Job Service.

"The response to this survey is absolutely critical," according to Bonnie Elsey, director of the Job Service Redesign project. "Our customers will help us design a more efficient, user-friendly system."

Along with shaping the Job Service of the future, the data collected from the surveys will also be used to help establish statewide one-stop career centers. The one-stop system will combine all the employment and training programs offered in Minnesota. It is based on quality customer service, integrated community resources and the removal of unnecessary bureaucratic mazes to better serve job seekers and employ-

Strandquist Community News

F. Myrtie Vagle
436-2133

The Strandquist Senior Citizens met at the center for their Christmas party with a potluck dinner and gift exchange. Phyllis Budziszewski brought a most unique Christmas decoration, a lighted tree made of beads and other jewelry in a picture frame. She also brought her tape player and seasonal music made it very festive. They finished tying some more woven carpets and put every thing away for winter as this was the last meeting for the winter. Their rugs are beautiful and I was lucky to get another half dozen that I have been waiting to get. They also say they are looking forward to spring and wish everyone a Merry Christmas and a Happy New Year. I'll be checking on them each week so all our readers can keep track of them.

Jennifer Anderson was home from Hamline University over Thanksgiving. Paul, Shirley, Jenny, Kristopher and Kenrick Anderson were Thanksgiving Day guests at Eva Bernard's in Karlstad.

Barb and Tom Woodruff of St. Charles, MO spent from Tuesday evening until Thursday noon at the Isaac Thompsons. Tuesday supper guests were Tom and Barbara, Robert, Cathy, Andrew and Lisa Thompson, Richard, Carol and Kari Thompson of Red Lake Falls came later to visit with Tom and Barb.

Elphie Adlis returned home on Wednesday from a 10 day visita with her daughter, Jan Hilton and family in Florida. She says the weather was lovely, no rain and 85 degrees while she was there. Wonder how she took it this morning. Peter who keeps a daily record of the weather said it was the coldest day so far this winter, barely 12 below. Now the sun is shining and looks fit to be out side in it. Elphie's 17-year-old granddaughter, Katerj Kifton, who was in an auto accident some time ago and became a paraplegic, is now enrolled in a school to finish high school with her old classmates next spring. Because she missed school in the Fall, her mother turns the pages and writes for her when she does her home work, which she has to do.

Morris and Hazel Anderson, as guests of Jim and Cindy Wetterlund, attended the English Christmas Feasts in the Chester Fritz Hall in Grand Forks on saturday evening. They were entertained by the UND Concert Choir through the evening. Christy Wetterlund sings in the choir which will be touring Europe for 13 days in March, traveling in the Netherlands, France, and Germany where they will concertize and experience different cultures.

Visitors at Frank and Judy Kleinvachter's on Tuesday were Father Bob Schreiner and Bud and Mari Steffan.

Pearl Thompson and Elsie Lefrooth attended the Sunday school Christmas party for the teachers and students of the Assembly of God church on Thursday evening.

Wednesday morning, Robert Thompson accompanied Tom Woodruff to Winnipeg, Canada to deliver a load Tom was hauling.

Basil Bernard, of Steurtvile visited at the Paul and Shirley Anderson's from Friday until Tuesday. Friday evening, Eva Bernard was a supper guest and Sunday, Eva and Oata Barnerd of Bemidji were dinner guests at Paul's and visited with Basil. Tuesday, Basil went to Grygla to visit at Olsne and Owen Hagens..

Thursday, Art Kleinvachter, Claudia Berggren and Kali and Karl Kasprowicz visited Frank and Judy Kleinvachter.

Nelson LaDoux of Thief River Falls was a noon dinner guet at Isaac Thompsons on Friday.

Friday evening Becky, Danny, Michelle and Jeremy Johnson and Mark Melby had supper with Peter and Pearl Thompson.

Mike and Betty Johnson of Warroad stopped to visit Elphie Adlis on Saturday on their way to shop in Thief River Falls.

Mary and Donna Renstrom returned to their home on Saturday after staying with Lois Carrico for a few days. Mary had been a guest at the Karlstad hospital for a few days before that. Glad to see she is feeling better.

rehearsing since September for this special Christmas program. "This is really beyond anything we've tried before, and it's nice to know we're up to the challenge. The best part is a better understanding of the gift of baby Jesus, and how the nativity came to be."

The program will be presented Sunday evening, December 18, at 6:30 p.m. at the United Methodist church, across from the fire hall in Thief River Falls. Everyone is welcome.

"modules," sections of track and landscape that can be joined into a giant railroad display. Much of that display will be available for the Christmas Shoppers show on the 17th.

As far as the Depot project, Schwartz says model railroaders are also interested in railroad history, and he says the railroad opened northwestern Minnesota to a new frontier. "Many of the people who settled here came by rail. Men who went off to war said goodbye to their families at the Soo Line Depot. Some of them never came back. There are a lot of memories there, unique memories, memories worth saving."

Schwartz promises the show will be a special Christmas event and invites everyone to stop by the Thief River Falls City auditorium, Saturday, December 17. "Who knows, maybe we'll pass along a family tradition — a model railroad under the Christmas tree."

Courts Acting Favorably On Property Rights After 65-Year Drought

Individuals hoping that their efforts to secure property and landowner rights guaranteed by the Fifth Amendment to the U.S. Constitution are taking heart from an apparent shift in the thinking of the U.S. Supreme Court.

According to Defenders of Property Rights, an organization based in Washington, DC, property rights litigation can be long and arduous—and until recently not very successful.

"From 1922, when the Supreme Court recognized that a regulation could violate the Fifth Amendment, no property owners successfully sued the government for a regulatory taking," the organization states in a publication entitled The Pocket Guide To Your Private Property Rights. "It took 65 years, but things changed dramatically when the Supreme Court decided in favor of the property owner in three cases....Lately, state and federal courts have been sympathetic to the property owner."

The booklet contains 10 points regarding property rights in a question and answer format. In summary, some of these points are as follows:

Government has the right to acquire private property through a process called condemnation, but that right is limited. The taking must be for a public purpose and the private owner must be paid just compensation.

The government often imposes stringent regulations on the use of property rather than condemning it and formally transferring title or ownership to itself. If a regulation is overly confiscatory or restrictive of the owner's ability to use his or her property, it is "taken".....The taking of property through regulation is referred to as "inverse condemnation."

Courts today are finding an increasing number of instances where the challenged regulation has gone too far, thereby warranting just compensation.....The government violates Fifth Amendment rights if it so severely regulates property that the owner is deprived of all or substantially all economically beneficial or productive use of the property.

Many people in this area and elsewhere in Minnesota have a primary interest in wetlands as they relate to property rights. Regarding this specific issue, the booklet states:

"In the case of wetland, congress, regulators and biologists disagree about what is actually meant by the term. The Clean Water Act, the basis of a federal jurisdiction over wetland, does not even contain the word 'wetland.'

"The U.S. Army Crops of Engineers has currently defined 'wetland' so broadly that a mere puddle of standing water supporting 'aquatic plants' can leave a property owner stuck with a 'white elephant.' In short, you may be forced—at your own expense—to preserve your land as 'open space' or a 'resource protection area'....If you think that the wetland issue is one you can ignore, talk to Bill Ellen or Ocie Mills. Both spent time in a federal penitentiary for disturbing a wetland without a permit."

Everyone has an interest in property rights, even those who do not own land. Property is more than just land. It is buildings, machines, equipment, leases, savings accounts and even retirement funds and other possessions.

It is certainly possible to protect both private property rights and the environment. Environmental programs, intended to protect the environment for the public, often underlie claims of unconstitutional takings of property. Excessive environmental regulations often leave property owners unable to use their land at all—with the exception of nominal uses such as bird watching or nature photography. However, the owner still shoulders the property tax liabilities and other incidents of title ownership.

Many environmentalists hold the opinion that the achievement of their objectives is so important that government should not have to pay property owners whose rights have been destroyed during the process of protecting the environment. But the Constitution unequivocally requires that just compensation be paid whenever private property is taken for public use, no matter how important the objective.

Supreme Court Justice Oliver Wendell Holmes declared, "We are in danger of forgetting that a strong public desire to improve the public condition is not enough to warrant achieving the desire by a shorter cut than the constitutional way of paying for the change." In basic terms, if the government decides to acquire land or interests in property for the public, even for as good a cause as preserving the environment for future generations, then it must justly compensate the owner of the property according to the Fifth Amendment.

The Defenders of Property Rights booklet notes that many people mistakenly picture environmental organizations as a few hippies in tie-dyed T-shirts and frayed jeans cranking out petitions on mimeograph machines in some cramped basement office. In fact, environmentalism is big business.

In 1991, the budget of the Sierra Club was $40 million, the Audubon Society $43 million, World Wildlife Fund $57 million, National Wildlife Federation $90 million, Greenpeace $65 million and The Nature Conservancy $274 million (1992 budget). With this financial backing, these organizations can hire professional full-time staffs to contact legislators and motivate members and sympathizers to pressure the government into enacting regulations resulting in uncompensated takings against individual private property owners.

Individual property owners, on the other hand, have no such resources to counter the illegal regulations of government. That is the reason for the formation of property rights groups throughout the nation—to consolidate support and pool resources to effect change through litigation or legislation. As of June of 1994, 10 states have passed laws protecting private property and almost 100 bills have been introduced in nearly 40 states. The snowball is beginning to build.

Letters To The Editor and Corrections

Letters To The Editor: The Times encourages written responses to editorial comment or letters with original thoughts or ideas of general interest. Letters should be intended for publication in The Times exclusively; letters sent to multiple publications will generally not be accepted. Right is reserved to edit letters for length and clarity and to reject letters deemed to be promotional in nature or in poor taste.

Letters Must Be Signed: All letters must be signed and contain an address or phone number of the writer so authenticity can be verified. Signatures must appear on letters published. The Times believes that there is greater credibility in letters signed in print and will no longer withhold names of writers from publication.

Responses Invited: Letters critical of individuals or other entities may be shown to those individuals or representatives of those entities in advance of publication with an invitation by The Times for response in the same issue as the original letter.

Corrections: If an error is made in news or advertising publication, The Times encourages readers to call it to our immediate attention at 681-4450. We will attempt to correct the error or clarify the misunderstanding in the next issue.

LETTERS

To The Editor:

On behalf of Lauren Weck, Dave Cummings and the Office on Volunteer Services (MOVS), I want to thank the Thief River Falls Times, KTRF, KKAQ, KSRQ and other media for the support, coverage and encouragement you gave to the community meeting which was held at Northland Community College on November 30.

The response and participation by all the volunteers, volunteer leaders and organizations was greatly appreciated. There were representatives from several communities and as far away as Bemidji and Moorhead. The presentations were great and we have your comments, concerns, suggestions and stories on tape which will be used to assemble a report to the legislature and the people of Minnesota in early January.

The State of Volunteerism report is assembled from meetings held in six other locations similar to the one here in Thief River Falls. Lauren and Dave were very impressed with Thief River Falls and the facilities we have and would like to thank everyone for their hospitality to them.

I would like to especially thank Dave Hill, Key Teeters-Asp, Howard [illegible], Andrea Liston, [illegible] Minnick and Northland Community College for all the public service they provided. Thanks also to all the volunteer leaders who helped with many activities to promote this meeting.

Media personnel and volunteer leaders are volunteers, too, and these people never seem to get recognized for the public service they provide. The rewards of volunteerism are many and include a smile from a child in the halls or classrooms of Challenger, Franklin or Lincoln, or the greeting from a senior or a shut-in when you are delivering meals on wheels. You are probably the only contact that person will have during that day and he or she would like you to stay longer. There are hundreds of other stories and experiences in Thief River Falls and thankfully there are also hundreds of volunteers to be in those situations.

I wish everyone could receive an award. There are many who are deserving. To borrow a statement from John F. Kennedy, "...ask not what your country (community) can do for you, but what you can do for your country (community)."

Governor Carlson annually selects a week in April to recognize volunteers. In 1995 it will be April 23-29. The theme for 1995 will be "Stars of the North: Minnesota Volunteers." I hope every volunteer organization will strive to recognize its volunteers in some way during this week.

Thank you, Thief River Falls Times, for the public service you provide.

I have a video tape of the presentations made at Northland and it is available to any organization that wishes to use it or any part if desired.

Respectfully,
Cliff Larson
Thief River Falls

91 Truckloads Of Turkeys Leave Thief River Falls

That Thief River Falls is maintaining its standing as a turkey processing point is revealed in the announcement this week that a total of 91 carloads of the dressed birds had left the city since October. Of the total, 49 cars had been shipped out up to November 15, while the remaining 42 carloads have left since that date. A large percentage of the early shipments had been set aside for government use in supplying the needs of the armed forces, while the greater part of more recent shipments have moved into regular trade channels.

Rotary Inspects Library Building Plans

Following an explanatory talk by Mrs. Hazel Halgrim, Carnegie librarian, members of the Rotary club, following their luncheon meeting Tuesday noon in the Evelyn hotel, adjourned to the library to inspect a display of plans for a proposed postwar addition to the institution. The drawings were made by advanced students in the school for architecture at Harvard University.

The beautifully executed set of plans, which will serve as a basis for the design ultimately approved, were made as a six-week project in which Professor Theodore Prichard, formerly of this city, was a member of the class as well as teaching architecture at the University of Idaho. He was responsible for the suggestion that the proposed Thief River Falls library addition be made the specific subject for treatment.

The addition would provide space for a badly needed children's room as well as a workroom and a new board room and facilities for motion picture projection.

Rationing System For Church Suppers Changed

Effective December 15th, a simplified method providing rationed food allotments for such functions as church suppers, banquets and picnics where there is a charge for the meal, has been announced by the OPA. These new occasional users may apply at their local boards, and allotments will be based on the number of persons served. Within 10 days after the supper, the user must report the number of persons actually served and account for any unused portion of the rationed food allotment.

ASK YOUR LOCKSMITH
Questions And Answers

Q I'm considering purchasing a safe for my home. Where should I go to buy one: an office supply store, hardware store/discount store, or a locksmith?

A Although many stores may sell safes, rarely do their personnel have the level of expertise of most locksmiths. Not only is buying the right safe important, but servicing it also should be a primary concern of the customer. Buy from a source that can meet all your needs. Select a locksmith who sells and services safes.

IN MEMORY
In memory of Marlin L. Sand who passed away December 19, 1993.

God saw him getting weary,
He did what he thought best;
He came and stood beside him,
And whispered "Come and Rest";

He bid no one a last farewell,
Nor even said goodbye;
He was gone before we knew it,
And only God knows why.

Sadly missed by his wife, Joyce, and family; Venessa, Taylor, Valerie & Carroll.
1t100p

THANK YOU
A sincere thank you to the Goodridge Area Historical Society and their officers for the award given us for our small contribution to the history of the Goodridge area. Also, a big thank you to friends and relatives who attended the presentation at the Goodridge Senior Citizens Center on Saturday, December 3.
Carl and Gertie Eig.

WRITTEN FOR THE MEMORY OF HENRY AND NATHAN OLSON
BY DUANE

"TWO" are absent
At the close of each day
We miss you the most as the daytime fades away and the sun goes to rest.
Shadows creep across the grass.
Birds fly to their nest.
Happy memories dance through their minds.
Even as their hearts do yearn
They must remember
The "TWO" who are absent
Only in memories will return...
From Your Family.

IN MEMORY OF
Olga (Mrs. Olaf) Ryan
Who Passed Away On Dec. 11, 1977

Memories of Mamma
Are ever more full of love
As we recall all those lovely
Christmases we shared
You've never left us any day
But more than ever
We miss you during the holidays
You're so special to us.
We express our love untold
Always you're in our hearts
Memories of Mamma at Christmas.
Dearly Loved and Sadly Missed
By Her Children and Grandchildren.
1t100c

IN MEMORY OF GORDON WOLD
WHO PASSED AWAY DEC. 25, 1988

God saw him getting weary
He did what he thought best
He put his arm around him,
And whispered "Come and Rest."
It broke our hearts to lose him,
But he did not go alone,
For a part of us went with him,
The day God took him home.
Missed By Family.
1t100p

CARD OF THANKS
We wish to thank our dear friends and relatives for the floral arrangement, cards, memorials and for the food brought to our home. Special thanks to Pastors Sandy and Kathy Stevenson for their comforting words and message, to Jeff. Liden and Sandy Selstad for their lovely music and to Green Funeral Home. Our thanks also to the nurses on CNC and to Dr. Ashok Patel for their care the past years.
May God Bless You.
The Family Of Selma Anderson.

Wilfred Rockwell,
Margaret Rockwell, Marie Fimrite, a/k/a Marie Fimrit, deceased, also the unknown heirs of Ruth McFarland, deceased, also all other persons unknown claiming any right, title, estate, interest in or lien in the real estate described in the Complaint herein,
Defendants.
TITLE QUIETING

SUMMONS

THE STATE OF MINNESOTA TO THE ABOVE NAMED DEFENDANTS:

You are hereby summoned and required to serve upon the Plaintiff's attorney an Answer to the Complaint which is on file in the office of the Court Administrator of the above named Court, within twenty (20) days after the service of this Summons upon you, exclusive of the day of service. If you fail to do so, judgment by default will be taken against you for the relief demanded in the complaint.

This action involves, affects or brings in question real property situated in the County of Pennington, State of Minnesota, described as follows, to-wit:

Government Lots Three (3) and Four (4) and the East Half of the Southwest Quarter (E1/2SW1/4) of Section Thirty (30), Township One Hundred Fifty-four (154), Range Forty (40) West, also referred to as:

The Southwest Quarter (SW 1/4) of Section Thirty (30), Township One Hundred Fifty-four (154), Range Forty (40) West of the Fifth P.M. according to the U.S. Government Survey thereof.

The object of this action is to obtain a judgment that plaintiff is the vendee under a certain contract for deed with defendants Wilfred Rockwell and Margaret Rockwell and that said Wilfred Rockwell is the owner in fee of an undivided two-thirds (2/3) interest in the above described real property, and that Margaret Rockwell is the owner in fee of an undivided one-third (1/3) interest in the above described real property subject to Plaintiff's interest as vendee in the contract for deed between plaintiff and Kenneth Rockwell dated April 16, 1976, and that none of the other defendants except Wilfred Rockwell and Margaret Rockwell have any estate or interest therein or lien thereon.

Dated this 30th day of November, 1994.

NOTICE TO ALL INTERESTED PARTIES OF THE TERMINATION OF THE #7396 - FIRST FEDERAL SAVINGS & LOAN ASSOCIATION OF THIEF RIVER FALLS RECEIVERSHIP

PLEASE TAKE NOTICE that on August 9, 1991, the Resolution Trust Corporation (RTC) was appointed as Receiver for First Federal Savings & Loan Association of Thief River Falls, (the "Receiver"), by virtue of the authority vested in the Director of the Office of Thrift Supervision, Department of the United States Treasury. The Receiver has continuously engaged in the liquidation of the assets of the receivership since the date of the closing of First Federal Savings & Loan Association of Thief River Falls. The Receiver has determined that the continued existence of the receivership will deplete the funds remaining to pay proven claims of creditors. Therefore, you are hereby notified of the impending termination of the receivership of such institution. The Receiver will be making its final dividend distribution sometime after thirty days from the date of this notice. No objections to the termination of the receivership will be considered beyond thirty days from the date of this notice. If any person wishes to object to the termination of the First Federal Savings & Loan Association of Thief River Falls receivership, then such objection must be sent within thirty days of this notice to: Resolution Trust Corporation, as Receiver for First Federal Savings & Loan Association of Thief River Falls; Attn: Termination Coordinator, P.O. Box 419570, Kansas City, MO 64141.

Thief River Linen of Thief River Falls now has its own permanent display area in the International Home Furnishings Market in High Point, NC. The 1,000 square feet of space is used for display and sales of the company's product during the two major markets which are held each year for about two weeks in the spring and the fall.

Thief River Linen has many new milestones

by Marvin Lundin
Times Editor

In the span of every life and the life of every business there are memorable happenings that form mental or historical milestones. For Thief River Linen, and its founder Linda Bentson, 1994 has been a year of several of them.

"For one, we have moved once again," she said. After a modest start in the downtown Lieberman building on LaBree Avenue seven years ago, the company moved to the Forsberg's building on Conley Avenue, and for the past five years has been in the former Sue Line building off Davis Avenue. The recent move was to the School District 564 service center building in space vacated when pre-school programs moved to the new Challenger elementary school.

"This move has given us more than twice the space we had in our last location," Bentson said, "but we made the move without any interruption in business—we didn't even miss a phone call—and we need to do some things to organize the clutter."

Another milestone was securing a permanent display of 1,000 square feet at the International Home Furnishings Market in High Point, North Carolina. The local company has shared display space for the [illegible] previous shows held at the Market, but now has its own space with its name above the door.

The International Home Furnishings Market is the site of two major shows each year, when two weeks are devoted to showing product and making sales to buyers from throughout the world. The fall show completed in late October provided Thief River Linen with a rush of business.

Show Sales Tripled

"This was a great show for us," Linda said. "Our total sales tripled from the previous market and more and more people are recognizing the Thief River Linen name and our reputation for being a good company with good products."

Success of the October show contributed to yet another milestone for the company—making 1994 the first calendar year with a sales volume of half a million dollars. "It may not seem like a lot to some businesses," she said, "but it looks big to us."

Recognition is a vital notch in the key to success in the pillow, bedding and accessories business. By aligning itself with both established and innovative people and businesses and paying careful attention to quality and trends in the industry, Thief River Linen has managed to occupy a widening niche in the market. Companies are beginning to initiate contact when they have needs the local company can fill.

Cutter Sharon Gilbertson and shipper Patti Garszewski get together to figure out the best cut on a bolt of fabric at Thief River Linen in Thief River Falls. The company recently moved into space at the School District 564 service center, more than doubling the area it previously had available in the former Sue Line building. The company now has eight full-time, in-house employees and employs about 15 women who sew products in their homes.

City fails State pay equity test

Thief River Falls has been notified by the Minnesota department of employee relations that it is not in compliance with the local government pay equity act. Specifically, the city is not in compliance with the act's exceptional service pay test.

The city council discussed the notice and several other items at its regularly scheduled meeting Tuesday evening.

To pass the exceptional service pay test, the city must score 80 per cent or better. The city had a test score of 66.28 per cent. A score below 80 per cent means that the percentage of male classes receiving exceptional service pay is more than 20 per cent greater than the percentage of female classes receiving exceptional service pay. To calculate this score, the percentage of female classes receiving exceptional service pay is divided by the percentage of male classes receiving exceptional service pay.

City Administrator Roger DeLap explained that the city is not in compliance because it requires that employees work for the city five years before receiving exceptional pay. Many female employees have not worked more than five years with the city. DeLap said he intends to consult with the city's attorney and appeal their case.

Councilman Frank Hamerlinck pointed out that this is a very serious situation because the fines for non-compliance can be outrageous.

■ A request to the city to become a fiscal agent was tabled.

A request for the city to become the fiscal agent for a proposed Thief River Falls baseball association was tabled by the council. It was suggested to the representatives of the organization, Charlotte Bjorgaard and John Rokke, that they obtain their own non-profit status.

Bjorgaard explained the association intends to combine the Babe Ruth, American Legion and VFW baseball programs. She said such an organizations would be able to support a stronger program, and would be more efficient.

■ Several areas were annexed into the city.

USDA to extend and target CRP contracts

Secretary of Agriculture Mike Espy has announced that the Department of Agriculture will take several actions regarding the Conservation Reserve Program (CRP), including modifying and extending CRP contracts, improving the targeting of the CRP to more environmentally sensitive acres, and using conservation easements on the most environmentally sensitive acres.

"The CRP has been a tremendously beneficial program for producers and for the general public," Espy said. He added that the CRP has saved soil expanded wildlife habitat and populations, improved soil, air and water quality, enhanced wetlands and encouraged tree plantings.

"At the same time," he said, "it has reduced deficiency payments, strengthened farm income and helped balance the supply and demand of agricultural commodities. The actions announced today will enable the department to maintain substantial CRP participation and target the CRP to achieve enhanced environments and conservation benefits."

During the 1995 calendar year, the department will consider requests from CRP participants to be released from their CRP contracts or to modify their current contracts to reduce the amount of acreage subject to them. The department will also request and consider bids from producers to enroll new acreage in the CRP program subject to new 10-year contracts. To be accepted, the new acreage will have to meet higher environmental and conservation criteria and provide significant soil erosion, water quality or wildlife benefits. Only the most environmentally beneficial acres would be selected for new contracts.

In addition, the amount of new acreage which may be enrolled will not exceed the maximum amount allowed under law. The department will also establish criteria to ensure that acreage released from current CRP contracts in 1995 can be properly managed for conservation purposes.

In order to target the CRP toward the most environmentally sensitive acres, the department anticipates that the acreage which will be released from current CRP contracts under this action is acreage that would likely be returned to production upon the expiration of the contract.

"By providing an opportunity for CRP participants to request an early release from their contracts, we will be able to retarget the CRP and enroll new, more environmentally sensitive acres under new 10-year contracts," Espy said.

In addition to this action in 1995, the secretary announced that the department intends to offer all CRP participants the opportunity to modify and extend their contracts upon maturity, beginning in 1996. The Secretary of Agriculture is authorized under the provisions of the Food, Agriculture, Conservation

Northrop, Knox properties go to Mpls. developer

Sale of Northrop and Knox elementary school properties to Dunbar and Associates of Minneapolis was approved by the School District 564 board of education at its regular meeting December 12.

Recommendation for the sale had come from the board's finance committee and was presented to the board by board member Cheryl Lee. Sale of each of the properties was for $5,000 and includes the entire Knox school building and site and the Northrop building and site with the exception of the north 225 feet of the property which would be retained and given to the city for development of a park area.

Dunbar's proposal was the only one received for the Knox property while there were three proposals received for the Northrop property. Others were for $1 from the local Occupational Development Center, which proposed to use the existing building for administrative, education and training area, and from the local swimming pool committee which expressed interest but made no specific proposal.

Jay Portz from the Dunbar company told The Times Tuesday that the company had recently been informed that it had been awarded the properties and had not entered

Few people attend county truth in taxation meeting

Pennington county's demand for revenue for the operation of county government was rather minimal, as far as tax increases go. However, a state mandated increase in property values by 10 per cent, and another 5 per cent increase in property values in at least one township, pushed some property tax increases to the 40 per cent range. Despite these kinds of increases, only a few people turned out for the Truth in Taxation meeting held Tuesday at the county courthouse in Thief River Falls.

Ken Olson, county auditor, explained that there are a number of reasons why property taxes increase. Olson used a chart prepared for the Thief River Falls truth in taxation meeting that explained the five reasons for property tax increases: change in the market value of property; change in the state tax classification rates; changes in the tax levy requests; changes in a property tax classification; and a change in the overall market value of the county.

Tuesday evening was not the time set aside for property owners to appeal their property taxes or market valuations. It provided property owners an opportunity to examine how the county plans to spend its tax dollars. Anyone with a concern about their individual property taxes should contact the county assessor.

Pennington county plans to levy for $2,897,585, a total net levy increase over last year of 9.7 per cent. Other revenues, including licenses, permits, state aid and other sources, will bring the total revenue budget to $10,026,606. Last year, the total was $8,964,917. By percentage, property taxes only account for 28.9 per cent of the county's revenue budget. Intergovernmental revenue accounts for 43 per cent. The remainder comes from property aid, bond proceeds, charge services, interest, licenses and fines, and other taxes.

Total government expenditures are expected to reach $10,026,606, with the highway department and welfare departments eating up the largest percentage of the budget pie.

The largest budget increase among the various funds this year, occurred in the road and bridge fund. Olson said that fund had not increased for roughly five years. Due to a number of circumstances, such as plans for the replacement of Long's bridge, the fund demands increased. Of the increase, the county will levy for $600,000 instead of the $487,000 it has levied for many years, and the rest will come from state aid.

The welfare budget increased by about five per cent this year. Olson noted that the welfare fund plans to spend down some of its reserves — to the tune of $165,000.

Determining what will take place with the solid waste facility is tough, because SwisCorp is supposed to take over the facility this year. The county began levying for the solid waste facility in 1992. Previously, the funds needed for the facility were taken from revenue fund reserves. A total of $213,750 is being levied for the facility this year. Olson noted that this year, the county come out "in the hole" because much of the waste is being taken directly to the landfill.

The county has eliminated much of its debt service. Beginning in 1993, the levy includes a three-year capital equipment bond for purchasing an ambulance and also the additional bond for construction of the composting facility. In 1994, there was no levy for Oakland Park Home bonds and only a $7,000 levy for LEC bonds. In 1995, the bond levy is for the solid waste facility and the ambulance only.

Anyone with questions on the budget or taxes may contact the county auditor or county assessor.

Collin Peterson elected regional Democratic whip

U.S. Rep. Collin Peterson was elected regional whip during House Democratic Caucus meetings. The vote occurred during meetings aimed at firming structure and strategy for the 104th Congress. "I am pleased that my peers have chosen to elect me as their representative in the House Whip Organization," said Peterson.

As regional whip, Peterson will represent the states of Minnesota, Wisconsin, and Michigan in the House Whip organization. Peterson will be responsible for attending weekly policy and agenda meetings, counting votes, and keeping Democrats in his region abreast of new developments and strategies during the 104th Congress.

"It is a positive sign that my colleagues have decided to include me, one of the more conservative Democratic members, in the House leadership. I have long advocated a shift to a more centrist view for the party. I look forward to working with the party during the 104th Congress to address the concerns of average Americans and return the Democratic Party to its roots," said Peterson.

Postal advisory council to be formed locally

A push to recruit volunteers to serve on the first postal customer advisory council in Thief River Falls has been announced by Richard McCloskey, postmaster.

The council will meet on a regular basis with postal managers and supervisors to discuss local service issues and to design an improvement plan from a customer point of view.

"Some people think the Postal Service isn't interested in their opinions or comments about how we do business," McCloskey said. "The fact is, we're always looking for ways to improve and to serve our customers better. Direct input from customers is the best way for us to meet the growing needs and demands of the mailing public."

Customer advisory councils have been forming throughout the United States for approximately four years. At present there are more than 1,600 chapters in large and small communities.

"Council members can be professional or business people, homemakers, retirees, government officials or anyone else wishing to help the Postal Service maintain the best delivery system in the world," the postmaster said.

Anyone interested in playing an active role on the council is asked to contact postmaster McCloskey at 681-3026.

Holiday fires are often preventable

The bells will toll for 47 Minnesotans who will not be around the holiday tables this year with family, friends, and loved ones. These 47 lives were lost in fires that occurred in homes over the Thanksgiving holiday and between the December 24 and January 1, holidays from 1987 to 1993. The most tragic fire occurred on January 1, 1989, two hours into the new year, when eight children and two adults died in a home fire in Remer, MN. The saddest part of these stories is that the fires were all preventable.

During the past Holiday season, December 24 through January 1, 1993, 36 per cent (259) of all structure fires for the entire month of December occurred; 42 per cent of the dollar loss ($3.7 million dollars), and 38 per cent (three) of the fire deaths happened in just this one week. The holiday season is a high risk time of year in regard to fires.

There is a solution to the tragic loss of lives and property from fire in Minnesota because fire is a people caused event. It is not a cigarette that falls asleep while being smoked, it is a person. It is also not the heating device, chimney or fireplace that decides not to maintain itself, it is a person. People cause fires through their lack of knowledge, carelessness or apathy. Therefore, people can prevent fire and the tragic toll it takes each year.

State Fire Marshal Tom Brace urges you to take extra precautions during the holiday season. Install smoke detectors on every level of your home, including the basement, test them monthly and replace batteries annually. This should be part of your home fire preparation and escape plan. Make sure your children and holiday guests know the sound of your smoke detector by testing it before retiring.

Place candles in sturdy holders and put them well away from anything that burns. Practice good kitchen safety by rolling up sleeves and tucking in loose articles of clothing before cooking. Never leave cooking unattended. When cooking on the stove top take out the proper size lid that fits the pan and have it handy should the pan and contents catch fire. Use the lid to slide over the fire and turn the source of the heat off.

Use deep ash trays with the cigarette holders in the middle so that a cigarette will fall into the ash tray instead of a chair or the sofa. Check all furniture after guests leave and before going to bed to ensure that smoking materials didn't fall into or behind the cushions. Place all cigarette butts and ashes into a metal coffee can with a lid and allow to cool for 24 hours before discarding them into the waste basket.

Burn only clean dry wood in the fireplace, dispose of ashes in a closed metal trash receptacle with a lid and place outdoors 15 feet away from any structure. Inspect your chimney regularly and clean it when accumulations of creosote appear in the fire.

Help us make this holiday season a time of joy and celebration. State Fire Marshal Tom Brace and his staff issue a challenge to all Minnesotans to remember the ghosts of Christmas past, but to "Keep Minnesota Fire Free For The Holidays," by not giving fire a place to start.

Ag Secretary Espy announces plans to continue CRP program

and Trade Act of 1990 to offer, beginning in 1996, CRP participants the opportunity to modify and extend their CRP contracts for another 10 years. This authority applies to 10-year contracts entered into prior to the enactment of the 1990 Act on Nov. 28, 1990.

The Secretary also has the authority to offer CRP participants who entered into 10-year contracts after this date the opportunity to modify their contracts to extend their expiration date an additional five years. CRP participants whose contracts were scheduled to expire in 1995 but who modify the expiration date of their contract to 1996 under the Secretary's announcement on Aug. 24, 1994, would be offered the opportunity to modify and extend their contracts for another nine years.

Before the department will modify and extend a CRP contract, the rental rates for the acreage subject to the extended CRP contract will be reevaluated. Depending on prevailing local rental rates for comparable land, some CRP participants may be offered higher rental rates, while others may be offered reduced rates.

CRP participants would also be able to request adjustments in the acreage covered by their contracts. They would be able to choose to keep all or a portion of their current contractual acreage under the extended contract, or would be allowed to shift acreage from the same farm into the CRP even if that acreage was not previously subject to CRP contact.

However, in order to be considered for coverage under the extended CRP contract, any new acreage must be more environmentally sensitive and provide greater soil erosion, water quality or wildlife benefits than the acreage previously subject to the CRP contract. CRP participants would not be able to increase their total CRP acreage beyond the current contractual level.

In the process of modifying and extending CRP contracts, the department intends to offer CRP participants the opportunity to place conservation easements on high priority acreage. Both existing and new high priority acreage would be considered for conservation easements.

"By purchasing conservation easements, we will be able to ensure that the most environmentally sensitive lands remain protected," Deputy Secretary Richard Rominger said. "In addition, the use of easements will benefit taxpayers, since the department will no longer be making annual rental payments for land that should be removed from production."

"These actions are farmer and environmentally friendly," Espy concluded. "Farmers can have confidence that the CRP will continue. At the same time, we are targeting the CRP to the most environmentally sensitive acreage in order to achieve enhanced environmental and conservation benefits."

CRP participants will be notified of the opportunity to modify and extend their current CRP contracts by local USDA Consolidated Farm Service Agency (CFSA) offices. the actual terms and conditions of the actions will be developed through the regulatory process, and the Department of Agriculture plans to have regulations in place to implement these actions by the summer of 1995.

In addition, as with the current CRP program, the actual level of allowed participation would be subject to the availability of appropriated funds.

Thief River Linen reaches new business milestones

States, called last summer after being contacted by Thief River Linen's North Carolina representative. The Thief River Falls company was asked to design bedding —including bed covers, duvet covers, pillow shams, sofa scarves and decorative pillows—for one of Lexington's newest furniture collections to preview at the High Point furniture market.

The unique look of the beds in the Lexington collection and the innovative designs and fabrics in the Thief River Linen offerings meshed exceptionally well. They will be included, along with slip covers which Lexington asked Thief River Linen to create, in the company's next catalog.

Exposure and name recognition through its permanent display and the association with Lexington led to Thief River Linen being contacted by Gump's—a high end market mail order company—which ordered a bed set to debut in its newest home furnishings catalog to be out in February.

Recently Thief River Linen received two unique style beds manufactured by Dux, a Swedish company, so it could have the actual product on hand when designing accessory items for them.

The local company is creating a pillow line for Bloomingdale's department store, now supplies Room and Board and is developing products for Gabbert's—the latter two companies in the Twin Cities. It continues to be a Gear company licensee while also being associated with designer Raymond Waites who left Gear to form his own company.

And later this month Bentson will be in California to meet with the buyers for a furniture company which wants the Thief River Linen line in its 22 exclusive outlets across the United States.

More Domestic Fabrics Used

While imported fabrics were a key element in the earlier years of the company, Bentson said she is buying more domestic fabrics now.

"Although color and patterns remain important, we have seen an increasing influence of texture in consideration of fabrics," she said. "I have been able to find high quality fabrics from U.S. mills that suit our purposes very well in a number of cases."

One of the recent acquisitions has been the FoxFibre line of fabrics woven from naturally grown colored cotton. Sally Fox of Wickenburg, AZ, has developed the cotton from seeds she was given 11 years ago. Through selection and cross-breeding with longer fiber white cotton she has developed four colors of cotton with fibers long enough for weaving.

Through her company, Natural Cotton Colours, Inc., Fox controls the environmental purity of her product by contracting with growers and licensing mills and the companies to which they may sell their woven material. In addition to Thief River Linen, these companies include Fieldcrest, Esprit and Levi Strauss.

"These FoxFibre fabrics are very nice and have the advantage of being made without dyes," Bentson said. "Instead of fading with wear and washings as dyed fabrics will, they actually intensify in hue with repeated washings. Colors are in brown and green and are called Coyote, Buffalo, Green and Palo Verde."

Factory Reps Hosted

Within the past two years Thief River Linen has added more than 20 independent sales representatives and last summer hosted a three-day session for these representatives and local employees at Itasca State Park.

"I had some second thoughts right before the event," Linda said, "but it worked out so well that we are planning another for next summer. It was a chance for our staff to meet and mingle with reps from New York, Arizona, North Carolina, Illinois, North Dakota and Minneapolis."

There are now eight in-house full-time employees at the Thief River Linen facilities. Cindy Wojciechowksi is in charge of production control and Betty Kisch is production coordinator. Sharon Gilbertson and Jan Skjerping are cutters and Patti Gerszewski handles shipping. Helen Grabowska is administrative assistant and Tami Dicken and Beverly Audette work in accounting.

The company also employs 14 women who work in their homes, sewing the products that customers order. They are Elfie Alston, Vicki Senger and Karen Gott, Grand Forks, ND; Bernice Borgen and Loretta Langaas, Greenbush; Kimberly Ediger, Williams; Marian Marquis, Oklee; Arlys Konickson and Ruby Schroeder, St. Hilaire; Emily Sadoski, Warroad; Joan Schmitz, Red Lake Falls; Peggy Rothchild, Edythe Sotberg and Jill Garceau, Thief River Falls.

"I'm certainly proud of the growth we have enjoyed and the increasing recognition and acceptance in the industry," Bentson said, "but much of the credit is due to all of our dedicated and hard working employees. They are the people that take on the challenges and make the business go."

While Thief River Linen's business is at the high end of the accessories line, it caters primarily to the comfort zone of its customers. It finds that many people will pay the extra money necessary to have the items they enjoy. You might say, despite the milestones of the past year, that Linda Bentson isn't comfortable until her customers are.

City fails state pay equity test

Annexation of several areas were approved by the city council. City Attorney Paul Ihle explained that the annexation process was initiated by a petition from property owners. Areas now annexed into the city include Nelson Drive, Swis Corp, and Gus Berggren, and Caryl Bugge areas.

■ Annual liquor licenses were renewed.

Annual liquor licenses were approved by the city council. Club liquor license, which cost $500 annually, were approved for the American Legion, the VFW, the Eagles club, and Elks Lodge. On-sale intoxicating liquor license, which cost $2,800 annually, were approved for Evergreen Eating Emporium, the Best Western Inn, the Lantern Restaurant and Lounge, the Family Bowl, and the Rusty Nail. On-sale wine licenses, which cost $200, were approved for Evergreen Eating Emporium, Danny's Pizza, and the Best Western Inn.

■ The stone wall at Friendship park is to be taken down.

The stone wall at Friendship Park will be removed by city crews as soon as possible. Last summer, the park and recreation department explored the possibility of replacing the wall, but couldn't come up with the funds to repair the badly deteriorating wall. Due to its unsafe condition, which poses as a liability risk to the city, it was decided to remove the wall. Parts of the park, including the memorial will remain at the site, which is near the city campground and across from the historical village.

■ As of January 1, 1995, all city buildings become smoke free.

City councilmen were reminded that as of January 1, 1995, all city buildings will become smoke free. That doesn't include smokeless tobacco products.

In other business, the council: approved the mayor's appointment of Ron Ray to the CDAB; approved a utility easement for the installation of gas service lines at the airport; approved a progression raise for Jerry Stenseth; approved 1995 Riverland Association membership; approved dance permits for Julio Gustafson on December 23 at the armory, Jordan Lindquist on December 30 at the Armory and Mott Perkins on January 6 at the armory.

Festivities Without the Guilt

Chestnuts roasting — turkeys basting — dancing gingerbread men — rich chocolate fudge. Is it possible to indulge in holiday culinary pleasures and say "yes"to temptation without incurring the wrath of the waistline? The good news is that it is all right to indulge in holiday treats in moderation, according to the American Dietetic Association, so long as you follow a few simple guidelines:

- Set realistic goals. Is it reasonable to expect that you will lose weight during the holidays? Probably not. A more appropriate goal is weight maintenance.
- Keep eating habits in perspective. One food indulgence at a party is not your demise. How you react to it and how quickly you get back to your healthy eating style is what is important. Bank on a calorie and fat savings. Your best bet is to share your favorite indulgence food with a friend, thus saving half the calories and fat.
- Eat something small before a social event, such as fruit, salad or a whole grain roll and a glass of water. It is difficult to be in control if you are ravenous.
- Alcohol stimulates the appetite. Either opt for non-alcoholic beverages or alternate alcoholic and non-alcoholic beverages. Non-alcoholic beverages with lots of bubbles may fill you up — don't forget to read the food label for calorie content too.
- If you are at a party with a buffet table filled with food and desserts, indulge in a bite of your favorite foods to satisfy your taste. Keep portions small and have fun socializing to keep the focus off food.

Even though 'tis the season for parties, you will probably spend some time preparing food just for your family. Keep these tips in mind:

- When you can't tame the sweet tooth, mix dough for a batch of healthful cookies (like oatmeal or gingersnaps) and bake only a few. Roll the excess dough into a log shape and freeze in waxed paper. Cut a few slices of dough and bake when the urge is strong. In just seven minutes you have a nice treat.

Make sure those toys are safe

Children love to receive toys any time of year. But the holiday season brings special excitement as children dream of receiving their favorite toys from family and friends.

While toys can be fun and educational, in 1992 there were 142,700 toy-related injuries to children ages 14 and under. Innocent-looking toys — such as marbles and balloons — may be a choking hazard to small children. Other toy-related hazards include toys with small parts, sharp points and edges, toxic paint, flammable materials, and long strings that can be a strangulation risk.

The Minnesota Safe Kids Coalition, a program of the Minnesota Safety Council, and the National Safe Kids Campaign recommend that parents select toys that are appropriate for the age and development of their child. They should also be aware that:

- Toys with small, removable parts are hazardous particularly to children under age three.
- Toys with sharp points or edges may enable a child to unintentionally cut or stab himself or another person.
- Toys that produce loud noises, such as caps or toy guns, may permanently harm a child's hearing.
- Propelled toys, such as toy darts and projectiles, should be avoided. If allowed, it is very important that they have soft, non-removable ends to prevent eye injury.
- Electric toys should be used only be children who are eight years of age or older.

"Many kids ask for toys that may not be safe for them because they are designed for an older age group," said Sue James, director of the Minnesota Safe Kids Coalition. "For example, toys labelled for children ages six and up may contain small parts which are a choking hazard for preschoolers."

The recent passage of The Child Safety Protection Act, a federal toy labeling law, requires manufacturers to place warning labels on toys with small parts. The law calls for toys such as marbles, balloons, and small building blocks to be labelled as a choking hazard to young children.

To help in the search for the perfect gift, the Minnesota Safe Kids Coalition offers the following toy safety guide for age appropriate toys:

- Infants to one-year-olds: In their first few months of life, children are very immobile. Eventually, they learn to reach, roll over and sit up.

In the second six months, children become more mobile and are at increased risk for suffocation. The most suitable toys for the first year include activity quilts, stuffed animals without button noses and eyes, bath toys, soft dolls, baby swings, and squeeze or squeaky toys.

- One- to two-year-old toddlers: At this age, children are curious and have no sense of danger. They like to climb, jump, throw and play rough and tumble games. Supervision is important for these toddlers. The best toys for this age group are books, blocks, fit-together toys, balls, push and pull toys, pounding toys and shape toys.
- Two- to five-year-old preschoolers: As any parent of a preschooler can tell you, these children spend much of their time running. They like tests of physical strength and begin to develop skills such as riding a tricycle, increasing finger control, and the ability to build with large blocks and construction materials. Toys that are most suitable for this age group include approved nontoxic art supplies, books, videos, musical instruments, and outdoor toys such as a baseball tee stand, slide or swing.
- Five- to nine-year-old school children: It is in the early part of this age group that children more readily demonstrate their creativity and become more physically active. They can write, make arts and

"The Gift of Christmas" to be presented by area church singers

Voices from the Evangelical Free, First Baptist and Evangelical Covenant churches will perform the cantata, "The Gift of Christmas," at the Lincoln high school auditorium on Wednesday, November 21, at 7:30 p.m. The concert is free and open to the public.

Melvin Sich, the group's director, said there have been many hours of rehearsal to prepare for this concert. In preparation for the performance, the combined choirs traveled to and performed at the Evangelical Free church in Grafton, ND, where the concert was recorded for radio airing later in the day.

The Christmas presentation involves narrators, a dramatization, a children's choir and congregational singing. Karen Sich is the group's accompanist. For more information call 681-3855.

Kenneth and Donna Poole (above left), representing the American Legion, are shown presenting a new flag to Irene Nelson, president of the Heritage Center, at the recent renovation celebration and Northwest Senior Federation open house held last Friday. Renovations included new carpeting, painting, and general clean up and repairs to the center.

Over 120 guests visited during the all day open house, which was held to celebrate the renovations to the center and commemorate the Northwest Senior Federation.

Dayna Spencer weds Dean Bruggeman

Dayna Rae Spencer and Dean Allen Bruggeman were united in marriage in a double ring ceremony on November 26, 1994, at Zion Lutheran church in Thief River Falls. Rev. Gary Johnson officiated at the 4 p.m. ceremony. Parents are Raymond and Dolorla Spencer, Jeanne Bruggeman and Dave and Judi Bruggeman, all of Thief River Falls.

Music was provided by Heather Olson, cousin of the bride, and Mark Johnson, friend of the couple, singing "I Will be There," "Household of Faith," "This is Where the Candle Glows" and "The Lord's Prayer." Phyllis Dalager, friend of the bride, was organist, playing "Jesu, Joy of Man's Desiring" and "The Bridal March." The reader was Myndy Olson, cousin of the bride, and acolytes were Kelsie and Ryan Bruggeman, niece and nephew of the groom.

The church was decorated with altar candelabra with purple candles trimmed with white tulle bows. Pews were trimmed with white tulle bows and purple ribbons.

For her wedding, the bride chose a white satin gown with beaded bodice and chapel length train accented with beaded lace appliques. Her fingertip veil fell from a beaded crown.

She carried a cascading bridal bouquet of white roses and deep purple mini carnations, accented with babies' breath and ivy.

Jenny Spencer of Thief River Falls served as her sister's maid of honor. Bridemaids were Lori Becker of Mequon, WI, cousin of the bride, Janell Yutrzenka of Bloomington, friend of the bride, and Rhonda Spencer of Grand Forks, ND, sister-in-law of the bride.

All bridal attendants wore gowns which featured black velvet bodices with deep purple satin skirts, accented by pearl drop earrings, their gifts from the bride. Bouquets were a single Calla lily accented with purple netting and white bows.

Flower girls were Stephanie Bruggeman, niece of the groom from Thief River Falls, and Megan Becker of Mequon, WI, cousin of the bride. Their gowns were similar to those of the bridesmaids, and accented with pearl necklaces and drop earrings, gifts from the bride. They carried white baskets of eucalyptus.

The bride's personal attendants were Julie, Annette and Dolla Bruggeman, sisters-in-law of the groom.

The groom wore black tails with a white tie and vest. His boutonniere consisted of two white roses accented with babies' breath.

Serving as his brother's best man was Jerry Bruggeman of Brainerd. Groomsmen were Brian and Mitch Bruggeman, both brothers of the groom from Thief River Falls, and Rick Horien from Holt, friend of the groom. They wore black tuxedoes with black bow ties and cummerbunds. Their boutonnieres were single white roses accented with babies' breath.

Ushering the guests were Jeff Spencer, Grand Forks, ND, brother of the bride, and David Bruggeman, nephew of the groom, and Randy Horien, friend of the groom, both from Thief River Falls. They were attired in black tuxedoes and black ties and cummerbunds and wore white rose boutonnieres.

The mother of the bride wore a winter white suit, the mother of the groom wore a teal and rose brocade jacket with teal skirt, and the groom's stepmother wore a deep purple satin pantsuit. They were presented with corsages of red roses and white and deep purple carnations accented with babies' breath.

The fathers of the couple wore black tuxedoes with black ties and cummerbunds and white rose boutonnieres.

Honored guests were Carolyn and Arnold Person and Lois Wilmo, godparents of the bride; Ray and Mary Ann Schindler, godparents of the groom; and Brady Spencer, nephew of the bride.

Following the ceremony, a reception was held in honor of the couple. Susie and Myles Olson, cousins of the bride, and Speed and Bonnie Ornquist, friends of the groom, were hosts and hostesses. Lorinda Kompelien, cousin of the bride, registered the guests.

Cutting the cake were Peggy Schumacher and Gloria Emerson, cousins of the bride. Serving coffee were Elaine Ness, aunt of the bride, and Mick Duden, aunt of the groom.

Punch servers were Stacey Grey and Heather and Myndy Olson, cousins of the bride. Serving champagne were Annette Johnson and Carrie Noreen, friends of the couple, and favors were distributed by Adam Becker and Andrea Kompelien, cousins of the bride.

In charge of the gifts were Jamie and Lindsey Emerson, cousins of the bride.

Waitresses were Kelsie Bruggeman, niece of the groom, Courtney Bruggeman, cousin of the groom, and Deann Weik and Kari Schomacher, cousins of the bride. Katy Olson and James Becker, cousins of the bride, distributed programs.

Following a wedding trip to Winnipeg, the couple is at home in Thief River Falls. The bride is a graduate from Lincoln high school and Moorhead State University. She is currently employed as a substitute teacher. The groom is a graduate of Lincoln high school and is employed at Speed's Automotive.

Zion church will host an afternoon tea for area WELC women

The Agassiz Conference of the Women of the Evangelical Lutheran Church in America will host a 2 p.m. afternoon tea on Wednesday, December 28, at Zion Lutheran church in Thief River Falls.

Special guest speaker will be Subhashini Bondu, former coordinator of Women's Ministry for the companion synod, Andrha Evangelical Lutheran church of India. Bondu is currently a student at Trinity Seminary, Columbus, OH, and will be spending her Christmas break as a guest of the Northwest Minnesota Synod.

The tea will be a time of song and fellowship for all. Those attending are invited to bring their leftover Christmas goodies for a potluck lunch. Cluster officers for the new year will also be installed at the meeting.

NW Medical Center Auxiliary Christmas tea

Northwest Medical Center Auxiliary held a Christmas tea for all hospital and clinic employees on December 15. Bea Froelich and Marge Prestebak were in charge of the tea.

Auxiliary members who donated homemade treats and helped at the tea were Hank Ness, Ardy Tunberg, Senora Skay, Clarice Galliher, Nancy Pritchard, Wanda Murphy and Vi Sullivan.

Winners of the gift drawings were Carol Krogstad and Marlene Harbott.

ON THE OTHER HAND

Karl Larson
Lincoln High School

Until I was six years old. I had the fun of living on the Range Line, the stretch of tar heading a couple of miles northeast of Thief River Falls. My brother and I could run around the house stark naked without caring. I had many great experiences living in the country.

When I was about four-years-old, my Aunt Mabel ran across the road with rollers in her hair and wearing a pink bathrobe. She was trying to sneak our Easter baskets to us without us seeing her, but we were up too early munching on our jellybeans, and that's when I realized that there was no such thing as the Easter Bunny.

My brother and I also had a liking for water. We loved it when the ditches would have enough water for us to wade. Once our mother told us not to go into the ditch because we were going to town. We didn't listen and went swimming. She yelled at us to get in the house and wash up.

After we had taken a warm bath and put on clean clothes, she sent us outside. We couldn't resist the temptation of the water for more than five minutes, and we were splashing in the water again. She came outside to get us and there we were, sitting in the bottom of the ditch. She yelled at us to get in the house...again. This time we had to take a cold bath. She told us that if we went in the water again she'd use the cold well water from the pump...and sent us outside again so she could get ready to go to town.

This time we just sat on the banks of the ditch and threw rocks. But before I knew it, Carl was wading in the water. I thought that I could blame it on him since he was the first one in the water, so I jumped in with a scream and mom heard it. She came storming out of the house in the humid July heat and grabbed us by the arms. She led us to the pump and turned it on, held our arms so we couldn't run away, and hosed off every little dirt particle. We thought we were going to freeze to death, but we never went into the ditch again.

One day my mom asked where my brother was, and I told her the last time I had seen him was when he was with Dixie, our Black Lab. She went into the yard and called for the dog, and Dixie came out of her dog house. My mom thought that maybe Carl had gone to the barn with my dad and asked my dad where Carl was. He had not seen him. By that time everyone was getting nervous, and Dixie cautiously went back to her dog house. As a last resort, mom looked in the dog house and there Carl was, sleeping with his arm around Dixie.

Later, when I started first grade, we moved to Thief River Falls. It was a little different. I was used to playing outside in just my underwear, and we couldn't do that anymore. We couldn't go into the yard and scream at the top of our lungs when we played like we used to. We used to play outside after dark, but we couldn't do that either. We used to ride our bikes in the middle of the gravel roads, but we couldn't ride our bikes in the middle of the street.

There were, however, good things, too. All of our friends lived down the block, not a couple of miles away. We didn't have to drive for twenty minutes to go to the store; it was only five blocks away. Since we didn't have to get on the bus at seven in the morning, we could watch "Tom and Jerry" before we walked to school.

When I was about eight, we moved to Moorhead so my mom could go to college. We didn't stay there very long before we moved to Anoka. This was a totally different story. Everyone was snotty, and they didn't say "Hi" in the streets like they do here. The school that we attended had three times as many students. Before I left, though, I had a lot of friends, and it was hard to part with them when we migrated back to this town.

After living in the country, town, and metropolitan area, I think the cities best. I would definitely move back there again. No hard feelings, Thief River Falls, but I like the faster pace. Watching old farmers sip coffee and talk about how well their wheat is growing is not my niche.

Camp Sunshine gears up for another season

Jessica Rybaski of Argyle is the new director of Camp Sunshine for the 1995 season. She has been involved in the camp program for the past two years and is also actively involved in the Migrant program which runs a summer program in Argyle.

Camp Sunshine is a summer camp that provides a recreational experience for individuals who are physically and developmentally disabled. Individuals range in age from five years to over 80 years and come from private homes, group homes, nursing homes and regional treatment centers.

Activities at the camp include residential camping, day camp, travel trips, integration services, day trips, disability awareness and presentations.

Over 200 individuals participated in the six week summer program last year, enjoying arts and crafts, golf, swimming, fishing, nature walks and country line dancing, to name a few.

Larry Anenson, Jr. had been the director of Camp Sunshine since 1989 and is currently serving as camp consultant for the 1995 season. He has a degree in nursing and education and works as an educator at St. Cloud hospital, focusing on behavioral health.

Bryan Inglis, director of volunteer services, has been involved with Camp Sunshine since 1988. He has a degree in education and is currently working in Sauk Rapids.

Camp Sunshine utilizes Galilee Bible Camp near Lake Bronson and will be active from July 22 to August 25, 1995.

Campanula Garden Club had Christmas meeting

The Campanula Garden Club met December 9 for their annual Christmas party at the home of Ruth Holmoa, with Bernleo Knutson, Doris Finstad, Maxine Wicklander, Mario Fischer and Viola Koglin attending.

The group brought Christmas items to donate to the area food shelf. Marie Fischer, acting secretary, gave a short talk on "Tips and Tricks of Lawn Care," presented with a video from the regional library. The presentation told about using household items such as dish soap, beer, tea, chewing tobacco and ammonia to make formulas for lawn care.

The executive committee is reminded that the yearbook is to be made January 13, 1995.

Heidi Tangquist and Kevin Nelson wed

Heidi Tangquist and Kevin Nelson were united in marriage October 1, 1994, at the Evangelical Covenant church in Thief River Falls. Rev. Neil Bonkoski presided at the 4 p.m., double ring ceremony.

Parents of the couple are Dwight and Linda Tangquist and Richard and Kathy Nelson.

Diane Haven, cousin of the bride, and Jeff Liden, friend of the bride, were vocalists. Carol Nelson played the saxaphone, and Judy Jones was organist. Both are friends of the bride.

Theresa McNerney of Thief River Falls, friend of the bride, was maid of honor. Bonnie Lundeen, cousin of the bride from Karlstad, and Lisa Semanko, friend of the bride from Thief River Falls, were bridemaids.

The bride's godchild, Morganne Lundeen of Thief River Falls, was the flower girl. Julie K. Olson and Julie D. Olson, friends of the bride, served as personal attendants.

Serving as his brother's best man was Chris Nelson of Thief River Falls. Groomsmen were Blake Tangquist, brother of the bride from Detroit Lakes, and Jeff Michalicek, friend of the groom from Thief River Falls.

Andrew Lundeen, relative of the bride from Karlstad, was ring bearer.

Ushers were Scott Nelson, Bloomington, and Craig Pietrowski, Shakopee, both cousins of the groom, and Rodney Swanson, Kennedy, and Alan Lundeen, Karlstad, both cousins of the bride.

Honored guests at the ceremony were Bernice Lafrenz and Ethel Nelson, grandmothers of the groom, and Muriel Johnson, aunt and godmother of the bride.

Following the wedding, a reception was held in honor of the couple. Paul and Evadelle Tangquist, aunt and uncle of the bride, and Bob and Bev Pietrowski, aunt and uncle of the groom, were host couples. Jan Peterson, friend of the bride, presided at the guest book.

Florence Swanson and Ardelle Anderson, aunts of the bride, cut the wedding cake, and Ruth Ann Lozenski and Rena Doebler, aunts of the groom, poured coffee for the guests.

Serving punch were Tina Melby and Deanne Stamness, both friends of the bride. In charge of gifts were Dick and Deb Wentzel, cousins of the bride.

After a wedding trip to Duluth and the North Shore, the couple is at home in Thief River Falls. The bride is a graduate of Lincoln high school, Northland Community College and the University of North Dakota. She is a teacher at Challenger elementary school. The groom is a graduate of Lincoln high school, Northland Community College, North Dakota State University and Northwestern College of Chiropractic. He is a chiropractor at Thief River Falls Chiropractic.

Santa to hand out Christmas presents at LEC

Santa will hand out presents to children participating in the Community Christmas program Thursday from 4 to 7 p.m. at the Law enforcement center in Thief River Falls.

About 500 children will receive gifts this year as the result of a community effort to make sure that children who would not otherwise receive a gift, will receive a gift this Christmas.

Senior Dining council thanks community

Shannon Olson, Lucille Thompson, Olive Lunke and Violet L. Olson, members of the Senior Dining Council at Heritage Center, would like to express their thanks to the community for their support of the senior nutrition program at this holiday season.

The Senior Dining and Meals on Wheels evolved from the "Older Americans Act of 1965" and receive part of their funding through a grant from the Area Agency on Aging as approved by the Minnesota Board on Aging. However, the largest source of funding comes from seniors and volunteers.

The program is administered by LSS Senior Nutrition, a nonprofit agency with home offices in Moorhead. It is an age-based program and not based on income. There are no membership fees or requirements to attend.

The mission of Senior Nutrition Services is to promote an independent and healthy lifestyle by offering a service to older adults which provides food, fellowship, education and an opportunity to volunteer.

For more information on senior meals, call Shannon Olson at 681-2793.

Noon Lioness held December meeting recently

The Thief River Falls Noon Lioness held their monthly luncheon meeting on Wednesday, December 14, at the Evergreen Eating Emporium Lower Level, with 23 members present Barb McKeever and Ione Aune of the Grygla Lioness were visitors. Pauline Hanson and Clarice Gallither were guests.

Co-president Elaine Gunderson opened the meeting with the Pledge of Allegiance and the Lioness table prayer. Tailtwisting was done by Eunice Flynn. Dimes were won by Jan Dillon and the craft was won by Marilyn Winters. Gifts were purchased for the Hallmark Angel Tree and members reported on what they had bought. Members brought children's books to donate to the local food shelf, and a $50 donation was given to Hospice.

It was reported that the mid-winter convention will be held at Northland Lodge in Crookston on January 20 through 22. Gloria Lee and Octavia Jorgenson, program chairpersons, played a tape of Tom Jorgenson reading the Christmas Story from Luke 2, and members sang Christmas carols. Christmas ornaments were exhanged and several door prize drawings were held.

The next regular meeting will be January 11 at the Evergreen Lower Level. Heidi Hoks will present a program on storytelling.

...The Magic Christmases and Uncle Santa

Two years ago I wrote a column called "Christmas Reminiscing," that told how Christmas was when I was a little girl. I dedicated it to my "Uncle Santa" and all of my aunts, uncles and cousins who remember Christmas Eve at Grandpa and Grandma's house. Maybe this year I should also include a dedication to all of the second cousins, those who never got a chance to have Christmas Eve at Grandpa and Grandma's house.

See kids, this is how Christmas was when your folks were little:

******

I remember Christmas Eve at Grandpa and Grandma's house. Christmas Eve night was the time we had our biggest Christmas celebration and all the aunts, uncles and cousins would come to Grandpa and Grandma's house. Christmas Day was nice, but Christmas Eve was the best time – because it was magical.

It was magical because it was the night when we would eat our Christmas Feast, which was made up of all sorts of Scandinavian treats with strange names. These treats magically appeared at the Christmas Feast and were rarely seen outside of holiday times. I'm sure many of you of Scandinavian descent know what I am talking about.

Everyone came for the Christmas Feast. It didn't matter that Grandpa and Grandma's house wasn't very big – it was always just big enough for everyone to fit. Perhaps it, too, would magically stretch to accommodate everyone on Christmas Eve.

All of the extra boards would be put into the dining table and extra small tables would be set up at each end. Sometimes, if there were too many people to sit at the table, only the adults sat there, and we cousins were lucky enough to be allowed to take our plates and eat in the stairway.

That was just what we wanted to do! We could sit on one step and put our plates on the next step up and, scattered over the long stairs, have our own little Christmas Feast. Best of all, there were no parents there to make us mind our manners or make sure we ate everything on our plates, and we could giggle and laugh and talk with our mouths full and do silly things while we ate.

Sometimes Christmas Eve dinner would be turkey as the main course, and somtimes there would be ham. Somtimes we would have both. Very often we would have lutefisk with cream gravy and butter, but always with Swedish meatballs for those who did not like the aromatic fish.

We would have all of those other strange-sounding goodies, like homemade lefse, rommegrot that Grandma made with a special wooden stirring utensil that she got from her mother, fruit soup containing tapioca the size of marbles, flat brød, yulekaka, homemade egg nog, and sometimes things like rulapulsa, head cheese, limburger cheese and some other kind of brown cheese that Grandma cooked for a long time several days before Christmas.

After Christmas Eve dinner we would finally get to sample the Christmas cookies and cakes that had been hidden away in unlikely places so we wouldn't snitch at them. They were tasty morsels that melted in the mouth, many with more strange names, like spritz, krumkaka, rosettes and sandbakkels.

I remember the chocolate drops that always appeared at Christmas time – white sugar filling covered with a thin chocolate coating. Someone always made great-uncle Ole's penoche (great-uncle Ole had a creamery in Langdon and would always have plenty of the main ingredients for the brown sugar/peanut treat – cream and butter). Because it was Christmas Eve, no one seemed to care how fast all of the sweet goodies disappeared into the cousins' tummies, even though we hadn't eaten all of our Christmas Feast.

Christmas Eve night was magical because that was when we opened our gifts. After what seemed like months of waiting, we would finally get to see what was in those mysterious packages we had gazed at and wondered about for so long. Maybe one of the packages would contain that special thing we had hoped and wished for all year.

Christmas Eve was also magical because it was the night that Santa came. Santa not only came Christmas Eve night when we were sleeping, but he came to our house – in person – on Christmas Eve.

After eating our fill of Christmas goodies, we cousins would gather together around the glittering Christmas tree, which was near the front windows. It was very magical the way we would sit quietly in a row – not laughing or chattering. Somtimes we would hum Christmas carols or sing softly. We were waiting, you see.

The rest of the house rang with laughter and conversation. The adults scarcely noticed that the children were missing from underfoot as they cleaned up the dishes.

Then one of the sharper-eared cousins would hear the sound of sleigh bells – far away – in the distance. "I hear Santa! I hear him coming!" The bells became louder and louder, closer and closer, and the eyes of the cousins would grow bigger and bigger. Some of the smaller cousins were afraid – their faces would crumple and their eyes fill with tears. The older cousins would hold the younger cousins' hands and pat them, because they were older and weren't afraid, of course. The bells came closer and closer.

Suddenly the front door crashed open and – the sound of bells was deafening and – there was Santa!

Some of the cousins would rush to the door to greet Santa, leaving the more timid cousins behind. The timid cousins now had tears rolling down their cheeks and were crying in earnest. I can hear the bells right now and the jolly "Ho, ho, ho!" I can hear the laughter and shouting as the uncles and aunts finally noticed that Santa was there and clustered around, catching up the crying cousins and leaning over the shoulders of the others. I can see Santa's huge pack.

Santa always came in and stayed a while at Grandpa and Grandma's house. He would shake hands with the uncles and get kisses from the aunts. Someone would inevitably hand him a large mug of egg nog, liberally laced with something to keep him warm on such a cold night, you know.

Finally, after all the fol-de-rol he would get around to the important part of his visit, which was giving out the toys. He would sit on a chair in front of the Christmas tree and each cousin would have a chance to sit on his lap and tell him what he or she wanted for Christmas and have his or her picture taken with him.

There were always some cousins who absolutely did not want to sit on Santa's lap, presents or not. Sometimes they could be coaxed onto his lap by their mothers, but more often than not they had to be taken out of the room because they were shricking so loud and were usually so upset that they wet their pants or threw up or both. They always got their presents anyway.

I have never found Christmas to be quite so magical as it was in those olden days at Grandpa and Grandma's house when Santa came to see us. I knew Grandpa and Grandma's house was magical because none of my friends ever had Santa come to their houses on Christmas Eve night. None of my friends every sat on Santa's lap and talked to him or got presents from him right in their own living-room with all of the aunts, uncles and cousins clustered around.

It was certainly Christmas magic – wasn't it?

You know, I really wish I could have a magical Christmas at Grandpa and Grandma's house again some time just like I did when I was little.

Our Saviours Church plans two Christmas services

Our Saviour's Lutheran church, 401 South St. Paul Avenue, will have two Christmas services to celebrate the birth of Jesus Christ. The first will be on Christmas Eve at 4 p.m. and the second will be Christmas Day at 9:30 a.m.

Each service is different with special music at both. The public is cordially invited to join in the worship at either or both services.

Salvation Army needs helpers to ring bells

Thief River Falls unit of the Salvation Army is in need of additional volunteers to serve as bell ringers for its Christmas kettle campaign.

The organization has its kettle collection indoors at the Kmart store in Thief River Falls from 10 a.m. until closing time each day. Volunteers will work in two-hour shifts.

All of the funds collected locally are used locally and each year the funds expended exceed the amount collected, requiring support from the national organization.

Organizations and individuals have been generous in their support but additional volunteers are needed for the remainder of the week, local officials said. Anyone who could assist with the program is asked to contact Cliff Larson at 681-1190.

Make sure your toys are safe this year

crafts, and are able to use simple mechanical toys such as cars and trains. Recommended toys include bicycles and helmets, crafts, jump ropes, roller skates and protective gear, puppets, and sports equipment. Check tape recorders and battery-operated toys regularly for loose or exposed wires.

• Ten-to 14-year-old school children: At this age, children enjoy team sports and games that require increased dexterity. Strenuous physical activity is also popular for this age group. Children begin to develop hobbies and a strong interest in scientific activities. For these children the most appropriate gifts would be computers, microscopes, table and board games, and equipment used in indoor sports.

This is just a partial list of age appropriate toys. By knowing the possible dangers, parents can choose toys that are fun as well as safe for their children.

Health Column— holiday eating

• Start a new tradition. Try a family walk after dinner. Plan a holiday caroling party, a cross-country skiing or ice skating event. Physical activity is important to keep your metabolism running in high gear and it may also reduce stress.

Healthy cooking can also save calories and fat. Here's how:

• Serve meats au jus instead of with gravy. Chill the juices or add ice so that the fat congeals for skimming. Defatted juices are lower in calories and fat than gravies. Buy a plain turkey rather than a self-basting one. Use a drip pan when roasting the turkey so it doesn't sit in the drippings.

• Serve vegetables with fresh-squeezed lemon juice, spices and herbs or fresh grated parmesan cheese instead of cream or butter sauces.

• Serve salads with reduced-calorie or fat-free dressing, or with olive oil and a special flavored vinegar like balsamic or tarragon.

• When baking try using two egg whites for each whole egg, or an egg substitute.

What to do if you are stranded in the snow

During your holiday travels, you may encounter car trouble. If this happens, and you become stranded, remember these guidelines from the Minnesota Safety Council:

• Do not leave your vehicle unless you can be sure that it will improve your situation. Instead, you can attract attention by lighting two flares, placing one at each end of the car a safe distance away. Also, hang a brightly colored cloth from your antenna.

• To protect yourself from frostbite, use woolen items, blankets, newspapers or large bags to keep warm.

• Keep at least one window open slightly. Heavy snow and ice can seal a car shut.

Remember, don't panic. If you stay calm and reason each step carefully, you will ride out the storm safely.

The Santa At My House

What wears a red Santa cap, one fuzzy Santa boot and jingle bell around his neck? A four-year-old excited about Christmas and pretending to be Santa Claus or Rudolph the Reindeer, Red Nose.

It's an understatement to say that my son, Zachary, is excited about Christmas. His little body tingles at the sight of Santa Claus – all of them.

My husband and I didn't anticipate Zach's enthusiasm this year. In previous years he'd stand clear of anyone in a Santa suit and definitely didn't deliver as many hugs to Santas as this year.

He can't wait for Christmas to arrive; as soon as the Thanksgiving turkey leftovers disappeared, he expected Christmas. Zach was so sure about the impending holiday that he ripped all the paper rings off his "calendar" and proclaimed that Christmas was here when only the bell remained. Just to wait 20 more days.

This season Zach has wholeheartedly participated in all of our pre-holiday preparations – and then some.

Zach held the flashlight while my husband strung lights on our house and the outside trees. He helped choose a Christmas tree, and in past years he helped his dad cut one down and drag it to the car. His job is to hang the ornaments on the lower half of the tree.

Cut-out cookies are also a favorite. With flour from head to toes, Zach's task is to cut out the designs, shake the sprinkles and eat the dough. And, with Dilly Bar in hand, he keeps an eye out for colorful light displays during our family light-seeing outing. His head swivels left to right and back again as he shouts, "Daddy, lookit over there. There's a perty one! Lookit."

He is fascinated with Santa Claus and his method of delivering gifts. Recently Zach asked if "they take turns being Santa." Also he's worried because our home doesn't have a fireplace. How will Santa get in?

One day, dressed in his Santa cap and boot, Zach took his turn as Santa. He loaded his pillowcase (he forgot to take the pillow out) with toys and books. Dragging the "sack" into the living room, he ordered us to be sleeping so he could deliver our gifts.

My husband and I even took turns sitting on Santa's (Zach's) lap and announcing our Christmas wishes.

With that jingle bell around his neck, Zach does errands with me in town. The bell isn't too loud when he walks, so he runs. We get a few curious looks as he's prancing down the store aisle, sounding like Santa's sleigh. I grin sheepishly and try not to look embarrassed. Yes, I'm the mother who lets her son wear bells to the store.

Zach brings the season alive for me. I love to see his burgeoning imagination, and it reminds me of my early Christmases. Just thinking back makes me smile.

My first memory of a Christmas Eve is when I was nestled in my parents' bedroom with my ear to the radio listening for news of Santa's arrival. Miraculously on that snowy night, Santa came while I was sequestered in the bedroom.

In later years, my dad and uncle piled six kids in the car on Christmas Eve. We drove from gas station to gas station asking people if they had seen Santa Claus. Of course, Santa had just been there and by the time we arrived home, Santa had delivered our gifts.

I also remember seeing reindeer hoofprints in the snow and remnants of cookies left from Santa's late night snack.

But what I recall most is the tradition – the making of Christmas cookies, decorating the tree, hanging the stockings, and sneaking peeks of wrapped presents while mom and dad were at a Christmas party.

Vivid, too, are the family gatherings: The sphinges (deep-fried dough balls rolled in cinnamon and sugar) that my Italian grandmother makes every year; the midnight masses followed by breakfasts of eggs and Italian sausage; the opening of gifts on Christmas Eve – one by one – from the oldest to youngest or youngest to oldest. That's a lesson in self-control; those with little patience always cheated. Still do.

My parents helped to forge these memories – complete with sounds and smells. I'm thankful to have these thoughts. But with growing up, marriage and moving, some of our traditions changed. But that change doesn't mean we can't create memories for our son. We can continue some old traditions while making new ones. So I can only smile when Zach jingles down the store aisle saying, "Ho, ho, ho." I hope he remembers these days as fondly as I do.

No drunk driving for the holidays- give up the Keys

It is no secret that fighting drunk driving is an uphill battle, especially during the holidays. Unfortunately, many Americans remain unaware that alcohol is a depressant drug which slows reaction time and impairs vision.

They remain unconvinced that prearranging a ride with a designated driver could prevent an accident. They remain uninformed that almost half of all fatal motor vehicle crashes involve alcohol.

The Minnesota Safety Council urges everyone to become aware, get convinced and stay informed during the holidays and every day.

Dear Readers,

Christmas is a joyous occasion for most families, but for those who have lost a loved one it is often sad and extremely difficult. This time of year triggers a flood of memories of Christmas seasons past. It may help those of you who are feeling such a void to remember that even with your broken dreams, this is still a beautiful time of year. Allow the quiet peace of Christmas to fill your heart and home.

We Wish You A Blessed Christmas.

Sincerely,

Belmont Funeral Home

Larry Belmont

State aresenic cleanup is completed in state

Removal of contaminated soil near Moose Lake marks the end of the Minnesota Pollution Control Agency's (MPCA) arsenic cleanup program. The site is the last of 71 suspected caches of buried arsenic to be investigated under the state's Superfund law.

In 1994, contaminated soil was also removed from sites near Perley, Foxhome, Gentilly, Stephen, Ada and East Grand Forks.

The arsenic is from supplies provided by the federal government to local units of government in the late 1930s and early 1940s to supply farmers hard-hit by a plague of grasshoppers. The arsenic was mixed with bran, sawdust or molasses and used as a poisonous bait. Excess arsenic bait was stored in barns or sheds or buried on the farms.

In 1972, employees of a small business firm near Perham became ill after drinking water contaminated with arsenic and grasshopper bait disposed of 40 years earlier was suspected of causing the contamination.

Since its removal program started in 1983, the MPCA has collected from above-ground stockpiles 40,000 pounds of grasshopper bait and 15,000 pounds of technical grade arsenic. Approximately one million pounds of contaminated soil was removed from 15 of the 71 reported caches of buried arsenic. Fifty-six sites were determined not to pose a threat to the environment or the health and safety of the people of Minnesota.

Honor Howland for 44 years on SWCD board

In recognition of his 44 years of service, an open house to honor Oliver Howland will be held Tuesday, December 27, from 1 to 3 p.m. at the Marshall-Beltrami Soil and Water Conservation District office in Grygla.

The wonderful weather we have been having at Strandquist this winter so far makes us think we may have a Christmas time where we can enjoy getting out to all the festivities that are planned around here. Most of the programs and parties have been well attended and UPS man and postman has had no trouble to get around.

LaVoi Thun spent the weekend in Moorhead with Mike Bruggeman's and Scott Thun.

Phyllis Larson and LaVoi Thun were Thursday shoppers in Grand Forks and on the way home visited with Kora Myhrer and Ruth Halmstrom at Warren.

Prichard leaves post as editor of USA Today

Peter Prichard, 49, son of Jarvis Prichard of Thief River Falls, resigned last Thursday as editor of USA Today to become executive director of "The Newseum," a $30 million state-of-the-art museum operated by Freedom Forum and devoted to news history and its future. The museum will open in April of 1997 in Arlington, VA.

Prichard, who lives in Washington, DC, has been editor of the newspaper for six years, during which its circulation increased from 1.66 million copies per day to 2.7 million and surpassed the Wall Street Journal as the largest circulation newspaper in the United States.

"I've had a good run," Prichard was quoted as saying in a story by Stephen J. Lee in the Grand Forks Herald. "I've been editor longer than anybody else. During that time, we won a lot of awards and became a better newspaper."

In 1987, Prichard authored the book "The Making of McPaper," a history of the difficulties of obtaining acceptance for the innovative newspaper as a serious publication. He was named editor in 1988 after 16 years with Gannett Newspapers, which owns USA Today.

He was born in California Dec. 18, 1944, moved to Thief River Falls with his family following his mother's death when he was 11, and graduated from Lincoln high school in 1962. He earned a bachelor's degree at Dartmouth College in 1966 and served in the Vietnam War, earning the army's Bronze Star for service in the Mekong Delta.

He said he is excited about the new position, feeling much the same way about it as he did about being named editor of USA Today. The museum will include many interactive displays, satellite feeds from around the world, the largest high-definition television in Washington and displays of the front pages every day from newspapers from each of the 50 states.

Freedom Forum is a nonpartisan foundation advocating freedom of the press issues. "The idea (of The Newseum) is that people will come in as agnostics about the value of the freedom of the press and we hope they will leave as believers," Prichard said.

Bird count at Roseau scheduled for Dec. 31

Sixth annual Roseau Christmas bird count will take place Saturday, December 31, beginning at 7 a.m. with an organizational meeting at Brandt's Restaurant on the west edge of Roseau. Birders will also regroup there for lunch and warm-up.

Area to be surveyed is a 15-mile diameter circle centered just north of the Roseau county fairgrounds on highway 310. This region provides habitat for a large variety of bird species because of its geographic and vegetative diversity.

Persons interested in participating can observe their own neighborhoods and bird feeders, drive or walk with other birders, or alert participants to local bird "hot spots" before the day of the count.

After sundown participants are invited to the Bud and Betty Johnson home two miles north of the fairgrounds for Oluhwein, a potluck supper and the official compilation of the bird species and numbers sighted.

To assist the National Audubon Society in the annual hemisphere-wide survey, including publication of the results in "American Birds," there is a $5 participation fee, half of which will be paid to the Agassiz Audubon Society. This is the 95th anniversary of the annual Audubon Christmas bird count.

Anyone observing birds within the count circle on December 31 may call the Johnson home at 463-2181 after 5:30 p.m. that day or join the counting group there for the potluck supper and to report observations.

Strandquist

Myrtle Vagle
436-2133

Strandquist is saddened by the death of one of its seniors, Elmer Eskildsen, who I would see on Monday mornings when I would pick up the news at Irene's Cafe. He would be there for his breakfast and would visit with me. He was the brother of one of my best friends, Edna Hvidsten, and condolences go to her. The obituary is found in the other section of the paper.

Ellen Stromberg returned from a couple of weeks spent in Arizona. Her son, Ervin Storeby sent her tickets to join him in Minneapolis and then they both flew to Phoenix and had a great time visiting and sight-seeing. Glad you're back, Ellen, as I suppose you are back to your job at the school.

Elsie Lefrooth and Walter Thompson attended the Christmas program at Bethesda church Sunday evening where 10 of Elsie's great-grandchildren were in the program.

Breakfast guests at Frank and Judy Kleinvachter's home on Monday were Claudia Berggren, Jessie, and Kelli, Keri Kasprowicz, Todd Nelson, Brian Nelson and Matthew.

Supper guests at Peter and Pearl Thompson's home on Thursday were Becky, Michelle, and Jeremy Johnson and Mark Melby to celebrate Becky's birthday. Danny Johnson came later in the evening.

Elsie Lefrooth enjoyed dinner with our brother, Walter Thompson at the Karlstad Nursing Home where he is spending some time after surgery this fall. A Christmas program was given by a quartet from First Lutheran church of Karlstad and Mrs. Mickelson. When that was over, each one retired to their room where they were visited by Santa.

LaVoi Thun visited Janice Carlson on Tuesday evening and Wednesday evening, Arnold Larson and Vernica Larson and Don Carlson were visitors at LaVoi Thun's. On Saturday, LaVoi visited Florence Myhrer, Ella Thun and Anne Hansen in Thief River Falls.

Elsie Lefrooth and Pearl Thompson accompanied Roy Vagle to Mark and Sally Wagner's home for an evening of eating and fun ending with singing around a bonfire while seated on hay bales.

Fire starts in mechanical room at Best Western

Fire at the Best Western motel in Thief River Falls last Friday was confined to a mechanical room. Repairs have already been made and the motel is open for business.

Thief River Falls Fire Chief Dave Bjorkman said the fire started in the second floor mechanical room in the north end of the motel when cardboard boxes stacked next to a gas water heater ignited. Smoke filled much of the motel part and pool area of the facility, primarily because an air handling system is located in the mechanical room where the fire started. Fire damage was limited to the mechanical room but there was smoke damage to the rest of the complex.

Bjorkman said the building was evacuated, and there were no injuries.

According to Sami Haj, owner and operator of the Best Western, repairs have been made and the motel is open.

into full scale discussion of proposals for their use. He declined to say what plans are in place or when work would begin on the sites.

Harry Nelson, school district business manager, noted that the proposals received from the development company called for demolition of the Northrop building and the construction of senior citizen housing and construction of general apartment housing on the Knox site.

At its meeting December 12 the board also certified the final local tax levy payable in 1995 at $3,247,783.03. It also approved a resolution providing for school board elections held in 1998 and thereafter in even-numbered years only.

Organizational meeting of the board will be held at the next regular meeting on January 9 at 7 p.m. in the district service center.

Bargaining agreements with the educational assistants and food service groups were approved as negotiated by the board negotiating team headed by Carl Clark. They call for a 3.5 per cent increase with language changes providing for funeral leave, seniority and leaves of absence in the educational assistants contract and a 2.5 per cent increase with additional provisions for sick leave pay in the food service contract. Both contracts span two years from July 1, 1994 through June 30, 1996.

Presentation on technology needs for the district was made by district technology committee members Jim Kotz and Dave Peterson. Five basic needs presented were technical support, network expansion, training and staff development, software and hardware purchases and resources for future planning. Board members toured the Lincoln technology facilities Monday afternoon, December 19.

Jennifer Olin was recognized for advancing to the state swim meet in diving and Theresa Olauquo for advancing in the 200 and 500 meter freestyle. St. Hilaire Lions club was thanked for its donation of $125 to the Fine Line dance program.

Extra-curricular assignments approved were for Jeff Mumm as winter weight room supervisor and David Clausen as concessions supervisor.

Recommendation of the Native American Indian parent advisory committee was approved as presented as was the Lincoln high school weight room policy.

Investigation leads to arrests in California

Officers of the Paul Bunyan Drug Task Force recently completed a four-month investigation into sources of methamphetamine being sold in northern Minnesota.

The case began in August, 1994, with information gathered in Roseau county following the arrest of a person suspected of selling the illegal drug. An undercover task force officer made contact with a suspect in California who was believed to be supplying the drug to the person in the Roseau area. This resulted in the undercover delivery and purchase of one-fourth pound of methamphetamine in the Fargo-Moorhead area in early December.

On December 5, 1994, a task force officer and a BCA narcotics agent flew to Long Beach, CA, where they provided information and assistance to California authorities which led to the execution of eight drug search warrants, the arrests of 10 drug defendants, and the seizure of drugs and cash proceeds of drug sales. It is anticipated that three of the people arrested may be charged with federal drug offenses. The remainder will be charged with California State violations.

The Paul Bunyan Drug Task Force is a cooperative area drug enforcement agency which serves nine counties in northwestern Minnesota and includes participation by the Bemidji and Thief River Falls police departments.

The methamphetamine involved in this investigation is a crystallized form of the drug known on the street as "crystal meth." This drug is usually manufactured in clandestine laboratories and sells for about $2,000 per ounce. Methamphetamine is a powerful stimulant which, in crystallized form, can be injected, inhaled, or smoked.

Magazine lists TRF as region's comeback city

Thief River Falls is listed as the "comeback city of the region" in an article in the December issue of "Corporate Report Minnesota" magazine. The listing is in a regional economic outlook article by Joe Spear, a free-lance writer from Mankato.

In the article, Spear lists the northwest Minnesota counties as Becker, Beltrami, Clay, Clearwater, Douglas, Grant, Hubbard, Kittson, Lake of the Woods, Mahnomen, marshall, Norman, Otter Tail, Pennington, Pope, Polk, Red Lake, Roseau, Traverse, Stevens and Wilkin.

In the northwest region the article focuses on Moorhead as the main urban area. In one segment of the report, Spear writes as follows:

"Three small towns are having a big impact on the Northwest Region.

"Warroad, population 1,800, is home to Marvin Windows and Christian Brothers, a company that manufactures hockey sticks. Both companies have been growing, Marvin so much that it has had to aggressively recruit to fill out its 2,000-employee workforce. Some workers commute up to 75 miles to work at Marvin.

"Roseau, a town of 2,400 in Roseau county, is home to another thriving company, Polaris Industries.

"Just 60 miles south and west of Roseau is Thief River Falls, the comeback city of the region. In 1980, the city workforce had declined to 5,000 people.

"As of last December, the city's workforce was 6,500, thanks in large part to the turn-around of Arctco, Inc., maker of snowmobiles and watercraft, which has 1,300 employees, and to Digi-Key Corporation, a mail order house for electronic components, which has grown from 86 employees in 1986 to about 400 today.

"The unemployment rate in Thief River Falls, with its 8,000 residents, is down to about 4 per cent from the double digits it experienced in previous years."

Prevent holiday accidents—wear your seat belt

This holiday season, remember that motor vehicle crashes are the leading cause of death for every age from six through 33. And crashes add $14.2 billion to health care costs annually. While a car may stop on impact in a collision, everybody and everything that is not restrained inside the vehicle will keep moving until hitting the car's interior.

The Minnesota Safety Council advises you to protect yourself from this situation by wearing a safety belt. For more information about how safety belts can save lives, contact the National Safety Belt Coalition at 202-296-6263.

New law changes way state budget to be set

Primary task of the coming legislative session will be setting a two-year budget for 1995-97, and lawmakers will be approaching the job from a different perspective than in the past because of a law change.

The "Price of Government" budgeting reform requires the governor and legislators to take a hard look at the cost of state and local government taxes and fees before moving ahead with spending decisions, according to Sen. Roger Moe of Erskine.

"The state government budget season is getting underway now with the initial budget forecast for the coming two years," Sen. Moe said. "Based on those financial numbers, Governor Carlson next month will make three significant recommendations required by the Price of Government law. They are:

- "Setting a maximum percentage of Minnesotans' personal income devoted to state and local government taxes and fees;
- "Dividing this budget total among state and local governments, as well as school districts;
- "Setting the tax mix for the various revenue sources, including income, sales and local property taxes."

"With Minnesota's highly complex tax system, these recommended tax targets should help the public better understand where its tax dollars go," Sen. Moe said. "It will also help lawmakers get a better grasp of the big picture, and focus attention on the impact tax and spending decisions have on the public."

Under the new law, the legislature must pass a resolution adopting the final revenue targets for state and local governments by March 15. They will be set shortly after a second state revenue forecast is announced, as the legislature gets ready to make final budget decisions.

While these amounts are not binding, they do serve a very important purpose, the senator said. They force legislators to think about fitting their spending decisions into a certain size revenue pie early in the budget process. In the past, two separate groups of legislators in both the House and Senate worked on their own on the spending and revenue sides of the ledger.

"Inevitably, the cost of programs added up to more than the anticipated revenue yield," Sen. Moe said. "Typically, a resolution of the differences was negotiated in the final days of the legislative session."

For local governments, the Price of Government law sends a signal of where they stand in the mix. Those local governments and school districts that are spending more than the targeted maximum will have to explain why their costs are higher.

"In our part of the state, for example, many smaller school districts struggle to provide a broad spectrum of course offerings at a cost per student that is somewhat higher than larger school districts," he said. "The Price of Government law will help the public to understand how the school cost compares to the typical school district in Minnesota.

"Ultimately, this new law will help the legislature make better-informed spending decisions. However, making those decisions will not be any easier.

"We face some very difficult budget issues. School enrollments are now growing, so the total cost of educating young people is increasing. We also have more senior citizens with health care needs every year, increasing the state's medical care costs. These are already the costliest services provided with state dollars, and it will be a huge challenge to limit their growth."

The senator said that with longer prison sentences and the public's outcry to get tougher on crime, public safety and corrections costs are major areas of growing costs. At the same time, the federal government continues its long-term trend of turning over duties and costs to state and local governments.

"With immense pressures to increase the state budget just to keep up with the current level of services, we must find ways to not only become as efficient as possible, but eliminate or redesign programs that don't measure up," he said.

"The new Price of Government law will help the public understand how our complex system of state and local government funding works. More importantly, the policymakers who decide on the budget will have a clearer view of the big budget picture. So, the outlook is very promising for making smarter funding decisions."

Johnson heads state watershed district ass'n.

Vern Johnson of Clearbrook, a member of the board of managers for the Red Lake Watershed District headquartered in Thief River Falls, was elected president of the Minnesota Association of Watershed Districts at the association's annual meeting in Willmar recently.

Johnson succeeds Gerry VanAmburg of Moorhead, who represented the Buffalo/Red River Watershed District. Other officers elected were Dean Oleson of Hutchinson, vice president; Bob Wright of Felton, secretary; and Susan Scribner of Minnetonka, treasurer.

Attending the convention from the Red Lake Watershed District in addition to Johnson were managers Gerhard Ross, West Polk county; Leonard Moe, Marshall county; Russell Sander, East Polk county; and Arlan Fore, Red Lake county; and Lowell C. Enerson, administrator.

The Red Lake Watershed District includes all of Red Lake county, most of Pennington county and parts of Mahnomen, Polk, Itasca, Marshall, Clearwater, Beltrami, Roseau and Koochiching counties.

"The meeting was an excellent opportunity to learn about how watershed districts in other areas of the state deal with the water management issues they face," Enerson said. "Often we find that other districts are dealing with exactly the same types of issues that we deal with. By talking with those who have had experience on those issues, we can learn what has been successful and what has not."

Keynote speaker Jay Leitch of North Dakota State University spoke on the controversy surrounding wetland regulation, saying the subject continues to generate discussion because of three unresolved issues—property rights, definition of a wetland and wetland values. "These are important issues that will keep the wetland issue fired up," Leitch said.

Mini sessions were held at the annual meeting on property rights and watershed district success. An award for Watershed District of the Year was presented to the Ramsey-Washington Metro Watershed District.

Watershed districts are local units of government charged with managing water within a watershed (an area in which all water drains to one point). They are governed by individual boards of managers appointed by the county boards with area in the watershed district. Minnesota has 42 watershed districts organized and operating.

Invite young women to enter Miss TRF event

Thief River Falls Chamber of Commerce is looking for interested young women (ages 18-24) to enter the Miss Thief River Falls scholarship pageant in the summer of 1995.

Contestants must have a performing talent, good interview skills and be physically fit. The local winner will receive a college scholarship, wardrobe allowance and the coveted all-expense paid trip to compete in the 1996 Miss Minnesota Scholarship pageant.

First and second runners-up will also receive scholarships and the committee hopes to be able to offer scholarships to all non-finalists as well.

Co-chairing the pageant for the Chamber of Commerce this year are Sue Erickson (681-1787) and Randy Twistol (681-6308). Anyone interested in competing in the pageant or who knows of a qualified person who might be interested is asked to contact either co-chair and let him or her know how they may help the contestant in planning for this exciting event.

Jeremy Michael Ray and Joseph Lee Broten of Thief River Falls were injured Friday evening when their vehicle slid through an intersection and struck a tree in the 100 block of Idlewood court. Police received a report of the accident at 11:20 p.m. When they arrived at the scene they learned that the occupants of the vehicle were at a neighboring house. They learned that Ray had been driving and had attempted to stop at a stop sign but the vehicle slid through the intersection. Charges are pending against Ray. Ray and Broten were taken to Northwest Medical Center by ambulance. The vehicle was considered a total loss.

Farmers advised to store grain in licensed facilities

State law requires that anyone buying grain and edible beans with the intention of reselling it must have a grain buyer's license issued by the Minnesota Department of Agriculture (MDA).

Individuals and companies storing grain and edible beans for others are required to have a license issued by the MDA or the United States Department of Agriculture.

This fall's harvest has also produced a bumper crop of complaints about unlicensed operators offering to buy grain from farmers or store grain in unlicensed elevators.

"The state requires these licenses as a measure of protection for farmers," notes Elton R. Redalen, Commissioner of the Minnesota Department of Agriculture. "Under state law, licensed grainbuyers and licensed grain storage warehouses must be bonded. The bond is designed to help reimburse farmers for losses should the grain buyer or elevator fail to meet its obligations."

He advised producers to ask grain buyers or storage elevators if they are licensed and to only do business with licensed grain buyers and grain storage elevators. Grain producers can also call MDA's grain licensing and auditing division at 612-341-7537 to find out if a grain buyer or storage elevator is licensed.

Holiday Salad

2 cups cranberries, ground
1 red apple, diced with peelings
1 pkg. (3 oz.) red jello
1 cup hot water
1/4 cup cut-up walnuts
1 cup sugar
1 cup whipped cream

Grind cranberries, mix sugar and apple and add to jello when cool. Add whipped cream and nuts.

– ReNae Vagle, Roseau

Spritz

1 pound butter
1 cup sugar
1 egg
1 tsp. vanilla
1 tsp. almond extract
1/4 tsp. salt
4 1/2 cups flour

Cream sugar and butter. Add egg, salt and flavorings and mix well. Add flour. Use in cookie press. Bake at 350°.

– Sherry LaCoursiere,
Thief River Falls

Thimble Cookies

1/2 cup butter
1/4 cup sugar
1 cup flour
1/2 tsp. vanilla
1 egg yolk
1 egg white

Cream butter, add sugar, egg yolk, vanilla and flour. Mix and roll into small balls. Dip in unbeaten egg white. Roll in chopped walnuts or coconut. Make a hole in the center of each cookie with a floured thimble. Bake delicately. When cool, fill hole with colored icing or jam.

– ReNae Vagle, Roseau

Baked Ribs

3 tbsp. brown sugar
1/4 tsp. chile powder
1 tsp. vinegar
1/2 tsp. dry mustard
1/2 tsp. catsup
1/2 tsp. salt

Blend together in a 1 cup measure, then fill up cup with water and blend. Pour this over ribs that have already baked for 1 hour in covered pan in 350° oven. Bake for 1/2 hour. Pour remaining sauce over ribs after turning. Uncover pan for last 1/2 hour. This is a favorite for Christmas evening.

– Mrs. Sander Horn, Fosston

Accident reports filed with LEC

Law enforcement officials responded to several reports of accidents during the past week.

Accidents. On December 14 at 10:30 a.m. police received a report of an accident on the corner of First and Spruce. Tracy Joy Danielson, Thief River Falls, was driving a car east on First when a car driven by Sandra Kay Parker, Thief River Falls, was driving south on Spruce and pulled out into the intersection after stopping and the vehicles collided. There was an estimated $2,500 damage to the vehicle driven by Danielson. Danielson also injured her head and was taken to the hospital and her passenger, age 25, had an injury to her face. There was an estimated $600 damage to the Parker vehicle and she was cited for failure to yield.

On December 15 at 5:15 p.m. police received a report of an accident at the corner and First and Maple. Jared Wade Housey, Thief River Falls, was driving a car west on First when his vehicle struck the rear of a vehicle driven by Kristen Maria Jenkins, Thief River Falls, which was stopped at a stop sign. There was an estimated $1,000 damage to front end of the Housey vehicle and $3,000 damage to the vehicle driven by Jenkins. Kristen and her two passengers received bumps to their heads but were not taken to the hospital. Housey was charged with inattentive driving.

On December 15 at 6:10 p.m. police received a report of an accident at the corner of First and Crocker. Barbara Jean Guzek, Thief River Falls, was driving a car east on First and Deborah Sue Traetner, Thief River Falls, was stopped at a stop sign on Crocker and pulled out into traffic. Trautner was cited for failure to yield right of way. Damages were estimated at $500 to the vehicle driven by Guzek and $1,000 to the vehicle driven by Trautner.

On December 17 at 4:16 a.m. police received a report of an accident on Pennington Avenue. Police have learned that Edward Allen Cullen, Goodridge, was driving a car south on Pennington Avenue when he lost control and struck a city light pole. Damage to the light pole was estimated at $800. The car was considered a total loss. He was cited for leaving the scene of an accident.

On December 18 at 12:19 a.m. the sheriff's department received a report of an accident 11 miles west of Highway 32 on State Aid 3. Mark Allen Jenkins, Thief River Falls, was driving a car on State Aid 3 when it struck a deer. Damage was estimated at $2,000.

Arrest. Scott Dean Rodahl, 29, Thief River Falls, was arrested by Polk county sheriff's department and was transferred to Grand Forks, on felony violation of probation. He waived extradition. Pennington county will be seeking extradition on charges of gross misdemeanor theft. Charges are also pending against Rodahl for theft by check in several northwest Minnesota counties, including Red Lake, Polk, Marshall, and Pennington.

Disorderly conduct. On December 17 at 1:18 a.m. Sheila Ray Vondal, 35, Thief River Falls, was charged with disorderly conduct following an incident at a local bar.

Theft. On December 18 at 11:12 p.m. employees at Hugo's reported catching a 15-year-old boy shoplifting.

TIMES FOR TODDLERS

ACTIVITIES

Rudolph

This is a great activity for your child tracing, cutting and making our favorite reindeer. Begin by having your child trace his shoe on a piece of brown paper. This will be used for Rudolph's face. Next trace both of the child's hands on white paper. These will become Rudolph's antlers. Finally cut a red circle to be used for the nose. Glue all the pieces together and you will have a fancy reindeer as soon as the facial features are colored in!

SCAVENGER HUNT

For next week's Activities feature, you will need a medium size box with a lid and assorted Christmas items.

BOOK OF THE WEEK

With Christmas in mind, the Thief River Falls public library invites you to browse through its selection of children's books including the following:

Malinowski, Paul. The Town That Arrested Santa Claus. Read about the outrageous events that led up to Santa Claus being arrested for disturbing the peace of Forgottenville. Will Santa have to spend Christmas in jail?

Nordqvist, Sven. Merry Christmas Festus and Mercury. Farmer Festus falls down and hurts his foot so he can't cut down a tree or buy groceries for Christmas this year. All looks very glum, but then a surprise visitor turns his luck for the better.

VIDEO VARIETY

Christmas Eve on Sesame Street. Oscar the Grouch asks Big Bird a very disturbing question: How does Santa Claus "who is built like a dump truck" got down all those skinny little chimneys? Join in the fun as Big Bird attempts to solve the Santa Claus riddle.

PARENTING TIPS

Happy Holidays

As the holiday season approaches, children begin to sense that something special is about to happen. Decorations, colored lights, extra baking and shopping all indicate something different is going on. Because we are trying to do extra things, sometimes naps are disrupted or skipped. With more candy around and holiday baking, often children are not hungry at meal time and do not get balanced diets. Added to all this the fact that young children do not understand time and find it very difficult to wait for that special day. Is it any wonder that the holidays often become trying and stressful and that children often misbehave more during this time?

Some hints to make the holidays more enjoyable with young children:

- Keep sleep and meal schedules as regular as possible.
- Do not expect kids to be happy and appreciative all of the time.
- Make a list of all the things you have to do and then cut it in half! You can't do everything when you have small children so there is no need to feel guilty about the half of your list that you won't be doing.
- To make waiting for that special day easier for children, use a calendar. Mark that special day with a marker, then each evening mark off that day. That will make time more concrete and easier for children to understand.

Gifts to Wildlife

Trees can be gifts that give twice. A special packet of tree and shrub planting stock, available from the Department of Natural Resources, could be an ideal gift to Minnesota landowners who value wildlife.

DNR's Forestry Division nursery program offers the planting stock, designed to help develop wildlife habitat, in packets of 500 seedlings for $185 plus tax.

The packets are comprised of species most suitable for the northern or southern portions of the state. Species for the northern part of Minnesota are bur oak, red oak, paper birch, white spruce, white pine, red maple, wild plum, highbush cranberry, juneberry, and red osier dogwood. The southern Minnesota packet consists of bur oak, red oak, black walnut, Norway spruce, Black Hills spruce, caragana, wild plum, highbush cranberry, chokecherry, and red osier dogwood.

Seedling packets were developed by the DNR Forestry and Wildlife divisions and the Minnesota Nursery and Landscape Association. The seedling packets are designed to provide food and cover for a variety of wildlife.

Seeding packets ordered now will be delivered in the spring of 1995. Orders for most of the state will be accepted until April 3, 1995, or until supplies are exhausted. Orders for tree seedlings to be planted in the 14 southeastern Minnesota counties will be accepted until March 15, 1995.

Price lists and order forms for the four-season wildlife food planting stock, as well as a variety of other deciduous and coniferous seedlings, are available from DNR Forestry Offices, Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service offices; Soil Conservation Service offices; County Extension Service offices; and Soil and Water Conservation District offices. They are also available by contacting the DNR's General Andrews Nursery at P.O. Box 95NC, Willow River, MN 55795, phone 218-372-3183; or by contacting the DNR Forestry Division, DNR Building, 500 Lafayette Road, St. Paul, MN 55155-4044, phone 612-296-4480.

DNR Wildlife Books

A way to solve holiday gift-giving problems and to help wildlife at the same time is available from the Minnesota Department of Natural Resources. "Woodworking for Wildlife" and "Landscaping for Wildlife" are a pair of books designed to help people help wildlife.

"Woodworking for Wildlife" contains 25 different nest box and nest platform designs for many wildlife species. The 112-page book, which features more than 160 color photographs, includes nest box designs for chickadees, bluebirds, purple martins, wood ducks, screech owls, barred owls, goldeneyes, and even mergansers. There are nest platform designs for loons, great gray owls, ospreys, terns, doves, and great blue herons. The book also includes information about wildlife habitats and nest box placement.

"Landscaping for Wildlife" features a simplified approach to plantings that will attract wildlife to yards, farms or woodlots. The 144-page book contains many full-color photographs.

The two books were written by DNR Nongame Wildlife Program Supervisor Carrol Henderson. A portion of the book sales proceeds is returned to the DNR Nongame Wildlife Fund.

"Landscaping for Wildlife" is $10.95 plus tax. "Woodworking for Wildlife" is $9.95 plus tax. The two books can be ordered at a special set price of $18.50 plus tax. To order, call toll free 1-800-657-3757. Credit cards are accepted.

Snowmobile Safety

A covering of snow does not guarantee safe or easy snowmobiling, cautioned the Minnesota Department of Natural Resources.

DNR Safety Officer Tom Kjellberg said early season snowmobiling can be hazardous. "This time of year, snowmobilers need to be especially cautious crossing lakes and wetlands," Kjellberg noted. "Snow cover actually insulates thin ice and keeps water from freezing very thick. Ice needs to be at least 4 inches thick to support a snowmobile."

Kjellberg noted that excessive speed, alcohol and darkness were contributing factors in most of last year's 22 snowmobiling fatalities in Minnesota.

This year's snowmobiling regulations booklet contains safety information.

RLCC extends title reign

Red Lake County Central claimed another Northland Community College Invitational boys high school basketball tournament title Saturday with a 63-52 championship game victory over Goodridge.

It was the Mustangs' third straight Northland crown. The tournament began in 1991 with a Goodridge title.

Grygla-Gatzke defeated Warroad 58-51 in Saturday's third place game, while Red Lake Falls got by East Grand Forks Sacred Heart 46-41 in the consolation finals and Lake of the Woods stopped Kittson County North 55-41 in the seventh place game.

Northland Invitational

■ Semifinals Friday - (championship round) Red Lake County Central 55, Warroad 42; Goodridge 69, Grygla-Gatzke 54; (consolation round) East Grand Forks Sacred Heart 42, Lake of the Woods 34; Red Lake Falls 51, Kittson County North 32.

■ Finals Saturday - (championship) Red Lake County Central 63, Goodridge 52; (third place) Grygla-Gatzke 58, Warroad 51; (consolation) Red Lake Falls 46, East Grand Forks Sacred Heart 41; (seventh place) Lake of the Woods 55, Kittson County North 41.

All-Tournament Team

Red Lake Co. Central .........63
Goodridge .........................52

The two Aarons – Chaput and Rosten – were too much for Goodridge to handle as Red Lake County Central won the Northland Invitational finale 63-52.

Chaput, a 6-2 junior forward, scored 28 points and Rosten, a 6-4 senior center, netted 21 as the Mustangs turned a narrow 15-14 first quarter lead into a 33-23 halftime cushion and a 49-41 third quarter advantage.

It was an MVP-clinching performance for Chaput, who was joined on the all-tournament team by Rosten and teammate Bryce Huotari.

"Chaput had a nice tournament," acknowledged Red Lake County Central coach Todd Fore. "There's not too many teams that are going to be able to stop him one-on-one. You could double-team him, I suppose, but that would open things up for the rest of them."

Goodridge got double figure scoring from Brady Wiseth with 15 points, Martin Dahlen 13 and Ryan Kriel 10. Wiseth, a 5-11 junior, produced all of his points on five 3-point baskets. Wiseth and Kriel were all-tournament picks.

The Mustangs helped themselves with a 16-for-22 night at the free throw line, where the Huskies were just 4-for-10.

Red Lake County Central took a 5-2 record into a Tuesday match-up against East Grand Forks. Goodridge goes into the holiday break with a 4-2 record. The Huskies resume play Jan. 3 with a rematch against the Mustangs in Goodridge.

"I was real pleased with the efforts," said Goodridge coach John Rahn. "I thought we performed real well against what is supposed to be one of the top teams in the section. To be 4-2 at this point, with all six games on the road, is a real credit to the kids."

Scoring

Grygla-Gatzke ......................58
Warroad ...............................51

Grygla-Gatzke came into the Northland invitational with just two games under its belt. A 2-1 showing, including a 58-51 third place game victory over Warroad, suited Eagles coach Vern Johnson just fine.

"In a tournament situation like this, you always want to win as many games as possible," said Johnson, "but I thought it (third place) was all right. We played a lot of people, and we showed some steady improvement from start to finish."

The Eagles trailed 9-8 at the first quarter stop Saturday, but went ahead 23-18 at halftime and opened up a 40-29 third quarter spread.

Kevin Warne scored 17 points and Jeremy Verbout netted 15 for Grygla-Gatzke. Verbout, a 5-10 senior, was an all-tournament selection.

Todd Morin of Warroad led all scorers with 23 points. Tony Jensen contributed 13. Morin and Mike Keller represented Warroad on the all-tournament team.

The two teams combined to shoot 50 free throws as Grygla-Gatzke made 16 of 23 at the line and Warroad was 16-for-27.

Grygla-Gatzke will resume play with a Jan. 3 game at Tri-County.

Lake of the Woods ..............55
Kittson Co. North ...............41

Lake of the Woods came out of the Northland Invitational with a win by beating Kittson County North 55-41 in the seventh place game kicking off the Saturday finals.

Matt Speiker of the Bears led all scorers with 19 points. Josh Whitlock netted 16 for the Cougars.

The Bears led 10-7 at the end of the first quarter, fell behind 17-16 at halftime, but went back in front 36-25 in the third quarter.

Red Lake County Central forward Aaron Chaput put the ball up against Lake of the Woods defender Matt Speiker during Thursday's quarterfinal game in the Northland Community College Invitational boys high school basketball tournament. A 36-point outing put Chaput, a 6-2 junior, over the 1,000 point mark for his high school basketball career. The Mustangs beat the Bears 69-53.

Bismarck is a 110-75 winner vs. Northland

A seven-point halftime deficit turned into a 35-point loss for the Northland Community College men's basketball team in a Saturday game at Bismarck State.

The Pioneers were down just 48-41 at intermission, but were outscored 62-34 over the final 20 minutes to lose 110-75.

"They're a very good basketball team," noted Northland coach Mark Dannhoff. "They're big and they're very athletic."

Bismarck also went 27-for-30 at the free throw line, while Northland was 8-for-9, pointed out Dannhoff.

The loss dropped the Pioneers to 2-5.

Eleven Pioneers and 13 Bismarck players put their names in the scoring column. Chad Kujava led Northland with 19 points, while Ryan Risiov had 17 and John Brown 11.

Poor shooting is problem in 57-34 Wolverines' loss

Twenty-six percent shooting (15/58) sabotaged an otherwise solid Goodridge/Grygla-Gatzke outing Monday as the Wolverines lost a 57-34 girls high school basketball game to Warroad at Goodridge.

"We did just about everything really well, except put the ball in the basket," explained Wolverines coach Mike Gast. "We played great defense, we didn't have many turnovers, we moved the ball well, and we had good shots. But the ball just wouldn't fall for us."

It was the third straight loss for the Wolverines after a season-opening three-game win streak.

Brandi Stratton led Goodridge/Grygla-Gatzke with 15 points. Four Warroad scorers reached double figures, led by Kari Keller with 14 points.

While Goodridge/Grygla-Gatzke shooters were struggling, Warroad had a 50 percent 27-for-54 night from the field. The Wolverines were 4-for-9 at the free throw line, where the winners went 2-for-9. Warroad finished with a 32-28 rebound edge.

Warren-Alvarado-Oslo Invitational...

B/G-MR girls win tournament

Three-year East Grand Forks championship reign at the Warren-Alvarado-Oslo Invitational girls high school basketball tournament ended Saturday when Badger/Greenbush-Middle River beat the Green Wave 55-51 in the 1994 finals.

The Gators, who handled Fosston 70-50 in the Thursday quarterfinals and defeated Kittson Central 53-45 in the Friday semifinals, stretched their season-opening winning streak to eight games. A year ago Badger/Greenbush-Middle River was 4-4 through eight games, then won 17 in a row en route to the Section 8A Sub-Section 4 title.

"It's nice to finally beat East Side," said Badger/Greenbush-Middle River coach Tom Neibauer, whose team lost to the Green Wave in the last two tournaments at Warren – in the 1992 quarterfinals and the 1993 semifinals.

With high expectations coming into the 1994-95 season, the Gators are taking early success in stride. "We've been playing all right, but we're not as good as we're going to be," said Neibauer.

W-A-O Invitational

■ Semifinals Friday - (championship round) Badger/Greenbush-Middle River 53, Kittson Central 45; East Grand Forks 67, Warren-Alvarado-Oslo 48; (consolation round) Climax/Fisher 66, Fosston 30; Crookston 59, East Grand Forks Sacred Heart 34.

■ Finals Saturday - (championship) Badger/Greenbush-Middle River 55, East Grand Forks 51; (third place) Kittson Central 51, Warren-Alvarado-Oslo 50; (consolation) Climax/Fisher 48, Crookston 42; (seventh place) Fosston 81, East Grand Forks Sacred Heart 46.

B/G-Middle River ...............53
Kittson Central ...................45

Point guard Ali Hietala went down with an ankle injury in the first quarter, and without their quarterback, the Gators struggled before emerging with a 53-45 Friday night semifinal win over Kittson Central.

Krissi Super scored 23 points and Nikki Wahl had 10 for the winners, who had quarter leads of 13-7, 26-17 and 38-33.

Badger/Greenbush-Middle River shot 48 percent from the field (19/40) and made 15 of 20 free throws. Kittson Central went 13-for-20 at the line.

B/G-Middle River ...............55
East Grand Forks ................51

A first half defensive switch and a second half adjustment on offense led to a 55-51 Badger/Greenbush-Middle River Saturday night championship game win over East Grand Forks.

The Gators started with a zone defense, but promptly fell behind 12-4. A switch to a man-to-man sparked a comeback that turned a 15-10 first quarter deficit to a 25-23 halftime lead.

On offense, the Gators made sure high-scoring Krissi Super had the ball in her hands more often in the second half, and she responded by netting 16 of her game-high 22 points after the break as the winners took a 38-34 third quarter lead. Teammate Jessica Borgen contributed 15 points.

Badger/Greenbush-Middle River went 20-for-41 from the field (49 percent).

Swimmers face strong competition

There weren't many of them, but the teams at the Otter Invitational boys high school swim meet presented a major challenge for Thief River Falls Saturday.

Fargo North won it with 625 points, followed by Bemidji with 585, Fergus Falls 526, and Thief River Falls 285.

North is the defending North Dakota state champion, Bemidji is the reigning Section 8 champion and Fergus Falls finished fifth in the state a year ago.

"The kids swam real hard," pointed out Thief River Falls coach Ryan Lokken. "They swam with a lot of heart."

Hibbing skates past Thief River Falls 5-0

Late goals ending the first and second periods supplied Hibbing with a 2-0 edge, and the host Bluejackets wrapped it up with three third period power play goals Saturday for a 5-0 high school hockey win over Thief River Falls.

Thief River Falls out-shot Hibbing 12-4 in the first period, but fell behind 1-0 when the Bluejackets' Eric Baker scored with just 21 seconds left.

It remained a one-goal game until Bill Robeck scored with 64 seconds to go in the second period.

The Bluejackets, ranked No. 1 in the Class A state polls going into the weekend, iced it with three goals in the first 7:29 of the third period.

It was the second loss to a No. 1-rated Class A team this winter for the Prowlers, who fell to then top-ranked Warroad 7-5 on Dec. 6. (Warroad knocked off Hibbing 4-2 Friday before the Prowlers arrived).

Thief River Falls, 1-5-1, played the game without first-year head coach Pat Cullen, who remained in Thief River Falls because of illness. Assistant coaches Bill Stock and Scott Berglend handled the team in Cullen's absence.

The Prowlers will be idle until the Dec. 26-28 Thief River Falls-Crookston Christmas Classic that will feature three games each day – Monday at Crookston, Tuesday and Wednesday in Thief River Falls. Westwood Collegiate of Winnipeg, Bemidji and Simley will join the Prowlers and Pirates in the event that will feature games at 3:30, 5:30 and 7:30 p.m. Monday and Tuesday, and at 1, 3 and 5 p.m. Wednesday.

Scoring

First period - Hibbing, Eric Baker (Brent Nelson), 14:39.

Second period - Hibbing, Bill Robeck (Baker-Nelson), 13:56.

Third period - Hibbing, Mario Lucarelli (un.), 2:59; Hibbing, Robeck (Baker-Nelson), 5:30; Hibbing, B.J. Willis (Scott Kolar-Mike Perpich), 7:31.

Goalie Saves

TRF - Chene Keefe 3-5-19 – 27; Hibbing, Todd Gustin 12-5-8 – 25.

Defense key to TRF victory over Ponies

■ Prowlers start season 3-0

Defense played a major role in establishing a first half edge, and a 23-point Thief River Falls third quarter secured a 65-41 boys high school basketball win over visiting Warren-Alvarado-Oslo Saturday.

The Prowlers had a 14-6 first quarter lead and enjoyed a 30-15 halftime cushion. It was 53-32 through three quarters.

"Any time you hold somebody to 15 points in a half, you've got to be happy," said Thief River Falls coach Scott Brekke. "And it was nice to see us come out and score 23 points in the third quarter. We didn't have a letdown. We didn't let them back in the game."

Kyle Sanden had a 19-point, 13-rebound outing for the Prowlers. Jared Brandt netted 12, Nathan Anderson and Josh Hedin both finished with 11, while Eric Bjorgaard contributed 9 points, 10 rebounds and 6 assists. Hedin closed out two quarters with final-possession 3-point baskets.

The win put the Prowlers at 3-0.

Thief River Falls was 24-for-56 from the field (43 percent) and 13-for-21 at the free throw line. Warren-Alvarado-Oslo made just 12 of 62 field goals (19 percent) and 10 of 23 free throws. The Prowlers had a 45-29 rebound advantage, but also had more turnovers, 24-10.

"That's too many turnovers," said Brekke. "We've got to make better choices with the ball."

TRF returns to dome

Thief River Falls will make a return trip to the Fargodome next fall for a Friday, Oct. 13, high school football game against Woodbury.

The Prowlers made their initial Fargodome appearance when they met Detroit Lakes in the 1994 Section 8A playoff finals.

Woodbury will replace Alexandria on the Prowlers' 1995 regular season schedule. The Royals, like the Cardinals, will give Thief River Falls a single Class AA opponent in a schedule that otherwise includes only Section 8A foes Detroit Lakes, Fergus Falls, Wadena-Deer Creek, Staples-Motley, Park Rapids Area, Crookston, and East Grand Forks.

The Thief River Falls vs. Woodbury match-up, expected to start around 5 p.m., will precede a Moorhead vs. Cambridge contest. Schedule-makers are working to insert a third game that day that would start prior to the Prowlers' contest.

Goodridge senior Brady Wiseth beat the Red Lake Falls defense to the basket for a fast break lay-up in Thursday's Northland Community College Invitational boys high school basketball tournament game. Wiseth scored 29 points to lead the Huskies past the Eagles 71-54.

Rebound advantage lifts Otters over TRF

■ Fergus Falls girls win 71-47

Fergus Falls' success on the backboards led to a win on the scoreboard Friday as the visiting Otters beat Thief River Falls 71-47 in girls high school basketball.

The winners finished with a 43-25 rebound advantage, with early success on the offensive boards against the Prowlers' zone defense creating a bundle of baskets and a 22-11 cushion at the end of the first quarter. It was 40-18 at halftime and 53-27 through three quarters.

Becky Lejcher's work inside netted her a game-high 30 points – 20 of them coming in the first half.

"We didn't box out," explained Thief River Falls coach Sally Wiltse. "We were in position, but we didn't keep them off the boards."

The loss dropped the Prowlers to 1-5. It was their first North Sub-Section 8AA test of the season.

"We did a couple of things better," said Wiltse. "We handled the press better than we did previously, but we fix one area and another leak appears somewhere else."

Eighth grader Nicole Kopari led the Prowlers with 13 points and 8 rebounds.

Thief River Falls made only 18 of 67 field goal attempts (27 percent) and struggled with an 11-for-25 free throw night. Fergus Falls was 27-for-58 from the floor (47 percent) and had a productive 17-for-21 showing at the line. The Prowlers topped the turnover charts 19-17.

Illness, injuries hurt NCC women...

Shorthanded Pioneers lose at Bismarck 78-46

Rick Nikunen wound up with a short bench Saturday and his Northland Community College women's basketball team found themselves taking a 78-46 pounding from Bismarck State.

The Pioneers made the trip to the North Dakota state capitol without top scorer Kelli Kronchnabel, sidelined by illness, had second-leading scorer Angel Mickelson netting only five points while playing with the flu, and went without guard Carrie Olsen because of an ankle problem.

"We were down to six healthy players," pointed out Nikunen.

They held their own for the first 12 minutes before the deep, talented Bismarck bench took its toll. The Pioneers trailed 33-22 at halftime and were out-scored 45-24 over the final 20 minutes.

The loss dropped the Pioneers to 1-5. They will be idle until Jan. 6, when Northland opens Minnesota Community College Conference play against Mesabi.

Youth Hockey

Thief River Falls Amateur Hockey Association will be offering a Christmas special in the form of development skills practice sessions for Pee-Wees and Squirts Dec. 26-30 at the Old Arena.

Sessions scheduled to be held from 10:30 to 11:45 a.m. Monday through Friday will be led by Lincoln High School hockey coaches Pat Cullen, Bill Stock and Scott Bergland, along with Ron Novak, the TRFAHA youth hockey director.

The program is designed to emphasize the basics of the game. Each day a variety of drills will be used to concentrate on one of the following fundamentals: skating, passing, shooting, stick-handling, offensive skills, and defensive skills.

Pee-Wees and Squirts interested in improving their game and working on individual skills are invited to attend.

All TRFAHA hockey coaches are also encouraged to attend the instructional sessions.

Grygla-Gatzke defenders Aaron Holthusen (44), Denny Warne (20) and Tony Mosher (50) forced Josh Whitlock of Kittson County North to pass the ball off instead of taking a shot during Thursday's quarterfinal meeting in the Northland Community College Invitational boys high school basketball tournament. The Eagles won 56-35.

Mustangs, Huskies reach finals

Red Lake County Central and Goodridge were semifinal winners Friday in the 1994 Northland Community College Invitational boys high school basketball tournament.

The Mustangs stopped Warroad 55-42 and the Huskies defeated Grygla-Gatzke 69-54 to reach the Saturday championship game.

East Grand Forks Sacred Heart beat Lake of the Woods 42-34 and Red Lake Falls downed Kittson County North 51-32 in the Friday afternoon consolation semifinals.

Red Lake Co. Central ........55
Warroad ........42

Aaron Rosten kept the Red Lake County Central offense going with a 22-point game as the Mustangs advanced with a 55-42 win over Warroad.

Aaron Chaput, who had a big night when he scored 36 points to join the 1,000-Point Club in a 69-53 Thursday quarterfinal win over Lake of the Woods, netted only 12 against Warroad as the Mustangs struggled to build leads of 12-8 and 23-15 at the first two quarter stops before opening up a 45-23 spread in the third quarter behind Rosten. The 6-4 senior had 15 of the Mustangs' 22 third quarter points.

Goodridge ........69
Grygla-Gatzke ........54

Brady Wiseth (25) and Ryan Kriel (20) combined for 45 points to lead Goodridge past Grygla-Gatzke 69-54.

The Northland Invitational match-up will be the only meeting of the year between the two schools who field a cooperative football team, but have elected to suspend their home-and-home basketball series because of the intensity of the rivalry.

Goodridge held the upper hand with quarter leads of 20-9, 32-14 and 44-30.

The Huskies kept the Eagles at bay by making 24 of 33 free throw attempts. Grygla-Gatzke went 12-for-20 at the line. Kriel was a perfect 14-for-14 at the line in the final quarter.

Anthony Holthusen and Jamie Lunsetter led the Eagles with 15 and 13 points, respectively.

Warroad is Section 8A favorite

Defending Class A state champion Warroad was made the overwhelming favorite in Section 8A high school hockey heading into the 1994-95 season, according to a coaches poll conducted by sectional publicist John Oren of the Baudette Region.

Seven first place votes (nine of the ten coaches responded; coaches weren't allowed to vote for their own teams) went to Warroad, while Roseau was listed No. 1 on the other two ballots to finished No. 2 in the poll.

Section 8A Coaches Poll

1 - Warroad; 2. Roseau; 3. East Grand Forks; 4. Thief River Falls; 5. Crookston; 6. Red Lake Falls; 7. Kittson Central; 8. Lake of the Woods; 9. Indus; 10. Bagley.

Team Sketches

Warroad - Wyatt Smith and Zach Hallett lead the offensive arsenal for coach Cary Eades. Smith, a senior, led Section 8A in scoring last year with 28 goals, 30 assists and 58 points, while Hallett, a junior, was No. 3 on the scoring chart with 20 goals, 31 assists and 51 points. Willy Marvin is back in the nets after posting a 1.96 goals against average and an 89 percent save figure as a junior. Thief River Falls transfers Kaine and Tanner Martell have been added to the line-up, whose biggest graduation loss was the defensive tandem of Tom Lund and Andy Fernoyle.

Roseau - A young Roseau team went 13-8-3 last year. Leading scorer Jason Lovejoy and goalie Ryan Vatnedal left via graduation, but All-Section 8A defensemen Jared Gustafson leads the list of returning veterans for coach Bruce Olson. Four scorers with 20 or more points last year also return, including junior Bryan Lundbohm (34), senior Andy Lundbohm (25), senior Robert Moser (22) and junior Aaron Lundbohm (21). Senior Jeremy Kvien has little varsity experience, but is the heir-apparent in goal.

East Grand Forks - Senior goaltenders Scott Schultz and Mike Gregoire should help anchor the Green Wave. Schultz posted the highest save percentage in Section 8A last winter (.901) and finished with a 2.37 goals-against average. Despite an 11-13-1 record, the Kary Strandell-coached Green Wave reached 1994 Section 8A finals before losing to Warroad 2-1. All-Section 8A senior Travis Lind (16-13) leads the offense, along with junior Bear Landa (9-18). Senior Jon Bush is an All-Section 8A defenseman.

Thief River Falls - Graduation and transfers hit the Prowlers hard. Top returnees include junior Nick Chiodo (9-21)-last year's second-leading scorer, senior Tim Berry (13-10) and junior Keith Anderson (9-6). Junior goalie Chance Keele saw brief varsity duty as a sophomore. Pat Cullen is the new head coach.

Crookston - Mike Hajostek left Red Lake Falls to take over the coaching duties at Crookston, where his top players include seniors Ben Parkin (13-12), Chris Chandler (12-10) and Chris Paterson (13-4), along with Justin Paul, who scored 10 goals and added 11 assists during an impressive freshman season.

Red Lake Falls - New coach Brad Kennett inherits a batch of veterans from a 14-4-1 team, including All-Section 8A goalie Jesse Barbot, who had a 2.46 goals-against average and an .887 save percentage last winter. Top skaters include Daniel Stirle (11-14), Blaise Larson (7-16), Brian Gervais (12-9), Richie Colombus, Bruce Kennedy, and Brian Schafer. Most of the Eagles were members of the Class C state runner-up football team this fall.

Kittson Central - Another northwestern Minnesota football power that got a late start on the hockey season was Nine-Man state champion Kittson Central. But coach Rod Hennen has a veteran crew headed by All-Section 8A senior Mark Olsonawald, the No. 2 scorer in sectional play last winter with 22 goals and 32 assists for 54 points. Senior Derrick Haugstad (24-20) also racked up big numbers. Greg Turseon, Jeremy Backous, Lonie Bergh, and Ryan Johnson also had double-figure goal production. Netminders Garrett Koop and Michael Lindegaard shared playing time as 1993-94 sophomores.

Lake of the Woods - New coach Don Krause has a team that returns five of its top seven scorers, but the Bears were just 4-20 last year after reaching the Tier II state finals the previous season. Chris Johnson (8-18), Pete Gens (7-12), Bucky Morris (4-13), Jason LaValle (5-7), and Todd Grillen (4-8) head the returning point-producers, but last year's top scorer, Scott Aikenhead, transferred, and both goalies graduated. Success in recent years at the Bantam level could help stock the Bears' varsity roster.

Indus - Junior goalie Kaleb Christenson had a .866 goals against average while playing all but one period of the Trojans' 1993-94 season. Leading returning scorer is senior Aaron Kennedy (6-18). Senior Zach Hasbargen, along with juniors Calvin Nelson and Mike Pelland should help out offensively.

Bagley - Ben Brovold (10-10) and J.J. Schermerhorn (10-7) return after ranking 1-2 in the Flyers' scoring column last year. Also back are goalies Tom Riggs, a senior, and Dan DeJong, a junior. Bob Jones takes over as head coach for a program that went 3-12 with a young line-up in 1993-94.

DNR News

Deer Harvest

Minnesota firearms deer hunters harvested approximately 176,000 deer in 1994, a 6 percent decline from 1993 but still the fourth highest harvest on record, according to the Department of Natural Resources.

As a result of a 15 percent decrease in antlerless permits, a lower harvest was expected in 1994, said Dave Schad, DNR Forest Wildlife Program leader. In forest and transition areas the harvest was better than expected, however. "It appears that harvest of bucks increased in many of these areas, offsetting to some extent the effects of reduced antlerless permit quotas," Schad explained.

Deer harvests declined 6 percent in the northwest, 2 percent in the northeast, 8 percent in the central and east-central portion of the state, and 5 percent in the west southwest. The only region showing an increase was the southeast (up 3 percent). The metro region was stable.

Schad also reported that deer are in very good condition entering winter. "The good growing conditions we saw over summer, combined with the very mild fall weather, will really help deer through the winter," Schad said.

Some archery and muzzleloader season are still underway in the state. Final harvest figures should be available after the first of the year.

Ice Safety Video

When is the ice safe? How do I recognize thin ice and keep from falling through? How can I safely rescue an accident victim? What should I do if I break through thin ice? These and many other ice-related questions are answered in a video recently produced by the Minnesota Department of Natural Resources titled "Danger, Thin Ice."

"Every winter we receive hundreds of telephone questions about ice safety," said Tim Smalley, DNR boat and water safety specialist. "Usually, it's the same few questions over and over. We thought a video would be an effective way to explain the hazards of thin ice and what winter recreation enthusiasts can do to prevent an icy splashdown."

The DNR has had ice safety pamphlets and posters available for a number of years, but Smalley noted that some of the concepts were difficult to get across in print. "Many victims of ice accidents die because they are unable to get out of the water once they break through thin ice. With video we are able to demonstrate ice survival techniques," he said.

Husband and wife team David and Marcie Marquardt of Forest Lake, who are both firefighters and professional ice rescue instructors, volunteered to act as the victim and rescuer in the various scenarios depicted in the video.

Smalley, who was the video's producer, said, "Even though Dave and Marcy wore special survival clothing, I can tell you that their faces and hands got pretty chilly by the time we were done shooting. I was glad it wasn't me climbing in and out of that hole in the ice for the dozenth time."

Although the video is not meant to be a complete course in ice rescue, it is intended to give ice sports enthusiasts a very basic idea of what to do in case of an ice emergency. The 10-minute video is appropriate for ages 9 through adult. It is available for free loan to Minnesota based organizations only, such as scout groups, schools, as well as fishing and snowmobile clubs.

To reserve a copy of the video, groups should call the DNR Film Loan Library toll free 1-800-766-6000 and ask for video number V-386, "Danger, Thin Ice."

Where To Travel In Thief River Falls

PLEASE OBSERVE THESE SIMPLE RULES

1. Streets and alleys are to be used ONLY in traveling enroute to the river and/or open country, using the most direct route. If more than one machine, ride in single file on the right-hand side of the roadway.
2. Private property is private and no one may trespass without permission. NO RIDING ON PRIVATE PROPERTY.
3. NO: Speed greater than reasonable or prudent under all circumstances.
   NO: Careless, reckless, or negligent driving which may harm or injure a person or property.
   NO: Operating while under the influence of an intoxicating liquor or narcotic or habit-forming drug.
   NO: Riding permitted on any State Highway, County State Aid, or County Highway. Crossing of these roads is only authorized by qualified persons and at a 90 degree angle. State Highways, County State Aid and County Highways in Thief River Falls are as follows: Hwy. 59 or 3rd St. through the City; Hwy. 32 or Main Ave. N. to S. through the City; Hwy. 1 or East 8th St. from E. of Main Ave. to E. City Limits; Pennington Ave. from 1st St. to South Limits; 1st St. East to West through City Limits; and 8th St. from Main Ave. to West Limits. NO RIDING PERMITTED ON ANY OF THESE STREETS.
4. No person under 14 years of age shall make a direct crossing of a Trunk, County State Aid or County Highway as the operator of a snowmobile-ATV, or operate a snowmobile-ATV upon a street or highway within a municipality. A person 14 years of age or older, but less than 18 years of age, may make a direct crossing of a Trunk, County State Aid, or County Highway only if the person has in immediate possession a valid snowmobile safety certificate issued by the Commissioner of Natural Resources, or a valid motor vehicle operator's license issued by the Commission of Public Safety, or the drivers license authority of another state.
   No person under the age of 14 years shall operate a snowmobile-ATV on any public land or water under the jurisdiction of the Commissioner unless accompanied by one of the following listed persons on the same or an accompanying snowmobile-ATV or on a device towed by the same or an accompanying snowmobile-ATV: the person's parents, legal guardian, or other person 18 years of age or older. However, a person 12 years of age or older may operate a snowmobile on public lands and waters under the jurisdiction of the Commissioner if the person has in immediate possession a valid snowmobile safety certificate issued by the Commissioner.
5. LIGHTS: Head and tail lights must be on BOTH DAY AND NIGHT TO OPERATE ON PUBLIC STREETS AND ALLEYS.
6. SPEED LIMIT: 15 MPH on streets and alleys. 50 MPH on the river.
7. TOWING: Rigid connection ONLY (no tow ropes).
8. RIDERS: Only the number of riders for which the machine is designed for.
8. NO: Riding in public parks or on school property.
10. MUFFLERS: Must be installed and in good working order.
11. Snowmobiles must yield right-of-way to all pedestrians and motor vehicles.
12. NO: Riding on sidewalks, private property, or where prohibited by signs.
13. NO: Riding in the downtown business district of Thief River Falls. This is the area between 1st Street and 4th Street, and between Knight Ave. and Atlantic Ave. NO RIDING IN THIS AREA.
14. RESTRICTED AREAS: Operation of snowmobiles is prohibited in all areas which are posted or similarly marked. Operation of snowmobiles on sidewalks or similar pedestrian traffic areas is prohibited.
15. RIVER USAGE: All access areas which constitute private property should be used only with the approval of the property owner. Snowmobiles must slow and maintain a distance of 100 feet from all fishhouses where possible (where the distance between the shore and houses does not permit, judgement should be exercised for the safest passage.) Traffic on the river is to keep to the right. Snowmobiles cannot exceed 50 MPH on the river.
18. GENERAL STREET USAGE: Streets and alleys within the city are to be used only for access to the river or open country, using the most direct route. Traffic on streets and alleys must keep to the right. Snowmobiles must travel in single file at safe intervals. Speed is 15 mph.

Lincoln poets receive awards in competition

Student poets at Lincoln senior high school in Thief River Falls earned awards in the 1994 Emerging Writers Competition sponsored by the English department of the College of St. Catherine at St. Joseph.

According to the list of winners provided by the college to instructor Loiell Dyrud, local poets Vicki Sitzegalo, Jennifer Halling and Angie Haugen received high honorable mention and Angeline Gunstad, Tina Krogstad and Kari Jo Larson received honorable mention.

The listing varies from the news release sent by the college to the Times office and published in Saturday's Northern Watch. Winning entries from the local students follow:

Vicki Sitzegalo earned a high honorable mention with:

HOMECOMING

Ho gave me a corsage made of three red roses—
he said they stood for Faith, Hope, Love—nestled amid ribbons and lace.
They were flawless,
so perfect and pure, delicate.
"Like our love," he said.

Then I put them away in a small, tin box full of treasured things
where they shriveled, died—until at last they crumbled into a fine,
silent powder.
"Like our love," I said.

Jennifer Halling received high honorable mention with the following entry:

IN THE DRIVER'S SEAT of his Grand Am, I grip
the wheel nervously.
After trying to get close to him all night,
here we are, side by side.
The smell of liquor lingers on his breath and I can still smell his cologne.
There's something about him,
even now, while he slouches down in the bucket seat.
I sit up straighter attempting to look like a licensed driver.
Wo drive in awkward silence.
Suddenly I feel his hand graze
my jeans.
I blush behind the darkness,
He pulls his hand back quickly, embarrassed.
I stop the car in front of his house.
He thanks me for driving him home and stumbles to the door.

Angie Haugen earned a high honorable mention for her poem,

BATHING BEAUTIES

Black and white goddesses
Bask in the afternoon sun,

Modeling on the edge of the Stock pond's turbid muck.

Swishing tails interrupt
Mobs of greedy flies as Young calves stop grazing

To moisten their pink tongues.

Angeline Gunstad received an honorable mention for the following entry:

MARCHING BAND IMMORTALITY

White frost
melts from the sun.
Water soaks
my socks. Dead grass sticks to my Diadora's. My imprint—left on the grass between the yardline markers of the football field—lasts only until kickoff.

Tina Krogstad received honorable mention for her poem

THE TEMP

My eyes
stick to the features of his new girl
as they make their entrance onto the dance floor.
Too scrawny—
Too many split ends—
Her skirt is too short—
Her feet are too long—
I pass judgment on her appearance.

I grab the nearest,
unsuspecting guy and lead him directly in front of them.

Flashing my ex
a defiant smirk,
I desperately fling
my arms around the nameless boy's neck.

Lions Club holds meeting in TRF

Members of the Thief River Falls Lions Club and the Thief River Falls Lioness clubs attended a Lions Zone 2 meeting on Tuesday, November 29, 1994 at the Evergreen Eating Emporium in Thief River Falls. This meeting was hosted by the St. Hilaire Lions club. Representatives from the area Lions clubs were in attendance. Zone 2 clubs include Goodridge, Greenbush, Grygla, Newfolden, Roseau, St. Hilaire, Thief River Falls, Wannaska, and Warroad Lions clubs. Lioness cluinclude Goodridge, Grygla, Thief River Falls Noon and Thief River Falls Moonlighters Lioness clubs.

The meeting was called to order by Lion Dick Reger, Zone 2 chairman. Following the flag pledge and invocation, Lions District 5M-11 Governor Dick Jones, Glyndon, spoke to the group. Following the Governor's remarks, various 5M-11 Cabinet members gave reports, including Dr. George Marx, Crookston, Eye Bank/Eye Clinic chairman; John Anderson, Cummings, ND, diabetes chairman; and John Vik, Crookston, leader dog for the blind, chairman.

Lion Harry Sjulson, St. Hilaire Lions club, acted as Tailtwister. As a result of his efforts, $50 was raised at the meeting and presented to Governor Jones to be used for the leader dog program. Not to be outdone by the St. Hilaire club, the Thief River Falls Lions graciously matched the amount so that a total of $100 was given to the leader dog program for the blind.

A representative from each club reported on projects completed since the fall zone meeting and on current and planned projects for the coming months. Membership retention was discussed and each club was asked to increase its efforts to retain its members. Mid-winter convention pins were also offered for sale..

Zone 2 Chairman Reger urged the clubs to complete their inter-club visitations soon. Emphasis was placed on Lions Quest program on self-esteem which is used in several public schools in the area. Reger also reminded the group of the coming Lions Mid-winter Convention to be held in Crookston at the Northland INN on January 20-22, 1995.

Attending from the Thief River Falls Noon Lions club were Dan Drevlow, president; Bruce Keller, treasurer; Jay Horsman, Dick Reger, Ray Safranski, and Charles Samuelson. Attending from the Thief River Falls Noon Lioness club were Gloria Lee, Linda Johnson, Judy Reger, Idella Samuelson, co-president, and Betty Kezar, secretary. Attending from the Moonlighters Lioness were Diane Baume and president Sherry Sorenson.

FATHER FIGURE

My door knob creaks at the pressure of a hand. Light beams flicker over me from the hall light. A foot steps and the gray carpet sinks.

His rough hand approaches
my nightgown. Warm flesh trembles under the touch.

His calloused hand pushes damp hair from my face.
The weight of his body pushes my mattress down until his full mass is complete. "How ya doin' pumpkin?" He touches my hot forehead with a cool, tender hand. "My fever hasn't broken yet." A washcloth nips at my head.

Religion Is Taught In Public Schools

Considerable commentary in the national news media has been directed to a renewed effort in the new Congress—which will have a majority of Republicans in both the House and Senate—to restore school prayer. That commentary has revived discussion of whether practice or teaching of religion should be allowed in the public schools.

It's not that Republicans are more religious than Democrats or even that they are more willing to tell the public that they are. But there are people in positions of influence (we hesitate to say "leadership") in the new Congress who have made religion a political issue in the past and are expected to do so in the future. The difference is in their party's new found majority... whatever that may be worth.

Michael Mignard of Andover, a teacher in a private school, recently wrote a public opinion piece for the Anoka County Union which is both informed and thought provoking. It is reprinted here with the writer's permission:

GUEST EDITORIAL
by Michael Mignard

Most Americans have come to the conclusion that religious dogma has no place in public education. The popular opinion is that the First Amendment to the Constitution has erected a "wall of separation" between the church and state.

The commonly held viewpoint is that religious instruction in a public school violates that "wall of separation" because tax dollars are supporting one religion over another. Tax dollars being spent on religious instruction would mean that the government is establishing a state religion.

The truth of the matter is that public schools are teaching religious dogma every day in almost every class and subject. As incredible as this sounds, it is true.

Secular humanism, which is the accepted world view of public schools today, is a religious world view. The evidence to support the position that secular humanism is a religion is overwhelming. The Supreme Court ruled in the 1961 case of Torcaso v. Watkins that secular humanism is a religion equal to other theistic or non-theistic religions.

The American Humanist Association has a religious tax exemption [501 (c) 3]. The secular humanists even call themselves a religion. It is obvious that we are talking about an organization and system of thought that is religious to the very core.

All one needs to do is to read the Humanist Manifesto I and II to realize that secular humanism is a religion that has its doctrines and dogmas just as any religion does.

John J. Dunphy in "A Religion for a New Age" wrote, "The classroom will become an area of conflict between the old and the new—the rotting corpse of Christianity, together with its adjacent evils and misery and the new faith of humanism, resplendent in its promise of a world in which the never realized Christian idea of 'love thy neighbor' will finally be achieved."

Here is a statement of remarkable faith, and the schools are being used as an evangelistic tool to propagate this faith.

The way in which any religion is taught is by conveying its basic tenets or doctrines to the student. It is important for one to know what the basic doctrines of secular humanism are. With these doctrines in mind it is possible to examine the public schools to see if in fact those doctrines are being taught.

It does not take great insight to realize that the doctrines of secular humanism are taught every single day in the public schools.

What follows is a brief doctrinal statement for the secular humanist religious world view. These points were derived from the Humanist Manifesto I and II:

(1) The universe is self-existing and not created;

(2) The supernatural is unacceptable;

(3) Human nature is inherently good or at least it is perfectible;

(4) Values are relative;

(5) A one world government is inevitable and even to be sought for.

It is obvious that the public schools are teaching this religion. That in itself is not a problem. The problem lies in the fact that the religion of secular humanism is the only religion that can be taught.

The courts in our land, spurred on by groups like the ACLU and People for the American Way, have outlawed Christianity and substituted secular humanism. For instance, it is not legal to post the Ten Commandments in public schools, but evolution, which is the basic tenet of secular humanism, is proudly taught.

It is time that we admit what is going on. Tax dollars are being spent on religious indoctrination. This is a clear violation of the popular interpretation of the First Amendment. Why is it that separation of church and state, which is thrown in the face of traditional Judeo-Christian religion, does not apply equally to the religion of secular humanism?

Dinner guests at Denny and Gloria Renstrom on Sunday were Walter Thompson, Elsie Lefrooth and Ellen Johnson.

Elphie Adlis is at home this week just lollygagging around after spending a couple of weeks at the Host Fest in Minot and then a couple more in Florida trying to get a suntan in the winter. She should have been in her garden a bit more between all the rain we had last summer. It's a cinch she can't get a tan out here now.

Audry Berg to just returned from a three week stay in Phoenix and Scottsdale, AZ visiting her son, Monty and the boys, while trying out the sunny weather they have there now. On the way home she spent some time in Fargo at the Andy Boen home.

Gayhard, Irene, Myron and Dion Nelson and Dede Adamski went to the Veterans' hospital in Fargo to visit Elmer Eskildsen on Sunday. Mr. and Mrs. David Nelson of Fargo also visited with him.

Scott Thun of Moorhead spent the weekend with his mother, LaVoi Thun and Saturday evening visited with Don and Vangie Carlson.

Elsie and Ivan Kimbrough attended the St. Lucia Day in Stephen on Sunday and said the food was great as was the program.

Isaac and Betsy Thompson accompanied by Roy and Myrtle Vagle attended the Christmas Banquet at the Evergreen in Thief River Falls hosted by the Thief River Falls Camp, the Roseau-Warroad camp, and the Kittson Camp. A lovely time was had by all.

Elsie Lefrooth has had company all week. Here are some of that she had, Pearl and LaRoy Lundell of Minnetonka, Dean Holmstrom, Elphie Adlis, Esther Underberg, Karen Zimmerman, Shirley Lefrooth, Pearl Thompson, Margaret Donaldson, and Alaura and Sara, Marcelyn Lindstrom, Marlys Lefrooth, Walter Thompson and Isaac and Betsy Thompson.

Visitors on Monday at Frank and Judy Kleinvachter's were Claudia Berggren, Karl Kasprowicz, Wayne Martinson and Adrienne and Lowell Lefrooth.

Arnold and Vernice Larson were Monday evening visitors at LaVoi Thun's.

Frank Kleinvachter's visitors on Wednesday were Karl Kasprowicz, Claudia Berggren, Jessie and Kali, Brian and Todd Nelson, Lowell Lefrooth and Bud and Marie Staffen.

The lutefisk recipe I promised to the seniors didn't come in time so I will copy it and distribute it before Christmas so if there are any leftover lutefisk after Christmas it is a real treat for later. Mrs. Berggren made some for the Seniors and it was great.

LETTERS

To The Editor:

I am in favor of new student housing for Thief River Falls students at Northland Community College and Northwest Technical College. This is needed. I wrote a letter to the developers of Knox and Northrop school properties and asked them to save the two schools' gyms for Thief River Falls neighborhood activity centers.

I would like to ask local area residents to write any of their opinions, comments, suggestions and ideas to the developer of Knox and Northrop school sites: Dnshar Development Corp., 15 North 12th Street, Minneapolis Minnesota; Attention: Jay Tortz. Development will probably start in the spring or summer, so write the developers before then.

Hopefully our suggestions will be considered or included in the developers' future plans for Knox and Northrop.

I would also like to ask Thief River Falls school district residents to write to the School District 564 office and school board and state your ideas and feelings about the Northrop, Knox and Washington elementary school sites' futures.

Sincerely,
Charlie Bedard

ASK YOUR LOCKSMITH
Questions And Answers

Q I just bought a new house. Is it a good idea to get the locks changed?

A Absolutely, yes! You have no idea how many keys are in the hands of strangers. Neighbors, real estate agents, and even the builder may have keys. A locksmith can rekey your existing lock so that the new key is the only key that will open your door. At the same time, a locksmith can recommend extra security measures, such as deadbolt locks, window locks, and sliding door locks. Some locksmiths even offer security bars and burglar alarms as part of their service.

THIEF RIVER FALLS TIMES

Thief River Falls, Pennington County, Minnesota December 21, 1944

From The Times Files of Fifty Years Ago

Pennington Second In State In "E" Bonds Bought

"No better greeting for a Merry Christmas would have been given to those who are responsible for the attainment of Pennington county's Sixth War Loan quota than the performance of the bond purchasers during the past week. Since the publication of the last report, purchases totalling more than $80,000 have been made bringing the county's total to $632,737.75 against a quota of $415,000. What was better was that these purchases were made by the small holders thereby bringing the county's 'E' bond purchases over the required quota. On the basis of 'E'-bond of the quota, the county is second in the state, being exceeded only by Polk county."

Skating Started Last Night In Sports Arena

"Good news for local skaters is contained in the announcement that the ice sheet in the arena was completed Wednesday and was put into use last night. With N. C. Lindberg, city assessor, serving as manager, assisted by Charles Dostal, the rink will be open each evening, as well as afternoons during the Christmas vacation period. The Hornets and midgets hockey teams will start practice sessions next week."

Holiday Mailing Rush Hits Peak

"The Christmas mailing rush at the local postoffice, in progress in heavy volume since December 11, reached its peak Monday of this week, Postmaster Andrew Anderson announced today. Augmenting the regular staff, six high school boys are assisting in delivering the huge volume of holiday parcels and greeting cards. Mr. Anderson stated that late parcels will be delivered next Sunday and Christmas Day."

Student Canteen Opens Doors Wednesday

"The teen-age canteen, designed to provide a recreation center for students in senior high school, will be formally opened to its young patrons next Wednesday evening, while parents will be given an opportunity to inspect the facilities at an open house Tuesday evening from 7:30 to 8:30. The canteen, work on which has been in progress the last year under the direction of an adult committee headed by Francis Kobliska, will be located in recently renovated quarters under the Northern Chevrolet company garage, formerly occupied by the Elks lodge. Through funds contributed by local organizations and individuals, there have been provided tables, benches and chairs, as well as an automatic phonograph which will provide music for dancing. No smoking will be permitted on the premises."

Hangar At Airport Nearly Completed

"With the plane hangar on the municipal airport now virtually completed under the supervision of Nels G. Olson, the port will shortly meet another requirement for recognition by the civil aeronautics administration as an accredited landing field. Another step was taken Tuesday evening when the city council appointed Lester Ihle to serve as airport manager."

From The Editorial Page

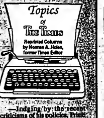
"Now that we know the war is not yet won maybe we should quit quarreling among ourselves and concentrate on the big job of putting Hitler and Hirohito out of commission. There will be plenty of time to declare war on Churchill and Stalin after we get these more pressing problems out of the way."



Topics of The Times
Reprinted Columns by Norman A. Holen, former Times Editor

—Judging by the recent criticisms of his policies, Prime Minister Churchill threatens to Greece the skids for himself.

—Here's hoping, folks, that your Christmas stockings are as well filled as Marlene Dietrich's.

—Army leaders think married men make the best officers. At least, comments the Jackson Pilot, they have had combat experience.

—Simile: As rare as an unfavorable review of a home talent production.

—When the electoral vote varied as much from the popular vote as it did in the recent presidential election, it would seem to be about time to abolish the electoral college.

—Those old cronies, Tom and Jerry, will get into many a mixup during the holiday season.

—One American leader who says he isn't afraid of Russia is Eric Johnston, president of the U.S. Chamber of Commerce.

—Speaking of euphemism, over at Deer River they refer to the money-making municipal liquor store as the power house.

—Remember way back in 1943 when you could go into a store and buy a carton of cigarets?

—Youngsters may regret the fact that Santa Claus didn't make his usual pre-holiday visit to Thief River Falls, but it won't be too serious if the old gent keeps his date on December 25.

EMPLOYEE PROFILE:

Thief River Falls Times, Northern Watch and Print Shop

Lana Christianson

Lana Christianson Head Bookkeeper

No doubt those of you who have placed ads with The Times have either seen or talked to Lana, because she is the one who sends out the bills and makes sure that your payments get applied to your account. As head bookkeeper, Lana handles the accounts payable and receivable, payroll, general ledger and employee insurance, to name just a few of her many jobs.

Lana has been The Times' bookkeeper for 22 years. She is originally from Roseau, the daughter of Eleanore and the late Harry Christianson. She graduated from Roseau high school in 1971, attended the Thief River Falls AVTI, and then came to work for The Times.

Lana's mother still lives in Roseau on the home farm with Lana's brother, Wayne. He is a farmer and bus driver for the Roseau schools. Her two sisters are both married and have made Lana the proud aunt of six nieces and nephews. Wanda and John Helmowski and their five children live in Minto, ND, and Carol and Paul Jore and their daughter live in Moorhead.

When she isn't working, Lana especially enjoys music, movies, concerts, travel, watching sports, and doll collecting. But she says her favorite "hobby" is spending time with her family and many friends.

CARD OF THANKS

We wish to express our deepest gratitude to all our friends, neighbors and relatives who offered support and showed concern following the tragic death of our daughter and sister Adeline. Our thanks to the Oklee ambulance service and the Red Lake County Law Enforcement for their quick response and the doctors and staff of NWMC for their trying effort and condolences offered, the Green Funeral Home for their wonderful services, Pastor Feugstad for his comforting words and visits, Father Pribula, Tim Lundeen and Amber Linder for their messages at the school, LaVonne Enerson, Donna Sherman and organist Charity Wicks for the beautiful music, the pallbearers, the Oklee school and staff for the use of their facilities, Our Saviors Church for the use of their dining hall following the prayer service and to those who served coffee and goodies, and the Oak Park Ladies Aid for the lunch served after the funeral. Thanks to all who shared themselves and their time with us, brought food to the house, called, gave cards, flowers and memorials or helped in anyway. We deeply miss our little girl and are so grateful for everything that has been done to help us during this very difficult time. May God bless each and every one of you and grant you a blessed holiday season.

The Family of Adeline Chervestad.

Legal Notices

December 21, 1994
OFFICIAL PROCEEDINGS
BOARD OF COMMISSIONERS
PENNINGTON COUNTY
November 10, 1994 10:00 a.m.

Pursuant to adjournment the Pennington County Board of Commissioners met in the Commissioners room in the courthouse in Thief River Falls, on Thursday, November 10, 1994 at 10:00 a.m.. Members present: Jensen, Comstock, Swanson, Murphy and Naplin. Members absent: none.

Pennington, and Red Lake County Ag Inspector, Norman Boucher met with the County Board to let them know he has used the 1600 hours allocated to his position for 1994. He will still need time to take seed samples and do required paperwork. Commissioner Jensen moved, seconded by Commissioner Naplin to authorize an additional 8 hours per week to the Ag Inspector until the end of 1994 to allow the Ag Inspector to carry out his required duties. Motion unanimously carried.

The County Board reviewed the final plat of Meadowlark Estates First Addition to the City of Thief River Falls. Commissioner Naplin moved, seconded by Commissioner Comstock to approve the final plat of Meadowlark Estates First Addition as presented. Motion unanimously carried.

Commissioner Comstock moved, seconded by Commissioner Naplin to authorize the Chairman of the Welfare Board to sign the Welfare Union agreement as presented on behalf of Pennington County. Motion unanimously carried.

Commissioner Jensen moved, seconded by Commissioner Naplin to approve the 1994-1995 Agreement to provide professional consulting services between the Minnesota Counties Research Foundation and Pennington County, to do a central services cost allocation plan for services performed in 1994 and 1995 for the cost of $4,800 per year. Motion unanimously carried.

Moved by Commissioner Jensen, seconded by Commissioner Naplin to approve the minutes of October 25th, 1994 as written. Motion carried.

At this time County Engineer, Dalton Schulz, met with the County Board with his items. Also meeting with the County Board was Lyle Jennings to discuss the replacement of the bridge across County Ditch #68 in the NE1/4 of Section 35 Sanders Township. After considerable discussion the County Engineer was directed to contact Lloyd Lund and obtain a cost estimate for replacement of the bridge, using Pennington County provided railroad car beds for the bridge deck.

Next Ron Adrian, representing the Middle River/Snake River Watershed District and Peter Erickson, landowner, met with the County Board and County Engineer regarding a drainage problem in Section 16 & 18, Numedal Township. Mr. Adrian pointed out to the County Board that the drainway referred to was not part of the legal ditch (J.D. #25-2) which is the watersheds responsibility. The County Board had previously directed the County Engineer to clean this drainway, however it has now been determined that this was a natural drainage-way and the responsibility of the landowner. Mr. Erickson pointed out that the County had cleaned a County Road Ditch #65, east of S.A. #11 and that such cleaning was contributing additional water onto lands owned or farmed by Mr. Erickson. The Middle River/Snake River Watershed District was requested to conduct a study on ways to solve this drainage problem. Mr. Adrian agreed.

Currently a Sentence to Serve Crew is snagging and clearing portions of the drainway in Section 15 of Numedal Township to hopefully provide some drainage relief.

Carl Clark and Mike Jorgenson then met with the County Board and County Engineer regarding the crossing to Mr. Clark's residence cross County Ditch #36. Commissioner Swanson moved, seconded by Commissioner Jensen to repair & improve the approach into the residence of Carl Clark, with Mr. Clark paying $400 and the County paying the balance. Motion unanimously carried.

The County Board then discussed reducing the speed limit along C.S.A.H. #17 from First Street to County Road #61 to 30 mph as recommended by the Pennington County Safety Council. Commissioner Swanson moved, seconded by Commissioner Naplin to table the recommendation of lowering the speed limit to 30 mph along C.S.A.H. #17. Motion carried.

The following resolution was introduced by Commissioner Swanson seconded by Commissioner Jensen and upon vote was unanimously carried.

WHEREAS; Contract No. 94011 has in all things been completed and the County Board being fully advised in the premises,

NOW THEN BE IT RESOLVED; that we do hereby accept said completed project for and in behalf of the County of Pennington and authorize final payment as specified herein.

The following resolution was introduced by Commissioner Swanson, seconded by Commissioner Comstock and upon vote was unanimously carried.

WHEREAS; Contract no. 94002 has in all things been completed, and the County Board being fully advised in the premises.

NOW THEN BE IT RESOLVED; that we do hereby accept said completed project for and in behalf of the County of Pennington and authorize final payments as specified herein.

Commissioner Jensen moved, seconded by Commissioner Swanson to bill Don Longeven $1,500 for installation of the crossing in the SW1/4 of Section 36 Silverton Township across County Ditch #35. Motion unanimously carried.

The Highway Department also indicated that they will be doing some dust control on County Road #61 in the area of Challenger School.

Howard Person noted that the application for permit to build the new solid Waste Processing facility was moving forward and that SWISCORP was still shooting for March 1st, 1995 as the start-up date for the new facility.

Mr. Person also indicated that the Department of agriculture is contemplating establishing four permanent sites to collect unused pesticides instead of the temporary collection points they have been using. He also informed the County Board that DDC would be discontinuing collecting aluminum cans on November 21st 1994. Mr. Person is also negotiating with Recycle Lights for collection of Fluorescent Bulbs.

County Attorney Olin discussed with the County Board his budget for 1995 in comparison to what the State of Minnesota is doing with the Public Defenders Budget. After considerable discussion Commissioner Swanson moved, seconded by Commissioner Naplin to increase the County Attorney's budget by $6,000 effective November 10, 1994 as a direct result of the State of Minnesota increases in the number of public defenders and their respective budgets which will reflect heavier work load on the County Attorney's Office. Motion unanimously carried.

Commissioner Swanson moved, seconded by Commissioner Jensen to appoint Barbara Ann Jasper to the position of part-time dispatcher/jailer. Motion unanimously carried.

The County Board then reviewed Minnesota Department of Natural Resources application #95-1089 that would allow Harlow Johnson to clean and snag a coulee channel in River Falls Township, Section 8 & 9. Commissioner Jensen moved, seconded by Commissioner Naplin to approve Minnesota DNR application #95-1089 as submitted. Motion unanimously carried.

Commissioner Jensen moved seconded by Commissioner Naplin to appropriate $500 to Riverland Association for 1995. Motion unanimously carried.

Commissioner Swanson moved seconded by Commissioner Jensen to appoint County Auditor Kenneth Olson as Pennington County's delegate and Charles Naplin as the alternate to the Annual meeting of the Minnesota County's Insurance Trust. Motion unanimously carried.

The County Board reviewed a request for District Judge Dennis Murphy to purchase a new copier for his office using Law Library Funds. Commissioner Naplin moved, seconded by Commissioner Jensen to authorize District Judge Dennis Murphy to purchase a new copier using Law Library Funds. Motion unanimously carried.

Commissioner Naplin moved, seconded by Commissioner Jensen to approve the payment of the following Commissioner Warrants. Motion unanimously carried.

Dump no more used oil filters in the garbage

As of Jan. 1, 1995, used motor oil filters cannot be placed in the trash, according to the Minnesota Pollution Control Agency (MPCA). The filters should be recycled through used oil collection sites.

The amendment to the state Waste Management Act, passed in 1993, was adopted to mandate proper disposal of used oil filters, which contain about a cup of used oil. When disposed of in the trash, the filters can end up in landfills and eventually pollute soil and groundwater. A gallon of oil can contaminate a million gallons of drinking water, MPCA states.

Do-it-yourselfers who change oil at home need to bring used oil filters to a garage or filter retailer which participates in the voluntary collection program.

Howard Person, Pennington county solid waste officer, said that no businesses in Pennington county have been willing to become licensed as used oil collectors, but many garages will accept used oil from their customers. Containers have been ordered and when received will be placed at the city sanitation department on the north edge of Thief River Falls and the county shed at Goodridge for oil collection.

Because Pennington county uses magnets in its garbage separation process—which plucks out oil filters so they are not landfilled—the MPCA has permitted oil filters to be discarded in garbage in the past. Person said he is unsure if the new amendment will change that permit.

Since Jan. 1, 1994, it has been illegal for businesses to dispose of oil filters in the trash. Since 1988, it has been illegal for anyone to dispose of used oil in the trash, in storm sewers or on the ground. In 1987 it was estimated by MPCA that more than 4.6 million gallons of used oil were disposed of illegally by do-it-yourselfers. In 1993, illegal dumping was estimated at 775,000 gallons.

MPCA offers the following suggestions to people changing oil and oil filters at home:

- Drain and collect used motor oil in an appropriate container. The oil filter should be inverted onto its base end, allowing the oil to drain into an appropriate storage container for recycling.
- Place the oil filter in a leak-proof container, such as a coffee can with a lid or resealable plastic bag.
- Don't mix oil with other wastes, such as antifreeze, because this will contaminate the used oil.
- Drop off used oil and oil filters with an attendant at garages that accept them for recycling. Don't leave used oil and oil filters at garages when they are not open for business.

Businesses that are not currently licensed as used oil or hazardous waste collectors and would like to accept used oil and filters should contact MPCA at 1-800-657-3724.

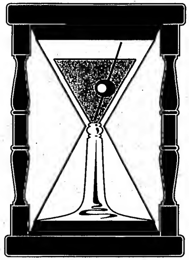
I want to wish everyone a very Merry Christmas and a Happy New Year.

Sunday afternoon and evening visitors at the Arnold Larson home were Kenny and Sybil Cwikla, Tom and Sue Dondelinger, Lauren and Jory, Todd and Kari Jesme and Collin.

Guests to a 12:30 Thanksgiving dinner of Norwegian meatballs, turkey and all the trimmings at the home of Curt and Elaine Thompson were Mark Thompson of Moorhead, Lisa Wilson, Jeremy, Jayme, Amber and Mackenzie, Roger and Robbin Matheen, Ronelle, Ryan and ReAnne and Harvey Bkyberg. We had a lovely day. Mark left again at 4 p.m. for his home.



If You Drink And Drive Your Time Could Be Up!

Christmastime. Time for celebration. Time for partying. And unfortunately, time for accidents and fatalities on the road.

But what's most unfortunate of all, is that many of these traffic accidents could have been avoided if the drivers had exercised good judgement about alcohol.

That's why we're taking the time out to remind you to use common sense this holiday season. Whether this involves appointing a designated driver, calling a taxi, or hosting an alcohol-free gathering of your own, taking a few moments now to plan a safe evening can save a lifetime for you and others.

HAVE A HAPPY AND SAFE HOLIDAY SEASON.
Please Don't Drink And Drive.

Everyone can sing along with Christmas!

Jingle Bells

Dashing thro' the snow
In a one horse open sleigh, –
O'er the fields we go,
Laughing all the way;
Bells on bobtail ring,
Making spirits bright,
What fun it is to ride and sing
A sleighing song tonight!
(chorus)
Jingle bells, jingle bells!
Jingle all the way!
Oh, what fun it is to ride in
A one horse open sleigh!

Dear Santa:
What I like about Christmas is baby Jesus was born on the day of Christmas.

Peppermint Chocolate Bon-Bon Cake

1 box Pillsbury chocolate cake mix
3 cups Cool Whip, thawed
Peppermint extract
1/4 tsp. baking powder
5 squares semi-sweet chocolate squares
1/4 cup peanuts, chopped

Prepare cake according to package. I added baking powder, peppermint extract to cake. Peppermint to your taste. Pour in an angel food pan, instead of regular round cake pan. Bake 50 to 57 minutes or until done. Remove from pan, cool. Split cake in 2 layers and Cool Whip. Add peppermint and chocolate squares shavings to Cool Whip. Reserve some shaving to top Cool Whip. Add rest to Cool Whip. Stir in peppermint, chocolate shavings until the peppermint flavor is through Cool Whip. Spread Cool Whip between the 2 layers. If desired can frost the cake with the rest of Cool Whip with shavings. Then sprinkle rest of chocolate shavings over cake with chopped peanuts. This cake can be frozen to eat at another time. It tastes better after it has been frozen.

Rice Pudding

1 cup old fashioned cooking rice
1/2 tsp. salt
6 cups water

Boil until tender. Rinse with cold water. Drain. Add 1 quart milk. Boil 5 minutes - stir often. Add 5 well beaten egg yolks (keep a little to add the cornstarch with). 1 tbsp. cornstarch. Bring to a slow boil. Add 3/4 cup sugar, 1/2 tsp. salt, 1 tsp. almond flavoring. Place in a non-buttered baking dish. Beat 5 egg whites until foamy. Add: 3/4 cup sugar, 1/3 tsp. cream of tartar. Spread on top of mixture. Bake 350° uncovered 8-10 minutes.

– ReNae Vagle, Roseau

• • • • •

Frozen Strawberry Jelly Roll

1 cup sugar
1 cup flour
1 tsp. baking powder
1/2 tsp. salt
1 tsp. vanilla
5 eggs

Beat as you add each ingredient. Pour on a wax paper lined cookie sheet. Bake 20 minutes at 350°. Turn upside down on powdered sugar towel. Roll up and cool.

Filling

Whip 2/3 cup cream add 3 tbsp. powdered sugar. Fold in 1 box frozen strawberries, thawed and drained. Pour into jelly roll, wrap in waxed paper then aluminum foil. I use Christmas sugar in powdered sugar for color. Keep frozen!

– Marie Owens, Angus

• • • • •

Sugar Cookies

3 cups flour
1 cup shortening
1 tsp. cream of tartar
1/4 tsp. salt
2 eggs, beaten
1 cup white sugar
1 tsp. vanilla
1 tsp baking soda dissolved in 1 tbsp. hot water

Mix flour, shortening, cream of tartar and salt until crumbly like pie crust. In another bowl, beat eggs and add sugar, vanilla and dissolved baking soda and water. Mix in with pie crust mixture and chill at least 4 hours. Roll-out on floured surface to about 1/4" thickness. Cut in shape of Christmas trees and bake at 325° until very light brown. Frost with powdered sugar frosting made with 1/4 cup butter, 3 to 4 cups powdered sugar, 1 tsp. almond flavoring, green food coloring and enough milk for spreading consistency. Decorate with multi-colored Christmas sprinkles.

Rave Reviews Coconut Cake

1 pkg. 2 layer Pillsbury white or yellow cake mix (white mix is better)
1 1/3 cup water
4 eggs
1/4 cup oil
2 cups flake coconut
1 cup chopped walnuts or pecans

Blend cake mix, water, eggs and oil in large mixer bowl. Beat at medium speed of electric mixer 4 minutes. Stir in coconut, walnuts or pecans. Pour into 3 greased, floured 9" layer pans. Bake at 350° for 35 minutes. Cool in pans 15 minutes. Remove. Cool on rack. Fill and top with frosting.

Coconut Cream Cheese Frosting

4 tbsp. butter or margarine
2 cups flaked coconut
8 oz. pkg. cream cheese
2 tsp. milk, more if needed
3 1/2 cups powdered sugar
1/2 tsp. vanilla

Melt 2 tbsp. butter in skillet. Add coconut. Stir constantly over low heat until golden brown. Spread coconut on absorbent paper to cool. Cream 2 tbsp. butter with cream cheese. Add milk, beat in sugar gradually. Blend in vanilla. Stir in 1 3/4 cup of the coconut. Spread on top of cake layers. Stack. Sprinkle with remaining coconut, walnuts or pecans, but sprinkle coconut first all over the cake, then the walnuts or pecans. If you have extra coconut sprinkle rest on top of walnuts or pecans, again. Reserve some to put on side of whole cake. Decorate with holly around the cake. Make it look pretty.

Put holly on top of cake too (middle). Try adding a little green food coloring to remaining coconut. Then sprinkle it over cake, decorate with walnuts or pecans. Holly looks more like Christmas. My family loves this cake. It is a good recipe. If you like cream cheese you'll like this one. (This won prizes in Warren Fair (Third) and Thief River Falls Fair (First) five years ago.)

Step 2: Dissolve 1 pkg. cherry jello in 1/2 cup hot water, add 1/2 cup cold water and 1/2 cup evaporated milk. Pour over first layer when cool. Let set.

Step 3: Mix 1 pkg. lime jello the same as step 1.

Step 4: Mix 1 pkg. lemon jello the same as step 2.

Step 5: Mix 1 pkg. orange jello the same as step 1.

Step 6: Mix 1 pkg. orange-pineapple jello the same as step 2.

Step 7: Mix 1 pkg. strawberry jello the same as step 1.

Cut into squares and serve with whipped topping.

Winter Salad

Crunchy sauerkraut, mellow and seasoned, is so good with cold meats for Sunday meals. Makes 6 to 8 servings.

1/2 cup vinegar
1/2 cup sugar
1/4 cup vegetable oil
1 tsp. salt
1/2 tsp. pepper
1 can (1 lb.) sauerkraut
1 medium onion, chopped
1 green pepper, chopped
2 pimentos, chopped
1/2 tsp. garlic salt
1 tsp. celery seed

Combine vinegar, sugar, vegetable oil, salt and pepper in saucepan. Bring to a boil, stirring to dissolve sugar. Turn sauerkraut into strainer. Rinse under running water. Drain well. Place in a medium bowl. Pour hot vinegar mixture over sauerkraut. Add onions, green pepper, pimentos, garlic salt, celery seed. Toss thoroughly. Cool slightly. Cover and chill 4 hours before serving.

Happy to be making a bus trip with Santa Claus are second grader Samantha Rader, daughter of Anton and Susan Rader, and Jill Lappegaard, third grade daughter of Steven and Judy Lappegaard. Dale A. Nelson, bus driver for the past eight years for School District 564, made his last run Thursday, December 22—the last day of school prior to the Christmas and New Year holidays. As he has done for the past four years, he costumed as Santa Claus for the afternoon run and provided treats to the children on his route. Nelson, who is giving up bus driving to devote more time to another job, said Thursday's run was an emotional one. "I'm really going to miss seeing all those kids every day," he said.

Individual response key to juvenile justice system

Task force rejects idea of statewide sentencing guidelines

(This is the first in a series of articles about the juvenile justice system in this region.)

by David Hill
Associate Editor

Ninth district Judges Larry Jorgenson and Dennis Murphy held a public hearing Friday, December 16, to comply with a Minnesota statute requiring the judges of each district to consult with various persons in the county on juvenile dispositional (sentencing) criteria principles or factors. The purpose of the hearing was to provide an opportunity to exchange information and opinions on what the judges are using in making their dispositions (sentences).

Judge Jorgenson explained that judges in the district are in the process of developing a list of criteria for use in making their dispositions on juveniles. That list will later be published.

Over a year ago, a special task force was created to study the juvenile justice system in Minnesota. That task force eventually reached some recommendations, which became the impetus for new laws taking effect on January 1, 1995.

The task force recommended that the state not develop statewide juvenile delinquency sentencing guidelines. Only the state of Washington has a statewide sentencing guideline system for adults and juveniles and it had not alleviated the problem of over representation of children of color in the system or made sentences truly consistent, according to Michael Curtis, court specialist, Washington.

The task force concluded that the hallmark of the juvenile justice system in Minnesota is the ability to individualize the response of the system to each offender. After a juvenile is determined to be delinquent through an adjudication hearing, Minnesota law provides a wide array of potential dispositions that can be ordered by the judge through a disposition hearing. The court is charged with determining the dispositions that are necessary for rehabilitation of the juvenile.

State statute enumerates a variety of dispositions which can be used alone or in combination with the following: counseling child, parents, guardian or custodian; place the child under the supervision of a probation officer; transfer legal custody of the child to a variety of organizations or custodians; transfer legal custody to the commissioner of corrections; order the child to make reasonable restitution; require the child to pay a fine of up to $700; order the provision of special treatment or care for the child; and/or cancel the driver's license of the child.

Final decisions on dispositions ultimately rest with the court, however the decision usually includes input from the probation department, the offender, parents, defense counsel, prosecutor and others.

The task force considered the types of dispositions received by juveniles, and the factors influencing the dispositional outcomes. It appeared that the dispositions ordered most often are probation supervision, restitution, or fines. The second most common dispositions are placement at a local facility, or placement at a local residential treatment program.

A study conducted by the Supreme Court found that in only 17 per cent of the 15,500 studied cases was the juvenile removed from the home as a result of the disposition. Approximately 60 per cent of the juveniles had no prior offense history with the court, and the largest percentage of cases handled were minor property offenses.

The task force concluded that specific factors, that could be used throughout the state, could not be identified. A variety of factors, that individualize each case, play a role in the result of a disposition.

In addition, it is unlikely that a child will be sentenced during the first violation. The offense is usually diverted. The second offense generally results in a court appearance, and the third, a social history. Geographical differences also play a role in dispositions. For example, it is unlikely that a shoplifting offense will result in a court appearance in Hennepin county, but will in Pennington county.

The task force, and the state, nevertheless, realize the need for consistency in dispositions and are interested in encouraging different regions in the state to define some factors, which are considered important in the decision making process.

The judges in the Ninth District have met and have developed a list of criteria used in making dispositions. There are four main factors — the child, the family, the school, and the crime. They are not in any order of significance, nor has the list been finalized.

Several factors were identified as important when looking at the child: age, gender, prior criminal history, child's prior court involvement on delinquency matters, whether the child is on probation at the time of the commission of the offense or not; success or lack thereof of prior court ordered dispositions; what hours the child

Rural housing loan limit is up to $77,197

Maximum loan limits for guaranteed rural housing loans has been increased to $77,197 by Rural Economic and Community Development (formerly Farmers Home Administration).

For many rural counties, the limit had been $67,500, according to Charles Phillips, Pennington county RECD supervisor.

The maximum loan limits for RECD guaranteed rural housing loans are based on guidelines set by the Department of Housing and Urban Development (HUD). In Minnesota, 69 counties were limited to the old cap of $67,500. The cap was raised to $77,197 Oct. 27, 1994.

Questions concerning the housing programs can be directed to the local RECD office at 681-2843 in Thief River Falls.

Malinda Treitline of social services and Wendy Mattson of the Pennington county law enforcement center, were "making a list checking it twice". Over 600 presents have been purchased and wrapped for children who would not otherwise receive Christmas presents this year. Many organizations and individuals participated in the Community Christmas project this year. Many of those presents were handed out by Santa on Thursday and the rest delivered.

Christensens in leadership program

Sandi and Randy Aarestad of Norman county (right), current class leaders in the Red River Valley Emerging Leadership Program, present a $2,500 check to Howard Person and Deb Zak (left), Pennington county extension educators and program coordinators. In the center are Keith and Ruth Christensen, Pennington county participants in the program. The check represents $50 donations from 50 area banks to sponsor the December orientation session in Moorhead.

Keith and Ruth Christensen of rural Thief River Falls are representing Pennington county as Agassiz Leaders during the 1995 session of the Red River Valley Emerging Leadership Program. They will participate in five leadership sessions conducted in 1994 and 1995.

An orientation for the couples in the program was held in December in the Fargo-Moorhead area. Don Sargeant, chancellor at the University of Minnesota—Crookston, led an exercise on "Remembering Names Through Association." Dr. Harriett Light, professor from North Dakota State University in Fargo, presented "Balancing Work and Family" and Jerry Nagel from the Red River Trade Corridor discussed a recent trade summit and the role of the Red River Valley in the global economy.

Red River Valley Emerging Leadership Program was started in 1985 with a grant from the Otto Bremer Foundation. It was founded on the idea that effective leadership can be learned and that leaders grow into positions of leadership, motivated by a sense of responsibility for themselves and their communities.

Sponsoring organizations for the leadership program are the University of Minnesota Extension Service, Red River Valley Development Association and the University of Minnesota—Crookston.

This year's program is being coordinated by a group of persons committed to its philosophy: Deb Zak and Howard Person, Pennington county extension educators; Janelle Klinke, district extension office; Lynne Mullins, University of Minnesota—Crookston faculty; and Randy and Sandi Aarestad of Norman county, current Red River Valley Agassiz Leaders.

A special fund-raising effort led by the Aarestads resulted in $2,500 in contributions which were used for the December session. Fifty area banks and farm credit services each contributed $50 to support the December session.

Banks from this area included Karlstad State Bank, Badger State Bank, Security State Bank of Oklee, People's State Bank of Warren, Northern State Bank and keeps; the child's attendance in school; the child's discipline problems in school; the child's involvement in extra-curricular activities such as sports, music or other; whether the child is a leader or a follower; the age of the child's friends; any other factors that relate to an insight of the child and his functioning; indicators of chemical or alcohol abuse.

Factors identified as important when looking at the child's family include: the size of the family and where in the family structure the child lies; one parent or two parent household; Chemical or drug usage or abuse within the household; leadership in the household; are the parents afraid of the child; do parents cooperate with probation personnel in rehabilitative efforts in prior court involvement; extended family and its location; are there any other factors arising in the family that impact the disposition for the child?

Factors identified as important when looking at the child's school: the child's grades; attendance; extra-curricular involvement and the success of that involvement; leader or follower; friends and types of friends; age of friends; a teacher who is a friend or any other close relationship that may be in existence within a school personnel; discipline, problem or not; any other factors in the school which may impact the disposition.

Factors identified as important when looking at the child's crime include: the type of crime — property or person; violence involved in the commission of the crime; whether the violence was a part of the crime, or for example, was the crime a simple burglary and in the process of the dwelling or business was trashed; if a crime of violence in a personal nature, what was the culpability of the child; the age of the victim; the injury of violence done to the victim; the reasonable foreseeable consequences of the act; any other factor that may have arisen at the crime which would affect disposition.

At the meeting Friday night, individuals at the meeting specifically requested that by including school officials in the disposition process, conflict of purpose in sentencing or punishment, could be avoided.

Participants at the meeting also noted that it is important to quickly dispense justice in juvenile matters. It has to be fast to have an impact on children.

New laws that go into affect on January 1, 1995, will grant judges an even wider variety of options in disposition.

The task force recommended that the juvenile court system, while it is appropriate and effective for a great many of the children that come before it, needs to be strengthened in its ability to respond to the growing number of serious juvenile offenses. The legislature adopted its recommendations and created the Extended Jurisdiction Juvenile (EJJ) prosecutions.

EJJ allows the court to prosecute a minor as a juvenile but grants the option to the court of sentencing the juvenile to an adult prison if the juvenile violates conditions of probation. This will only occur in instances of serious felonies committed after the juvenile's 14th birthday. Other factors also play a role in whether the child is sentenced to an adult prison.

Several factors have been developed for courts in designating a case as an EJJ prosecution. Additional protections also become available to the juvenile if he or she is involved in an EJJ prosecution, including a jury trial and right to an attorney.

Hearings on certain juvenile matters are also leaning toward a tendency of becoming more public.

(More information on the new laws will appear in the Wednesday, January 4 edition of The Times.)

Deadline for arts grants is scheduled for February 1

Arts Council of the Northwest Regional Development Commission (NWRDC) is accepting applications for grants in literary, performing and visual arts. February 1, 1995 is the deadline for organizations to apply for sponsorship and production assistance grants. Organizations may apply for a maximum of $2,500 in matching funds per grant. Each organization may still receive up to $3,500 in grant funds annually. Production Assistance grants are available for the creation, performance, or exhibition of arts. Sponsorship grants provide funds to host guest artists or touring groups.

The upcoming small arts grant deadline is February 1. Under this program, organizations may apply for up to $500 in matching funds for the production or sponsorship of arts events of approximately $1,000 in total costs.

Public schools are eligible to receive arts education grants in visual, performing, or literary arts for projects such as conducting an artist-in-residence program, hosting a visiting artist, conducting workshops for students and/or teachers, and other activities.

NWRDC announces an additional NWRDC/McKnight Small Capital grants round. Arts organizations classified under section 501 (c) (3) of the Internal Revenue Code may apply for artistic equipment or other small capital expenditures. This program is supported with funding from the McKnight Foundation. The deadline for small capital grant applications is February 1, 1995.

Application materials for all the grant programs are available from Mara Lunde, arts council director, NWRDC, 525 Brooks Avenue South, Thief River Falls, MN 56701 (218) 681-2637 or 1-800-450-2637.

Go Light on Holiday Drinking

Holiday festivities prompt many of us to drink more alcohol than usual. This year, you may feel cheered on by some reports that say one daily drink reduces heart attack risk — but the fact remains that drinking alcohol poses many other health risks, including greater risk for some forms of cancer, according to the American Institute for Cancer Research (AICR). Alcohol also adds lots of calories at a time when rich holiday foods are already padding our waistlines.

In the "real world," it is difficult to resist social pressure to drink. But here are some easy tips from AICR to help you cut down on alcohol and on its needless calories.

As a guest, when you first arrive at a party, make your first drink a non-alcoholic one, then alternate the alcoholic beverages with non-alcholic "chasers." Many non-alcoholic drinks can be made to look like alcoholic ones. To help you feel like you are blending in with the crowd: try club soda or tonic with a wedge of lemon or lime, spiced tomato juice, sparkling juice drinks, or mix juice with selzer on ice. So many exotic juice combinations and fruit-flavored spritzers are on the grocery shelves these days, non-alcoholic beverages do not have to be boring.

Another good tip is to drink alcohol as slowly as possible, in small sips. Never drink alcohol to relieve thirst. Be wise to alcoholic beverages that are marketed as having less calories and less alcohol: even though they may truly have less, it is easy to use that as an excuse to drink more of them, and actually end up drinking more alcohol than you would have in regular alcoholic beverages. For example, in equal amounts, wine coolers are a bit lower in calories than table wine. However, a standard 12-ounce serving of a wine cooler has more than twice the calories of a standard 5-ounce serving of wine.

Passing level II music theory exam: Matthew Dimich, fifth grade son of Judy and Dr. Tom Dimich of Thief River Falls; Erin Melby, ninth grade daughter of Barb and Cliff Melby of Oklee; and Bob Ekeren, adult piano student, Thief River Falls. Matthew, Erin and Bob have already passed Level I music theory exam.

Passing level III music theory exam: Nikolas Kotz, ninth grade son of Sue and Jim Kotz of Thief River Falls; and Amanda Rodahl, 11th grade daughter of Barb and David Rodahl of Thief River Falls. Nikolas and Mandi have already passed Level I and Level II music theory exams.

Passing Level IV music theory exam: D. Paul Dehnert, ninth grade son of Polly and Dong Dehnert of St. Hilaire; and Kari Knuttila, ninth grade daughter of JoAnne and Steve Knuttila of Detroit Lakes. Kari and Paul have already passed Levels I, II and III music theory exams.

"Christmas at Telemarken" program Jan. 1

The annual "Christmas at Telemarken" program will be held Sunday, January 1, at Telemarken Lutheran church, beginning at 2:30 p.m.

The program will consist of audience singing, special musical numbers, recitations, readings and a mediation by Rev. Raynard Huglen.

A fellowship lunch will be served by the women of the church after the meeting. All are invited to attend.

Telemarken is located three miles south and four miles west of Goodridge and 13 miles east and two miles south of Thief River Falls on Highway 1.

Health Column — Holiday drinking

As a host, offer food along with non-alcoholic and, if desired, alcoholic beverages. Serve only a limited number and variety of alcoholic beverages, so that your guests are not encouraged to drink more just because it is available. Always offer an appealing variety of non-alcoholic drinks as well.

For a delicous non-alcholic holiday punch, combine unsweetened apple, pineapple and cranberry juices, orange slices, and selzer or ginger ale; to serve hot, omit the selzer or ginger ale and add a dash of cinnamon, nutmeg and cloves.

Give the party another focus besides drinking, such as preparing special hors d'oeuvres (make-your-own taco, or fondue), playing a game, exchanging gifts, or singing songs. This is also a good way to get people to interact without drinking, instead of tempting them to resort to alcohol because they may feel uneasy about not knowing each other.

Of course, always call a taxi for guests who appear too intoxicated to drive (in some states, hosts are liable for drunk driving accidents involving guests they have let drive home drunk).

For a free booklet on alcohol's role in cancer risk, send a stamped (52 cents postage), self-addressed envelope top the American Institute for Cancer Research; Dept. AC, Washington, DC 20069.

NEW BIRTHS

Sunstroms are parents of a new baby boy, Josiah

Rick and Jennifer (Westlin) Sunstrom of Deer Creek are the proud parents of a baby boy born December 14. His name is Josiah Michael. He joins a brother, Jeremiah.

Grandparents are Curt and Rosie Westlin and great-grandmothers are Katherine Hagman and Harriet Westlin.

Northwest Medical Center reports the following births since last week's edition of The Times:

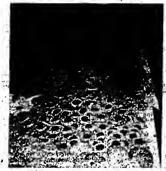
On December 19, a baby girl was born to Kenton and Gayleen Kainz of Thief River Falls. She has been named Lillian Marie.

Also on December 19, a baby boy was born to Steven and Karen Klopp of Strandquist. His name is Bret Dennis.

J. Hesses are parents of a new son, Jacob

Connie and Jerry Hesse are happy to announce their adoption of Jacob Clarence Hesse on December 20. He was born September 20 in Dallas, TX.

Grandparents are Carol Benitt of Holt and Bertha Hesse of Thief River Falls.



Lincoln high school Close-Up students baked 850 dozen or over 10,000 Christmas cookies to raise money for their upcoming Washington, DC, seminar. Parents and students worked Friday evening and all day Saturday to complete the baking and packaging. Jubilee Foods and Bridgeman's provided the ingredients at reduced prices. The Close-up program is a one-week seminar on government. It will be held February 26 through March 4 in Washington, DC. Eleven students from Thief River Falls will attend the seminar with their advisor, Charlie Cornell. Pictured from left are Alyssa Johnson, Kassi Westerman and Karen Helsa.

WIC releases January schedule

The Women, Infants and Children's Supplemental Nutrition Education Program (WIC) is being held the month of December.

Infants and children up to the age of five and women who are pregnant or breast feeding may be eligible for the program. Prenatal nutrition is a vital part of producing a healthy baby and it is important to apply for WIC early in the pregnancy. No proof of pregnancy is needed.

All potential clients must write or call WIC and complete an application.

The following is the schedule for WIC clinics to be held at Redeemer Lutheran church in Thief River Falls for this month:

- Monday, January 2;
- Monday, January 9;
- Thursday, January 19; and
- Friday, January 20.

Note: Immunizations will now be given by the county nurses. Contact Inter-County Nursing Service in Thief River Falls at 681-5950 for dates and times.

For further information about the WIC program, call or write WIC/EPS, Quin County, P.O. Box 190, Red Lake Falls, MN 56750 or telephone 1-800-223-1591 or 1-218-253-2125.

The WIC program must treat everyone the same. A person cannot be treated unfairly because of race, color, national origin, age, sex or handicap. If you feel you have been treated unfairly, write Administrator, Food and Nutrition Services, U.S. Department of Agriculture, 3101 Park Center Drive, Alexandria, VA 22302.

Bookmobile schedules January stops

Northwest Regional Library will be making the following stops in January:

— Tuesday, January 3, 17 and 31 at Plummer school from 9 to 10:30 a.m., at Brooks from 10:45 to 11:30 a.m., at downtown Oklee from 12:15 to 1:30 p.m. and Oklee school from 1:30 to 2:30 p.m.

— Wednesday, January 4 and 18 at Grygla from 10:30 a.m. to 12 noon, at Gatzke from 1 to 2 p.m., and Middle River from 3 to 4:30 p.m.

— Thursday, January 5 and 19 at Newfolden school from 9 to 10:15 a.m., at Strandquist school from 10:30 to 11:30 a.m. and at Florian from 12:30 to 1 p.m.

— Tuesday, January 10 and 24 at Viking school from 1 to 2:30 p.m. and at Oslo from 3:30 to 4:30 p.m.

— Wednesday, January 11 and 25, at Karlstad school from 9 to 10:30 a.m., downtown Karlstad from 10:30 a.m. to 12 noon, Stephen from 1 to 2:30 p.m. and at Argyle from 2:45 to 3:30 p.m.

— Thursday, January 12 and 26 at St. Vincent from 11 a.m. to 12 noon, at Lancaster school from 1 to 2:15 p.m., downtown Lancaster from 2:15 to 3 p.m., at Lake Bronson from 3:15 to 3:45 p.m. and at Halma from 4 to 4:30 p.m.

Persons with a disability who want assistance accessing library materials from the bookmobile may contact the bookmobile librarian at 681-1066. Toll free number, 1-800-450-1066, is available Monday through Friday from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m.

January immunizations in Marshall county

The Marshall County Immunization Clinic will be held at the following locations:

- Tuesday, January 3, from 9 to 11 a.m. at the Newfolden Community Center;
- Wednesday, January 4 from 9 to 11 a.m. at the Middle River Community Center;
- Thursday, January 12, from 9 to 11 a.m. at the Grygla Civic building;
- Monday, January 16 from 9 to 11 a.m. at the Evangelical Covenant church in Warren; and
- Monday, January 23, from 4:30 to 6:30 p.m. at the Marshall County Nursing Service in Warren.

Clinics are open to the public and anyone who needs immunizations is encouraged to attend. The vaccine used is provided free of charge by the Minnesota Department of Health for use in community-based clinics.

There will be a $4 fee for administering the vaccine, but no one will be refused because of inability to pay.

The clinic asks that you take your infant to your family physician for the initial DTP and oral polio immunization or bring a signed referral from the physician indicating the immunization is to be given by the clinic. The clinic also wants to state that immunization services given at the public clinics should not be substituted for the child's usual well-child visit with his or her physician. Bring the child's immunization record with each time the child is brought for a shot. Immunizations will not be given unless the immunization record is presented, unless it is the first shot.

For more information contact Nancy Maurstad, RN, at the Marshall County Nursing Service at 218-745-5154.

In Loving Memory Of Our Son & Brother
THOMAS RAYMOND

A cluster of precious memories sprinkled with love and tears, wishing you had been with us, if only for a few more years.

You left a precious memory, and sorrow too great to hold; and to all who loved and lost you; your memory will never grow old.

You were taken from us so suddenly, we never got to say goodbye, but we know you're watching over us, from the heavens in the sky.

May God Bless You Tom! We love you and miss you so very, very much...

Love,
Mom, Kris, Rob and Brad

. . . What Happened to Christmas This Year?

New sleds, skates and skis from Santa sit abandoned in the corner. Grandmas' gifts of warm, hand-knitted mittens, scarves, caps and sweaters are still in the boxes. Little noses press against windows and sad eyes search the sky for clouds that might come bearing snow.

Where is the snow? Little patches of leftover greyish white and puddles of water show where the fluffy white hills of snow have been, but lawns and the countryside are brown and barren. Sidewalks and streets have only a layer of frost at night to make them glitter.

Temperatures are balmy and mild, much more suited to southern climates – no winds blow. Some people doing last-minute Christmas shopping wore no coats – others wore coats but no caps, scarves or gloves.

Have we ever had such a Christmas?

I can't remember a Christmas so warm with no snow on the ground and I didn't like it this year. Christmas just isn't Christmas without fat flakes of snow falling all around, sparkling under the street lights. Brown ground and bare sidewalks are not what I think Christmas should be.

Children should enjoy their vacation playing in the snow, making forts and snowmen, skating, skiing, sledding. They should come in the door to drink hot chocolate with rosy cheeks, pink noses, and snow-covered mittens and boots. They should not come in the door with muddy feet at Christmas time.

People should be Christmas shopping in warm coats, bundled in scarves and mittens, and come home shaking the snow from their hair. They should not be meandering about without coats at Christmas time.

Everyone tells me I shouldn't complain – that we will get the snow and the cold soon enough and then I will be sorry I whined about it.

Perhaps I shall – perhaps in January I will look back and thank heaven for the warmth of December because it will be 40 degrees below zero and the wind will be howling outside and we will have snow up to the second story windows.

But right now I can't help but complain – Christmas just wasn't Christmas to me this year without the snow.

I Resolve Not To...

As the last words of "Auld Lang Syne" are belted out, many people are busy composing their New Year's resolutions. I'm not one to make resolutions, but I do set goals for myself throughout the year and a plan to achieve them.

Three years ago I decided I wanted to teach water aerobics. To many, this may seem like an unusual objective, but where else could I get paid to exercise? And the water presents a perfect place to work out – you don't feel like you're sweating. I loathe sweating.

So I set out to teach. Because I had participated in classes for 10 years, I knew I could handle the basics: get music, read books, attend seminars, recruit students. But there was one roadblock. The community education program required instructors to be certified lifeguards. That could be difficult for me; I never swam past advanced beginner's in my lesson years. Upper body strength and swimming laps were not my strong points.

And, I envisioned the stereotypical image of a lifeguard – young, very young. Years younger than me. I would be taking a class with these agile, energetic, physically fit teenagers. My character and self-esteem might be challenged, not to mention my physical abilities.

To avoid embarrassment, I enrolled in a class 45 miles away so the other participants wouldn't know me. I didn't want word of my exploits to follow me around.

Every Friday night for eight weeks, I struggled. I swam laps until my skin shrunk. I practiced each technique five or six times before I more or less mastered it. Those high school kids made everything look so easy. Why couldn't I perform the saves?

The class definitely wasn't a confidence builder for me. I felt certain that becoming a lifeguard wasn't my calling. Besides, I don't classify myself as someone overwhelmed with athletic prowess; my theory is that I was out eating lunch when God distributed athletic ability.

One exercise involved jumping into the pool with a floating ring in one hand. We were to swim to the "victim" and clasp the rope around her. Sounds simple. Except that somehow the clasp hooked the leg of my swimsuit. There I was, arms and legs splashing, while I tried to unhook myself, keep my suit on, look calm and save the victim. It's a good thing she could tread water for a long time.

Another technique involved retrieving someone from the bottom of the pool. Our instructor recruited outside help for this one. He could have drowned five times by the time I brought him to the surface. It's not my fault he didn't float. Get some fat, buddy!

My instructor deserves some credit. She didn't show exasperation or engage in extreme eye rolling when I tried something for the ninth time. I'm sure she wasn't experienced in dealing with the older-than-average lifeguard candidate.

Then there was the test. I couldn't believe what they expected me to do. They wanted me to hold a 10-pound brick (with both hands) over my head and tread water for five minutes. They also wanted me to swim one length of the pool in a minuscule amount of time, holding that same 10-pound brick.

I gave myself a small pep talk before each leg of the test. "I can do this. I CAN do this. I can DO this. I can do THIS." (I empathized with "The Little Engine That Could" and his state of mind.) Then I'd cross my fingers and stuff my lucky rabbit's foot down the front of my swimming suit. Besides paying off the instructor, there wasn't much else I could do.

Something worked. (Maybe the clincher was the pan of brownies I left in the teacher's ear. The note said something like: "These brownies are sweet and so are you. Pass me and I'll be so happy.") I passed the course. The good news is I eventually found satisfaction teaching a class.

After that experience, I composed a new resolution for myself: never take lifeguard training again.

Diabetes support group to meet

Lokstads to celebrate 15th anniversary

David and Judy Lokstad will celebrate their 25th wedding anniversary with an open house on December 31 from 1 to 4 p.m. at the Evangelical Free church in Newfolden. Lunch will be served and there will be a short program at 2 p.m. Everyone is cordially invited.

James Rogalla

James Rogalla resigns from hospital board

On Monday, December 19, the Northwest Medical Center board of directors met in regular session and as part of that meeting accepted the resignation of James Rogalla from the Northwest Medical Center board of directors.

The board of directors accepted Rogalla's resignation with deep regret and sincere appreciation for his service. Board member, Keith Steva has been elected by the board of directors to serve as vice-chairperson.

"I have truly enjoyed my six and one-half years as a member of the Northwest Medical Center board of directors," said Rogalla. "I have served as chairperson of the board of directors, chair of the finance committee and on various committees. Due to time constraints, involvement in other civic memberships and family, I have decided it best to resign at this time.

"The community of Thief River Falls should be very thankful to have a facility such as Northwest Medical Center and a very talented and well organized senior staff which oversees the operation of the facility. It has been a rewarding experience and very educational with respect to healthcare.

"I have enjoyed working with the different members of our community who have served on the board of directors during my term and I wish total success to the entire board as they address new challenges in the healthcare industry."

Rogalla was reelected to a three-year term on the board at the annual meeting held last September. The board has the option of appointing someone to fill the position until the end of the term or until the next annual meeting in September of 1995 when an election could be held to fill the two years remaining on the term. At this point the board has not made that decision.

Nelson earns AQHA award for riding

James R. Nelson of Thief River Falls recently earned an award for logging 250 hours in the American Quarter Horse Association horseback riding program. The program provides AQHA members recognition for time spent riding American Quarter Horses.

Current AQHA members must complete an official application and pay a one-time $25 enrollment fee. Each participant received an official AQHA log sheet to keep track of riding hours. Members need not own their own horses, but all official hours must be accrued either riding or driving a registered American Quarter Horse.

A recognition patch and halter are awarded after 50 hours have been logged and verified. Patches are awarded for 100 and 250 hours with a belt buckle also awarded at 250 hours. Gift certificates are awarded at 500, 1,000 and 2,000 hours.

Well, Christmas is officially over. Torn paper and empty boxes carpet the floor where succulent packages once stood. The giant Norway Pine that once towered in our living room lies pathetically in the back yard. We'll eventually take care of it. In the mean time it's constantly in the way, driven over and crushed to mulch by spring.

The local discount stores are filled with crabby customers; very crabby customers. They quite impatiently wait in line for items they view as less than satisfactory, venting their frustrations on innocent checkouts and unsuspecting shoppers.

The snowy streets, gray and dismal, paint a crude picture. Unfortunately, the muddy slush is prone to splashing passing pedestrians. The cheery little Christmas tree and street lamps adorned in garland don't look quite as special as they did that brief winter's eve. Maple Avenue with its dripping candles and luscious lights now droops in the morning's glaring rays. The all around happiness and sappiness of Christmas has been lost.

Children pout, "I wanted the baby that talked; this one doesn't even pee."

The holiday cheer that once spread through a single smile now grunts from a splitting headache. The last candy cane lies broken under a box filled with bows. The last gingerbread man is suffering from severe amputations. Poor guy, he only has one leg and his head fell in the red jello. Crusty sugar cookie bells and laughing santas thunk sharply as they hit the bottom of the smelly trash.

I overhead someone say the other day, "I can't wait until this Christmas business is over and everything is back to normal."

Is that how people view Christmas these days-something to "get through?" Whatever happened to the baby Jesus? Is Christmas just a business opportunity for greedy merchants? A holiday to exploit for financial purposes? It seems that Christmas is about credit limits and the New year's debt. A chance for retailers to make big bucks on Santa figurines and candy canes. It also feels like the religion part has gone out of it. Last year I think our pastor forgot what he was there for. He herded us in like cattle, spoke to us for a few minutes, and then shooed us out. Better things to do I guess. If it weren't for my family my Christmas would have been ruined.

Whatever happened to the old fashioned Christmas like Grandma used to tell me about? An enormous home cooked meal with all the fixings. Fifteen people seated at a table made for eight. A juicy 25-pound turkey crammed with apples and raisins waiting patiently on the counter beside the mountains of creamy mashed potatoes garnished with rich turkey gravy oozing down the side. It's only a few pounds; maybe I got a stairstepper from Amy.

Anticipation builds as sparkling lights from the tree beckon the children near. After the anxious children willingly help with the dishes, a very rare occasion, the family crawls into the grocery getter and heads to the candlelight service. The hearty crowd belts out carols and rejoices in the celebration. One bright shining star catches their eye to remind them why they're there.

That's my idea of the perfect Christmas. A small town where you don't have to be afraid to wish someone a Merry Christmas. I'd give up the fancy gifts to have it like it was then. The neighborhood gathering to sing songs a capella by candlelight on a chilly December night. Mobs crowding in the house later for hot cocoa and spritz cookies. Everyone drooling over the wonderful smells of the season; the fudge in the fridge, the pine in the living room, the cookies in the oven, the Holliberry candles on the window sill, all making Christmas as wonderful as possible.

LPN program at NWTC approved by board

Practical nursing program at Northwest Technical College in Thief River Falls has been granted renewal of approval from the Minnesota Board of Nursing. The board evaluates and approves nursing education programs within the state.

Approval becomes effective December 30 and continues until a renewal of approval survey is again made.

Thief River Falls practical nursing program began in 1949 with seven students graduating in September of 1950. Program approval has been maintained since that time. There are 121 students currently enrolled in the program.

Popularity of the program has increased dramatically over the past several years, primarily because of the increased demand in the health field, according to Don Howe, enrollment management coordinator at the technical college.

The Thief River Falls program graduates approximately 55 students each year with a five-year average of 96 per cent of those passing the state licensure exam. In the most recent report, 94 per cent of the graduates are in nursing related employment, most often in long term care or are enrolled in additional nursing education.

A celebration of the new approval is being planned for students and advisory committee members in January.

Paula Peterson earns MS degree

Paula Peterson of Thief River Falls has been awarded a master of science degree from the University of South Dakota in Vermillion at its 19th winter commencement exercises.

ACTIVITIES

Christmas Feely Box

With all of the excitement of the season, sometimes we need a quiet activity that can help calm a child. A "homemade feely box" may be the answer.

Select a medium-size box with a lid. Cut a small hole in one side to insert a child's hand. Inside the box put the traditional Christmas items such as ribbons, wrapping paper, non-breakable ornaments, stockings, bells, candles etc.

The child puts his hand into the opening and tries to identify the item by touch only. Try it. It's not as easy as it sounds.

SCAVENGER HUNT

For next week's Activities feature, you will need Ivory soap flakes, a hand mixer, toothbrushes, rollers, craft sticks, paint brushes and dark paper.

BOOK OF THE WEEK

The Thief River Falls public library invites you to browse through its new selection of children's books including the following:

Stevenson, James. Worse Than Worst. It's impossible to imagine that anyone can be worse than old Mr. Worst until his great-nephew Warren comes to visit. Warren brings his dog Arnold along and the combination is worse than the worst!

Speed, Toby. Hattie Baked a Wedding Cake. Hattie's wedding cakes are truly one of a kind. You'll find the most unlikely ingredients such as the wind in the windchimes, chamber music from a string quartet and one crucial ingredient that no wedding can be without!

VIDEO VARIETY

The Christmas They Never Forgot. When a sudden fierce snowstorm traps the Ingalls family inside the little house on Christmas Eve, they pass the time by exchanging stories about their favorite Christmases of the past.

PARENTING TIPS

Too Many Toys?

Eventually almost every child will have more toys than he/she can use or more than you have room for. When this happens your child may drift from one toy to another for only brief or superficial play. One solution to this problem is to put some of the toys away for a while.

When you pack some of the toys away for a while, several things can happen.

•Fewer toys are easier to pick up and put away.

•Fewer toys encourage your child to be more resourceful and inventive in looking for ways to play with the available toys.

•When you rotate the toys, the "new" toys that are coming out of storage will be interesting and fun.

If your child is old enough, he/she can help decide which toys to put away and which ones to bring out.

These periodic switches also offer a good opportunity for you to examine the toys. If repairs are needed, make them. If the toy is damaged beyond repair, discard it or salvage whatever may be reusable. A "junk" box of old toy parts can be a treasure chest to an older child who likes to tinker with construction projects.

SOMETHING TO TALK ABOUT

Name the toys you are taking out of storage. Ask your child what he/she might do with each.

Holiday blood drive in Grygla is successful

Grygla, Gatzke, Skime, has really demonstrated that it is an area with a heart by once again sponsoring a blood drive close to the holidays.

The turnout on December 12 was good with 69 people volunteering to donate blood and 50 being able to give. Sponsoring a blood drive near the holidays is a very important responsibility. Because many donors make plans for other activities, they sometimes forget to allow time for donating blood.

Ralph Rundell coordinated the drive sponsored by the Grygla Lion's club. The Grygla Lioness club assisted with recruiting donors, refreshments and registering donors the day of the drive. Others who assisted with the drive were: Ione Aune, Mildred Klamer, Barb McKeever, Roy Nordby, Randy Homme, Jackio Kjollberg, Sherry Woods, Hazel Holtbusen, and Phyllis Wikert. Loren Lusignan recruited and allowed staff and students time off from the school to donate. The Lion's club provided space to hold the drive at the Grygla Community Center.

Blood drives don't just happen. Hours of work are necessary to organize a successful blood drive, and many people have helped to make Grygla, Gatzke, Skime's community blood drive work well.

Osmonson serves Farm Bureau

Bennett Osmonson of Gully is serving on the board of directors of the Minnesota Farm Bureau Federation which held its annual meeting recently in Bloomington. His term on the board was not up for election this year.

The annual meeting determined the organization's positions on such topics as property tax reform and school funding, property rights and land management, value added agricultural production and legislative review of governmental rules and regulations.

Installation of officers for Northern Lodge 236 AF & AM (Masons) was conducted Monday, December 19, at the lodge hall in Thief River Falls. Past Master Donald Walker is pictured installing his son Alan as the new master of the lodge for 1995. Both are from Red Lake Falls. This is the second such installation as the same circumstances applied in 1993.

NWRDC awards area arts funds

Northwest Regional Development Commission (NWRDC) recently awarded funds totaling $4,745 to local regional arts development projects and $285 to a small arts project. With funding provided by the McKnight Foundation, awards totaling $890 were given for two McKnight Individual Artist projects.

Under the local regional arts development program, Crookston public school, will receive $1,520 for the sponsorship of two orchestra workshops and a performance on February 5-6. Two Rivers Area Theater, Red Lake Falls, was awarded $1,000 for the production of The Nerd on March 3-5. Community Performing Arts Council, East Grand Forks, was awarded $1,270 for the production of a 10-year musical review on January 27-29. Argyle public school will receive $955 for the sponsorship of Prairie Fire Theater production of Upon the Corner of the Moon on March 27-April 1.

Under the small arts program Hallock public library was awarded $285 for the sponsorship of Lin and Lief Enger for a book and author reading on April 21.

Under the McKnight Individual Artist program, Lucile Torkelson, Crookston, will receive $390 for an organ mentorship with George French from January to December 1995. Brik Budd, Fosston, was awarded $500 for exhibition preparation for an exhibit in Minneapolis on February 25, 1995.

February 1, 1995, is also the next deadline for organizations, schools and individuals to apply for funding to support arts projects. For more information on the above program or for information on how to apply for an arts grant, contact Mara Lunde, arts council director, NWRDC, 525 Brooks Avenue South, Thief River Falls, MN 56701, (218) 681-2637 or 1-800-450-2637.

Here's Wishing For A Conservative New Year

Whether American voters will get in the coming year what they asked for in the November elections will depend to a large extent on the depth of conviction in those they elected. Temptations will be great for newly-elected Congressmen and Senators to get caught up in the same old pressures from bureaucrats and lust for popularity that are counter-productive in budget cutting and expense control.

Walter Cockerham, a former State Senator in North Carolina, had good advice for newly-elected Republicans in a letter published in the Greensboro, NC "News & Record."

"Don't be fooled into playing the role of Mr. Nice Guy," he advises. "Voters expect you to trim the bloated bureaucracy and to eliminate give-away programs and vote-buying, pork barrel appropriations....Crime is a top priority. Voters are tired of laws without teeth. They want protection from the criminal element. They're tired of country club prisons and short sentences for those who refuse to obey the law. Beware of trial lawyers' control in this debate.

"If you allow the Democrats, bureaucrats, lobbyists and liberal media to be the 'squeaking wheels that get the grease' and forget who elected you and why," he warns, "then prepare for a shock in two years—and just sign in for temporary duty."

It won't be easy for the new majority in the House and Senate to battle not only the people and practices entrenched in government, but the attitude that has been cultivated for too long in too many of the American people.

For example, we received in last week's mail a news release from the Minnesota Education Association regarding the Minnesota Universal Breakfast Pilot Project. According to the news release, children at 825 school sites throughout Minnesota have been served a nutritious breakfast under the project, which is described as "part of a national program to provide a free breakfast for all students."

"Why don't children get breakfast at home?" the article asks. Then it answers: "Many families struggle financially to put food on the table. Single parent families in which both parents work may be too busy in the morning to prepare breakfast. Students are in a hurry, too. And some children just don't have an appetite in the morning."

We have no quarrel with providing a nutritious meal for a youngster whose parents are financially unable to provide it. We find it a little more difficult to accept the the idea that parents, single or otherwise, are too busy to feed their children or that students should be less hurried or have a better appetite at school than at home. But all of that is incidental to the point.

"Minnesota school breakfast programs are supported by federal and state funding and student fees," the release continues. "The 1994 Minnesota Legislature appropriated $200,000 to help Minnesota schools expand breakfast programs in 1994-95. Only 15 per cent—$7.2 million—of available federal funds were used in 1993. The advisory committee is looking at ways to make use of the federal money."

There is one of the keys to getting a handle on government waste. Government has been too liberal in giving and people are too willing to be looking for ways to make use of the federal money! Dole it out in any quantity and people will justify a means to ask for more.

This is only one relatively small sticker in a field of thistles, but it illustrates how "federal funds" are too often perceived. Here's wishing a more conservative new year in 1995 and more years to come.

Looking For A New Sports Argument? Try This One For Size

Many sports fans have been surprised at how easy it is to adjust to life without major league baseball and top level professional hockey. The owners and the striking players aren't getting a lot of attention except for the occasional sports reporter who happens by with a question or two. The general public seems to view the strikes as a feud between two greedy parties in each sport, none of whom deserve any public sympathy.

Now former major league baseball player Jimmy Piersall has championed a baseball rule change proposal that should be good for a few strong arguments. Piersall circled the bases backward—from home to third, second, first and home—when he hit his 100th major league home run with the New York Mets in 1963. He now proposes a rule change that would let a batter run to either first or third when he hits a fair ball.

Piersall even joined with baseball fan Bill Schrank on a 900 phone number vote (which ended Christmas Eve) to check fan response to the rule change suggestion. At $2.75 per call it was an interesting money-making scheme, even though it promised to donate 10 per cent to charity and give away an autographed baseball to one voter in every thousand callers.

The idea is that the batters in each half inning would have the option of running to either first or third. If a runner reached base safely, he would proceed around the bases in the same direction, as would all other players coming to bat in the same half inning until the bases were empty.

"The point is getting the fans excited and talking about the game again," Schrank said. "How would this affect their favorite players? How many first basemen could throw out a runner at third? How well would different teams handle the double play from second to third?"

Want to start your own argument? Suggest the change the next time two or more are gathered together. We'll almost guarantee a reaction.

LETTERS

To The Editor:

Thief River Falls Chapter of the Minnesota Deer Hunters Association has just completed its 10th year collecting deer hides in the "Hides for Habitat" program.

Without the generosity of area hunters this program would not be as successful as it is today. This past year we collected 1,000 hides in northwestern Minnesota, the sale of which has brought us just over $8,500 for use in habitat improvements and area food plots for next year.

Again, thank you. Without your support we would not be able to provide this type of habitat improvement, so that future generations can enjoy the hunting heritage that we have today.

Sincerely,
Dana Klos

Dummer herd has top cow in DHIA

Richard Dummer herd had the top individual cow, three others in the top 10 and six others among 49 total animals meeting minimum production standards in the Red Lake County Dairy Herd Improvement Association for November.

To qualify for listing, cows completing their 305-day or less lactation must have had production of 22,000 pounds of milk, 750 pounds of butterfat or 700 pounds of protein. Placement is based on value of product.

Dummer's top cow produced 28,942 pounds of milk, 887 pounds of butterfat and 855 pounds of protein.

Second place cow from Johnston Farms produced 27,040 pounds of milk, 918 pounds of butterfat and 882 pounds of protein. Third place cow from the Northwest Agricultural Experiment Station produced 29,352 pounds of milk, 819 pounds of butterfat and 797 pounds of protein.

Other cows in the top 10 came from the following herds with their production of milk, butterfat and protein listed respectively:

Greg and Susan Zak, 26,095, 988 and 799; Don and Karen Konickson, 25,286, 790 and 849; Northwest Ag Experiment Station, 27,561, 603 and 825; Richard Dummer, 24,075, 880 and 766; Northwest Ag Experiment Station, 23,089, 824 and 820; Richard Dummer, 23,193, 926 and 767 and 25,673, 844 and 720.

Individual producers not in the top 10 came from the following herds:

Richard Dummer, 6; Don and Karen Konickson, 3; Northwest Ag Experiment Station, 4; Beyer Farms; Randy and Jo Gast, 5; Wayoo Vettlesnn; Goodvue Ayr Farms; Gary and Grant Gullekson; Arlan and Barb Weiss, 2; Arnie and Barb Schmitz; Tom and Diane Kolstoe; Gerald Visser; and Greg and Susan Zak.

Second place was awarded to the Paul and Theresa Olson family of Route 4, Thief River Falls, and third place to Glenn and Joan Peterson of 1307 Duluth Avenue North.

Prizes awarded were $250 for first place, $100 for second and $50 for third.

Jaycees thank all who participated in the contest for their interest and for brightening the holidays for all who see their displays.

Postal worker notices gas leak at house

Police in Thief River Falls are crediting Wally Sjaaheim, a United States postal employee, with discovering a gas leak at a residence on North Kneale.

According to Sgt. Al Melbye of the police department, the police department and fire department responded to a report of a gas leak at about 1 p.m. Sjaaheim was delivering mail on Tuesday, December 20, when he noticed the smell of propane gas coming from a house. He alerted police.

Sgt. Melbye said no one was home in either of the two apartments in the house. Once inside, they discovered that a pilot light on a propane gas stove was out and gas had leaked into the apartment. The propane tank was turned off and the house was aired out.

Sgt. Melbye said, "Sjaaheim saved us from a potential disaster."

Dick McCloskey, postmaster in Thief River Falls, said postal employees are trained to be observant while on their routes. McCloskey said they were real pleased Sjaaheim was able to help and that no one was injured.

Sjaaheim has been with the postal department in Thief River Falls for 25 years.

Faculty forum for instructors held at NCC

"Learning Through Discussion" was the topic at a recent faculty forum held for instructors at Northland Community College and Northwest Technical College in Thief River Falls.

Tony Miltich from Fergus Falls Community College presented a fast-paced, insightful, and entertaining session on how to make groups more effective for teachers and students.

Miltich uses group interaction, lecture, handouts, and music in his presentation. Faculty finds this information useful in courses that involve theory, exploration, ambiguity and critical analysis.

Miltich has presented for the Minnesota Council for Teachers of English, Minnesota Community College projects in classroom assessment and teaching for thinking, several community college faculties, and Bemidji State University.

ASK YOUR LOCKSMITH
Questions And Answers
Q As a business owner, I'm concerned about the number of keys that have been given out over the last few years. What should I do?
A Your professional locksmith can offer several options at varying prices. First, you might consider rekeying the existing locks to new keys and then keep track of the keys you give out. Second, you might install high security keys and locks so that you will have much more positive key control than you had with your existing locks. Third you might consider installing a keyless access control system requiring no keys. Each employee would have a unique number that would allow them access.

Trade was Very Good

"Christmas trade with the local merchants was exceptionally good this year. In fact many report having done a much larger business this year than ever before and this was hardly expected because of the poor crop farmers received. It is explained however by the fact that a very large trade was received from the Roseau country which was never before enjoyed and also from the 11 townships. The Greenbush train has been loaded down with passengers for the past few weeks and a large number from points up on that line have come to Thief River Falls to do their Christmas shopping."

1914 - Eighty Years Ago

"Thief River Falls' first municipal Christmas tree exercises given under the auspices of the Sunshine society at the Auditorium last Tuesday evening proved to be a pronounced success. It is estimated that over 300 children were present to dance about the mammoth tree erected in the center of the floor. The high school orchestra furnished the music and a real live Santa Claus circulated amongst the guests and later assisted in distributing gifts."

"The open season is near for searching every nook and corner for that list of people from whom you received Christmas cards last year.

"If your heart is in the right place you will buy Christmas seals to help in the fight against the dread tuberculosis. It is astonishing how much has been done in Minnesota in stamping out the disease in the last few years through the sale of these little penny seals."

"If you have caught the vision of Christmas: that giving not getting is the secret of true happiness, share some of your material prosperity with unfortunates who have not been blessed so richly as you."

■ Christmas Classic hockey results

First round high school hockey results from the second annual Thief River Falls-Crookston Christmas Classic Monday featured two shutouts and a no-show.

Bemidji was a one-sided 11-0 winner over Westwood Collegiate of Winnipeg in the opener, with Thief River Falls blanking Benilde-St. Margaret's 2-0 in the second game of the three-day, six-team series of games.

A Crookston vs. Simley match-up scheduled to close out the first day activity in the Pirates' rink was postponed because the Spartans of Inver Grove Heights thought the event ran Tuesday through Thursday instead of the planned Monday through Wednesday format. Those two teams will get together back in Crookston Thursday to complete the Classic following the regularly-scheduled Tuesday and Wednesday games in Thief River Falls.

Keith Anderson scored both Thief River Falls goals and Chanc Keefe finished with a 24-save shutout in the Prowlers' 2-0 victory over Benilde-St. Margaret's, a St. Louis Park-based school.

Anderson scored at 3:38 of the first period and at 1:42 of the third period.

TRF-Crookston Christmas Classic

■ Monday, Dec. 26 - (at Crookston) Bemidji 11, Westwood Collegiate 0; Thief River Falls 2, Benilde-St. Margaret's 0; Crookston vs. Simley postponed.

■ Tuesday, Dec. 27 - (at Thief River Falls) Bemidji vs. Benilde-St. Margaret's, 3:30 p.m.; Crookston vs. Westwood Collegiate, 5:30 p.m.; Thief River Falls vs. Simley, 7:30 p.m.

■ Wednesday, Dec. 28 - (at Thief River Falls) Bemidji vs. Simley, 1 p.m.; Westwood Collegiate vs. Benilde-St. Margaret's, 3 p.m.; Thief River Falls vs. Crookston, 5 p.m.

■ Thursday, Dec. 29 - (at Crookston) Crookston vs. Simley, 3:30 p.m.

The win improved the Prowlers' record to 2-5-1.

Thief River Falls had nine days off since losing a 5-0 decision at Hibbing Dec. 17, and the lay-off showed, said Prowlers coach Pat Cullen.

"You could see we hadn't played a game in a long time," noted Cullen. "We were not sharp. It was kind of an ugly win."

Scoring

First period - none.
Second period - TRF, Keith Anderson (Nick Chiodo), 3:38.
Third period - Anderson (David Halsa), 1:42.

Goalie Saves

TRF - Chanc Keefe 8-9-7-24; Benilde-St. Margaret's - Dan Woog 7-10-6-23.

Bemidji guard Jon Solheim took the ball to the basket during the Lumberjacks' Dec. 20 visit to Thief River Falls for a North Sub-Section 8AA boys high school basketball match-up. The Prowlers' Josh Hedin stretched, but couldn't reach Solheim on the play. Bemidji won 64-55.

Prowler Hall of Fame nominations should be submitted by January 1

January 1 is the deadline for submitting nominations for the 1995 Prowler Hall of Fame.

Nomination forms are available in the Lincoln High School activities office.

Prowler Hall of Fame membership features several categories, including distinguished alumni, athletic letter winners, coaches/directors, and members at-large who have made exceptional contributions to School District 564.

Alumni or athletic letter winners are eligible for nomination seven years after high school graduation.

A selection committee will announce the new Hall of Fame members later this winter, with a formal induction ceremony planned this spring.

Twenty charter members were named last spring. Their plaques are on display on the Prowler Hall of Fame wall at Lincoln High School.

Northwest Russ Smith Holiday Classic...

TRF boys invitational features familiar field

The field for Thief River Falls' Northwest Russ Smith Holiday Classic hasn't changed much in the dozen years the boys high school basketball tournament has been held in the Lincoln gym.

Six teams have won the previous 11 titles, and all six are once again part of the 1994 tournament which began its three-day run Tuesday.

Fertile-Beltrami won the inaugural event in 1983, and came up with another title-winning effort in 1991. Kennedy (now part of the Hallock/Kennedy Kittson Central combination) was the champion in 1984 before host Thief River Falls began a four-year championship reign.

Argyle won back-to-back crowns in 1989 and 1990. After Fertile-Beltrami's 1991 championship, the trophy went to Badger/Greenbush-Middle River in 1992 and Roseau last year.

Junior varsity portion of the competition, which duplicates the varsity match-ups instead of playing through a tournament bracket, is taking place in the Lincoln auxiliary gym.

While the Thief River Falls are serving as host to the Northwest Russ Smith Holiday Classic, the Lincoln High School girls are currently involved in the Brainerd Holiday Classic, which also features an eight-team, 12-game, three-day menu Tuesday through Thursday.

NW Russ Smith Holiday Classic

■ Quarterfinals Tuesday, Dec. 27 - (Upper Bracket) Argyle vs. Fertile-Beltrami, 3:15 p.m.; Marshall County Central vs. Clearbrook-Gonvick-Trail, 5 p.m.; (Lower Bracket) Kittson Central vs. Badger/Greenbush-Middle River, 7 p.m.; Roseau vs. Thief River Falls, 8:45 p.m.

■ Semifinals Wednesday, Dec. 28 (championship round) Upper Bracket, 7 p.m.; Lower Bracket, 8:45 p.m.; (consolation round) Lower Bracket, 5:15 p.m.; Upper Bracket, 3 p.m.

■ Finals Thursday, Dec. 29 - seventh place, 3:15 p.m.; consolation, 5 p.m.; third place, 7 p.m.; championship, 8:45 p.m.

Brainerd Holiday Classic

■ Quarterfinals Tuesday, Dec. 27 - (Upper Bracket) Hopkins vs. Grand Rapids, 2 p.m.; Faribault vs. Park Center, 4 p.m.; (Lower Bracket) Detroit Lakes vs. Virginia, 6 p.m.; Thief River Falls vs. Brainerd, 8 p.m.

■ Semifinals Wednesday, Dec. 28 (championship round) Upper Bracket, 6 p.m.; Lower Bracket, 8 p.m.; (consolation round) Upper Bracket, 2 p.m.; Lower Bracket, 4 p.m.

■ Finals Thursday, Dec. 29 - seventh place, 1 p.m.; consolation, 3 p.m.; third place, 5 p.m.; championship, 7 p.m.

Area 1994 deer harvest figures are announced

The 1994 firearms deer season in northwest Minnesota recorded a total of 57,773 registered deer – a six percent decline from the 1993 harvest, but still the fourth-highest total on record.

These figures exactly reflect the statewide 1994 firearms deer season, where a registered total of 176,000 deer represented a six percent decline from 1993 and the fourth-highest harvest on record. The state-wide 1993 firearms deer harvest of 186,000 was the third-highest on record, following the all-time record harvest of 229,000 in 1992 and 207,000 in 1991.

Department of Natural Resources Northwest Region includes 21 counties in northwest and west-central Minnesota – the northern portions of hunting Zones 2 and 4, and a narrow slice along the western edge of Zone 1. On average, antlerless permits in the Northwest Region were reduced by just under five percent from 1993.

In 1992, antlerless permits were greatly increased in most areas of Minnesota in an effort to reduce excess deer populations. Since then, antlerless permits and harvest goals have been readjusted each year to prevent an over-harvest of does that would adversely affect optimum population levels.

1994 Northwest Region Deer Harvest

■ Baudette - 4,602 (+3.3 %). New area record.

■ Bemidji - 8,421 (-4.7 %). Record harvest: 12,050 in 1992.

■ Crookston - 4,134 (-0.7 %). Record harvest: 4,185 in 1993.

■ Detroit Lakes - 4,640 (-4.1 %). Record harvest: 6,098 in 1985.

■ Fergus Falls - 11,330 (-8.9 %). Record harvest: 12,444 in 1993.

■ Glenwood/Morris - 7,297 (-8.8 %). Record harvest: 7,958 in 1993.

■ Karlstad - 3,450 (-4.5 %). Record harvest: 3,790 in 1992.

■ Park Rapids - 5,961 (-9.3 %). Record harvest: 12,049 in 1992.

■ Roseau River WMA - 322 (-2.5 %). Record harvest: 544 in 1992.

■ Thief Lake - 2,557 (-9.8 %); Thief River Falls 5,069 (-6.0 %). Prior to 1990, totals for Thief Lake and Thief River Falls were combined. The combined record harvest was set in 1995 with 7,092 registered deer.

Speakers are selected for NCC football clinic

List of guest speakers has been finalized for the 11th annual Northland Community College Football Coaching Clinic, it was announced by clinic coordinator Rick Nelson.

The clinic will be held from 8:30 a.m. to 4 p.m. Saturday, Jan. 14, at the college.

Guest speakers will include Keith Urbaniak, Kennedy; Jim Larson, Thompson, ND; Jim Gnetter, Argyle; Jeff Ferguson, Blaine; and Jeff Tesch, University of North Dakota.

The clinic is open to all area coaches and anyone interested in learning more about the game of football.

Cost of the program is $15 per person, or a $45 fee for an entire coaching staff from a single school district. Pre-registration is needed by Jan. 11.

To register, or for additional information, contact Rick Nelson, Northland Community College, 1101 Highway 1 East, Thief River Falls, MN 56701; telephone 218-681-2181.

Boosters Club will not meet this week

There will be no Thief River Falls Sports Boosters Club meeting this week because of the holiday break.

Weekly Thursday 12-noon luncheon meetings will resume Jan. 5 when the guest speaker will be Thief River Falls Youth Hockey Director Ron Novak.

Potential danger is present in aeration of ice-covered lake

Aeration systems designed to help prevent fish winterkills could have the opposite effects on reckless Minnesotans. The Department of Natural Resources is warning Minnesotans to use caution when going onto ice-covered lakes, particularly aerated lakes.

Open water areas created by aeration systems can shift or change shapes, depending on weather conditions. Leaks may also develop in air lines, creating other areas of weak ice or open water.

Aeration systems help prevent winterkill of fish by exposing lake water to the atmosphere. They create areas of open water and thin ice that are significant hazards to ice anglers, snowmobilers, skiers and other lake users. Aeration systems are usually operated from the time lakes freeze until spring ice break-up.

Approximately 180 lakes with public accesses will have aeration systems operating this winter, Danks said. Private hatchery operators also use aeration systems, usually on small lakes without public access. The majority of aeration systems are in southern and western counties, where winterkill is most frequent.

A DNR permit is required to install and operate an aeration system. Permit holders must publish public notices and post warning signs, may be required to carry liability insurance, and must inspect the systems at least once a week.

State Parks

Lake Bronson Trails

Snowmobiles are allowed on the Grants-in-Aid Trail which runs through Lake Bronson State Park on the north edge. There are no side trails off of this trail to other trails in the park. All interior trails in the park are off limits to snowmobiles as they are groomed for cross country skiing.

If a snowmobile is used to access the lake for fishing, it can be accessed by way of the main entrance road ditch to the Ranger station. Past the Ranger station you continue to the beach parking area and get on the lake there and go directly to your fish house or fishing spot. The lake is not to be used as a playground for snowmobiles.

Cabin owners may go directly to their cabins by the road to the cabin area past the Ranger station.

Outdoor News

Waterfowl Season

This year's increased duck fall flight did not translate into a better hunting season for all of Minnesota's duck hunters, according to Tim Bremicker of the Department of Natural Resources. Minnesota's duck season concluded at sunset on Nov. 9 with mixed results.

"Reports from wildlife managers, conservation officers and hunters indicate that generally we had a goose season in the southern third of the state, with poor to fair results in the north," said Bremicker, chief of the DNR's Wildlife Section.

"Hunter expectations were fairly high as a result of reports about the much improved status of duck populations," noted Bremicker. "Unfortunately, many hunter's expectations were not met due to an unusual migration pattern of ducks and geese this fall. A few key areas held ducks throughout the season and provided excellent hunting opportunity, but the combination of mild weather and habitat conditions made other areas well below average. We had reports ranging from 'the worst duck season in recent years' in northcentral areas, to 'the best season in many years' in some southwestern locations.

"Milder conditions in September and October kept blue-winged teal and wood ducks, typically early migrants, in the state well into the waterfowl season, particularly in the southwest," Bremicker said. "But, many local ducks in the north appeared to move out during the annual fall shuffle, occurring before the duck season. Before the shuffle, northern managers were reporting good numbers of ducks in many areas during late August and early September."

While the mild weather and southerly winds helped hold early migrants, there was little incentive for ducks to the north and west to migrate into the state. "Although ducks moved through, as evidenced by changing species composition and numbers, very few days of northerly winds and cool temperatures resulted in notable migrations of ducks," Bremicker said. "Even small, shallow ponds maintained open water throughout the duck season, further changing waterfowl distribution. In the past few years, even some larger lakes have been frozen by the end of October.

"We and many hunters were quite concerned about the low numbers of ring-necked ducks on traditional staging areas and small refuges in north-central and northeastern Minnesota," noted Bremicker. "However, Rice Lake National Wildlife Refuge in Aitkin County held record numbers (estimated at greater than 1 million ducks) of both ring-necked ducks and mallards in mid-October. The poor rice crop in traditional staging areas resulted in the ducks moving to the next major staging area where good food was available. The ducks only stayed a few weeks on Rice Lake and provided little hunting opportunity in the vicinity."

Goose hunting was slow at Lac qui Parle, Thief Lake, and Roseau River. These areas rely on migrant geese that nest in northern Manitoba. Geese, like ducks, stayed in southern Manitoba longer than usual due to mild conditions and adequate food resources, according to Bremicker. Despite a slow season at traditional goose areas, hunters in the rest of the state had good success on resident populations of giant Canada geese, he said. Goose hunting is improving in the Southeast Goose Zone, and there will be three December Canada goose hunts. Olmsted County, Twin Cities metropolitan area, and Fergus Falls/Alexandria.

"While hunting in much of the state did not meet expectations, habitat conditions in Minnesota, the Dakotas, and parts of prairie Canada look good for next spring," Bremicker said. "Indications are that nesting cover provided on wildlife areas and Conservation Reserve Program fields, plus abundant wetlands, can provide another excellent duck breeding year. Good habitat and good numbers of returning ducks bode well for waterfowl in 1995.

"A lot can happen between now and next spring," Bremicker noted, "but the preliminary indications are good."

Calendar Photo Contest

Photographers who have captured the natural beauty of Minnesota's state parks could win prizes in the 1996 Minnesota State Parks calendar photo contest.

The contest generates photos that will be used in the annual Minnesota State Parks calendar, which also includes the dates of state parks special events, and other notes of interest such as when wildflowers are in bloom or the berry season begins.

Photo contest winners will have their work published in the 1996 calendar, along with a photo credit. They will also receive a cash prize of $25 and five complimentary copies of the calendar.

Entries may be photos of scenery, wildlife, plants or flowers, historic sites, or people enjoying outdoor recreation in the parks. Only original, horizontal 35mm slides will be accepted. Entries must be received by Jan. 16, 1995.

Entry forms and contest guidelines are available at state parks. They may also be obtained from the DNR Information Center in St. Paul by calling toll free in Minnesota 1-800-766-6000.

Entries should be mailed to Minnesota State Parks Photo Contest, DNR Parks and Recreation Division, Box 39, 500 Lafayette Road, St. Paul, MN 55155-4039.

The 1995 Minnesota State Parks calendar, priced at $7.95, is now on sale in all Minnesota state parks and in the DNR Gift Shop at 500 Lafayette Road in St. Paul. To order by phone, call the information number listed above.

Accidents, thefts in LEC news

Law enforcement officials received a report of several accidents and thefts during the past week.

Accidents. On December 20 at 4 p.m. police received a report of an accident at the corner of Gulf and Crocker. Paula Mary Hahne, Thief River Falls, was driving a van east on Gulf when her vehicle collided with a vehicle driven by Brian Lee Johnson of Strandquist, who was driving north on Crocker. Damages were estimated at $1,000 to the Hahne vehicle, and $2,000 to the Johnson vehicle.

On December 20 at 11:48 a.m. police received a report of an accident at First and Markley. Jared Ryan Alby, Thief River Falls, was driving a vehicle west on First when his vehicle collided with a vehicle being driven by Sherie LeeAnn Stigen of Thief River Falls. Stigen was going east on First and attempting to turn north onto Markley as Alby was attempting to pass on the right. Damages were estimated at $1,500 to the Alby vehicle and $1,000 to the Stigen vehicle.

On December 22 at 9:53 p.m. police received a report of an accident at Nora and Crocker. Brunelle Rondorf, Thief River Falls, was south on Crocker when his vehicle collided with a vehicle driven by Michelle Scheff, Middle River, who was driving a car west on Nora. Damages were estimated at $300 to the Rondorf vehicle and $2,000 to the Scheff vehicle. Rondorf was cited for failure to yield.

On December 23 at 11:30 a.m. police received a report of an accident at Highway 59 and Brooks Avenue. A pickup driven by Tony Ray Hoglo, Thief River Falls, was going west on Highway 59, when a car driven by Ann Marie Davis, Bagley, stopped in traffic on Highway 59 to make a turn onto Brooks. The Hoglo vehicle collided with the rear of the Davis vehicle when Hoglo turned around to check on a baby in the back of the vehicle. Davis complained of a sore neck. Damages were estimated at over $500 to each vehicle.

On December 24 at 1:56 p.m. the sheriff's department received a report of a snowmobile accident. Tanya Marie Christianson, 15, and her passenger, Victoria Mae Christianson, 9, were riding a snowmobile west in a ditch along Highway 59 near Barzen, when the snowmobile struck the approach, went airborne across the avenue and airborne again over the ditch. Both were ejected from the snowmobile. Both were treated and released from Northwest Medical Center for multiple injuries. The 1988 Yamaha had $450 damage.

Thefts. On December 20 at 11 a.m. Oale Steinhauer, Thief River Falls, reported that someone took a phone from his pickup. Theft loss was estimated $1,200.

Charges are pending against an East Grand Forks man following a report of a check forgery in the amount of $60. The check was stolen from a North Dakota residence.

On December 22 a 16-year-old Thief River Falls boy was cited for theft after being caught shoplifting at Hugo's.

On December 22 at 3:50 p.m. Mark Holen of Thief River Falls reported that a $520 camera was stolen from a vehicle parked on East Second Street.

On December 22 a North Dewey resident reported a $275 CD player stolen from his home.

On December 25 at 7:51 p.m. Pennington county sheriff's department received a report from a resident in North township reporting that his guns had been stolen from his house. The theft loss was estimated at about $1,100.

On December 26 at 1 p.m. police received a report of a shoplifting incident at Hugo's. A 58-year-old woman from Badger faces charges of theft.

Public nuisance. On December 21 at 11:09 p.m. police received a complaint of loud noise. Brigitte Anne Douglas, 19, Thief River Falls, was cited for permitting a public nuisance after a loud noise complaint.

Consumption under age. On December 22 at 11:35 p.m. police cited a 18-year-old Eric Joseph Dahl, Thief River Falls, for consumption under age following an incident at the Thief River Falls Armory.

On December 22 at 11:53 p.m. police received a noise complaint from a resident in Riverview Trailer court. The following were cited for consumption under age: Kristi Harstad, 18, Thief River Falls; Jennifer Gagner, 18, Thief River Falls; Kari Kayser, 19, Thief River Falls; Kari Jo Hanson, 19, St. Hilaire; Ryan Tony Skibicki, 18, Thief River Falls; James John Jaros, 19, Thief River Falls; and Jeremy Scott York, 20, St. Hilaire.

Harassing phone calls. On December 19 George Charles Filtman, 58, Goodridge, was charged with harassing phone calls.

Driving while intoxicated. On December 23 at 8:05 p.m. Rexford Michael Strong, 41, Redby, was charged with misdemeanor driving while intoxicated by the Pennington county sheriff's department.

On December 23 the Minnesota state patrol turned over Gerald Theodore Owen, 43, Thief River Falls, for holding on a charge of driving while intoxicated.

Disorderly conduct. On December 24 at midnight a local bar reported a fight inside the bar. When police arrived the subjects were outside of the bar. Damage to the bar was estimated at about $20. Brian Steven Joppru, 24, Thief River Falls, was cited for disorderly conduct. Conrad Orrin Joppru, 26, Thief River Falls, was cited for disorderly conduct.

Assault. On December 27 at 12:19 a.m. Pennington county sheriff's department received a call to a residence in St. Hilaire. Charged with fifth degree assault was Leland Raymond Mott, St. Hilaire, 55. The female victim did not require hospital care.

On December 26 at 11:13 p.m. police were called to a disturbance at a local bar. The suspects were already gone. An employee was hit. Charged with fifth degree assault was David Wayne Jenson, 30, Thief River Falls. Also, Derrick Wade Jenson, 21, was charged with disorderly conduct.

SUMMONS

THE STATE OF MINNESOTA TO THE ABOVE NAMED DEFENDANTS:

You are hereby summoned and required to serve upon the Plaintiff's attorney an Answer to the Complaint which is on file in the office of the Court Administrator of the above named Court, within twenty (20) days after the service of this Summons upon you, exclusive of the day of service. If you fail to do so, judgment by default will be taken against you for the relief demanded in the complaint.

This action involves, affects or brings in question real property situated in the County of Pennington, State of Minnesota, described as follows, to-wit:

Government Lots Three (3) and Four (4) and the East Half of the Southwest Quarter (E1/2SW1/4) of Section Thirty (30), Township One Hundred Fifty-four (154), Range Forty (40) West, also referred to as:

The Southwest Quarter (SW 1/4) of Section Thirty (30), Township One Hundred Fifty-four (154), Range Forty (40) West of the Fifth P.M. according to the U.S. Government Survey thereof.

The object of this action is to obtain a judgment that plaintiff is the vendee under a certain contract for deed with defendants Wilfred Rockwell and Margaret Rockwell and that said Wilfred Rockwell is the owner in fee of an undivided two-thirds (2/3) interest in the above described real property, and that Margaret Rockwell is the owner in fee of an undivided one-third (1/3) interest in the above described real property subject to Plaintiff's interest as vendee in the contract for deed between plaintiff and Kenneth Rockwell dated April 16, 1976, and that none of the other defendants except Wilfred Rockwell and Margaret Rockwell have any estate or interest therein or lien thereon.

Pennington Co. board meeting
(November 22, 1994)

■ Leon Heath of the NWRDC presented an update on the comprehensive water plan for the county.

■ The board approved the appointment of Verner Arveson and Greg Hilgeman to the Red Lake Watershed District board of directors.

December 28, 1994
OFFICIAL PROCEEDINGS PENNINGTON COUNTY BOARD OF COMMISSIONERS
November 22, 1994 5:00 p.m.

Pursuant to adjournment the Pennington County Board of Commissioners met in the Commissioners room in the courthouse in Thief River Falls, on Tuesday, November 22, 1994 at 5:00 p.m.. Members present: Naplin, Jensen, Murphy Swanson, and Comstock. Members absent: none.

The Chairman called on Leon Heath administrator of the Northwest Regional Development Commission to discuss the status of the Pennington County Comprehensive Water Plan. The Water plan needs to be updated yearly and since the loss of the NWRDC employee coordinating it the update is not being done. The County Board indicted they would like the Northwest Regional Development Commission to continue coordinating the water plan and Leon Heath indicted he would be contacting people to get the plan updated. Commissioner Comstock moved, seconded by Commissioner Jensen to request the Northwest Regional Development Commission to submit a proposal to Pennington County for continuing the contract for services for administration of the County Comprehensive Local Water Plan. Motion unanimously carried.

County Assessor Adeline Olson met with the County Board with an abatement request on property described as Lots 29, 30, 31 & 32, Block 6, Red Lake Rapids Addition owned by Larry LaVonne Forsberg. The Assessor noted clerical error on entry of the market value of the building resulting in an overpayment of $64.00. Commissioner Naplin moved, seconded by Commissioner Comstock to approve the abatement and refund of $64.00 to Larry and LaVonna Forsberg. Motion unanimously carried.

County Sheriff, Gerald Moe, informed the County Board that he needed to temporarily replace the part-time Deputy/Dispatcher due to an injury received in the line of duty. The Sheriff felt he needed replacement for a minimum of three months. Commissioner Swanson moved, seconded by Commissioner Naplin to authorize the County Sheriff to hire a temporary person to fill in as a Deputy and Dispatcher until Terry Bayne returns. Motion unanimously carried.

Commissioner Naplin moved, seconded by Commissioner Comstock to appropriate $50.00 to the Minnesota Office on Volunteer Services as membership fees for 1995. Motion unanimously carried.

Maggie Leach and Gary Lane representing the Pennington County Soil and Water Conservation District met with the County Board to discuss the agriculture Best Management Practice Loan Program. If there is any interest in the program the County will need to apply for these revolving loan funds. Commissioner Jensen moved, seconded by Commissioner Naplin to request Howard Person to do a survey to see if any interest exists for the Agriculture Best Management Practice Loan Program and to write the application if there is interest in the program. Motion unanimously carried.

At this time the County Board discussed the ranking of the Nursing Home Administrator on the Pay Equity Scale and the salary of this position. Commissioner Comstock moved, seconded by Commissioner Naplin to recommend that the Oakland Park Nursing Home Board place the Administrators position at 702 points and to allow a .66/hour increase on January 1, 1995. Motion unanimously carried.

The County Board then discussed Health Insurance rates from Blue Cross and Blue Shield for 1995. The rates are down 10% from 1994. The County Board held approval of the Health Insurance rates until the December meeting.

The County Auditor then discussed snow removal from the parking lot behind the Courthouse and at the Welfare Office building. In the past years Bruce Dokken had cleaned the lot behind the Courthouse and Marty Reierson cleaned the sidewalk and back parking lot of the Welfare Building. Commissioner Jensen moved, seconded by Commissioner Naplin to approve snow removal services from Bruce Dokken and Marty Reierson. Motion unanimously carried.

The County Board then discussed the appointment to the Red Lake Watershed District Board of Directors. After advertising in the legal newspaper the names of Verner Arveson and Greg Hilgeman had been submitted. After considerable discussion Commissioner Jensen moved, seconded by Commissioner Comstock to appoint Greg Hilgeman to the Red Lake Watershed Board of Directors effective January 1, 1995. Motion carried with Commissioner Swanson and Commissioner Murphy voting against the motion.

Commissioner Comstock moved, seconded by Commissioner Jensen to approve the minutes of November 10th, 1994 as written. Motion carried.

Interviews for the position of Head Custodian will be held on December 5th, 1994.

Commissioner Naplin moved, seconded by Commissioner Swanson to adjourn to November 23rd, 1994, 11:00 a.m.. Motion carried.

Pennington Co. board meeting
(November 23, 1994)

■ The board met with a representative of Foss Associates to discuss alternatives to make the county courthouse handicapped accessible.

■ The board met with a representative of the Red Lake Watershed district to discuss installation of a culvert.

OFFICIAL PROCEEDINGS BOARD OF COMMISSIONER, PENNINGTON COUNTY
November 23, 1994 11:00 a.m.

Pursuant to adjournment the Pennington County Board of Commissioners met in the Commissioners room in the courthouse in Thief River Falls, on Wednesday, November 23, 1994 at 11:00 a.m. Members present: Jensen, Comstock, Murphy, Swanson and Naplin. Members absent: none.

The County Board met with Bill Cowman of Foss Associates and County Engineer Dalton Schulz to discuss the alternatives prepared by Foss Associates to make the Courthouse accessible according to the standards of the Americans with Disabilities Act. The County Board concluded that Alternative B-1 was the option that they wanted Foss & Associates to pursue. This option includes an elevator and uni-sex bathroom to be built onto the north end of the Courthouse. Foss and Associates would be forwarding a letter detailing their fees starting with the detail plans through construction. Commissioner Jensen moved, seconded by Commissioner Naplin to authorize Foss and Associates to proceed with the detailed design of Scheme B-1. Motion unanimously carried.

Commissioner Comstock moved seconded by Commissioner Naplin to include all the additional improvements noted in the Americans with Disabilities Act accessibility Audit that would bring the existing Courthouse into compliance as part of the building project. Motion unanimously carried.

Red Lake Watershed Administrator, Lowell Enerson and Engineer, Brent Johnson appeared before the Board to request that the County absorb the cost for installation of 73" X 55" CSP-Arch that is to be installed through County Road #54 along Section 9 & 16 of Hickory Township. The Culvert installation is part of the Clifford Arveson Ditch project scheduled for construction in 1995. Commissioner Jensen moved, seconded by Commissioner Comstock to approve the County's payment for the culvert to be installed through County Road #54 in Hickory Township at an estimated cost of $9,610.00. Motion unanimously carried.

Other items brought to the County Board by the County Engineer for discussion included the Pioneer Peter Engelstad Building, #59 Connection Appraisal, Long's Bridge meeting 2 p.m., November 28, 1994 and repairs to County Ditch #70.

Commissioner Naplin moved, seconded by Commissioner Jensen to adjourn to November 28, 1994 2:00 p.m. Motion carried.

Pennington Co. board meeting
(November 28, 1994)

■ A public meeting was held to discuss replacement of Long's Bridge. The board then asked the county engineer to stake the centerline and right-of-way line for property owners to see the proposed route.

OFFICIAL PROCEEDINGS BOARD OF COMMISSIONERS PENNINGTON COUNTY
November 28, 1994 2:00 p.m.

Pursuant to adjournment the Pennington County Board of Commissioners met in the Commissioners room in the courthouse in Thief River Falls, on Tuesday, November 28, 1994 at 2 p.m.. Members present: Jensen, Murphy, Naplin, & Swanson. Members absent: Comstock.

The Chairman called the meeting to order and asked the County Engineer to describe the alternative locations for replacement of Long's Bridge which had been prepared by Erickson Engineering. Option 1 was to replace the bridge at its current locations, Option 2 & 3 moved the site of the bridge 350 feet North with the only difference in these options being the access and egress at the North end, and option 4 was to place a Bridge across the river in direct line with County Road #63. The County Engineer stated that Option's 2 or 3 were the most practical and impacted the landowner along the river to the least extent.

The landowners that would be affected the most by options 2 or 3 did express some concerns over the taking of their river frontage, which is why they have their homes along the river. Another stated that they had planned to build a home directly in the path of the proposed route of option 2 or 3. A number of the residents in the area were present and comments were made on all the alternatives.

Engineer Schulz, stated that the bridge replacement project is to be funded with $500,000 of Fund 29 bridge replacement funds from the State of Minnesota and $170,000 of County Highway department funds. He stated option 4 would not be acceptable to the State of Minnesota and that they would not fund that option.

The property owners main concern at this point was where the roadway and bridge would be located under option 2 or 3. The County Board asked the County Engineer to stake the centerline and right-of-way line for properties to be acquired for the project and that another meeting be called for after the landowners had an opportunity to see where the road & bridge would be placed.

Commissioner Naplin moved, seconded by Commissioner Jensen to adjourn to December 13, 1994 at 10 a.m.. Motion carried.
